PRESS TO THE RESCUE. Aviation owes more to the press than to any other power or agency for its success.

It was the handsome prize of the New York World that induced Glenn Curtiss to smash all previous records on his flight from Albany to New York.

It is the press again, the New York World and St. Louis Post-Dispatch, that is providing for an aerial trip from New York to St. Louis, while the Evening Post will invite competition for heavy stakes on an aeroplane trip between New York and Chicago.

Business thrift and acumen are making the journalism of the day the most profitable, and the men who know how to run great papers know also how to conduct campaigns so that within a few years amazing progress will be made in aviation.

Hudson Maxam, a great inventor and airshipbuilder, expects that very soon auto-mobiling in the air will be as safe as auto-mobiling upon the earth.

In the next great war the fight, he says, will depend upon the aerial navies, "in a demoniac encounter, while the combatants below will be assailed by the falling wreckage of friend and foe alike."

So far the great papers have made aviation largely what it is, and they are seeking to determine the value of the air-ship for long and fast voyages.

WIND MADE USEFUL. The conservation report is a mine of information. It will repay perusal on the part of anyone. Here's a thought taken from the admirable address of Dr. Robertson, now a member of the commission, and lately the director of the Macdonald College. It is that the wind can be turned to account in the heating and lighting of one's house.

The idea was originally associated with the prairies, where the wind blows so often at the rate of twenty miles an hour.

Dr. Robertson said Macdonald College had made some headway in the test of wind, and he hoped to see the day, not so far away, when the experiment would develop into a profitable experience. "In Canada," said Dr. Robertson, "we are away behind other countries in some of these matters. That is why we look to Switzerland and Denmark and Sweden for lessons of real value. Why should we not light and warm our prairie homes from the wasted energy of the winds?"

Why cannot the winds in Ontario be harnessed for this purpose? They may blow more fitfully, but electric energy can be generated and stored so that the supply will be available when it is wanted and practically inexhaustible. The Macdonald College experiment is worth examining.

The windmill used to be in evidence for pumping purposes, and it was to be seen in many a farm. For heating and lighting purposes it could be made the most serviceable of all the inventions on which man has had to depend.

DODGING THE LAW. The government is disposed to make every county provide a refuge for its poor. The law, passed some years ago, provided that compliance with it would have to be assured before January, 1910, and because Haldimand neglected or declined to act proceedings were taken and the order of the court issued against the county. Then an arrangement was made with a refuge in Dundas by which it would accommodate Haldimand's poor at a certain fixed rate.

The matter has been before the government, and the inspector of charities denies that he has confirmed any plan which means an evasion of the law. The arrangement with the Dundas house can only be temporary and continue pending the erection of a house of refuge. "The same stand was taken by the department a few months ago in regard to the counties of Lennox and Addington," said Dr. Smith, "it being held that no authority but the legislature could alter the statutes."

The meaning of the law is quite apparent. Without a refuge it is impossible to house and care for all the county's poor. They are not gathered up and cared for at the county's expense. The arrangement with any existing institution does not end the paperman that is advertised in some of the townships, and the government inspectors cannot see any case, nor enquire into it, which is not brought under his notice in a public institution.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The superintendent of the Methodist church in Canada participated in the rebellion of 1837. The fire he has shown on so many occasions can now be accounted for.

The Germans have an unemployment insurance. England is going to have it, too. It will be the demand of Canada if present conditions in some places continue.

The demand of the labour party in England is for adult suffrage, elections on one day, shorter parliaments and payment of members. A good programme. It can be safely and generally adopted.

Dr. Carman is out for union, but he boldly announces that there are some things the Methodists would not let go for all the unions under the sky. Can't be the class meetings and the rules regarding amusements, for these are surely going.

The technical education commission has been appointed. Five men are happy, and five hundred are unhappy, and have their own opinions of Hon. Mr. King's judgment. They couldn't all be appointed now. Their turn will come later.

The Court Circular announces that George V's birthday will be observed on June 24th in England. But in Quebec it will be kept on July 1st. These variations should not be. If the event is worth keeping at all it should be on the same day all over the empire.

The tide of immigration is flooding into Canada at the rate of about 1,500 a day. Fancy the contribution of 20,443 in April alone from the United States. The efforts of the Washington government to stop this exodus from the United States have been a failure.

The Education department will pay the fare and part of the board of those who attend the summer schools in Northern Ontario and the normal school at North Bay. What is the meaning of this? Has the normal school been misplaced? Or are the teachers-in-training shown extra consideration for any reason?

The management committee and the Faculty of Education have come to terms with regard to the use of the high and public schools, and the agreement will be submitted for the approval of the board of education on Thursday evening. Abiding peace has been reached without appeal to the Hague.

The public and high schools will close on June 24th and re-open on September 6th, or the day following Labour Day. Why the education department breaks up the schools a week before the end of the month, with its examinations, is not apparent to anyone, but it does this all the same.

The man who, in the Bay of Quinte conference, declared for a member of the Methodist College staff who could train men and women for Sunday school work is up-to-date. The Sunday schools are languishing because the preachers are not going to direct them, have no training for that kind of work.

Had Dr. Wood any of the profession of Kingston in his mind when he intimated in Toronto, and at the Medical Association's meeting, that some medical men were not keeping up-to-date, and that they did not differentiate between adults and children in the treatment of appendicitis. Surely that cannot be said of anyone in a university city.

The Toronto News prints the story that there is conflict in the Roman Catholic church between the French and Irish elements, and that it is taking on an acute form. The situation is being taken advantage of to protest against the teaching of French in the schools of Ontario. The News is given to sensations. It may have in this matter what the small boy calls "a hen on."

The church courts are in session and it is declared that the pressing call of the hour is for men. It will continue to be pressing. The preacher must be a ten-talented representative of his class. He must be a great reader, a vigorous thinker, a forceful and entertaining speaker, and the paltry stipends that prevail have no attraction. Result—the church will be a greater sufferer unless conditions change.

SEES WAR COMING

FREDERIC VILLIERS AT VICTORIA CANADIAN CLUB.

Germany's Policy of Blood and Iron—Canada May be Called on to Defend India Against Russia—Prepare for Defence, His Counsel.

Victoria, B.C., June 4.—Frederic Villiers, the famous war correspondent, in a speech before the Canadian Club, approved of Mr. Roosevelt's criticism of British rule in Egypt, and predicted an inevitable struggle between Great Britain and Germany, and urged Canadians to look to methods for the proper defence of these shores. Germany, declared Mr. Villiers, has a consistent policy, one of "blood and iron." Great Britain has no national policy. Germany will surely be in a position shortly to accomplish her ends. When that time comes, I do not think the Teuton will decline; rather will he say to England: "I want you and so; there are my cards. Can you beat them?"

Mr. Villiers thought that prior to an outbreak of hostilities Germany would intimate to Russia that now was the time for the latter power to take India. In this event, said Mr. Villiers, Canada would have an opportunity to perform a rare service to the empire. She should be ready to pour about thirty thousand troops into India at the psychological moment. "The Russians know what Canadians can do on the field of battle, and I believe they would hesitate," declared Mr. Villiers.

SIPHONING HIGH LAKES. Switzerland System of Utilizing Mountain Water.

The utilization of the water of mountain lakes may be accomplished either by tapping them at the bottom or by siphoning. The former method is very troublesome, as sheet piling must be driven and the water pumped out at the tunnel junction, and where soft soil is encountered it is particularly troublesome. In Switzerland, where many mountain lakes are found, the siphoning system has been introduced. This consists in sinking a vertical shaft a short distance from the shore of the lake. The water is siphoned from the lake to the shaft, to which latter the head race is connected.

Such an installation will be found at Kuhel and at Lake Poschivo in connection with the Brusio power plant. The shaft is sunk about seventy-five feet from the water's edge and carries 7.5 feet below the low water level of the lake. The siphon tube leads from here into the lake and is 6.5 feet in diameter and 270 feet long, partly resting on trestlework. The siphon leg is twenty-six feet long, provided with a screen and a bottom valve, while the discharge leg is 27.7 feet long, the bottom end of it being provided with a disk valve for regulating the flow of water.

The siphon is started by means of an air pump connected to the horizontal leg of the tube at the highest point, the slope of this leg being five feet in a thousand. It may also be started by the centrifugal pump which is installed for cleaning the intake screens. The system must not be confused with the so-called "invert siphon" system, which is a misnomer, being nothing more than a pressure system. It must furthermore be remarked that this Swiss system is by no means a small affair, as it siphons the supply of water for twelve 3,500-kilowatt turbines installed in the largest hydro-electric plant on the continent of Europe.—Engineering Magazine.

To Rebuild Verona Church. Verona, June 3.—Miss Maggie Talen gave a private party lately to a few intimate friends. Games and other amusements were enjoyed by the young folks and light refreshments were served. Levi Brown has purchased the bakery from R. J. Carson, Kingston. E. M. Revell, the former baker, has moved in the new house near the K. & P. railway station. A. Girardin has recovered sufficiently to be out again. Samuel Irish, undertaker, has given his large double house a thorough painting and trimming which greatly brightens that section of the village. The picnic at Curly Point, Victoria Day, was the most enjoyable held here in some time. About fifty sat down to dinner and seventy-five for supper. Baseball and other amusements were indulged in. The Methodist church people are organizing to rebuild their office this summer. M. Williams and Byron Revell tumbled on the baseball field and the impact was so great that each repaired to the doctor's for treatment.

Cadets night at the Star Amusement Hall was enjoyed by a goodly number last evening. The management for the occasion provided a handsome historical reel of Napoleon's Spanish campaign. The proceeds were to aid in paying for the handsome new uniforms of the corps.

Rush to Saskatchewan.

Reports received from Saskatoon at the Grand Trunk office say that never in the history of Saskatchewan has there been such a rush of settlers to the great province. The report says in part:

"A month ago I thought our rush had reached a culminating point, it did not seem possible that it would increase in magnitude, but it is well within the mark to say that to-day's rush is practically double that of last month. I never have seen so many good men seeking employment, which they readily obtain.

"I have just returned from a 500-mile trip through our district, and am amazed at the magnificent outlook. We are in no danger for lack of rain, and can hold out for a long time yet. This is largely owing to the fact that methods of cultivation have been almost perfect."

ABERNETHY'S

BABY GIVEN AWAY. LOVED HOSPITAL LIFE.

Agreed to Adopt Infant For Box of Cigarettes.

For a packet of cigarettes, James and Susan Reynolds, of Maiden Crescent, Kentish town, England, agreed to adopt a baby, and on Tuesday they were charged at Marylebone with neglecting the child.

It was stated that Reynolds and his wife met a woman in a public house some months ago. They expressed regret that they had no child, and the woman agreed to give them her baby. The transaction was completed at once, and the woman added to the gift of the baby a packet of cigarettes for Reynolds. She also gave him a diamond ring, which read:

"This is to certify that I, Ann Higgins, give my child over to Susan and James Reynolds. Henceforth he will be known as George James Reynolds."

An inspector of the N.S.P.C.C. discovered that the Reynoldses were frequently drunk, and their house in a dirty condition, and that the child was neglected. Twice they left it in bed, with a piece of cord passed round its body, and fastened to the bedstead to prevent it falling out, and on one occasion it had got under the clothes and was in danger of being suffocated.

The man was sentenced to two months' hard labor, and the woman to four months, the magistrate directing that the child be sent to the workhouse.

Girl Took Poison in Order to Return to Institution.

The Massachusetts General hospital in Boston houses one of the strangest cases of its career in that of Miss Mary Kearney, aged 17, who was brought to the hospital after taking a dose of poison. After proper antidotes had been administered and she had regained consciousness, the hospital officials asked her reason for attempting her life.

The girl told them that she had been an inmate of the institution before and so loved the place and its work that she longed to return. She thought of poison and procured a solution, which she had taken when she was found suffering from its effects on a street in Dorchester.

The hospital officials talk of adopting the girl and making her the hospital mascot. Her own ambition is to learn to be a nurse and live in the hospital for lifetime.
