AT POLICE COURT

VARIETY OF CASES BEFORE THE MAGISTRATE.

Fireman Was Fined $1 and Costs for Fast Driving When Exercising Horses—Owner of Auto Had to Pay Fine for Speeding—Cyclist Taxed for Using Sidewalk.

"Give me just two minutes and I will be out of the city."

George Johnston, with no particular address, who was on his way from Montreal to the Cobalt, and who happened to just drop in to the city, made this statement to Magistrate Farrell in the police court on Thursday morning. Thursday was his job day all right, and it was all brought about by his fondness for liquor, the same old story.

"But I'm going to cut it out, sure," remarked Johnston to the court, "all I need is the chance."

The magistrate gave the accused a chance to fulfil his promise, to leave the city inside of two minutes.

The next offender to make his bow was a bicyclist. He admitted having wheeled off the road to the side walk and was assessed $1 and costs. Other bicyclists beware.

William Roberts, a fireman at the Brock street station, had to answer to a charge of driving his team at an immoderate rate, while having the horses out for exercise on April 26th. W. S. Gordon, the city assessor, was a witness in the case. He said he noticed the team galloping on Brock street, about 8:45 o'clock in the morning. He considered that the horses were travelling at a rate which was decidedly dangerous, more particularly so because there were a large number of children passing on their way to school. At one corner, where the team passed, there were twelve or fifteen children on their way to school. The accused said that he was driving at a pretty good rate but that he was not going as fast as it had been made out by Mr. Gordon.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Mr. Gordon stated that the horses were going as fast, and more faster, than they would be travelling if on the way to a fire. He did not even hear the long sound on the wagon. Another witness, A. Burns, who was with Mr. Gordon at the time, said that the horses were travelling very fast. He thought at first that there must have been an alarm of fire, but found that this was not the case. He considered it a very dangerous practice.

Fireman Roberts pointed out that the horses had to be given exercise; if not, he could not get them to travel fast to a fire. He did not desire to go at an immoderate rate but when the horses became overheated they wanted to keep on going. He stated that he had the horses under control.

Asked by City Solicitor McIntyre the accused said he had received no instructions as to the speed he should go, but was using his own judgment.

Mr. McIntyre said that he had been informed by the fire chief that it was the custom of the Toronto fire department to gallop the horses. The fire and light committee was now endeavoring to get the rights of the case.

The magistrate disposed of the case by imposing a fine of $1 and costs.

A young man was fined $3 and costs for running his automobile at a speed greater than ten miles an hour on the street. Constable Mullinger was the complainant.

Constable Mullinger swore that in his opinion the car travelled at the rate of about twenty-five miles an hour on Bagot street. The constable pointed out that he had taken rides in automobiles with a speed indicator as a test, and that was how he was able to fix the speed.

Frederick Bibby, summoned as a witness, said that he noticed the car go past, admitting having stated to Constable Mullinger that the car was "going some," but said that he was not in a position to state how fast it was travelling. However, he would not contradict the evidence of Constable Mullinger.

Constable McCarey said that a complaint had been made to him about the car going fast. He had also noticed the car on this particular trip and would say that it was going at an immoderate speed. He even went so far as to say that the car was travelling about twice as fast as any car he had ever seen in the city.

J. McEl Mowat, who appeared on behalf of the accused, said that if it was all on level road he might see how the car could travel as fast as had been stated, but he would give it as his opinion that a car could not go over the crossings in this city at that rate of speed without breaking the car. Mr. Mowat said that he was the police magistrate and City Solicitor McIntyre out in his car to make a practical test.

The magistrate said that he was satisfied that the car was going at an excessive rate and imposed a fine of $3 and costs.

Frederick Hayward, arrested on a charge of attempting to dispose of a horse and rig at Napanee, which he had rented at Andrew Mellickham's livery, was remanded a day.

The Delicious Dandelion.

It seems as far as an outsider may penetrate the secret, that the usual way of preparing the dandelion is to cut off all the roots and wash the leaves thoroughly, then place them in a saucpan full of boiling water, permitting it to boil for an hour, after which the leaves are drained and placed in a frying-pan with butter, salt and pepper, and the mixture is stirred until thoroughly heated. It is served with an egg or with sliced hard-boiled eggs.

Another method is to beat one egg until light, add half a cupful of cream stir this over the fire until it thickens, then add a small piece of butter, two tablespoonfuls of vinegar and salt and pepper. The dandelion leaves are washed and cut up, after which the hot dressing is poured over them, the mixture being stirred over the fire until the leaves are wilted.

As a salad condiment usually is prepared like lettuce, though instead of the mayonaise dressing popular elsewhere a dressing of hot bacon fat is sometimes prepared.
