QUEEN'S LOST

The Allan Cup Captured by St. Michael's.

EXCITING CONTEST

RESULTED IN FIVE TO FOUR IN ST. MIQUEL'S FAVOR.

Queen's Outplayed the Toronto Team in the First Half, But Failed in the Second Half—The New Champions are a Very Fast Team.

St. Michael's wrested the amateur championship of Canada, and the Allan cup from Queen's, at the Kingston rink, on Wednesday evening, after a nose-to-nose struggle, before over 1,000 people, about the largest crowd the rink ever held. The score was five goals to four. The new champions are well fitted to carry the honor and deserve every credit for their great victory. It was condition that won the cup, the visitors, while the lighter team, could skate like demons and never seemed to tire, holding a very fast pace all through the second half, when they had command of the play. In the first half Queen's had the better of the argument, in about every department, and when the gong called the rest, were two goals in the lead, having the long end of a 4 to 2 score. Then in the second half, under intercollegiate rules, where everyone expected the Presbyterians to come into their own, the St. Michael's took entire command. For some minutes at different times during the half, Queen's would seem paralysed and could do nothing but play defensively.

Had Queen's had it in them to play the game they played against the Ottawa Cliffides on Saturday the result would have been different. It was in Queen's second half that they won from the Ottawas. The entire team seemed disorganized at times last night. In the last five minutes after the winning goal was scored, Queen's tried gamely to come back, charging the St. Michael's goal in great style, but the sturdy defence was there and the attack failed.

The new champions are a lighter and smaller team than Queen's, but are very fast and very tricky. The checking all through the game was close and stiff and yet St. Michael's had the better of it, the little fellows getting in and out, using their bodies to advantage, and getting away so fast but always leaving a reminder. It was St. Michael's two wing men that won the game for them, Richardson by his great checking of Dobson, and Matthews by his great shooting from the side and corner. He secured three of the five goals and earned every one of them. St. Michael's are perfectly balanced, and the players absolutely refuse to leave their positions, holding to the end like glue, but are always in the right spot when wanted.

In the first half the game was nearly all Queen's, and the crowd felt safe. In the second half for fully ten minutes the pace set was terrific on the soft ice, and St. Michael's were pace-makers. The wise ones thought the Toronto team would not stand the pace, but it did and stood it well. After ten minutes play Roche landed the first goal of the second half. This seemed to strengthen St. Mique's and weaken Queen's, and about eight minutes after when Leo Trimble fell to the ice with a cramp, and was assisted from the ice, Queen's forward dream faded away. Then to make matters worse George was ruled off, and while playing five men against six the visitors landed the tying goal, Dissette turning the trick on a nice rush up the side, breaking into centre and fooling Gilbert on a long low one.

Queen's made a brave rally, but seemingly could not get started, the St. Mique's forwards held them well, checking them close and stiff. The rubber was kept in Queen's half a good part of the time, and despite all that the Presbyterians could do they could not bring it down for a score. Things went on fast and furious until there was about five minutes to play, when Matthews, on a side shot, forty feet out-landed the winning goal, with only five minutes to go, the Presbyterians made one gallant effort and came within an ace of scoring twice. The last rush on the opponents' net was a beauty, Campbell, Crawford, George and Dobson, all in line, bore down like demons right on St. Mique's, and after fooling all the players, Campbell missed his shot right in front of the nets, and the opportunity had forever passed.

Every one of the 1,600 people in the rink were on their toes yelling, pleading, demanding a score, in the last moments, but it was not forth coming. Through all the din, the clear strong voice of "Jimmy" Murphy, the Toronto coach could be heard as he called to his team through a giant megaphone to stay on the ice and for every one to dig in.

This scene in the last minute will never be forgotten, as the players struggled and fought, putting every ounce of what was in them into the game, rushing, reaching, shooting, like a lot of maniacs all over the ice, and then when the final bell was pulled and the game was over, not a cheer was given for fully half a minute. Then the small band of St. Michael's rosters, away up in the grand stand, began their joyous celebration, that did not end until the team pulled out at midnight.

The winners deserve every credit, because on the game last evening, the better team won, the best seven, about any way you take them, coming back and pulling the game out of the fire even when playing intercollegiate rules.

The teams—
St. Michael's—Thompson, goal; Spratt, point; Dissette, cover; Roche, rover; La Flamme, centre; Matthews, right wing; Richardson, left wing.

Referee, Dr. Cameron, Montreal, judge of play, B. N. Steacy, Kingston.
Summary:—
1. Queen's, Campbell, 6 minutes.
2. St. Michael's, Matthews, 3 minutes.
3. St. Michael's, Matthews, 1 minute.
4. Queen's, Crawford, 2 minutes.
5. Queen's, Trimble, 4 minutes.
6. Queen's, George, 4 minutes.

Half time.
7. St. Michael's, Roche, 10 minutes.
8. St. Michael's, Dissette, 8 minutes.
9. St. Michael's, Matthews, 7 minutes.
Penalties—First half, Queen's, G. George, 3, 2, 3 minutes; Crawford, 2 minutes; Dissette, 3 minutes; Spratt, 3 minutes.

Second half—G. George, 3, 1 minute; Campbell, 1 minute; St. Mique's, Spratt, 3, 3 minutes; La Flamme, 3 minutes; Matthews, 3 minutes.

Total penalties, Queen's, 15 minutes; St. Michael's, 20 minutes.

The game was won in a moment, in just a moment, when Trimble, who was playing the best defence game on the ice, fell to the surface in pain and was carried away off the ice, Queen's were immediately disorganized and St. Michael's realizing this came back like a fleet of Dreadnoughts, fairly taking Queen's by storm, and before the Presbyterians realized what was being done the tying goal was scored, and try as they would Queen's could not come back and find the nets. For Queen's Trimble was the star, playing the best game of his career. His goal in the first half was a beautiful piece of work; a long rush, in which he was checked, twice and turned around once, yet he went on and finally barged the nets. He played a heady game all through, using his body to great advantage when needed, and again using his stick for such checks where there was a chance to get the rubber and get away. He was closely followed by Basil George. (Continued on Page 5.)

TARIFF BILL

Situation Considered Hopeless at Washington.

THERE'S NO OPTION

BUT IMPOSE ON CANADA THE MAXIMUM DUTY.

Canada insists on independence of action—Must retain right to make trade treaties without consulting Washington.

Washington, March 17.—The tariff situation between the United States and Canada seems to be hopeless unless some concessions are made by the dominion, said A. H. Sanders, of the tariff board. The members of the board have made their final reports to President Taft, showing that the United States imports into Canada are being discriminated against through preferential arrangements with France and other countries on the same class of goods. On this showing there is no other course left to the president than to bar Canada from the list of nations entitled to the benefits of the minimum tariff.

Ottawa Stands Pat.

Ottawa, March 17.—Canada cannot afford to submit to the decision of the United States and surrender her position of independence in respect of local matters. The attitude of the United States towards Canada's trade agreement with France would seem to be: "You must not enter into these reciprocal arrangements unless you are willing to grant to the United States the same advantages. If Canada is not willing to make the same concessions to the United States then she should not enter into reciprocity arrangements at all, because she can sell more goods to the United States by not doing so, and can get our minimum tariff."

In other words unless Canada is willing to give the advantage of all her efforts to extend her trade with other countries she must submit to the imposition of the maximum tariff by that country.

The minister of finance has not yet made any declaration of policy, and as far as can be gathered, is not likely to do so until there is an announcement from Washington.

It is quite apparent from what can be gathered here that it is the intention of the government to stand pat for the present. If President Taft, in the end, decides to take the plunge, and to upset the existing trade conditions the result, it is not more serious, to the United States than to Canada. It would mean that Canada would be under the immediate necessity probably of equalizing the tariff walls by the imposition of a surtax on American goods with the result that the business men of the republic would be heavily hit. Canada would be hit, too, but not to the same extent, it is thought, and the general impression is that the Americans would be the first to cry "enough."

The Citizen, conservative, in discussing the tariff situation, says: "When it comes to a question of policy between Canada and a foreign country, the Citizen does not regard it as a matter of party politics. When Germany attempted to coerce Canada, Hon. Mr. Fielding, on behalf of the government, took a self-respecting, patriotic stand, and went back at her with a surtax, a policy which this journal commended and upheld. The present situation is very much the same, except that the interests involved are ten times more important than in the case of Germany. However, the principle is the same, and we have confidence that Hon. Mr. Fielding will deal with the case in an equally effective manner."

A LIVELY UPROAR

Was Created in the Prussian Diet Through Insults.

Berlin, March 17.—The third reading of the Prussian franchise reform bill in the diet, yesterday, led to an outbreak of fury never before seen within the diet's decorous precincts. The bill, as finally amended, leaving untouched the system against which the socialists, vehemently denounced, the diet as hucksters, peddlers of old clothes and merchants who had bartered away the rights of the people. This set the house in an uproar, lists being shaken and opprobrious names used. Finally the bulk of the conservatives and Catholics dramatically left the house, shouting refusals to listen to further insults.

GREATER SHIPS.

Dreadnoughts Can Be Handled With Great Ease.

London, March 17.—Increased size of battleships, without a presently foreseeable limit, greater speed, larger guns and less armor were among the interesting forecasts of warship designers, confidently made by Rear Admiral Bacon, director of naval ordnance, in addressing the Institute of Naval Architects. The increase in size must continue, Admiral Bacon said, until a war confirmed or exploded the present theories. The first captain of the first Dreadnought, Admiral Bacon said, he found this more easily handled, even in a close harbor, than ships fifty per cent smaller. Admiral Bacon also expressed the opinion that the development of the torpedo was as yet probably only in infancy.

Plans Brought Down.

Ottawa, March 17.—W. Pugeley has brought down the plans submitted by the St. Lawrence Power Co. He also submitted the report of government engineers upon the amended petition and plans of the Power Co. The report is signed by M. J. Butler, formerly deputy minister of railways, Engineer Leduc, chief engineer of the public works department, and Mr. Anderson, chief engineer of the marine department.

Spent Twenty-Eight Years.

London, March 17.—The report of the year's work of the Militant Suffragette organization proudly records that 284 women were arrested, of whom 163 were imprisoned. Hunger strikers to the number of 110 were carried out. Pump feeding was resorted to on thirty-six occasions. The sentences served by women, since the agitation began, amount in the aggregate to twenty-eight years.

Electric Elevator in Church.

Rome, Wash., March 17.—An electric elevator, carrying ten persons, has been installed in the hallway leading to the cupola in St. Peter's. An appropriate Latin inscription, in which the elevator is termed "Electricum Anabathrum," is placed at the entrance. The lift will be solemnly blessed and inaugurated by Cardinal Rampolla, Saturday next.

WIDOW'S DEATH.

Rochester, N.Y., March 17.—Clinging to the belief that prayer would cure her of her sufferings, Mrs. Minnie B. Robertson, a widow, fifty-five years old, Toronto, refused to see a physician, and Wednesday afternoon she died.

Mrs. Robertson, on coming to Rochester a few months ago, went to "Elim Tabernacle," a faith-cure establishment conducted by Mrs. E. B. Baker. GRAND MASTER BERNIEY.

Speaks to Orangemen About Eucharistic Congress.

Ottawa, March 17.—Grandmaster Berniey, of Kingston, in his annual address to the 200 or more members of the grand Orange lodge of Ontario east, in session here, referred to the great eucharistic congress, which Roman Catholic church dignitaries from all over the world are to attend at Montreal next September. He claimed the eucharistic congress held at London, Eng., when an attempt was made to parade through London streets there, had been a failure, because the heart of the people of Great Britain was not in it. He hinted that it was partly because of this failure that an attempt was now being made to hold a similar congress in a Canadian city—Montreal.

The grandmaster touched on the school question, and said that numerically and financially the grand Orange lodge of Ontario east stood in better condition, to-day, than ever before. He also told of the great triennial Orange lodge meeting at Belfast, Ireland, last year, which he had attended as representative of Canadian Orange bodies, and where there had been a parade of 100,000 Orangemen. He had been the only colonial to speak at that great gathering and had the honor of seconding a resolution moved by the Earl of Erin and which "expressed the loyalty of Orangemen to his majesty, King Edward VII."

It is expected officers for the year will be elected this afternoon. There is so much business on that it is quite possible there will have to be a night session.

SUES HIS LOVE FOR $20,000.

Desires Substantial Balm From Old Sweetheart.

Baltimore, Md., March 17.—The usual order of breach of promise suits is reversed in one just brought by Frank Catterton against Mrs. Lucy E. McKnight. Catterton is twenty-eight years old, while Mrs. McKnight is sixty-eight. Catterton asks $20,000 damages, the claim including bouquets, candy and theatre tickets which he lavished upon the widow during their love-making. The plaintiff is a linotype operator. Mrs. McKnight is well to do, having $25,000 in bank, besides owning securities worth $25,000 and at least six pieces of property.

About three years ago Catterton met Mrs. McKnight at a social gathering at her home. The widow invited the young man to call again, and he became a daily visitor for about eighteen months. Then, it is alleged by Mrs. McKnight, she proposed that they marry. He agreed, and a month or two later obtained a marriage license.

Mrs. McKnight was to meet her fiancé to go to a clergyman's home to have the ceremony performed, he says, but when he went to her home she told him she had changed her mind, and that they would wait until she had her house fixed up and they would be married there. Afterwards, it is declared, Mrs. McKnight still declined to marry, but told Catterton she would leave him $15,000 at her will.

A dozen Cornell professors and Chi Psi fraternity men were witnesses for the defence, and the case was bitterly fought. Counsel for the fraternity men announced that the case would be carried to the highest courts.

Pope is a football man and hero of the club for five years ago. Paul Williams is captain of the baseball team, and Samuel, his brother, was a crew man in 1905. They were arrested recently after a struggle with a policeman in a student resort. No action in the matter has been taken by the university authorities.
