INNOCENCE IMPOSED UPON.

The business men, the clergymen, and others, who signed the petitions which went to the justice department, asking for the pardon of two men who were convicted of selling indecent literature and pictures, must realize the manner in which they have been imposed upon. They subscribed to what is now alleged not to be a fact, namely, that the books were classics, all of them, and that they were to be found in the leading public libraries. It is remarkable how some people can be prevailed upon to sign anything and men have put their names to documents they have not read and later have warmly repudiated them. The Toronto people, who find themselves condoning the offences of confessed criminals, must feel chagrined, but is their reproach likely to be remembered. More remarkable still was the declaration of the minister of justice, that he had conferred with the attorney-general for Ontario, and that Hon. Mr. Foy had concurred in the opinion that the convictions of the men who had the benefit of good advice and pleaded guilty—should never have been put on trial.

Had Mr. Foy conferred with the crown attorney? Had he seen the evidence which this official accumulated for use had it been necessary? If not, why? The clemency of the governor-general has been used in vain in this case, and with an effect that is deplored.

A VERY GOOD BARGAIN.

There is one feature of the railway scheme which the judicial commission is now investigating and that is not creditable to the Alberta government. The guarantee given to the Alberta and Great Waterways company enabled it to float a loan of $7,000,000 at one time. The J. P. Morgan Co. negotiated it in the British market, with the result that the interest, which the province must pay eventually, amounts to $300 per day, $9,260 per month, and $111,000 per year. That is calculating the difference between the bank interest on the deposit and the bond interest on the total issue. Still the work of construction has not been begun and cannot until the litigation now commenced has been completed.

When the construction of the road begins and the money is being drawn from the banks, the interest receivable will fall as the sum remaining with them decreases, and will eventually cease when the principal has all passed out of their possession. But the interest payable to the lenders of the money will not decrease. It remains steady at $370,000 per year, or $30,833 per month. As the interest receivable dwindles, therefore, the shortage between this and the interest payable must mount month after month, until with the completed road there is $30,833 interest to pay per month and no interest incoming with which to pay it. "We may congratulate ourselves," says the Edmonton Bulletin, "therefore, that however little we relish the present results of the transaction things will be worse farther on."

The Alberta government is now in railway building, otherwise a better bargain would have been made. Usually the bonds which a government guarantees are put on the market and sold when the road, or part of it, has been built. That was the proceeding in the case of the C.P.R. It is the proceeding with the G.T.P. at present. It means that at the earliest date possible the country is getting in the service of the railway a return for its guarantee. It means, also, that the burden of interest only dates from the time the road becomes remunerative, and in a position to meet its obligations. Apparently the Alberta government is paying for its experience, and it is one that will not be forgotten.

PENSIONS AT A DISCOUNT.

The only satisfactory way of rewarding faithful servants, for long and efficient service, is for the employing body, and the one able to pass appreciatively upon their work, to determine what the recognition shall be. The Carnegie fund threatens to become a menace in place of an advantage to the cause of education. The great iron master may not originally have meant the adoption of a rule which would be detrimental to any college. Yet a rule followed, the work of men whose judgment is not infallible.

The first discrimination was that which made any educational institution that had connection, near or remote, with the church, ineligible for participation in Mr. Carnegie's bounty.

WHY THESE RELIGIOUS SCHOOLS OR ACADEMIES OR COLLEGES SHOULD BE OUTSIDE THE PALE OF MR. CARNEGIE'S PHILANTHROPY IS NOT APPARENT, BUT SOME OF THE BEST SCHOOLS OR COLLEGES ARE NOT SUBJECT TO AID IN THE WAY OF PENSIONS.

The second shock occurred when, according to report, the trustees of the Carnegie fund decided that even all the secular colleges were not eligible for relief. A college which needed assistance, and had every reason to expect it, was refused because, in the opinion of the board, it was not situated so as to invite financial support. Here was a new contingency—the pension board assuming to decide whether the college indeed had any reason to expect it.

It is only another step—which may be taken at any time—and the men who direct the philanthropies of great men, will presume to dictate the policies of colleges. The question will not be presently, Which colleges deserve the consideration of the pension bureau? but, Which colleges are pursuing the courses the pension trustees can approve? Moreover, the trustees for Mr. Carnegie or Mr. Rockefeller, having the power to do so, may change their plans from time to time and create heart-burning that acts of conciliation may not assuage.

Education—higher education—may seem to the money kings to be the one thing which they can sustain by generous gifts, but it is possible to err even in that direction, and to commit serious and irreparable mistakes.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

In New York and Boston it is discovered that raw milk lowers infant mortality. It is barred at the Jewish Passover. It is gradually but surely becoming a fad, and will presently be abandoned.

John T. Laving, of Toronto, is dead, aged 100. He may have been an elector in the city of Kingston in the days of Sir John Macdonald and Sir Oliver Mowat, but he could hardly have been their playmates.

Hon. Mr. Roblin has returned to Winnipeg now that the legislature is over, and the opposition cannot demand an enquiry into his connection with a state-aided railway. But the day of reckoning is simply put off.

Mark Twain, in his later years, was loaded with diplomas and honorary degrees, but as a contemporary, the Syracuse Post-Standard, remarks, "he took his degree in a printing office and became master of literature in the College of Hard-Knocks."

The Forbes Robertson and Faversham performances were the best evidence that absolutely clean plays do pay. The most profitable ventures of the dramatic season were as far removed as possible from all that is vulgar and offensive on the stage.

Was it necessary for the premier of Ontario to hand out his opinion upon the Ottawa judgment on the power commission? Wouldn't Sir James Whitney's dignity be more apparent if he ignored some things he hears and reads about his legislation?

It is intimated that Lord Kitchener did not visit Canada because he was not invited. Did he receive pressing invitations from Japan, China, Korea, and the United States? He is out for investigation, not for entertainment, and Canada is as open to him as any other land.

The Toronto News, having, in its mind, reorganized the conservative opposition in Ottawa, now applauds it by saying that "the average ability on the conservative side is higher than that to be found across the table." That ought to salve some one's wounded feelings.

Lena Cavalleri, the prima donna, and one of the handsomest women on the stage, will accept the proposal of marriage in October from Mr. Chandler, of New York, if, in the meantime, his ardour does not cool off. She is not sentimentally in love with him. "Love," she adds, "is not necessary to marriage." She will sing away, whatever betides. And some people wonder why there are so many divorces.

At a Most Opportune Time.

A statement issued by the department of the interior shows that out of a total area of 334,000,000 acres in the Canadian west, the surveyed area is only 145,000,000 acres. The total area homesteaded is only 41,000,000 acres, and the total area under grain crops last year was less than 12,000,000 acres. Of this, less than 7,000,000 acres produced 147,000,000 bushels of wheat. The total area cultivated is only about 1-28 of the total land area. Yet, upon this small area 147,000,000 bushels of wheat were produced! Where twenty-eight times this amount of land is cultivated and progress estimation, it certainly goes to show that the future of the grain-growing and milling industry will be the greatest of all our industries. The Maple Leaf Milling company would seem to be starting their enlarged operations at a most opportune time.

Sir William Vanhorst announces his retirement from the chairmanship of the board of C.P.R. directors. Miss Killins' window, Wellington street, will be interesting on Thursday.

GANAQUOE MAN FLIES

From His Family—A Scale Weigher in Trouble. Ganaquoe, April 26.—A well-known West Ward man is reported to have disappeared on Saturday last, leaving a note to his family, stating that they need make no search for him. He has not so far been located.

S. J. Chapleau, of the department of public works, Ottawa, was in town, yesterday, looking after the construction of a new scow to be used in this section for the deepening of the main channel by cutting out a large number of shoals.

Tenders have been called for by the Ganaquoe Cemetery company for the grading of the road through the cemetery down the hill near Stone street gate and filling in the ravine between the hill and cemetery proper.

An information has been laid against Samuel Steacy, who has been in charge of the weigh scales at the market for some time past, charging him with negligence in weighing two hogs, giving their weight at 230 pounds, and when weighed some days after the weight was only 165 pounds. The case will come up this week.

A large contingent of Court Cambria, S.O.E.B.S., paid a fraternal visit to their Kingston brethren last evening, leaving here on the 6 p.m. train.

The local branch of the Children's Aid Society met last evening. The society has been in existence for several years, and has done much for the betterment of conditions along their line of work.

Miss Annie Kinnimond, Charles street, is undergoing treatment in St. Vincent de Paul hospital, Brockville. Rev. J. P. Kelso, rector of St. John's church, left on Sunday to attend the induction of Bishop Fallon in London. Mrs. J. B. McMurchy, and Miss Forde McMurchy, are spending a few weeks at the Welland in St. Catharines. Hamilton Scott, Toronto, is spending some time with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Scott, Brock street. Mrs. J. J. Milliken, Toronto, spent the past few days in town, the guest of Mrs. George Taylor, Sydenham street.

GASOLINE EXPLOSION.

Various Men Had Very Narrow Escapes. Lanark Exp.

An explosion of gasoline occurred at Taylor Bros., Limited, hardware store Friday last and Ross Barr and Ephraim White narrowly escaped with their lives. Barr received burns on the face and White was knocked senseless, his face burned and his sight temporarily gone. It appears that the gasoline tank near the well in the back yard leaked, the gasoline percolating through the stones into the water. Barr and White went to clean out the well, the former going down to fill the bucket attached to a rope. He had been down only a few minutes when the fumes of gasoline became so strong he could not bear it any longer and he had to come to the top again for a breath of fresh air. It seemed but a moment after he emerged when a fearful blast of flame shot out of the well, accompanied by a loud report which could be heard all over town and broke the glass in a few windows. Barr's hat was torn from his head, leaving only the hat band, and flying through the air into a neighbouring back yard. White, who had been looking into the well at that moment, received the full force of the explosion. He was thrown several yards back from the well, burned and dazed. It seemed for a time that his eyesight was destroyed, but the doctor now hopes it will be saved. Mr. White was removed at once to the residence of the manager, T. Lett Simpson, where he received kind attention and is now recovering. The explosion is a mystery. No fire was near. One theory is that pieces of lime from a pail that stood near by had accidentally dropped into the water and ignited the gasoline line.

PHILIPPSVILLE CONDITIONS.

Early Grass Saving Saving the Farmers Much Money. Philippsville, April 25.—Owing to the heavy rains the fore part of the little seeding was done. All the low lands are flooded again. The meadows and pastures are already getting a great growth. Clover is looking fine. The early grass is the means of saving the farmers many thousands of dollars this spring. Very little hay is bought or sold this spring. Some of the farmers who have a lot of hay on hand and were asking $16 to $18 a ton because feed was scarce, will be obliged to carry it over now. One year ago a bushel of them held their oats for 75c. a bushel and sold them for 40c. during the summer. Hundreds of young and dry cattle are being taken away to the pastures.

William Thompson's daughter, a young girl, just in the prime of life, was taking to her last resting place last Friday, and on Sunday the remains of the two-weeks-old baby boy of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Tackbery was placed in the vault at Edg'n. Nelson Chase shipped three car loads of brick to Kingston last week. He has orders ahead for 100,000 bricks to be ready for later delivery.

H. Milan, agent for Dunlop baby carriage rubber, Phone 542. Lieut.-Col. George Hay, formerly president of the Bank of Ottawa, died in Ottawa on Monday. He was born in 1822. He was a prominent Presbyterian. He and his wife, the late Mrs. Mary Tackbery, were the lowest priced, at James Bell's.

The London Standard proposes that Lord Kitchener be made technical adviser to the cabinet in matters relating to imperial defence. Watch Miss Killins' millinery window Thursday.

WHIG'S FASHION HINT.

SHOULDER BY BELLY. Braided chiffon wrap—Maison Drole.

A Thriving Town.

Amherst, Nova Scotia, is one of the busy Canadian towns. Its manufacturing products run all the way from collars to railway palace cars. People are shod with Amherst shoes, clothed with Henson underwear, sweaters and tweeds—in fact Henson pure wool fabrics find their way all over the world—such is the result of down East enterprise.

Capitol lawn grass seed makes beautiful lawns, 25c. lb., at Prouse's drug store, opposite St. Andrew's church. Embossing, almost as cheap as printing, at the British Whig. Several more cases of small-pox reported in Toronto.

DISCARDED STOVE WORTH $600.

Package of Gold Pieces Will Go to Seller. New York, April 26.—After she had sold an old stove to a second-hand dealer for 30c, Miss Norah Sullivan, aged seventy, of Newark, N.J., learned that it was really worth $600. A package which dropped from the stove unnoticed by the purchaser was picked up by two boys and found to contain sixty $10 gold pieces. The money was turned over to the police and will probably be returned to Miss Sullivan.

Many Visitors.

Charleston, April 25.—H. Webster, B. Slack and W. E. Green drove to Brockville, on Sunday and spent the day. L. Botsford has gone to Brockville, where he has secured a position in the carriage works. Misses Ada and Nettie Slack have returned to school at Lyndhurst. I. Hudson has gone to Granville, Que., to make cheese. Two boats brought in eighteen salmon on Thursday; on Saturday one boat brought in eight. There are lots of fish in the lake. Among the guests at R. Foster's are: Frank Wiser, T. H. Melville and H. P. Bingham, Prescott; W. Young and E. Lassley, Brockville; C. Budd, Malabar; U. E. Russell and H. Cross, Toronto. Mr. and Mrs. H. Slack spent Sunday at Lyndhurst. Mr. and Mrs. T.
