GRAND OPERA HOUSE

"GOING SOME" WAS PRESENTED LAST EVENING.

New Year's Day Production is "The Arrival of Kitty"—On Monday "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary" Will be Given.

"Going Some," a comedy in four acts, was presented to a meagre audience at the Grand on Thursday evening. The comedy was written by Paul Armstrong and Rex Beech, the latter being the author of "The Barrier," which Theodore Roberts played through here only a few weeks ago. The two plays are widely different. "The Barrier," a powerful story of life in the Canadian woods, and "Going Some" a rollicking comedy, that carries the audience away with it from curtain to curtain.

The play chronicles the doings of a certain bunch of college fellows and girls who go out to a ranch to summer. The cowboys have had a hot race and lost all they owned to the rival ranch. A Yale student, better known as "four flusher," comes out to spend the summer at the ranch, and although he cannot run

The delightful Mrs. Craton, in "Under the North Star," at the Grand, on Wednesday, Jan. 5th.

100 yards in as many minutes, just to please the ladies he decides to run and win back the boys' goods. From first until last the runner and his trainer are kept in hot water and the audience is kept in fits of laughter.

Walter Jones, as "Larry" Glass, athletic coach, masseur, and nerve specialist, was the main fun maker, and he was perfect. He played the fat, happy trainer in fine style. The brunt of the comedy fell on him but he carried it out to a "finish," as he did the race. He was ably assisted by James Spenswood, as "Jam's Wallinford Speed," the would-be runner, and Audrey Beattie, as "Berky Franche," the tenor singer of his college. Miss June Mathias, as "Helen," in love with Speed, was well suited to her role. All the other parts were in capable hands.

Matinee And Night New Year's.
"The Arrival of Kitty," a farce comedy full and overflowing with humorous, side-splitting laughter and containing a delicately-handled plot woven around a show girl, who displays her numerous charms to win, and who, in a truly delightful manner, causes no end of merriment, will be the attraction at the Grand on New Year's day matinee at three o'clock, evening at 8:15. In addition to the brilliant dialogue and dramatic situations "The Arrival of Kitty" boasts of many musical hits, interpolated into the comedy, adding rhyme and jingle, and affording a resting place between laughs.

The character of Kitty is a delightful one. Her fascinating manner and enticing ways are splendidly handled by Florence Forrest. Hal Johnson and a large company of well-known farceurs are seen in the many other interesting characters in the play.

"The Rejuvenation Of Aunt Mary."
On Monday, Jan. 3rd, at the Grand, May Robson will be seen in her great success, "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary." Miss Robson has played this delightful comedy for the past two seasons from coast to coast. In this quaint role of Aunt Mary Miss Robson has a part that is fitted to her like a glove. Her expressions of the yearning tenderness of the childless old lady rise at times to a height that is almost tragic. The play is full of bright comedy lines, novel situations and that wholesome sweetness that appeals to every one.

"The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary" tells the story of a rich old maiden lady who once had a love story of her own, but whose heart is bound up in a nephew in college, who is a little wild, but not more so than the average young man. He is unfortunately enough, however, to get involved in a number of scrapes, one of which is a breach of promise case, in which the nephew is really not to blame. The exposure causes the aunt to disinherit him, and he hurries off to New York, where he falls in love with a beautiful girl, and where finally the aunt follows him. She is treated to a dinner by the nephew's college chums, and while about town in an automobile and introduced to the roof gardens and other popular places. The sport completely wins her from her country life, and reconciles her to the marriage of her nephew to his sweetheart. The piece is elaborately and artistically staged.

A Timely Topic For A Play.
"Under the North Star," or "A Dash To The Pole," is the title of a new play built upon the incidents made familiar to the public by the late achievements of Peary and Cook. It is the first dramatic effort based upon the most interesting topic and will be sure to attract and delight an audience of our best people, when this timely play is presented here on Wednesday, January 5th, at the Grand.

There was considerable ice in the harbor this morning, and marine men stated that another day of the cold weather would tie up all the boats.

The Wolfe Islander was running early in the morning, but it was not known whether she would be able to keep up the trips. There is a great deal of ice in the channels, and the steamer Wanderer, coming from Cape Vincent, last night, had a very difficult time. It was 7:30 o'clock when the vessel arrived in port, and the captain reported that there was a great deal of ice. Arrangements had been made for the Wanderer to take the members of the theatrical company, "Going Some," over to the Cape, this morning, at seven o'clock, but the route was so blocked that the trip had to be cancelled. The company left at midnight, via the G.T.R. for Prescott and will cross the border there.
