ROOSEVELT TALKS AGAIN.

And About British Occupation in Egypt.

London, Eng., June 1.—"If you feel you ought not to be in Egypt, and have no desire to keep order there, by all means get out. If you feel that it is your duty to civilization to stay then show yourselves ready to meet the responsibility of your position."

Col. Roosevelt, after being honored at Guild Hall with the traditional freedom of the city, thus addressed his distinguished audience, on a subject which everybody expected he would studiously avoid, having stirred up so much comment when he talked about the same lines in Egypt a few weeks ago. The utterances startled his hearers.

Mr. Roosevelt eulogized British rule in Uganda and the Sudan. He also declared that Great Britain had given Egypt the best government that any country had had in 2,000 years. But in certain vital points, it had erred, he said. Timidity and sentimentalism, he said, might cause more harm than violence and injustice.

"Sentimentality," he added, "is the most broken of hearts which rightness can bear."

Mr. Roosevelt denounced the nationalist party of Egypt as neither desirous or capable of guaranteeing primary justice. It was trying to bring murderous chaos upon the land.

As a whole, he said, the French constituted the most feasible expression on foreign topics that the distinguished visitor has made during his European tour. He dealt principally with the British policy in Egypt, which is today one of the most important of Britain's colonial questions.

WILL YIELD $1,500,000.

Automobiles and Chauffeurs to be Taxed.

Albany, N.Y., June 1.—Governor Hughes, yesterday, signed the Callan bill providing for the registration and taxation of automobiles according to horse power and the licensing of chauffeurs a measure which, it is estimated, will yield annual revenue to the state of about $1,500,000. Chauffeurs are to pay an annual license fee of $5. These provisions for speed violation will render the license of a chauffeur void for not less than six months. A chauffeur may be imprisoned for a year for running a car while intoxicated. He may be fined $200 and sentenced to two years imprisonment for running away after striking a person and a second conviction for this offense makes him liable for imprisonment for not less than two years nor more than five years. A fine of $100 is provided for a violation of speed limits and the method of procuring bail is made easier.

LANDLORD USES A HATCHET.

Chopped Female Tenant on Head—Fought Back.

Chicago, June 1.—Max Klarine, a real estate dealer, went to one of his houses to eject Flora Smith, a negro. Flora refused to move. Klarine, it is charged, struck her on the head with a hatchet. The blade stuck in the woman's scalp. Flora blinked a moment, then with the hatchet still sticking in her head, she kicked Klarine down a flight of stairs to the street. Flora followed and before he could rise seated herself on his body and drew the hatchet from her head as though it were a hair pin. She was beating Klarine with the weapon when the police rescued him.

A JEANNE D'ARC PLAY.

Given in Open Air at Maid's Birth-place.

Paris, June 1.—France is to have something in the nature of a rival to the Passion Play of Oberammergau.

At Doremy, on the very spot where Jeanne d'Arc heard the miraculous voices urging her to go to the rescue of her king and country, an immense open-air theatre is to be constructed, in which the drama and tragedy of her life are, with the exception of the leading roles, to be played by native actors.

About 600 persons, 150 of them on horseback, will take part in the representations. The first of these, it is expected, will be given on May 7th next year. Two performances a month will also be given in June, July, and August.

A special train service will connect Doremy-la-Petite with every part of France and the neighboring countries.

DR. COOK IN SCOTLAND.

Plans to Prove That He Reached the Pole.

New York, June 1.—The mystery of the whereabouts of Dr. Frederick A. Cook, was solved last night. He is in Scotland, preparing for his trip to Etah, whence he plans to bring back his records of his discovery of the North Pole, and his instruments which are cached there. He also intends to bring back the two Eskimos who accompanied him on his dash to the North Pole.

Dr. Cook's objective point, when he shall have recovered his records and instruments, says the newspaper, will be Copenhagen. There he will present his completed proofs to the scientific world.

WOULD LIKE PLACE.

Champ Clark Believes He Will Yet be Speaker.

Washington, June 1.—"I would rather be speaker for two years than United States senator for eighteen years," said Representative Champ Clark, of Missouri, the democratic leader of the house. "Of course, there is nothing certain but death and taxes, but the democrats will control the next house as sure as you are living, and I think I have a good show for the leadership."

In this way Mr. Clark disposed of the report that he would be a candidate for the senate to succeed Senator Warner, republican.

RURAL MAIL DELIVERY.

Greater Demand Comes From This Province.

Ottawa, June 1.—Rural mail deliveries are being established more in Ontario than elsewhere because by far the greater demand comes from the province. Up to the present 352 routes all told have been put in operation.

There are comparatively few petitions from Quebec for free delivery and also from the maritime provinces.

As regards the west where the growth is so rapid and the railways are building so extensively, a conservative policy is being followed in establishing the routes.

THEORY OF KOCH.

World's Birth Rate to Dwindle Slowly.

Berlin, June 1.—That the world's birth rate will dwindle slowly until the human race passes away because of race suicide, is the theory of the late Prof. Robert Koch, pronounced in one of the scientist's manuscripts to be published posthumously within a few days.

According to Dr. Koch, man is steadily ceasing to breed. Civilization, he says, inevitably reduces the birth rate, and the extension of civilization means the increase of race suicide till humanity, refusing to breed, will vanish.

Dr. Koch cites one tribe of Polynesians which when subjected to civilization, influences, committed race suicide by mutual agreement among the members.

Dr. Koch's theory is expected to make a profound scientific impression.

The collection is described by Dr. Dougherty as the best in the world. Of special interest are the Crimean war medals, emblems of the great campaign fought side by side with France against Russia. There is the Victoria cross. There are the medals of the Indian wars, the Sudan, South Africa and the other smaller campaigns in which men of the empire have taken part. Those who are interested in Canada's part in the cause of Great Britain will find of peculiar interest the medals which the 100th Canadian regiment, the Nile Voyagers, the South African contingents and others won. The collection forms a brief summary of the war struggles of Britain during the long reign of Queen Victoria.

LOST IN THE FOREST

MADE SOUP FROM FUNGUS IN FOREST.

A Thrilling Adventure of Paul Salter's Brother in Porcupine Hills—Had a Lonely Time.

Montreal, June 1.—Six months beyond civilization in the frozen north of Canada, in which the face of human beings, neither white nor Indian, was seen, was the experience related by Harold Cecil, the miner cousin of the present Marquis of Salisbury, and of the former premier, who has had his share of perils and dangers on nearly every gold field in the world, and who frankly states that his remarkable adventures beyond the Porcupine culminated in the following manner.

To a reporter he told his thrilling story, which he is on his way to recount to the family at Hatfield, who insisted on his going home before returning to British Columbia. He led a creek which empties into New York last night, sailing from there by fastest steamer across the Atlantic.

It was, he said, towards the end of last October that he came down from British Columbia, having heard of the rising fame of the new Porcupine mine, and was determined to investigate alone on the outskirts of the field, where for several reasons he made himself known to no one, he followed the occasional cropping of reefs into the forest, and there he utterly lost his bearings.

In the cloudy days towards the end of November he wandered he knew not where, evidently the farther he travelled getting deeper and deeper into the woods. He was without portable food but he had a revolver in his belt, a miner's axe, a hammer, and some matches. He came next length to a creek which empties into New York. Of this he got some fish by weaving a net of boughs and grasses. After a week or two he was enveloped in a heavy snow storm, and he realized that his chances of reaching civilization at all were slender. He could not get out of the forest until spring.

With dauntless courage he built a shack of pine boughs of the lean-to type. Bringing in the boughs he made the valuable discovery of an edible fungus, the Tripe de Roche. Here, with occasional game and deer and partridge, and an abundance of soup made from the fungus, he survived.

His greatest task was to provide himself with dried wood necessary for the fire he had kindled, and to keep it from extinguishing.

At the end of March a band of Indians passed on their way to Moose Factory, on the southern shore of Hudson Bay. He who was in a position to write a check for $50,000 whenever he got within reach of a bank, managed to get the tribe to accept employment, with promise of good remuneration. It was the end of April that he got back to Porcupine, and he calmly finished his survey before emerging again into full civilization.
