FAIR VICTIM

A Forger Robbed Her of Her Gems.

TRAPPED BY WOMAN

WHEN HE SAW HIS PLIGHT HE SOUGHT DEATH.

The Prisoner Made a Confession—Frank A. Geis, Baltimore, Admitted He Had Cashed Bad Checks at Various Hotels—Had Planned Suicide.

New York, Jan. 27.—The resourcefulness of a woman deceived by the man she believed was to marry her, deflected the capture of Frank A. Geis, wanted in Chicago and New York for forgeries, just before he had time to blow out his brains. He had robbed Mrs. Frieda Sommers of $10,000 worth of diamonds.

Geis spent Tuesday evening with Mrs. Sommers. He induced her to take off her diamonds, saying they were so bright they made him dizzy.

"Put them in this," he said, and he drew a small chamois bag from his pocket and tossed it across to her. Mrs. Sommers placed the diamonds in the bag and laid it on her dressing table. It was there next morning, or one like it, but the diamonds had gone. In some way Geis had effected a substitution.

At the discovery of her loss she went into hysterics, and the appearance of two detectives who had been shadowing Geis did not reassure her. At that moment the telephone bell rang.

"Hush," said the woman, "the detectives, 'here's your man,' and then into the telephone: 'Where are you Frank?'"

"Buying a $275 fur coat," said Geis. He had pawned one of the diamonds to get the money. Mrs. Sommers whispered the address and while the detectives rushed to the shop, she kept the man at the other end of the wire until he was caught.

When arrested Geis tried to shoot himself, but the detectives were too quick for him. They found another revolver in his hotel room.

"I always kept ready to go," Geis told them. "I knew it couldn't last long, but it has been high flying while it did." The diamonds were recovered and identified.

Geis who comes from Baltimore, was recently employed by the Hurley Machine company, and confessed that last October he forged the name of Neil C. Hurley to a check for $2,000, which was cashed for him by the National Bank of the Republic in that city. Then he fled to San Francisco and later came here. The hotel Astor and the Waldorf hotel in his bad checks for $150 and how he has been looking for him. He was held in $10,000 bail.

Big International Park Planned.

Washington, D.C., Jan. 27.—The fact that Canada and the United States are engaged in a co-operative scheme for the establishment of an international park of about 50,000 square miles along the backbone of the continent in the two countries was developed in the senate yesterday. It came to the surface in connection with the consideration of a bill looking to the creation of the Glacier National Park in northern Montana.

It was stated that negotiations were in progress looking to the establishment of a similar park on the Canadian side of the international line which it is intended shall connect with the proposed American reservation.

The C.P.R. at Smith's Falls proposes safeguarding traffic by closing up five streets and putting a high-level bridge across Montague street in the north end. All traffic would be over this bridge.

HEROIC WORK SAVED TOWN.

In Danger of Being Wiped Out by Flood.

Austin, Pa., Jan. 27.—Heroic work has saved this town from a disaster similar to that which almost wiped out Johnstown twenty years ago. A big concrete dam above this city containing a body of water fifty feet deep, six hundred feet wide, and nearly a mile long, showed signs of giving away, and thousands of families went to the hills, where they remained.

When the break was discovered a large gang of men employed by local authorities, assisted by many volunteers, set to work blasting one end of the breast of the dam. Others, at the risk of their lives, worked to reach a release valve at the bottom of the dam. They succeeded, and with a great hole in the side of the big concrete wall, the water was gradually released until all danger was past.

MAY CAUSE RATE WAR.

Refuses to Come Into Agreement With Other Roads.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—The Grand Trunk railway has served notice that it will not agree to the elimination of the all-rail differential rates nor to the proposed increase of eight cents per hundred pounds in the lake and rail and ocean and rail differential rates.

In this connection it is said that a rate war is threatened, and the Erie and Delaware & Lackawanna have served notice that if the Grand Trunk does not come into the agreement they will lower the class rates on an average of six cents per hundred pounds.

SHE WORKED A PLOT

QUADRUPLETS DECLARED TO PLEASE HUSBAND.

Los Angeles Woman Confesses Brood She Pretended to Bear Are Really Counterfeits.

Los Angeles, Jan. 27.—On the refusal of Dr. Armstrong G. Pratt to sign birth certificates for the quadruplets, supposed to have been born last Friday evening, at the home of Mrs. W. Wilson of No. 2919 South Magnolia avenue, Dr. L. H. Powers, of the Los Angeles health department, decided to make an investigation in the case.

Dr. Pratt declared that in his opinion none of the infants had been born at the Wilson residence and that all had been born previous to last Friday. He said that Mrs. Wilson confessed to him that the babies had been taken to the house by a woman who had assisted her in perpetrating the hoax and that one of the infants was six weeks old, another was a week old, he said, and the other two were about twenty-four hours old when he first saw them. Mrs. Wilson according to Dr. Pratt, not only admitted that the quadruplets were not genuine, but that two sets of triplets, which arrived at the Wilson home in past years, which, brought a letter of recommendation and a signed photograph from President Roosevelt, were made up of infant vases picked up in various institutions.

Dr. Pratt said that when he questioned Mrs. Wilson she appealed to her deception, and assured him that her motive was an ardent desire to have children and to save her husband who desired a larger family. According to her story, Mrs. Wilson began the deception several months ago and carried out the details so secretly and successfully as to deceive everyone with the exception of the woman who assisted her.

Mrs. Wilson added, the doctor said, that a genuine child was an infant twenty-five years old in infancy. After its death, she said she longed for children and at last she hit upon the idea of making babies.

Senator As to Hamilton, the whole of L. T. Davidson's grocers, of Calgary, is said to be $25,000.

REACHED 345

Combined Strength of Liberals, Labor, Nationalists.

ONLY SHORT LIFE

IS EXPECTED FROM ANY GOVERNMENT.

Organizers Urged to Keep Vigilant And Be Ready for Another Appeal to the Country—All the Cabinet Ministers Have Been Re-elected.

London, Jan. 27.—The combined strength of the liberal, labor and nationalist coalition has reached 345 more than half the number of members of the House of Commons. A unionist government, therefore, is out of the question and the only point still undecided is the exact strength of the coalition majority. But as an independent liberal majority is equally out of the question only a short life can be predicted for the incoming government. The standing of the political parties is:—

Unionists	255
Liberals	236
Labor	37
Nationalists	72
Net Unionists gains, 98.

The party organizers already have been instructed to maintain unceasing vigilance and to be prepared for another appeal to the country at any moment.

As an example of the difficulties facing the government at the coming session, apart from the House of Lords and the budget, it is probable the labor party will introduce its "rights to work" bill which the government opposed last session. This might easily lead to the defeat of the ministry and to another dissolution.

With the return of Premier Asquith and War Minister Haldane all the cabinet ministers have been re-elected. After the declaration of the poll, at East Fife, a number of suffragettes made an attack on Mr. Asquith, but were driven off by the police with whom they had several personal encounters.

Austen Chamberlain, at Selby Oak, declared the unionists would not give one jot of their determination to maintain the union even if all the Irish votes could be had for the asking. He added that the Irish would be protectionist if they had a separate parliament.

BORN NEAR KINGSTON.

Died as a Result of Blood Poisoning His Head Wounded.

Special to the Whig.

North Bay, Ont., Jan. 27.—Thomas Hay, C.P.R. claims agent, injured in Webwood wreck, last Friday, died at eight o'clock, this morning, at his home, North Bay. Blood poisoning set in as a result of wounds on his head. Mr. Hay was sixty-four years old, and had railroaded forty-five years, joining the C.P.R. in 1883. He was born near Kingston, and served the Grand Trunk at Brockville for many years.

Killed Coasting.

Syracuse, N.Y., Jan. 27.—John Hough, eleven years old, was killed, Walter Smith, fifteen, was fatally hurt and Marjorie Hough, fourteen, had her leg broken, in a coasting accident at Theresa. A party of fourteen were on a heavy bob sleigh on a very steep hill glary with ice. The sleigh was going at a terrific speed, when young Smith, who was at the wheel, lost control, and the sleigh ran into a telephone pole. The entire party was thrown violently into the air. None escaped without bruises.

The Capacity of Whales.

In the course of his address, last evening, in Bethel church, Evangelist Stephens, commenting upon the disbelief of some people in the story of Jonah, told of a man, who is still living, in Liverpool, who had been several hours in the belly of a whale. He also cited the experience of Frank Buller, an author of some note, and employed by the English government as a lecturer, on nautical subjects. Mr. Buller states that on one occasion, in cutting up a large whale, he found in it a shark seventeen feet long.

Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Kingston Hosiery Co., Ltd., was held on Wednesday evening. Dwyer, James Minnes, James Richardson, A. B. Cunningham, Dr. Clements and John Hewton.

Bethel Church Revival.

Where are the dead? Is there a heaven? Is there a hell? These were the questions ably discussed by Evangelist Stephens, last evening, in Bethel church. "Most people believe in a heaven, but as a rule men," said the evangelist, "don't want to believe in a hell, and yet it is in the same book that a loving God tells us how to make sure of one and escape the other."

At the annual meeting of the Bank of Nova Scotia, N. C. McLeod, general manager, resigned. It was decided to increase the capital from three to four millions. During the year the bank earned nearly twenty per cent. on its capital.

SAVED BY UNDERWEAR.

Man in Detroit Had Made a Fire Escape.

Detroit, Jan. 27.—Three union suits bought at a bargain sale, Monday, by George Sauve, a travelling salesman from Montreal, saved him and his wife from death when the lodging house, where they had engaged rooms, took fire yesterday. Escape by way of the stairs was cut off by the blaze. Sauve knotted the union suits together, tied one end to the bedpost, threw the other out of the window, and thus he and his wife scrambled to the ground.

A VEILED ATTACK

MADE ON GOVERNMENT BY HON. G. E. FOSTER.

But Hugh Guthrie Unmasked the Mover—No Party More Steeped in Belief That the Victor Must Have Spoils Than Tory Party.

Special to the Whig.

Ottawa, Jan. 27.—That hardy perennial, the opposition attack on the evils of the patronage system, with a demand for the total abolition of the system instanter, occupied the time of the commons yesterday. As usual Mr. Foster made the onslaught, using as basis of resolution cunningly drawn so as to constitute practically a direct motion of censure upon the government, yet ostensibly merely a non-partisan appeal for higher ideals in politics. The resolution declared that the prevailing system of patronage was an incentive to corruption and a menace to honest and efficient government and should be abolished forthwith. While sustaining from citing any specific instances of the abuse of patronage Mr. Foster in general terms condemned the government for allowing its widespread application. On general principles he attacked it as a thing "which plagues the legislator and plunders the country," causes untold wrongs to the ministers and their supporters, takes up in one form or the other ninety per cent. of their time and ultimately results in the defeat of every government.

The member for North Toronto admitted that when he was a member of the government patronage was the biggest trouble which he and his colleagues had to worry with.

Hugh Guthrie, Wellington, in replying to Mr. Foster's motion, noted that his resolution had been clothed in his usual exaggerated statements and was evidently designed as a veiled-partisan attack on the government. It was characteristic of Mr. Foster's practice and temperament. He pointed out the inconsistency of the resolution coming from Mr. Foster who, previous to 1896, had apparently seen nothing wrong with the spoils system as it then prevailed. Prior to the administration of the present government there was an unflinching application of the principle that the victors belong the spoils and none knew it better than did the member for North Toronto. But the Laurier government had instituted a large reform in this connection and the present system, declared Mr. Guthrie, was undoubtedly the best which had prevailed since Confederation.

Mr. Guthrie declared that all the recommendations of the civil service commissioners, that were practicable, had already been carried out by the government. There was now no patronage list in any department of the government and purchasing agents had been appointed in each department to ensure the purchase of all supplies at the cheapest possible price. In every case lowest tenders were accepted and every opportunity was given to all firms to tender, in respect of political.

In conclusion Mr. Guthrie moved the following amendment: "That this house approves of the rapid advances made by the government towards the elimination of the system of party patronage which has been in operation under every administration since Confederation, and views with satisfaction the system now in force of making all important purchases by public competition and tender."

On motion of Mr. Barrell the debate was adjourned.

In reply to Mr. Crosby Sir Wilfrid Laurier stated that no appointment had yet been made to fill the position of harbor master at Halifax.

Replying to Mr. Armstrong the minister of agriculture stated that the census would begin to be taken in June of next year.

WOMAN DIED TWICE.

Assistant Got Weird Results From Hypnotism.

St. Paul, Mich., Jan. 27.—A strange story is told about Mrs. Charlotta Willner, who, to all appearances, died in a dentist's chair. The body was taken to an undertaking establishment. Just before the hour set for the funeral she was pronounced alive by Isaac Deverman, undertaker's assistant and amateur hypnotist, who said he had brought her back to life by massaging her heart and by directing his will.

He proved to assembled friends of Mrs. Willner the reappearance of life by placing a mirror before the lips of the prostrate woman. The hearse and carriages were dismissed suddenly from the door of the undertaking establishment by the excited order of Mrs. Willner's friends, who had been summoned to see the signs of life.

Physicians were summoned to the undertaking establishment and by dint of strenuous efforts for the woman's resuscitation, her lips were seen to move and she muttered unintelligibly. Electrical instruments were brought from hospitals and applied. Flashes were seen to form beneath the electrodes, but this rapidly ceased and a few hours later assembled physicians announced that rigor mortis was setting in and that the woman was dead.

WHAT IS SOUGHT

NOTHING IS TOO GOOD FOR THE IRISH.

And Only Complete Home Rule Will Satisfy Them—Noted Author Tells of Emerald Isle's Troubles.

New York, Jan. 27.—Only complete home rule will satisfy the Irish, according to Seumas MacManus, the noted Irish author, and he declares that if Premier Asquith proposes half-measures they will be turned down by the new Irish representatives in the British parliament.

Discussing "What's the Matter With Ireland?" in the February number of the Travel Magazine, MacManus will declare that the real trouble is maladministration. He says that English officials which can only be remedied by permitting the island to rule itself.

"The lord lieutenant draws twenty thousand pounds, or $100,000, annually, for crossing the channel with his carpet bag and spending some three some days in Dublin, but signing his name to decrees doing Ireland to death," declares the noted author. And the tens of thousands of officials who spend their time putting the decrees into execution are salaried by the drying Irish nation with incomes that would make American graders green with envy.

"The Irish taxation at the time of the union with England was less than ten shillings a head. To-day, after forty years of parliamentary fighting for home rule, it is forty-four shillings a head. If we compare Ireland's taxation to-day with that of the other little nations of Europe, we find that this country, the poorest of them all, pays per head almost double as much as most of them.

A shirt-making industry started in the north of Ireland was forced out of business because it would not pay a tribute to the railways. Is it little wonder that the short-sighted policy leaves most Irish railways in the plight of paying their dividends in postage stamps?"

MacManus declares that instead of supporting the 4,250,000, as at present, Ireland, if properly governed, and its industries given a chance to expand, is capable of supporting in comfort 40,000,000 people.

John Watson Irving, Merrickville, receiving treatment at Brockville, died on Tuesday evening. He was twenty-three years of age.
