COMING TO THE GRAND.

Lillian Russell Will Appear in "The First Night."

Lillian Russell in "The First Night" will be the extraordinary offering at the Grand, on Wednesday, May 12th.

In this new piece, the fair Lillian has met with an unusually big success. It is attuned to the public taste in that it was built entirely for laugh provoking purposes and accomplishes that mission in every detail.

Miss Russell has shown unexpected talents as a comedienne and her delightful work in this character is a revelation. In addition to her work, Digby Bell, another former favorite of comic opera, plays the leading comedy role and Miss Russell is further supported by such well known people as Julius McVicker, Albert Andrus, Sydney Booth, Geo. E. Mack, T. Hayes Hunter, Susanne Westford, Millicent Evans, Leonard Oxford and Siddey Williams.

The piece is stunningly staged as it lends itself to ornate embellishment for a feminine interest will be the gowns worn by the star.

The Girl From Rector's. The keynote to the unprecedented success of the French farce, "The Girl From Rector's," which comes to the Grand, on Thursday, May 19th, is its clever dialogue and its rapid fire action, taken in conjunction with its interesting plot and bright breezy satire.

The story of "The Girl" is that of a young society woman of Battle Creek, Michigan who was interested in every charity there. For recreation, however, she comes to New York, and through occasional visits to Rector's earns the title. When she returns to her home, suddenly she finds many of her metropolitan friends there, and entanglements ensue which are not explained until just before the fall of the curtain on the last act.

Remembrance to Kingston. Mrs. C. H. Finkle and family left Newburg this week to join Mr. Finkle in their home in Kingston. They will be much missed socially in the village.

In the woman's auxiliary of St. John's church, Mrs. Finkle will be especially missed, in which society she has for over twenty years been a very faithful worker, for many years as president. The Misses Finkle have all been very popular among a large circle of friends, who will follow them with interest and sincere good wishes to their new home.
