Baxter, of Barriefield. Mr. Baxter referred to the illness of Mr. Davis, and stated that everyone ic to retire. He was very much pleased to see such a good attendance at the meeting. The roads were in had shape and he did not expect that showed the country to be in a condition, and also showed that the members of the grand old party were still very active.

The first order was the election of officers and Mr. Baxter immediately vacated the chair, but was compelled to return again in a few minutes as meeting, by a unanimous vote, beted him as president, and many were the warm words of praise show ered upon him. Since Mr. Davis was compelled to give up the office Mr. Baxter has ably filled the duties of the president, and the members of the association felt that they could not do better than place Mr. Baxter he head.
