GLAD EASTER DAY

WAS OBSERVED IN THE CHURCHES ON SUNDAY.

Large Congregations Were Present at Services—Music Was Great Feature—Description of Services Given Briefly.

There were special Easter services in all the churches on Sunday and large congregations of devout worshippers were present morning and evening. The weather was beautiful, permitting the churches to be thronged.

In St. James' church, Sunday morning, the vicar, Rev. T. W. Savary, spoke on "Resurrection Certainty and Resurrection Joy." Fisher's Te Deum and Simper's Jubilate were sung, and during the offertory Mrs. G. Hare beautifully rendered "The Lord is Risen" (Arthur Sullivan). In the evening Tours' evening service was used, and the choir sang the anthem, "I Am He That Liveth," by Simper. The subject of the evening sermon was "The Crucified Risen."

In the afternoon instead of the regular afternoon lessons there was a special service for the combined school, at which the mite boxes, which the children have been filling during Lent, were presented. A great many of the Easter hymns were heartily sung by the children.

The church was beautifully decorated with Easter lilies and other lovely flowers.

St. John's Church.
At St. John's, Portsmouth, Easter service was conducted by Rev. Canon Loucks, who is in charge of the parish, in the absence of the rector. An eloquent and interesting sermon was preached by him in the morning, on the subject of the resurrection. Rev. Canon Cooke was the preacher in the evening. The Easter service was excellent as it always is in this church. Simper's "Te Deum," and two anthems by the same composer, "Hallelujah, Christ Has Risen" and "I Am He That Liveth," were very well sung by the choir. Miss Henstridge taking the solo in the latter very acceptably. Large congregations were present at both services, as well as many communicants. The church was beautifully decorated by the members of the congregation.

St. George's Cathedral.
The services in St. George's cathedral were very impressive. At both the morning and evening services there were large congregations. In the evening the cathedral was filled to the doors. The band of the R.C.H.A. assisted in the musical services, morning and evening, its rendition during the offertory in the evening of "The Hallelujah Chorus," with organ accompaniment, was grand. The anthem was "Behold I Show You a Mystery," which was rendered with splendid effect, the band assisting. The evening preacher was Dean Bidwell.

Queen Street Methodist Church.
The Easter services in Queen street Methodist church were exceptionally bright and interesting. Rev. T. N. Davidson, of Belfast, Ireland, preached a very eloquent and helpful sermon in the morning on "Influence" from the standpoint of the Resurrection of Christ. Mr. Davidson is a very pleasant and forceful speaker, and made a fine impression in his sermon yesterday morning. He will represent Ireland at the National concert to-morrow evening. The programme of Easter music for both services was very choice. The beautiful Easter hymns were sung with great fervor. The anthems, solos and quartettes were well rendered and were very much enjoyed. The choir as a whole is giving splendid service and its work is very much appreciated by the congregation.

Sydenham Street Church.
Sydenham Street Methodist church had large congregations at both services, yesterday. The choir rendered excellently two Easter anthems, "As It Began To Dawn," and "Christ Is Risen." The two quartettes, "God Is A Spirit," and "Slowly the Daylight Is Fading" were very effective, the voices blending well together. Mr. Eva sang Spenser's "King of Love," with feeling and sympathy.

On Monday, April 4th, the choir will sing a sacred cantata, "The Great Light," and will be assisted by Mr. Threthewey, violinist, from Toronto.

At Cooke's Church.
A pretty Easter recital was given in Cooke's church Sunday evening, under the auspices of the Young People's Guild. H. W. Newman, the preacher, occupied the chair. Norman Macdonald, Queen's, took the devotional exercises. Miss Hinkley sang with sweet expression, "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth."

Miss Edith Orser sang in beautiful voice, "The Strife is Over," by Mendelssohn. Master Alfred Harvey, son of Instructor Harvey, R.M.C., the twelve-year-old boy soloist, led the George's choir, and the hearts of the audience with his singing of "I Need Thee Every Hour." Mrs. Evans sang effectively, "The Resurrection Morn."

A goodly sum was raised in aid of the Queen's students' missionary fund. R. M. MacFadyen, B.A., closed the service with the benediction.

Miss Lottie Walker, the efficient organist, rendered the Hallelujah Chorus in brilliant style.

At Chalmers Church.
A beautiful display of white lilies was arranged in front of the pulpit of Chalmers church for Easter day. At the morning service, Rev. Dr. MacCallum preached on "Jesus and the Bystander," pointing out that only for the bystander there would have been no Easter day. It was the bystander for whom Christ died. Ancient times neglected the bystander and so did the rich man Dives when he overlooked Lazarus. What is the church doing about the bystander? The choir rendered excellent Easter music. At the morning service Miss Reid sang "Christ is Risen." The anthem was "I Am He That Liveth."

St. Andrew's Church.
Special Easter music was rendered in St. Andrew's church on Sunday at both services. In the evening Rev. Dr. Mackie occupied the pulpit and delivered an eloquent sermon from the text, "He Is Risen." Two Easter anthems were rendered by the choir in good form. The solo part in "Christ Is Risen From the Dead" were taken by Miss Ardelle Elder, Arthur Craig and G. B. McCallum.

Salvation Army Services.
The Easter services at the Salvation Army Citadel, Sunday, were well attended, a very large crowd being present at the night meeting. In the morning, at seven, sixty persons assembled for hymn drill and thirty-five bandmen and soldiers took a march around the city. Those who attended the early service received a pretty Easter book mark.

Ensign Lightbourne, of Bermuda, spoke in the meetings Sunday and three persons came forward for salvation.

The ensign has kindly consented to give a lecture on "Bermuda, the Land of the Lily," to-night. He will speak of its slavery days, the advent of the army to the island, and also of its scenery and quaint customs. All are welcome.

THE HALLS OF QUEEN'S.
Souvenirs for the Winners of Various Championships. By Our Queen's Correspondent.

At the meeting of Alma Mater, Saturday evening, the following gentlemen were appointed as a city committee in conjunction with the athletic association during the summer months—Richardson G. A. Platt, S. M. Polson and W. Bobson.

Seventy-five dollars was voted to be members of the hockey team to secure fitting mementos as a recognition of their splendid work during the past season. The student's winning championships in the recent boxing fencing and wrestling tournament were presented with medals. Miss Mae Macdonald secured recognition as champion in the ladies' singles in the tennis tournament. W. Dobson received a "Q" as the winner hockey championships. Members of the rugby and association football teams together with the basketball players were also presented with "Q's."

SNEAK THIEVES WERE BUSY
In City on Saturday Night—Thefts From Waggon.

Sneak thieves were busy in the city on Saturday night. While the driver of Henderson's grocery wagon was delivering some goods at a house on Montreal street, some one paid a visit to the wagon, and made off with a dozen bottles of ale. Later on in the evening, ten bottles of the missing ale were found hidden in a cellar in the rear of Brock street church. The thief or thieves had evidently consumed the two bottles, and left the others there to quench their thirst later on, perhaps on Sunday, when all the bedrooms are closed. Suspicion is placed on some young man who was recently in police court trouble, but no action has been taken as yet.

Another case of theft reported was that of a basket of fruit, taken from the delivery wagon of A. J. Rees. If such work as this continues, the delivery men will have to start a crusade against such thieving. Perhaps a lively bulldog left in the rigs would help some.

The Nationality Concert.

SUNDAY NIGHT FIRE

HOUSE ON MACDONNELL STREET DESTROYED.

The Weldon Family Came Home to Find Their Abode in Ruins—It Was in Flames When Firemen Arrived.

When Frank Weldon and family left their home on Macdonnell street, Sunday evening, for church the house was in perfect order, but when they returned at 8:45 o'clock they found the place a mass of ruins with the firemen pouring water in doors and windows. Practically everything was lost, the only thing saved being a small trunk containing some valuable papers. How the fire started is a mystery, and will remain one, as there is no way to ascertain the cause. The belief is that it started from an overheated stove.

At 8:17 o'clock an alarm came in from box 24, at the corner of Princess and Victoria streets. This is one of the longest and hardest runs in the city, but the firemen made it in good time, and when they arrived found the residence a mass of flames, smoke and fire pouring from doors and windows on the first flat and the second floor. The chemical engine was first drawn up, but as it could do nothing was sent back to the hydrant on Burkhams forty roads.

The chemical did not have enough hose to reach the fire, and waited until the hose wagon from the lower station arrived to secure enough hose to reach the burning house. When this was done it was found that the hydrant, which had been used at the hydrant, and the steamer was coupled on arched fire work. The line was then run to the house, and simeases at the entrance, one leading being put in the front and one in the side. The firemen knew they were fighting a losing fight from the start, as the house was practically destroyed before they arrived, nevertheless the men worked for all that was in them and after two hours hard work had the fire out.

Only the walls are standing, the interior being a crumpled mass of furniture and burned wood. The fire covered the fire and pulled the air in flames must have been going merrily for some time before being discovered. About half an hour after the firemen arrived the roof fell in, just a few seconds after Captain Strafford and Fireman Cooke had left the building. As soon as the roof fell it was only the work of a few minutes to quench the flames.

The contents were insured with Thomas Mills, and the occupant's loss will be slight. The house, owned by John Gowdy, valued at $1,500, was covered by insurance, the policy being a great shock to the Weldon family, father, mother and six children. The stricken family were taken in and cared for by neighbors for the night, and will remain with them until they are straightened out.

The firemen had a very hard time being handicapped by lack of hose, the great distance from the hydrant to this house and the weak water pressure before the steamer was put to work.

At the Bijou.
A western war drama is the topline at the Bijou, to-day and to-morrow. It is entitled "Company D To The Rescue," and tells the story of the daughter of a rich ranch man—who was pursued by a band of hostile Indians, and after many thrilling adventures rescued by soldiers. To-day this picture will be accompanied by a fine comedy-drama, entitled "The Burglar And The Actress," or "The Stage Note." The part of the actress is taken by the celebrated Florence Lawrence, who is known as the original biograph girl, and is regarded as the queen of motion picture actresses, and after many thrilling adventures rescued by soldiers.

To-morrow the latter picture will be replaced by a Pathe production "In Castle Walls," or "Saved By A Wild Woman."

Attacked in the Park.
On Saturday evening, two young girls, well-known in the city, who appeared before the magistrate on one occasion, were rather roughly used in Victoria park. From what can be learned the girls met two boys at a park. Later on two or three older men appeared and for some time things were quite lively. The girls raised quite a little excitement with their screams, but finally succeeded in getting away from the men and ran home. People passing along the street were attracted by the noise, but when they went to investigate found only the men.

AT THE POLICE COURT.

Had to Pay Fine For Disorderly Conduct.

It does not pay to get drunk, and cause excitement on the street. George Free, who was gathered in by the police, on Saturday night, found this out, to his sorrow, in the police court, on Monday morning, when magistrate Farrell called upon him to pay a fine of $10 and costs, or spend two months in jail.

It happened in this way. Free was quite tipsy, when walking along Princess street, about 9 o'clock, on Saturday night. He was very free with his language as well, and besides, he was not particular as to what kind of language he used. And all the time, the street was crowded with busy Saturday night shoppers. Constable de Grey came along, and walked him off to the police station.

The magistrate gave Free a severe reprimand for his conduct, and told him that such language would not be tolerated. The magistrate was also able to give evidence in the case, as he remarked that he noticed Free tippling, earlier in the evening, and he knew how he was acting, at that time.

Albert Wiseman made his third appearance before the court, in six months. The big book showed this to be the case. Drunkenness was the charge. He was fined $5 and costs.

Michael Hogan admitted being a member of the "prohibited list." When before the court the last time, he promised faithfully that he would keep straight. However, it is very hard for some people to keep their word. Michael was very sorry, but his sorrow was not sufficient to secure his freedom. When asked where he had secured his liquor, Hogan said:

"Your worship, I met a couple of boys from Toronto, who were on their way to Montreal, to take a liner over to the old country."

It was the old, old story, and the magistrate remanded Hogan for a few days.

Asked the Wrong Man.
Philadelphia Times.
During a Methodist conference in Camden some time ago a party of ministers was staying in one of the hotels. At the same time one of the magnates of a big New Jersey corporation was in that town on business and was staying at the same hotel. This magnate affected clerical dress to a great degree, but his intimates and the men who worked for him knew him to be the reverse of clerical, especially as to profanity.
