

FRATERNAL PRESCRIPTION FOR NERVOUS WRECKS.

(From "Medical Reports.")

Thousands of men, nervous wrecks, have found the following "fraternal prescription" a blessing and a boon. Such men lack aggressiveness, they are ill-nerved, easily discouraged, lacking in self-esteem, and are generally suffering from cold extremities, this watery blood, nervousness, sleeplessness, bright dreams, trembling hands and limbs, ungainly gait and a general inability to perform the ordinary duties of a rational man. A vigorous man works, plays, eats and sleeps with the greatest enjoyment. The greater his exertions are, the stronger becomes his appetite and stomach.

The nervous man seems always tired and worn out. Retiring brings no relief. Sleep brings an unrefreshment, all because of an abnormal condition of the nervous system, brought about by—well, no matter what the cause is for relief and freedom with rich red blood, surging through the body, supply the sensitive nerves with all the power of the sun, such as any healthy normal man can.

A vigorous man works, plays, eats and sleeps with the greatest enjoyment. The greater his exertions are, the stronger becomes his appetite and stomach.

This treatment is thorough, simple and correct. The ingredients are used in the various prescriptions and can be obtained of any well stocked drug store mixed at home without embarrassment or questions.

Obtain three ounces of Syrup Sarsaparilla compound in a six ounce bottle. To this add one ounce of compound that bears weight and let stand two hours. Then add one ounce of tincture cadomine compound (not cadomine) and one ounce of compound essence of cardiol. Mix, shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring until a vigorous blood and new health takes hold of the tired, exhausted nerves. Only a few weeks treatment will restore health and rejuvenate, because the treatment is the right thing at the right time, and contains no deceptive opiates.

HOW TO STOP DRINKING.
It was formerly customary for the habitual drinker to take the pledge regularly, sometimes once a year, and sometimes in every five years. He followed his debauches, and then—Break it!

But now it is gradually dawning on the world that pledges do not stop drunkenness. The nervous system of the habitual drinker is diseased and he must have treatment that will cure this condition. Orline is sold under a positive guarantee to cure the drink habit or the money will be refunded. Can be given secretly.

PUBLIC OFFICE TROUBLES.
The troubles in the county over the recent nomination of a registrar are becoming more acute as time passes. How the executive managed to become so unanimous on the day of the convention has not been explained, but the choice of a man was no sooner made than mutiny set in, and as a result the party is in a very disturbed condition. Those who favour the Gibson nomination, regardless of circumstances, threaten to leave if the government does not accept the decision of the meeting. Those who oppose it—and they are numerous—enough—declare that if the government appoints one who is so clearly ineligible they will have to fight against the party. It is a question of patronage, and there is nothing which causes more bitterness and heart-burning. The liberal government is told how vicious is the spoils system, and it is censured because all appointments are not made by an independent commission. But here is a case which illustrates the weakness of the provincial government, which allowed a local executive to choose a man for a local office, and then proceeds to hold up its nomination. The sooner the local government makes an end of the present method of disposing of public offices the better. If through a commission all the federal appointments should be made why not in the same way, indeed, should not all the provincial appointments be made. A few difficulties like that which has originated in this county should pave the way for a new departure.

THE STRUGGLE IN ENGLAND.

The constitutional struggle is on in England, and the outcome of it will be watched with a growing interest. The government is determined that as soon as possible the veto question will be settled, and Mr. Asquith has the endorsement of the liberals, the nationalists and the labourites, to make it, if necessary, the occasion of a new appeal to the people.

The resolutions now before parliament are intended as the basis of a bill which, when adopted by the commons, will be sent to the lords. Of course it will be rejected. The lords would not be consistent to admit that they acted wrongly in rejecting the budget, and so the warrant will appear for a renewal of the constitutional struggle, unless the king intervenes.

The proposition is simple and direct. It is to limit the life of any parliament to five years; to remove from the lords the power of dealing with a money bill; to limit the rejection or amendment of any bill, without the approval of the commons to three times; that then, the royal assent being given, and two years from the first reading of it, a bill may become law without the sanction of the second chamber.

The opposition will resist the resolution to their limit, but it will be vain. While the constitutional issue is being passed, and as a first consideration, the combination against the lords will be united and persistent. The nationalists and labourites would not be so moderate in their demands if they controlled the situation, but they are willing to support the government programme both in and out of the house. This means agreement, an early, and a desperate conflict, with the lords.

TARIFF WAR AVERTED.

The one man on the conservative side of the commons who was equal to a dignified and impartial criticism of the tariff agreement was W. F. McLean. He congratulated the government on its success with the ways commission, and on the tariff revision. Canada, he said, had asserted its independence in matters of this kind, and its readiness to enter into negotiations for a reciprocity in trade.

The compliments of Mr. McLean were poorly received, however, since it was alleged behind his back, and in order to depreciate him, that he represented a paper which was owned or directed by the government. That charge of slander had to be withdrawn by the member making it. Why did Mr. Fielding not get Canada free coal or reciprocity on farm implements? asked a member, stupidly, after the minister of finance had explained that all the president could do—all he aimed to do in view of sundry concessions, affording him the exercise for nations—was give Canada the benefit of the minimum schedule under the Payne-Aldrich tariff.

The petty warfare of the opposition, or of some members of it, under the

WILL MOVE SLOWLY

IN REGARD TO A RECIPROcity TREATY.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Says Canada Has Made no Surrender—She Has Retained Freedom of Action.

Special to the Whig.

Ottawa, April 1.—The Canadian government has not, yet considered the question of place, time or manner of continuing the negotiations with the United States in reference to the proposed new reciprocity arrangement as foreshadowed in the terms of the tariff settlement. Formal acceptance of the invitation from President Taft for a conference between the representatives of the two governments looking to free trade between the two neighboring countries was given in a letter sent by Mr. Fielding to Secretary Knox, on Saturday last. Pending the conclusion of the present session of parliament and the resumption of work by the cabinet minister and his colleagues it is unlikely that any very definite steps will be taken looking to this end for a month or so yet, but it is understood that the question will be actively taken up at Washington next month and a conference arranged for at an early date, probably at the American capital. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Mr. Fielding and possibly Sir Richard Cartwright will represent Canada.

In the course of his statement in the Commons last night on the matter Sir Wilfrid Laurier said:—"We have retained our absolute power and freedom of action with respect to negotiating trade treaties with any nation we please. We can negotiate a treaty with Germany, we can negotiate a treaty with Italy, we can negotiate a treaty with Belgium. We are absolutely free. We have made no surrender of any right. We intend to begin with the United States. We do not intend to go very far. There are certain things in which we can make no concession or concede only in a very limited way. But there are a number of products in regard to which it would be for the mutual advantage of Canada and the United States that there should be the widest possible extension of our markets on both sides of the line."

The total value of imports from the United States on the articles affected by the reduced duties which become operative here, Part of the land is already fit for seeding. Frederick Martin is dangerously ill with pneumonia. William Medcalf, teacher of Bloomfield school, is spending his holidays with his parents, as also is Miss Alma Walker, Pleasant Valley, with her parents. Miss Alport has returned to her home here, having spent the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Curran, Sydenham. Miss Grace McKnight, Godfrey, is spending part of the holidays with friends here. Visitors: Mrs. and Miss George Sydenham, and Master Elliott McKnight, of Godfrey, at James Walker's; Mr. and Mrs. Fitcher, Kingston, at G. Smith's; Mr. and Mrs. T. Bauer, Verona, at J. Carlisle's; F. Quinn, Picadilly, at D. Walker's; Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. S. Martin, at S. Davey's; Miss Ada Martin, spent Sunday at S. Davey's, Desert Lake.

CONFLICT IN PROSPECT.

The provincial secretary is credited with saying that he did not think there would be any more conflict with regard to jurisdiction as a result of the conference held at Ottawa between the federal and provincial representatives. Yet thanks to the impression which one gets from a reading of the printed proceedings.

It was proposed that certain questions should be submitted to the supreme court, and if necessary to the privy council, in order that the meaning of the British North American act in certain respects might be more clearly defined. The provincial minister thought that one case, arising out of the chartering of a fire insurance company, had practically disposed of the question of jurisdiction, and they said that this jurisdiction had gone without dispute for forty years.

Mr. Ayleworth quoted from the records to show that again and again, and by every government that held office since the confederation of the provinces, the question of jurisdiction has been raised, and that it could not be avoided while some opinions upon the law prevailed. The adjournment of the conference, therefore, without result, does not make it apparent that there will be no further misunderstanding on the contrary it is evident that this will follow.

The provinces are acting towards the dominion in this matter, as the city of Toronto is acting towards the street railway with regard to an agreement, in a very unwise manner, and the result is appeal after appeal to the privy council on contentious points. An amendment to the British North American act is suggested. Why resort to that? Cannot Sir James pass an act in his legislature giving effect to anything which his government desires? If the federal government were conservative the provincial governments that are conservative would not be so anxious to run up against it.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Mail protests against the solemn reading out of the conservative party of Mr. Monk "by a critic editor." What! Is Mr. Willison still under suspicion, notwithstanding all his services to the conservative party?

The public school teachers demand the publication of a paper or journal which should contain the departmental regulations, instructions and reports. With a key, of course, as to what some of these documents mean.

Canada is to have a national decoration day—for the visitation of our cemeteries and the bestowal of flowers on the graves of the departed soldiers—and it is to be on a Sunday. Now listen to a noise from the Lord's Day Alliance.

"Canada cuts down many items (13) in her general tariff without getting a single reduction in the United States general tariff," is the announcement of a colour blind conservative paper. Canada gets the minimum tariff from the United States. Is that a matter of no account? Play fair, gentlemen, play fair.

One of the aldermen who voted to take the water department's reserve and depreciation fund now realizes his mistake. He is not going out of the council, and he is not going to repeat his error. It is good that light comes some time, but it is too bad that the water department should suffer meanwhile.

Have you heard of the municipal highway man. He is a curiosity and he is to be found in Kingston.

How long could any man run a business if his earnings were taken away and it depended on borrowed capital? Yet that is the way the water department is now to be managed.

The matrimonial course includes the following subjects, with which the student must be entirely familiar before she is accredited competent to be a homemaker: Literature, ethics, child study, household arts, house building, textiles and sewing, hand work and design, music in the home, literature for children, home economics, chemistry, biology, social economics, dental hygiene, home nursing and the care of delinquent children.

Manitoba Liberal Convention.

Brandon, Man.

The liberals of Manitoba will meet in convention at Winnipeg on Tuesday, April 5th, to elect a leader and frame a platform for the approaching contest.

During the recent session of the legislature the opposition, under the able leadership of T. C. Norris, has laid bare the discreditable record of the Roblin-Rogers party. It is a record of extravagance and worse than that, and it should drive out of office the men who are now in power at Winnipeg.

If the liberals of the province at the coming convention choose wisely the men who are to control the affairs of the party, if they select capable men with clear records, men who have the confidence of the people, the present government will surely be swept from power when they next appeal to the electors.
