Ambition of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Speech in Toronto. It cannot be expected that the policy which I have followed in the past, and which I may follow in the future, can be appreciated in the same light by all. It is not in human nature that it should be so. But if I can ascertain the hope that I may continue to enjoy the esteem of those who think with me, and the respect of those who differ from me, I shall reach the only ambition which I care for in my public life.
