

The Globe.

TORONTO

As A Newspaper
NEWS is news in THE GLOBE without regard to the race, creed, or political beliefs of the parties concerned. This is one of the distinctive features that has given THE GLOBE the right to the title "Canada's National Newspaper." The idea that a party paper must necessarily allow the use of its news columns to reports of the political doings of one side only, does not apply to THE GLOBE.
 Impartiality care, and thoughtfulness mark THE GLOBE's handling of news. To no other paper in Canada does the saying "all the news that's fit to print" apply with such truthfulness as to THE GLOBE.

As An Advertising Medium
NO live Canadian business man can fail to notice the extent to which the industries from the neighboring Republic are crowding into Canada with their branch factories, branch stores, etc. Advertising is the surest weapon with which to anticipate or to meet this competition. Newspaper Publicity will do for many a business what tariff and travellers have failed to do.
 THE GLOBE during the past sixty-six years has helped hundreds of business men to success.

AN UP-TO-DATE STOVE

Do you realize there is no longer any reason why you should use a coal range? Oil is cheaper than coal; it is lighter and easier to handle, and gives an intense heat. Provided you have the right stove, oil is more economical, cleaner and less trouble. Have you seen the

New Perfection Oil Cook-stove

WICK BLUE FLAME

The accompanying illustration gives you only a rough idea of its appearance. You really can't appreciate it until you either use it yourself, or talk to someone who has used it. It does everything that a coal range will do—except heat the room. The New Perfection Oil Cook-stove will do anything, from heating a kettle of water to cooking a course dinner, but it won't heat a room. It doesn't "smell," it doesn't smoke. It can't get out of order. Light it and it is ready. Turn it down and it is out. Only a woman who knows the trouble of carrying coal and cooking in a hot kitchen can appreciate what it means to have a clean, perfect stove that will cook anything, boil, bake or roast, and yet won't heat the kitchen. How is it done? The flame is controlled in turquoise-blue enamel chimneys, and directed against the bottom of pot, pan, kettle or oven, and only there. The flame operates exactly where it is needed—and nowhere else. With this stove your kitchen is cool.
 The nickel finish with the bright blue of the chimneys makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.
 Every dealer everywhere. If not at yours, write for Descriptive Circular to the nearest agency of the

PURDY FAMILY

Recalled By Death Of J. W. Purdy.

MARRIED AGAIN AT 76

PASSED AWAY IN KINGSTON ON MAY 21st.

Was the Last Surviving Member of a Family of Twelve—The Youngest Son of the Late Hosea Purdy and Mary Wartman.

In the death of John Wesley Purdy, who passed peacefully away at his home on Nelson street, Saturday morning, May 21st, Kingston loses a widely-known and much respected resident, although Mr. Purdy had lived in Kingston only two years he had many relatives both here and throughout Ontario. Born in Sydenham, May 10th, 1829, he lived on his father's homestead until about twenty years ago, when he removed with his family to Kansas, where he leaves an estate.

Mr. Purdy was twice married. In 1858 he married Emma Caldwell and in 1905 Jane Lowery Gaw, of Kingston, who survives him. His immediate family left to mourn his demise are his widow, three sons and one daughter, Clarence E. Purdy, of Lincoln, Kansas; Herbert E. Clay, Centre, Kansas; and Miss Ermina J., who came from Kansas in February to be with her father through his illness. Clarence Purdy, who was also with his father in his last days, returns to Kansas with his father this week.

Mr. Purdy's illness, which lasted about four months, was the first illness of his life. On being asked to what he ascribed his wonderful record of nearly eighty-one years of unbroken health he replied, "Temperate habits." He never used liquor or tobacco in any form. He also eliminated pork from his diet, regarding the filthy hog as a breeder of disease. The writer would add as a great health factor his serene and placid temperament, a sublime trust in Providence that admitted neither doubt nor worry. Converted in his tender youth he was a life-long member of the Methodist church. On coming to Kingston he identified himself with Princess street Methodist church. Rev. F. H. Sproule and Rev. J. Roadhouse conducted the funeral service, Monday afternoon. Mr. Sproule referred to the departed as "one whose life was largely developed along spiritual lines." Mr. Roadhouse, an old friend, paid a touching tribute to "one we had long ago learned to love."

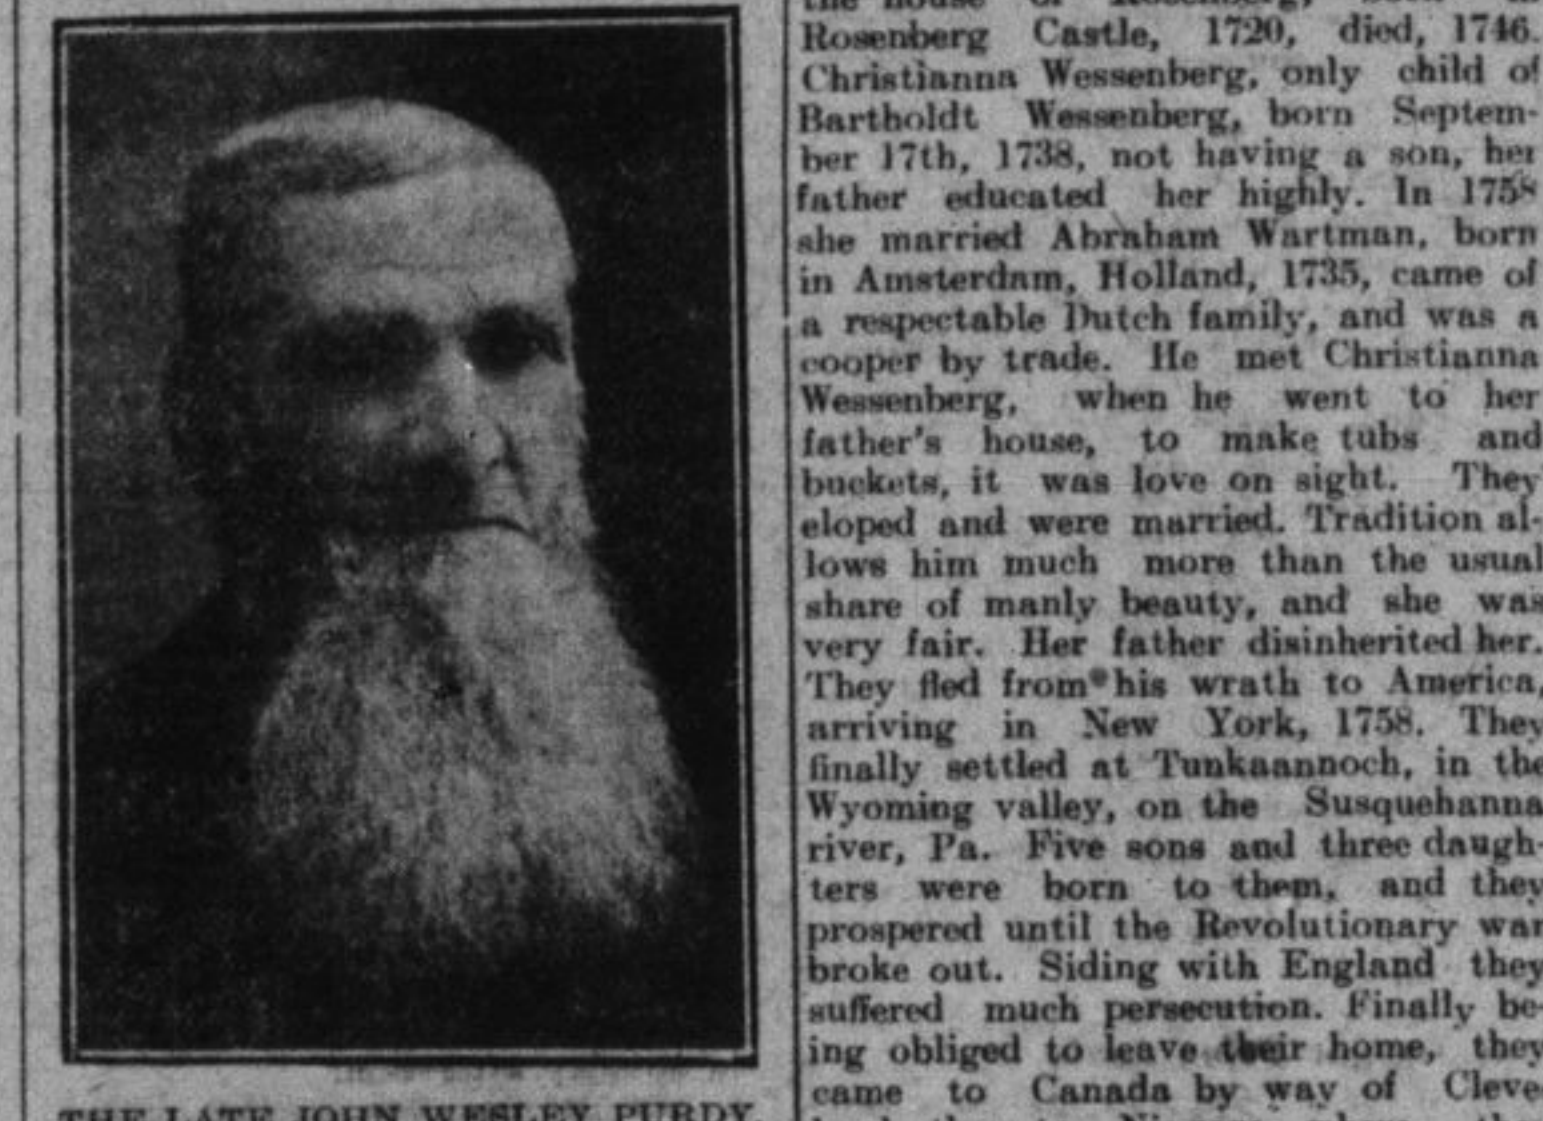

The pall-bearers were all young men, relatives of the deceased. The floral tributes were handsome.

Some years after the death of his first wife in Kansas Mr. Purdy visited his relatives in Canada. Two years later he returned to the bedside of his last remaining sister, the late Mrs. John Gosnell, of Godfrey, who rallied for a time after his coming, it was then he met and married his second wife, giving his relatives a pleasant surprise in regard to which he often humorously remarked, "My case is only one of many that goes to prove that man is never safe from Cupid's arrow until he is married." He was decidedly humorous in a quiet way, always maintaining that gentle dignity which characterized him.

Of United Empire Loyalist stock Mr. Purdy took a lively interest in everything pertaining to the early history of his native land. During his visit he collected much data intending to compile a history of the United Empire Loyalists, when failing vision prevented him from completing. Mr. Purdy had an interesting family history, of which we give a short sketch.

He was the last surviving member of a family of twelve, being the youngest son of Hosea Purdy and Mary Wartman. The Purdys were descended from the ancient English nobility. The family "crest" was a peacock's head, neck and breast; motto, "Next to the King." John and William Purdy, two adventurous youths, came to America. After their arrival they became separated. William got homesick, and embarked (or paid his passage to England) entering his name on the vessel's logbook. He was never heard of after. Before leaving England he deposited his money in the Bank of London, still unclaimed. John, who brought his money with him intending to remain, married an English lady in New York named Courtney, first name unknown. They had only one son, David, who married Mary Gilbert (a Quakeress), who brought him eight children. They lived at Black River, forty miles from Pittsburg, Pa. In 1776 David, with his eldest son David, junior, were ship carpenters on board a British man-of-war. David senior was killed 1778 during an engagement.

After the war David, junior, returned to the family and found that courts had visited them thirteen times, carrying away their cattle and goods. On their last visit they took fourteen head of cattle and attempted to take the food from the house, when mother and daughter fought them successfully with poker, shovel, tongs and axe. The mother then applied to the American consul, who was an old friend, and they were troubled no more. They would have been destitute but for some gold their mother had buried in the garden. David decided not to remain in the enemy's country and the whole family, with some of their neighbors, embarked in a yawl on the Black river and came to Canada, where they took United Empire Loyalist farms.

The family were David, born Oct. 20th, 1756, married Abigail Osborne, and settled at Belleville; Mary, born 1760, married Daniel Everett, settled at Collins Bay; Gilbert, born Jan. 24th, 1763, married twice, first wife Martha Godney, second wife Ann Elizabeth Jennings; Micajah, born May 10th, 1766, married five times, Catarina; Rhoda, born May 15th, 1768, married first Barnabas Day, second Joseph Ferris 9th March, 1789; Charlotte, born Aug. 24th, 1770, married David McCoy; Samuel, born March 25th, 1775, moved to Michigan; Hosea Purdy was the son of 6th March, 1775, married twice. The descendants of this family at the present time number several hundred.

Through a romantic page in the history of the Wartman family, Mr. Purdy was the descendant of two German princes—the Prince of the House of Rosenberg and the Prince of the House of Wessenberg (now grand ducal houses). Bartholdt Wessenberg, of the House of Wessenberg, born January 5th, 1698, married Louise of Rosenberg, August 23rd or 24th, 1737, was a notable student, held the astronomy chair in the German University, also a classical scholar and conversed in five languages. Louise was the second daughter of the prince of the house of Rosenberg, born in Rosenberg Castle, 1720, died, 1746. Christiana Wessenberg, only child of Bartholdt Wessenberg, born September 17th, 1738, not having a son, her father educated her highly. In 1758 she married Abraham Wartman, born in Amsterdam, Holland, 1735, came of a respectable Dutch family, and was a cooper by trade. He met Christiana Wessenberg, when he went to her father's house, to make tubs and buckets, it was love on sight. They eloped and were married. Tradition allows him much more than the usual share of manly beauty, and she was very fair. Her father disinherited her. They fled from his wrath to America, arriving in New York, 1758. They finally settled at Tuscarora, in the Wyoming valley, on the Susquehanna river, Pa. Five sons and three daughters were born to them, and they prospered until the Revolutionary war broke out. Siding with England they suffered much persecution. Finally being obliged to leave their home, they came to Canada by way of Cleveland, then to Niagara, where they stayed some time and two eldest daughters were married. They proceeded to Montreal, afterward to Kingston, where they took U.E.L. farms on the Front Road. A faithful soul worthy of mention was Christiana's maid, Jerusha, who fled with her mistress and spent her life in her service.

The children of Abraham and Christiana Wartman were: Susannah, born May 16th, 1759, married John Secord, 1785; died September 3rd, 1830; (sister-in-law of the famous Laura Secord); Jerusha, born 1762, married John Comer, 1781; died 1830; Bartholdt, born July 1st, 1763, killed June 29th, by a company of American soldiers—Deserted to Massachusetts; Peter, born 1765; married Eva Grass, 1786; died 1834. Eva Grass, eldest daughter of Capt. Michael Grass, received one thousand acres of land from the crown, as did each member of Capt. Grass' family. Information received from H. W. Richardson, great-grandson. John Wartman born 1767, married Rhoda Purdy, 1788; Christiana, born 1769, married John Courtland, 1786; Horace, born 1779; died 1784; Barnabas, born August 10th, 1773, married Hannah Day, March 15th, 1791; died August 30th, 1858; (Barnabas Wartman spoke five languages, was a Methodist local preacher. His family were: Louis, (married Jane Herchimer); Marx (Hosea Purdy); Elizabeth (Mrs. Lane); Jerusha, (Mrs. John Dawson); David Christiana (Mrs. Joseph Ferris, Jr.); Malisa, (Mrs. John Herchimer.) The descendants of these families are numerous.

It was Mr. Purdy's wish that all who contributed data should have a copy of these ancestral papers, with his thanks, which the writer now places within the reach of all.

FELT ALL USED UP.

Business Man Escaped Breakdown.

"It needs only the additional strain following a slump in business world like 1907-08 to bring many business men to the very limit of their physical endurance. Things began to get tight with me early in August, '07, writes Truman J. Harcourt, from Wilmington. "Larger payments in connection with my contracts had to be made, and it took so much of my capital that I found myself on the ragged edge. I had worked very hard and had perhaps smoked too much, so when pressure demanded strength my nerves gave out. I lost my appetite, couldn't get to sleep before one or two, and it looked as if I were all in."

"I was reading the FERROZONE Telegraph and noticed the wonderful work done by Ferrozone." I read of a case of nervousness it had cured and decided to try it myself. I am not going to tell you of my ups and downs during the first three weeks—one day I would feel pretty well—the next day like thirty cents. In three or four weeks the effect of the Ferrozone was manifest. I gained steadily—that's the best of a good medicine. All I gained I kept, and to-day I am as sound, strong and vigorous as a young boy."

When you feel all used up—tired out—lacking appetite, energy and ambition, these are the signs of this blood and weak nerves. Ferrozone will cure—try one or two Ferrozone tablets as meals. Fifty cents a box, six for $2.50 all dealers.
