Conservative Senators Only Number Twenty.

THE NUMBER OF LIBERALS ABOUT 1896.

A Big Fight on Over the Question of Trying Hard to Get Cheap Insur- resolutions.

Special to the Whig. Ottawa, Feb. 10 .- The death of Senator Baker, in Montreal, yesterday, reduces the representation of conservatives in the senate to twenty, as compared with sixty-seven liberals. The present disproportion in the represen-tation of the two parties in the upper chamber, is however, not so great as Swindle Worked on Ottawa Man by when the present administration took office in 1896, as at that time there were only eleven liberals in the senat that rate, before another general office and obtained a waybill consignelection the disproportion would be so great as to demand some remedy ng found in the near future for the existing system of appointing as senwith the party in power.
