

THE WOLTER MURDER TRIAL SCENES

HOW NERVOUS MEN GET MOST OUT OF LIFE.

(From "Successful Men.")

Every nervous minded man wishes to get all he can out of life—but many a man knows that he is failing for a short.

The successful man works, eats and plays with the keenest enjoyment, because his nerves are keenly sensitive. He tastes, hears, sees and feels all with the highest emotions of vigorous healthy nerves. As a consequence he has stamina, endurance and personal magnetism, which makes those near and dear to him worship his manliness, chivalry, and strenuousness.

Without keen, sensitive, well nourished nerves such a man would be an object of pity, and not the brilliant success he is. All men should have well-nourished nerves, but if the blood and vital organs do not supply the chemical or substance known as nerve fluid, then the waste of the nerve is not renewed daily and hourly as it should be. The nerve becomes exhausted, giving rise to such symptoms as trembling hands and limbs, cool feet and hands, melancholia, hysteria, timidity, nervousness, sleeplessness, dizziness, heart palpitation, pains in the back, headache, languor and weakness at all times. A most valuable nerve treatment, restorative in every sense, is to be found in the following prescription, emanating from a brilliant and successful specialist on nervous ailments.

The treatment can be prepared in the privacy of home and thus causes no one any embarrassment. First get three ounces of syrup of sarsaparilla, compound in a six ounce bottle. To this add one ounce of compound fluid balsam, shake well and let stand two hours. Then add one ounce of compound (not cardamom) and one ounce of compound essence cardiol. Mix, shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring. It is astonishing to feel the new nerve force, the steadied nerves and the control of every muscle in the body after using this. Overworked office men, it and the many victims of society's late hours and dissipation will surely find in this the restorative, rejuvenating force they are sorely in need of. The ingredients are used in various prescriptions and any good druggist can supply them.

New York, April 25.—Twenty-two persons testified for the prosecution against Albert Wolter, on trial before Judge Foster, charged with the murder of Ruth Amos Wheeler, on March 24th last. When the last witness left the stand and Frank Moss, First Assistant District Attorney, declared the state's case at rest, an analysis of the prosecution showed few, if any, dropped stitches in its mesh of circumstantial evidence.

Simon C. Faley, principal of the Merchants and Bankers' Business School, which Ruth Wheeler attended, testified concerning the postal card sent by Wolter asking for a stenographer, Ernest Junemann, proprietor of the bakery at which Katie Müller was employed, and Mrs. Retta Klinger, who lived in the flat underneath Wolter's room, also were witnesses. Wolter was convicted and sentenced to death.

Meetings of the patrons of the Ontario and Model cheese factories were held on Saturday. John H. Singleton, Smith's Falls, announced that an American milk company had offered to purchase the cream and casein made this season by his factories. After considerable discussion it was decided that after May 1st both factories will cease manufacturing cheese. The milk brought to the factories will be skimmed and the skim milk heated to 150°. The whey will then be pressed out and the casein which remains will be shipped in bags. Daily shipments of cream and casein will be made. George Bell has secured a position with James Kneller for the season.

A CURIOUS MUSEUM.

Contains Guillotines That Did Much Gruesome Service.

A special museum has been formed in connection with the Victor Emmanuel library of Rome with the object of collecting all the historical relics and documents relating to United Italy. Four awful exhibits have just been added to the collection. These consist of the guillotine used by the papal government for public executions, the hooded garment of flaming red cloth worn by the executioner, the white garment still blood-stained worn by his assistant who raised on high the head of the condemned man to show the people that justice had been done, and finally the large knife used by the executioner to give the so-called stroke of mercy in cases when the steel blade of the guillotine did not kill the victim instantly.

These relics of the past have been included in the new museum since they were used to behead besides criminals conspirators, who plotted against the papal government. The last execution under the papal government took place on July 9th, 1870, but capital punishment was not resorted to except in cases of parricide, double murders, brigandage and other crimes.

On an average six executions took place every year throughout the papal states. Thus the celebrated Maspro Pita, who was executioner, under the popes from 1796 to 1861, beheaded 514 criminals and his successor, Baldacci, between 1868 and 1870 beheaded only twelve and then retired on a pension and heard mass daily until he died.

HOW ETNA LAVA COVERS COUNTRY

SENTRIES WATCHING ADVANCING LAVA

LAVA ADVANCING IN A GREAT WALL

In the accompanying photographs of two scenes at the edges of the great lava streams thrown out from Mount Etna an excellent idea is given of what the great terrible activity of the volcano means to the country over which the lava flows. In one of the views the lava is shown still giving off clouds of steam, though miles away from the crater whence it issued.
