A GENEROUS OFFER

OF THE KINGSTON SHIPBUILDING CO. REGARDING WAGES.

Will Expand $30,000 For The First Three Years, and Thereafter $40,000 a Year—Meeting of City Council to Amend the By-law.

The Kingston Shipbuilding company, instead of agreeing to pay the sum of $20,000 a year in wages to residents of Kingston in consideration of being granted exemption from taxation, has decided to make a still more generous offer to the city council. At the special meeting of the council, held last Thursday, one of the aldermen thought that the amount guaranteed in wages should be increased. The by-law was given a second reading, but since that time it has been held up by the company's solicitor, J. L. Whiting, K.C., who desired to know if the company intended to pay the $20,000 in wages to residents of Kingston only. The members of the company have replied that they certainly intended this. They have now given their solicitor instructions to have the by-law amended by increasing materially the amount of wages to be paid each year. This morning Mr. Whiting made this statement:

"As some of the aldermen have expressed a wish that the company should, if possible, guarantee a larger annual expenditure for wages than $20,000, and so make the proposition more attractive, the directors of the company, after consideration, have agreed to make the figure $30,000 for the first three years and $40,000 thereafter. The by-law will, therefore, be amended by this change of figures before going to the people."

Mayor Cooper has called a special meeting for Tuesday evening to revise the by-law and fix a later date than March 15th for its submission to the people. The by-law has to be advertised in the papers for three weeks before it can be voted upon.

Was Buried To-day.

The funeral of the late George Sears was held at ten o'clock this morning from his late residence, Earl street. The funeral services were conducted by Dean Bidwell and Canon Starr. Many beautiful floral tokens from sorrowing friends covered the casket. Six friends of the deceased, R. Waldron, M. Sutcliffe, T. J. Rigney, C. Lewis, W. B. Dalton and Samuel Birch, acted as pall bearers.

Had a Lively Time.

A horse belonging to the stables at the Exchange Hotel, Esd a wild gallop around the city, late Friday night, and people who witnessed the runaway, say it was indeed a wonder that no person was injured. The horse was left in the hotel yard, and made a bolt before any person could prevent it, and after going around the down town streets, at a break neck speed, returned to the stables without damage to itself or to the outer. Going from Princess street to Brock, on King street, the animal took to the sidewalk, and it so happened that no person was on the walk at the time, and thus an accident was avoided.

ROCKWOOD TOOK IT.

An Interesting Game Was Held on Saturday.

The third game in the Rockwood tankard series was played at the asylum rink, on Saturday afternoon, the asylum players winning, by seven points. Capt. Bell's rink defeated W. Carr's, by three shots, but W. R. Sills was defeated by ten shots by James Dennison's rink. The following players took part:

Kingston—A. Turcotte, H. B. R. Craig, T. M. Asselstine, Capt. Bell, skip—19.
Rockwood—J. Gowan, J. Davidson, T. McCammon, W. Carr, skip—16.
Kingston—P. D. Lyman, Prof. Dyde, Prof. R. Laird, W. R. Sills, skip—9.
Rockwood—W. R. Dick, W. Fenwick, W. Potter, J. Dennison, skip—19.

The final game for the tankard will be played in Kingston on Saturday next.

Varsity Third Won.

Following the Queen's University of Toronto Intercollegiate senior game, at Toronto, Saturday night, a second round game was played between Kingston College (Inter) and the University of Toronto III, in the Intercollegiate junior series. Varsity won by 6 to 5. The winners led by 4 to 1 at half time. Referee Steacy, of Kingston, who officiated in the senior game, also handled the junior affair. The teams:

The game was played in twenty-minute halves, no time being taken out at half-time when the teams merely changed ends. Play had proceeded for twenty-three minutes in the first half before the timers stopped it. It was agreed to quit at midnight so as not to encroach on the Sabbath day.

Score Was a Tie.

The Wormwith hockey team tied Gannaque Tigers in Gannaque on Saturday night. At full time the score was 4 to 4. Two of the Wormwith team refused to play longer but the balance of the team went on and played an extra ten minutes during which time Gannaque scored seven goals.

Hockey Practice To-night.

The senior and junior Frontenacs will practice at the covered rink this evening, and every player is requested to be out in uniform and put in a hard hour's work. Both teams are now facing the hardest part of the season and must win the next games or go down. This will be the last practice either team will have before the next games, and all should take advantage of it.

Queen's Downed Varsity.

Toronto Globe: There has not been a better or more exciting game at Mutual street rink this season than that in which the University of Toronto and Queen's University engaged, Saturday night, in the Intercollegiate senior series. The contest drew perhaps the largest crowd of the season, as facts that Queen's had beaten McGill in Montreal and that a Varsity Varsity made the championship certain, accounting to a large extent or the big turnout. Queen's won the game in overtime, by 14 to 13. The score at half time was 8 to 8, at the conclusion of the hour of play, 12 to 12, at the end of the first period of overtime, 13 to 12 in favor of the University of Toronto, and the final, 14 to 13 in favor of the Presbyterians from Kingston.

Queen's could not have been better pleased had the ice been made to their order. They are essentially a fast ice team. McGill beat Queen's on slow ice at Kingston, but the Kingstonians went back to Montreal for the return game and beat McGill 6 to 4 on hard ice. The winners were superior to Varsity in both speed and stick handling, although the Toronto students clearly outshot the visitors. Queen's defence was weak, else the visitors would have won the game handsily without the necessity of playing overtime. The Presbyterian forward line is quite the best here this season, not excepting Montreal Victorias or Cliffides, of Ottawa. Campbell, Crawford and Dobson skated their checks to a standard, but both teams were quite willing to leave the job when an issue had been obtained. Dobson was the star of the game. He was used at right wing, and McSloy stuck to him throughout the first half and well into the second period. After that, however, Dobson ran wild and did a lot of selling work for his team, although the race told even on him before the game was over. With Code and Gallie playing for Queen's instead of Varsity he latter would have been beaten without extra time. Tremble and B. George were weak on the defensive for the winners, but their offensive play was no small factor in the Queen's victory. Both goal tenders played inconsistent games, now stopping seemingly impossible shots and again allowing easy ones to find the net. The visiting defence was easily drawn out and Varsity's good shooting forwards took advantage of the fact.

Queen's had a shade the better of the play at most stages. Referee No. 6 Steacy, of Kingston, handled the game well, although the unfamiliarity of the crowd with the eastern offside rule got him into their bad graces at times. He penalized freely for jabbing and tripping. Varsity got the goal which made the score 13 to 12 early in the first overtime period, but Steacy night Gallie and Evans using questionable tactics in the second five minutes of extra play and their absence from the ice enabled Queen's to get up at least of the two goals which they ran in to make the final tally 14 to 13. Frith, Code and Gallie were the rest of the Varsity lot.

A defeat for University of Toronto at McGill, next Friday night, and the defeat of Laval at Queen's will make Varsity, McGill and Queen's tied. The teams:

Referee—B. N. Steacy, Kingston.

Paper on Chesterton's Book.

The Kingston Clerical Club met on Monday morning. Canon Starr reading a paper on G. K. Chesterton's "Orthodoxy." Chesterton, brought up in the school of George Bernard Shaw, and a master of epigram, is uniquely fitted for the task of routing the flippant critics of religion with their own weapons. Canon Scott-Holland looks on the book as a great contribution to Christian literature, and says that Chesterton has hammered the ranks of the ribald with hail, while the theologians have been preparing their guns for action. The author of "Orthodoxy" read himself from unbelief into faith, and so can combat the opponents of religion as one who has fought a fight and won.

Tributes to Departed.

In the sermon at choral celebration, on Sunday, at St. George's, Canon Stage made touching references to the late Mrs. T. Merrett, whose life had been so bound up with the cathedral's good works, and whose gentle presence will be so much missed. He also referred to Miss Stoughton, not a member of the congregation, but a pillar of the church in Kingston, one whose example was a shining one for others to follow. The preacher also spoke of the sudden calling of George Sears and of the sympathy all felt for the family.
