

THE SPORT REVIEW

QUEEN'S WILL GO TO OTTAWA ON MONDAY.

To Meet McGill for the Intercollegiate Hockey Championship—City Hockey League Schedule Not Likely to be Finished.

Queen's hockey team will leave for Ottawa at noon Monday and will take along an excursion. The players are all in first-class condition and feel as enthusiastic as they did when they went after the Allan cup last year and brought it back.

Every player feels that the Intercollegiate and Allan cups must remain here. They will do all in their power to keep them. The players have had as many practices as possible and besides have been doing an amount of gymnasium work that will benefit them considerably.

No change will be made in the lineup, the team being the same as defeated Varsity. Gilbert, goal; R. George, point; Trimble, cover; G. George, rover; Crawford, centre; Campbell, left wing; Dobson, right wing.

How McGill Looks At It.

McGill looks at the defeat of Varsity through the same spectacles as Queen's. Toronto is accused of wanting some kind of an excuse of dropping out of the Intercollegiate union. The McGill representative says that the vote was unanimous to give Queen's the bye. They say that they would have agreed to other arrangements in regard to the play-off had Varsity's suggestions been fair, but they refused to agree to playing the game in Cobourg, where the rink is small. The game could have been pulled off in Kingston. As to the expenses of Varsity the McGill representative says that these could have been easily arranged for. It seems to be the opinion in Montreal that Varsity wants to get out of the Intercollegiate union.

When Laval was admitted to the Intercollegiate hockey league, it was done with the full concurrence of Varsity. For two years Laval tried to get into this union, but twice was turned down at the request of Varsity which held that it would not be fair to have to make two long trips to Montreal, when McGill had things so easy. Varsity certainly got the short end of it when Laval was admitted to the league. In Toronto they are sore still over Laval's admittance, particularly on account of the poor hockey that the French students play, which renders it impossible to get a big crowd to attend the game on Toronto ice.

Ready for Preston.

In Toronto, on Friday evening, Preston and Hamilton for the fourth time this season to decide the tie in their district of the junior O.H.A. The former won out four goals to two. This means that Frontenacs play home-and-home games with Preston for the silverware, the first game being in Preston on Monday evening. The Frontenacs leave here on Sunday at noon, for Preston, staying Sunday night in Toronto, so that the boys can have a good rest, and go on Monday morning to Preston. As far as the locals went they had no great choice in the winners, being quite satisfied to meet either team, as long as the game is played on a decent-sized rink, that is well lighted.

The Frontenacs were out for a run at the armories on Friday evening, to limber them up a little, and this morning, at ten o'clock, had a light workout at the covered rink. The boys were all out and seemed in the pink of condition for the first struggle. Every player is in good shape and will do his best for the honor of the town.

City League Hockey.

It looks as if the city league hockey was over for the season as the open air rinks have suffered considerably by the heavy thaw, and it would take quite a few days of cold weather to bring them around again. The final game in the Kingston Amateur Hockey League between Royals and R.C.H.A., will be played on the covered rink on Monday, March 14th, if there is any ice.

When You Think Yourself Out of Sorts You Are Often Seriously Ill.

ARCHITECT ENGAGED

REPORT ON PROPOSED CHANGES IN CITY BUILDINGS.

Ontario Hall Will Not be Touched at Present—Little to be Saved by Transfer of Board of Education Quarters to City Buildings.

The city property committee, at a special meeting, yesterday afternoon, engaged William Newlands, architect, to prepare a sketch of the proposed structural changes in the east wing of the city buildings and of the steam heating to be installed. In attendance at the meeting were: Ald. Graham Clouston, Harrison Hanley, Hoag Kingston and McCarthy. Mr. Newlands was telephoned for and the committee discussed with him what was to be done. Mr. Newlands will submit a sketch at next Wednesday's meeting of the committee, so that the matter can be presented to council on the following Monday evening.

JORDAN NOT A RIVER.

The Renfrew Lad Knew His Hockey Far Better Than That.

The thriving town of Renfrew, Ontario, is hockey crazy, as everybody knows—at least everybody interested in sports. And those who do not peruse the sporting pages of the daily papers occasionally miss a story full of suggestion in a broad, human way. Such a story for example, was that which concerned the "Jordan" which was the time being Renfrew's mighty professional hockey team. This organization of stars, collected regardless of expense, made a brave showing when they lined up on the home rink, for their first game—against Cobalt—and all their grins and smiles were sorry for the few clumsy hokies from the silver town. And what a lesson in humility to giants was then most harshly read to all that mighty aggregation and their friends and backers, when it went down to defeat before the good team play of undefeated opponents. Still Renfrew is still greatly interested in hockey, as will be noted by an incident which occurred there recently. It is told by the Renfrew Journal as an absolutely true story. To appreciate it one must know that Renfrew's amateur hockey team is called "the Jordan" and that the centre man on Renfrew's famous National Hockey Association team is an expert named Jordan.

The true tale runs like this: At Sunday school in that town a week ago the teacher of a class was giving a fine description of the River "Jordan." Noticing that one boy in the class was inattentive, the teacher thought to catch him napping by suddenly turning to him and asking: "And now (calling him by name) what is Jordan?"

"A hockey player," was the prompt but unhesitating reply.

"Oh, no!" said the teacher, "will some one who has been paying attention, give me the correct answer?"

"Jordan is one of the rivers," began another scholar in response to this, but he was promptly interrupted by the first boy.

"He isn't one of the 'Rivers,' at all, he plays centre for the seniors," he said.

Approved Arrangements.

The provincial secretary has accepted the arrangement made by the county council of Lennox and Addington for the care of its poor in the House of Industry and House of Providence, Kingston, the cost to be a charge upon the county and not the different municipalities. This prevents mandamus proceedings to compel Lennox to build a House of Refuge.

Fortune for Some Person.

Port Hope Guide.

A woman has just died in Kingston as the result of a fall on a slippery granolithic walk. It begins to look as though the time has arrived for a united effort to grapple with the granolithic sidewalk danger. At present everybody seems to be willing to suffer in silence. Honor and fortune awaits the man who can make the granolithic walk safe in winter.

Distinction in Stairways.

Saturday Evening Post.

A visitor to the Capital at Washington started to go up a stairway on the senate side that was roped off.

"Here," said a capital policeman, "you can't go up that stairway!"

"Why," asked the visitor, "is it exclusive?"

"No, not exclusive—private."

BE ON HAND

And See Grace La Rue in "Molly May."

"Molly May," a comic opera by Julian Edwards and Walter Browne, is the Grand Opera House attraction for next Monday evening, March 7th. "Molly May" will serve to introduce Grace La Rue as an individual star to local theatregoers. "Molly May" it is said has been written with a view to giving Miss La Rue full scope to exploit her many and varied talents, but at the same time it should not be thought that it is a one-part opera. With Miss La Rue will appear Sadie Gant, James Sullivan, Kate Rolla, Eva Falloa and a chorus of fifty girls. Of the gowns worn by Grace La Rue it has been written that they are both charming and dazzling.

"Mr. Hamlet of Broadway."

Edith Foy, one of the most popular comedians on the American stage, is coming to the Grand on Wednesday, March 9th. The attraction, which is under the direction of the Shuberts, supplies Mr. Foy with the opportunity he has long sought—that of playing Hamlet. It will not be Shakespeare's tragedy in which Mr. Foy and his seventy-five assistants will be seen, however, but a jolly musical comedy, "Mr. Hamlet of Broadway," the book and lyrics of which are by Edgar Smith and Edward Madden and the music by Ben Jerome. In this piece Mr. Foy, as Joe Wheeler, a stranded circus clown, appears at a summer hotel in the Adirondack mountains, accompanied by his performing troupe. "Hamlet," Joe is pressed into service to enact the role of the melancholy hero. There are eight musical numbers in the piece all of them popular and sure to be whistled for months after the appearance here of the production.

"Three Twins."

The success of Jos. M. Gaites, production, "Three Twins," which comes to the Grand Opera House, on Thursday, March 10th, is phenomenal and it is for years has a musical comedy found favor so quickly nor given more promise of continued popularity than has this delightful concoction of mirth and melody. The individual triumph is to be credited to Clifton Crawford, who has taken the fancy of theatregoers with an entirely new vein of humor, "Three Twins" is just a moment of fun, with never a tedious moment from the start.

The Late Elias Clapp.

The death of Elias Clapp occurred Thursday, February 10th, the home of his surviving wife, Mrs. William Hawley. He was one of the oldest residents of Adolphustown, and lived to the ripe age of ninety-one years and six months. He was confined to his bed just one week, and retained his faculties up to the very last. Deceased was a son of John Clapp, of Adolphustown, and was born in the year 1818, not far from the place he died. His father was one of the U. E. Loyalists. He lived nearly all his life in Adolphustown, and had the distinction of living under five sovereigns, viz:—John Clapp, the son of the rebellion of 1837. In 1840 he married Deborah, daughter of Col. Borland, Adolphustown. His wife's death preceded his by sixteen years. He had four children: Irvine, Mrs. Wilmot Hawley, Mrs. M. Mallory and Mrs. Philip Fox, two of his surviving children. His religion was a Methodist, and in politics a Liberal. In early life he took a prominent part in politics, and was a J. P. until the last few years of his life.

The Manchus.

The name "Manchuria" to designate the country of the Manchus, is not known to the Chinese, but was invented by French geographers. The Manchus are a tribe of Tartars who gained the ascendancy in China in the seventeenth century. Manchu is Chinese for "pure of race" and was applied by an ancestor of Shun Che, the first Manchu emperor of China, to his dynasty and his people.

No Encouragement.

The man who had food the long strain of Uncle Hobart's illness well, but the peculiarities of the physician chosen by Uncle Hobart himself had been, to say the least, trying. "Do you really think he will recover, Dr. Shaw?" asked the oldest sister of the invalid, who had borne with his vagaries patiently for years. "I know how you feel with Thanksgiving coming on, and all," said the doctor, peering at her under his shaggy eyebrows, "but it's too soon to tell. He may get well, and then again he may not. I can't encourage you yet either way."

A Way of Explaining It.

Wife—Why, John, just see what a stupid blunder the newspaper has made in its account of our silver wedding! Don't you remember I wrote it out for the reporter that we had spent together twenty-five years of married happiness and the stupid typewriter has gone and made it twenty-five years of married happiness. Isn't it awful? Husband—Oh, well, dear, don't be too hard on the poor fellow. Perhaps he's been married twenty-five years himself.

THACKERAY WAS BORED.

Amusing Incident of the Author's Second Visit.

During Thackeray's second visit to Boston James T. Fields, his host, was asked to invite Thackeray to attend an evening meeting of a scientific club which was to be held at the house of a distinguished member. I was, said Mr. Fields, very reluctant to ask him to be present, for I knew he was easily bored, and I was fearful that a prosey essay or geological paper might be presented and felt certain that should such be the case he would be exasperated with me, the innocent cause of his affliction.

"My worst fears were realized. I dared not look at Thackeray. I felt that his eye was upon me. My distress may be imagined when I saw him rise quite deliberately and make his exit very noiselessly into a small ante-room adjoining. The apartment was dimly lighted, but he knew that I knew he was there.

"Then began a series of pantomimic gestures impossible to describe. He drew an imaginary person—myself, of course—upon the floor and proceeded to stab him several times with a paper folder, which he caught up for the purpose.

After disposing of his victim in this way he was not satisfied, for the dull lecture still went on in the other room, so he fired an imaginary revolver several times at an imaginary head.

The whole thing was inimitably done. I hoped nobody saw it but my friend Years afterwards a ponderous, first-witted young man put the question "why to me?"

"What was the matter with Mr. Thackeray that night the club met at Mr. —'s house?"

THE EQUITY FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

Head Office, 24 King St. West, Toronto.

Twelfth Annual Meeting Feb. 17th, 1910.

DIRECTORS' REPORT.

To the Shareholders of The Equity Fire Insurance Company:

Your Directors, in presenting the Twelfth Annual Statement to the Shareholders, would call attention to the increase of Premium Income, the Gross amount for the year being $28,708.12, which with interest earnings and payments on Capital Stock makes a total gross income of $32,493.46.

The call on the Capital Stock has resulted in receipts of practically $60,000 and the balance remaining should be paid into the Company without further delay.

It is pleasing to note that the $17,234.08 balance of income, no less an amount than $2,813.74 is due to surplus on underwriting account.

The sum of $62,612.98 has been placed to Reserve, and the total security to Policy Holders now stands at $488,412.98.

We would call attention to the moderate amount of fire losses for the year, namely, $36,315.97.

We would further point out that every adjusted loss on the 31st of December was paid, and that the net amount of unadjusted losses amounted to only $4,621.34.

The expenses in several items show a reduction, and a strong effort will be made to still further reduce controllable expenditure.

Your directors obtained in May last from the Dominion Parliament a special Bill incorporating the Equity Fire Insurance Company of Canada, the objects of which have already been explained. A Special General Meeting of Shareholders was held on June 21st last, at which the action of the Board for the proposed transfer of the present Company to the Equity Fire Insurance Company of Canada was duly approved, but the response to the call upon the Shareholders and the sale of new stock has not been sufficient as yet to meet the requirements and thus enable us to make the change.

The record of the year's operations, which we now present, should, we think, result in a recognition of the possibilities of the business and encourage a desire for investment by the public in the Capital Shares of the new Company.

Your Directors, having in mind the intimate relations existing between the Equity, Metropolitan and Independent Fire Insurance Companies, and with a view to greater economy and efficiency, approved of the Company completing a closer working alliance between the Companies, under our management. This has been in operation since the beginning of the year.

The thanks of the Shareholders are due to the Agents of the Company. The members of the Staff have been energetic and loyal in their attention and efforts for the Company.

The Auditors have maintained a continuous audit of the books of the Company and have given excellent service in their department.

The term for which the Directors were elected, terminates with this meeting. A reduction in the number of directors and in meetings of the Board is recommended.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
