Parsonage Burned.

Delta, Ont., March 7.—The Methodist parsonage, here, was destroyed by fire shortly after midnight Saturday night. Mrs. Davidson was awakened by smoke in her chamber and aroused the family, who hurriedly made their escape from the burning building in their night apparel. The barn and the house and its contents were a total loss, only a piano being saved, not a book from Mr. Davidson's fine library being saved. The family lost all their clothing. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

TO BE SATISFACTORY

CANADA LIKELY TO GET THE MINIMUM RATES

From the United States Under the Payne-Aldrich Bill—The Positions of the Two Governments.

Ottawa, March 7.—The conference between the United States tariff delegation of the sub-committee of the Dominion cabinet is expected to end this evening. There is no apprehension as to result and it is confidently expected that Canada will receive the benefit of the minimum rates under the Payne-Aldrich law. It is authoritatively stated that the delegates are clothed with authority to negotiate for certain favors if they see fit to ask for them. The United States' position is: "That the extension of a large list of Canadian intermediate and special tariff rates to France and thirteen 'most favored nations,' is an undue discrimination against the United States; that Canada should remove this discrimination by granting the United States the same 'most favored nation' treatment. While Canada's exports to the United States under the Payne-Aldrich bill have increased, the decreased rates of duty will reduce the customs duties collected by nearly $1,000,000; that the proposed policy of the provincial government of Quebec to require the manufacture of crown land pulpwood in Canada is not an 'undue discrimination,' but that it will seriously injure American paper mills dependent upon this source of pulpwood supply; that the abandonment of the policy of recognition of the vested rights of American interests in crown land pulpwood limits would shield an important American industry."

Canada's position is: "That the extension of intermediate and special tariff rates to France is under a reciprocity treaty, therefore, non-discriminatory according to American practice. That the granting of the same rates to thirteen other nations without any reciprocal concession is due to unfortunate 'most favored nation' obligations imposed on Canada by old British treaties. That their total trade is too small for their tariff advantage to be considered an undue discrimination against the United States. That existing trade relations are vastly in favor of the United States, which annually sells Canada $180,000,000 worth of goods and buys only $92,000,000 worth, while the American tariff is approximately twice as high as the Canadian.—This is the basis for the 'friendly negotiations' by which President Taft in his December message to congress, said other nations would be urged to eliminate discriminations from their law and practice. The problem for the Americans is to convince the Canadians that they do not unduly discriminate and to correct it by giving the United States as low rates as France and the rest. The Canadians have the task of persuading their cousins that there is no intent and no effect of discrimination. Each side will have a club handy, the Americans in their maximum, the Canadians in their surtax, recently effectively used against Germany. But neither wants to brandish weapons."

St. John Newspaper Deal. St. John, N.B., March 7.—Negotiations which have been in progress for a long time were, it is announced, concluded for the purchase of the Sun and the Star, morning and afternoon newspapers, issued by the one management. They have been purchased by the owners of the Telegraph and Times. Publication of the Sun and Star will cease on March 19th. This leaves St. John with two morning and two afternoon dailies. The C.F. Crandall, editor of the Sun, will, it is said, go to the Halifax Echo.

Men Jumped From Rig and Seized It. On Saturday evening, about nine o'clock, Miss Martha Minnes, of Union street, was the victim of purse snatching. Miss Minnes was walking down Alfred street on her way home, when a rig, containing two men, drove around the corner from Union street. Before the lady was aware of anything, one of the men jumped out of the rig, grabbed the purse out of her hand and getting back into the buggy was driven quickly away. Miss Minnes was terribly frightened by the man, and she screamed, her cry bringing to her aid Benjamin Watson, a guard in the penitentiary. By the time Mr. Watson found out what was the matter, the rig was quite a distance away, but not so far that a good description of it could not be obtained. Mr. Watson would know both rig and horse should he see them again. The men drove at a fast rate up to Princess street and turned down. The reckless driving of the pair on Princess street drew the attention of A. Arthurs, who saw them go by his store. The purse snatched had $5.20 in it, besides some papers valuable only to the owner.

LADS UNDER ARREST

CHARGED WITH PETTY THEFTS

They Have Confessed to Having Entered a Number of Stores—Stole a Turkey on Sunday Night.

In the arrest of two lads, on Monday afternoon, the police believe that many of the petty thefts, which have been going on for some time, in the city, will be cleared up. Police constable James Craig made the arrest, and the boys will appear before Magistrate Farrell, in the juvenile court, on Tuesday morning. One lad is fifteen years of age, and lives on Lower Queen street. The other lad is sixteen years of age, and up to a short time ago, had been living on Collingwood street. Of late he has been living with the other lad. The lads have confessed to having had a hand in several thefts. On Sunday night a turkey was stolen from the store of the Dominion Fish company, on Brock street, and the boys in custody admit having taken the bird. A week ago the theft of sixty-five cents was reported from Davy's meat market, on Prince street, and to this theft the boys have also pleaded guilty. From Fenwick, Hendry & Co's wholesale, Ontario street, was stolen a quantity of tobacco and some canned goods. The boys also admit having been responsible for this theft.

The Standard office also suffered as a result of the youthful burglars, for they have admitted stealing quantities of lead from the rear of the office, which they sold to local junk dealers. Constable Craig is at work on the case, and it is altogether likely that several other thefts will be traced to are some other lads mixed up in the affair, and more arrests will likely be made. The younger lad has made a full confession to the police, but the other lad, while admitting that he had a hand in the robberies, endeavors to put the most of the blame on the other fellow.

There has been a great deal of petty thieving going on in the city for some time, and the police have been putting forth every effort possible to find the guilty parties. The two lads in question were under suspicion. They have been engaged in selling papers on the streets, and when Constable Craig approached them, near the Kingston and Pembroke station, Monday afternoon, the elder of the two ran away. The other admitted having had a hand in the theft, when questioned, and implicated his chum. It was not long before the other lad was located, and placed under arrest. The elder lad, so it appears, has been living with the other boy, at his home, on Queen street, and one of the lads told the police that they would find the stolen turkey hidden in a box under the table. One of the boys, accompanied Constable "Harry" Filson to the house to locate the turkey.

The case is rather an unfortunate one, and it is understood that the boys have not been attending school, one has been selling papers all the time. His mother is a widow. The lad who made the confession says that they secured an entrance to the Dominion Fish company's store by going through the laneway from Princess street, and then slipping up on to the roof of one of the buildings, and then getting in through a window. He says that they went into the store about seven o'clock on Sunday evening. They searched for money, but could not find any. Some few weeks ago McFidelity's store, Bagot street, was entered and an electric fan was stolen, and about the same time the store of A. Johnson, also on Bagot street, was robbed of a hammer and revolver. The boys deny that they stole these articles, but one says that they can give some information about the theft.

THOS. C. PLATT DEAD

FORMER REPUBLICAN BOSS OF NEW YORK STATE.

Brought Roosevelt Out—Induced Him to Run for the Vice-Presidency—The Roosevelt Conkling Resignation.

New York, March 7.—Thomas Collier Platt, for many years a national figure in republican politics, died, yesterday, in the apartments of Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Abele, on West 110th street, from whom he had rented three rooms for the last four years. Mrs. Abele had been his nurse. Dr. Paul Auterbridge, his physician, said that the cause of death was chronic and acute Bright's disease. The body was removed to the home of Frank H. Platt, his son, and will be taken on Tuesday places, where it will be buried. Funeral services will be held, Wednesday, at the Presbyterian church in Owego. The end was startlingly sudden. An hour before the senator died, his two sons, Frank and Edward, with their families, and his widowed son, Henry, with the latter's daughter, Charlotte, Davies' most trusted, had left the home street, and to this theft the boys have also pleaded guilty. From Fenwick, Hendry & Co's wholesale, Ontario street, was stolen a quantity of tobacco and some canned goods. The boys also admit having been responsible for this theft.

The Standard office also suffered as a result of the youthful burglars, for they have admitted stealing quantities of lead from the rear of the office, which they sold to local junk dealers. LAW IS GOOD ONE.

The Railways are Misrepresenting the Facts.

Ottawa, March 7.—The story, emanating from Montreal and Hamilton, to the effect that train service is seriously hampered by an order of the railway commission, limiting to ten miles an hour, the speed at level crossings where accidents have occurred since 1900, is hardly according to the facts. A member of the railway commission, today, explained that the speed at crossings is not regulated by the order of the commission, but by sub-sections 3 and 4 of section 13, chapter 32 of the amended railway act, which was assented to on May 19th, 1909. "The railways would have the people get the notion that the commission is causing the trains to be late," said the commissioner; "this is not true. The railway act sets the speed at level crossings in thickly populated districts such as towns, villages, etc., at ten miles an hour, and the following sub-section deals with speed at crossings where accidents have occurred. This requires that the railways shall notify the commission of the place of accident and that the commission shall examine the crossing and if any safety precautions are necessary they shall say what is to be done. It frequently happens that we remove the ten-mile regulation without causing any changes. However, some of the railways are not reporting these cases to the commission, and, therefore, must abide by the ten-mile regulation. They want the law amended and by misrepresenting the facts they hope to gain the support of the public. The law is a good one and I don't want to see it changed."

The Navy is Coming High.

During the present year, the United States plans to spend $140,000,000 in its navy alone, which is approximately $1.50 for every man, woman and child in the country. Twenty-five years ago the total naval expenditure amounted to $14,000,000 annually, or about twenty-five cents per capita. The naval appropriations for this year are twice what was spent on the navy during the year of the Spanish war, five times as much as in 1896, and ten times as much as in 1886. Outside of the expenditure on the post office department, seventy-one cents out of every dollar the United States government disburses goes to either the army or the navy. All of which goes to show that when a navy is not an urgent necessity it is apt to prove a very expensive luxury.

John W. Gurofsky, Montreal, surrendered to the Toronto police and pleaded not guilty to a charge laid against him of conspiracy to defraud. He was admitted to bail. The charges against both men arise out of the flotation of the Canadian Estates company.

Frederick Hollis, Toronto, was sentenced to six months in the Central prison on charges of robbing a number of houses. Sunday night, during church hours, being his favorite visiting time.
