A HACKMAN INJURED THROUGH THE UPSSETTING OF HIS CARRIAGE.

Horses Shied at Street Car on King Street—Got Too Close to Sidewalk and Collided With a Tree—Driver Fell Under he Overturned Hack.

Edward Eves, hackman, was slightly injured about 9:30 o'clock, Saturday morning, by the overturning of his cab on King street, in front of the residence of H. A. Calvin, and in the Hotel Dieu for treatment. He was driving out King street in response to a call. When near Mr. Calvin's residence he met a street car, and his team of greys shied, jumping towards the sidewalk. All would have been well, only that a large tree happened to be in the way, and the hack collided with this, overturning and throwing the driver and two companions off the seat. One of the latter rose quickly and grabbed the horses before they could break away. Mr. Eves was on the right side of the seat, and in the upset, he fell partially under the cab. The street car was stopped and persons aboard assisted in raising the cab and lifting the young driver out. The latter was found to be quite severely hurt, and a telephone call was sent for Corbett's ambulance, which soon arrived and conveyed the injured hackman to the Hotel Dieu, where, after an examination, it was found that no bones were broken, and that the young man suffered more from shock and a few bruises. The cab was somewhat broken by the collision and overturning.

MAY EXTEND TERM. Earl Grey May Be Asked to Stay Longer.

EARL GREY.

Special to the Whig.
Ottawa, June 4.—Whereas a week ago there was no talk of Earl Grey going back to England hurriedly, on business, he is to return at once; generalist until the autumn. His excellency, it is announced, is to sail on Tuesday. There is a rumor that the king has sent for him, and that the special pressure being brought to bear may result in his term as governor-general of Canada being extended for a sixth year. The people of Canada, and in fact the whole of the British Empire, are anxiously anticipating the result of the hurried trip to England and asking what the result will be.

The composing staff of the Whig yesterday afternoon, surprised two of its members, Messrs. "Eddie" Ball and Horace Butler, by presenting each with a beautiful cabinet of cutlery. Mr. Butler was wedded on Wednesday last to Miss Laura McPherson, and Mr. Ball will, on Thursday next, lead to the altar Miss Margaret A. Calton. Mr. Ball is a Kingstonian, who has done well here, and who was for many years a member of the Whig staff.

THE KING'S FUNERAL

King Edward's funeral in moving pictures, the much-heralded film which every theatre has been struggling to obtain, has been captured by The Bijou, and this enterprising house will have the honor of presenting it to the people of Kingston, on Monday, next, May 6th.

The great pageant, which signaled the burial of the late king, is described as the most magnificent in the history of England, and one never surpassed in the history of modern civilization. Behind the coffin marched nine reigning kings, eleven reigning sovereigns of lesser rank and seven crown princes, and in carriages were four queens. Ten millions of people were crowded along the line of march and in the crush six thousand persons were injured. It is probable that never before was there such a concourse of people, since Europe emerges from barbarism. The patrons of the Bijou will see the sights to better advantage than most of these millions who risked life and limb to behold it. Information has not yet been received as to exactly what parts of the pageant are pictured, but it is safe to say that the people alive in Kingston to-day will never again have the opportunity of seeing so many world-renowned men as will be seen in motion at The Bijou on this occasion. The life guards, the yeomen of the Tower of London, and all the personages who officiate on such occasions will be here seen. These films were photographed two weeks ago yesterday in the streets of London, and the same night they were on view in British theatres. To-day the films are being shown in Bennett's theatre, Ottawa, and Monday they will be here.

The Bijou deserves great credit for its enterprise in securing them so soon. This is only done at considerable expense, the film costing a rental price 600 per cent. six hundred per cent in excess of the usual rental rate. As many as possible are urged to see the performance in the afternoon in order to avoid the evening rush. The film will also be on view on Tuesday.

Two High Court Cases.

Justice Latchford will preside at the non-jury sittings of the high court here on Monday afternoon. There are only two cases for hearing, both of which were on the docket of The last high court sitting here. One is that of the Davis Dry Dock company vs. R. E. Clemon, for the purchase price of yachts, and the other is for the interpretation of an Arden will.

Settled Three Cases.

Kingston's popular justice of the peace, G. H. Hunter, is still in harness, having decided to withdraw his resignation to the attorney-general, at the request of many people. This week he has settled no less than three cases without holding any trials. The colonel is the greatest arbitrator of disputes in the country.

Still Searching for Will.

Search is still being made for the will of the late Joseph George, Wellington street, made four years ago. Administration of the estate has not yet been applied for. The widow is entitled to one-half of the estate in the event of there being no will.

ADMITS THE FACT BRITISH EMPIRE BEST MARKET OF THE STATES.

Bought $275,000,000 of American Goods Last Year—Britain Took 132 Millions and Canada Ninety-Seven Millions of Manufactured Articles.

Washington, June 4.—British territory is the world's greatest market for American manufacturers. In the face of the fact that Great Britain is Europe's greatest manufacturer and the world's greatest exporter of manufactured goods, one-half of all the exported manufactured products of the United States goes to British territory and forms more than a third of all the exports to those lands.

These facts are disclosed in a summary compiled by the bureau of statistics of the Department of Commerce and Labor. By the term British territory is meant the United Kingdom, Canada, and all other lands which float the Union Jack, even to the district of Hong-Kong and the British islands in the Pacific.

British territory in Europe in 1909 took $132,000,000 of American manufactures: British North America, $97,000,000; British Asia, $13,000,000; and even British Africa took $7,000,000. Thus Great Britain buys forty per cent. of all American manufactures sent to Europe; forty-six per cent. of all those exported to the North American continent; one per cent. of those to South Africa; seventy-four per cent. of those to Oceania, and sixty-eight per cent. of all sent to Asia. British territory, then, is a pretty good customer. All in all, it bought $275,000,000 of Yankee goods in 1909.

Of the unmanufactured products of the United States, British territory takes forty-eight per cent.

THE DIVER'S DRESS.

Evolution of Devices Used for Submarine Work. Among pioneer inventors to whom the diving dress in its present perfected form owes so much was William Taylor patent of June 20th, 1838, in Hannis Taylor. The previous hit or miss attempts were superseded by the which the essential feature was the valve allowing the emission of consumed air without an influx of water.

Previous to this there had been the diving chest and the diving bell, of which the latter, introduced by Emeaton in 1775, was the safest and most practical device for submarine exploration. The diving bell has been developed alongside of the diving dress and is still in use.

The general appearance of Taylor's diving armor was like that of a knight's suit of mail, except for a prominent bulge in the body piece. A large pipe coming down from the surface and penetrating the body piece at the hinge supplied the fresh air, while a short pipe entered the body piece on the other side and was provided with a valve which carried off the exhaust. Although diving armor has now reached its perfected state, this valve has never been materially improved upon.—Scientific American.

A MEN WITH A GUARD.

Fowl Valued at $10,000 to Be Exhibited.

Peggy, a hen the owner values at $10,000, will be the big feature of the first poultry show to be given next November by the San Joaquin Poultry association at Stockton, which has already commenced the preliminary and expects to hold the biggest exhibition ever attempted in the West. This famous hen is the property of a stock farm near Kansas City and is of the crystal White Orpington breed.

She has created a sensation wherever shown and is attended by five liveried guards wherever she is shown. At the last exhibition she was ordered from the showroom for blocking the aisles. She was then moved to a store window and was ordered out of the city where exhibited, as the crowds about the window hindered the traffic of the streets.

At Sharbot Lake.

Sharbot Lake, June 4.—Rev. J. C. Cornell is attending conference. Mrs. Taylor, Regina, Sask., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Thomson. Miss B. Scott, Zealand, has taken a position in J. Collins' general store. Mrs. T. B. Campbell, is visiting at Verona. Miss Morrison, Maberly, is visiting at Mrs. Deyo's. A. Elliott, Montreal, is visiting at Dr. Kilborn's. Mrs. S. Gordon has returned home after spending a few days in Kingston. A large eagle was captured by H. Martin. A number of summer cottages are being erected on the islands here.

Good Evidence.

Montreal, June 4.—The Gross traffic receipts of the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific railways, for May, show a total increase, combined, of $2,374,928. This is an additional evidence of the commercial and industrial expansion now in progress. The C. P. R. figures for May are $8,218,000; increase, $1,882,000. Grand Trunk, $3,731,920; increase, $492,928.

LOOKING FOR A MAN Who Swindled a Windsor Man Out of Cash.

Windsor, Ont., June 4.—A man, who represented himself a wealthy resident of St. Louis, Mo., looking for an investment, agreed recently to pay Ald. Trumble eight thousand dollars for the latter's bakery business, but stipulated that Trumble should remain in the store three months to teach the new owner the business in return for which the latter voluntarily agreed to present Trumble with an expensive auto. Matters had progressed so far that the man looked after the active management of the store while Trumble attended to the bakery, and Tuesday night the supposed purchaser disappeared with two days receipts of the store amounting to over $100. The provincial police have been asked to investigate.

The Billet Doux.

New York Sun.
An actor, named Smith for the purpose of this story, went to the club recently and found a letter for another actor of the same name. The letter was from a tailor and read as follows:
"Dear Sir: Your account is now eighteen months overdue and unless you pay at once we shall put it in the hands of our attorney for collection."

The first Smith knew the letter was not for him and he put it in another envelope, addressed it to the Smith for whom it was intended and set down to read his own mail. In a few minutes the other Smith came along. He took the letter from the tailor, tore it open and read it, while leaning against the mantel. Then, smiling tenderly, he tore it into little scraps, and, as he threw the scraps into the fireplace, said so everybody in the room could hear him: "Silly little girl! How she loves me!"

A Dutch Fishing Fleet.

If the traveler wants to get a real glimpse of picturesque Holland, a glimpse which shall long be a happy memory, let him journey to the old fishing village of Scheveningen, not far from the Hague. Its fishing fleet is an imposing one and is best seen at night, when the boats are drawn up on the beach. Each has a number, and these are painted on the sides in such large figures that they can be read at a considerable distance. At night when the fishermen begin to come to land, the women of the village walk down to the beach with their knitting in their hands to meet them. They wear their wooden shoes, some of which are made to look especially clean by an application of whitening, and they made a merry clatter as they go. Industry is characteristic of the women of Holland in all walks of life. They must always be at work of some kind and it would seem as if more knitting needles must be used in Holland than in any other country in the world.—E. J. Farrington in Interior.

A Famous Story Re-told.

Lady's News.
King Edward's personal courage was illuminated by no less an authority than Lyon (afterwards Lord) Playfair, who had him among his students at Edinburgh in 1859. Playfair was explaining the immunity of Algerian conjurers who apply hot irons to their bodies. This can be done if the metal be raised to a sufficient temperature. "Now, sir," said the professor to the prince, "if you have faith in science you will plunge your right hand into that cauldron of boiling lead, and ladle it out into the cold water which is standing by."
"Are you serious?" asked the royal pupil. "Perfectly," was the reply. "If you tell me to do it, I will," said the prince, quietly. "I do tell you," rejoined Playfair, and the prince immediately ladled out the burning liquid with perfect immunity.

Woman's Rights.

London Argonaut.
Midnight raids upon masculine pockets have long been winked at as among the rightful perquisites of woman; henceforth those pursuits in quest of wealth need not be followed under cover of night to the accompaniment of reassuring snores. A Chicago judge has decided that a wife is within her rights if she enlists the aid of the boarder to impound her husband's hands while she explores his pockets. "A plain case of robbery," so the court decided, "but perfectly justifiable under the circumstances." Certainly the circumstances were aggravating; the husband had not given his wife a cent for over a year, and yet he had as much wealth as eleven dollars on his person at the time of the hold-up.

Not in the Family.

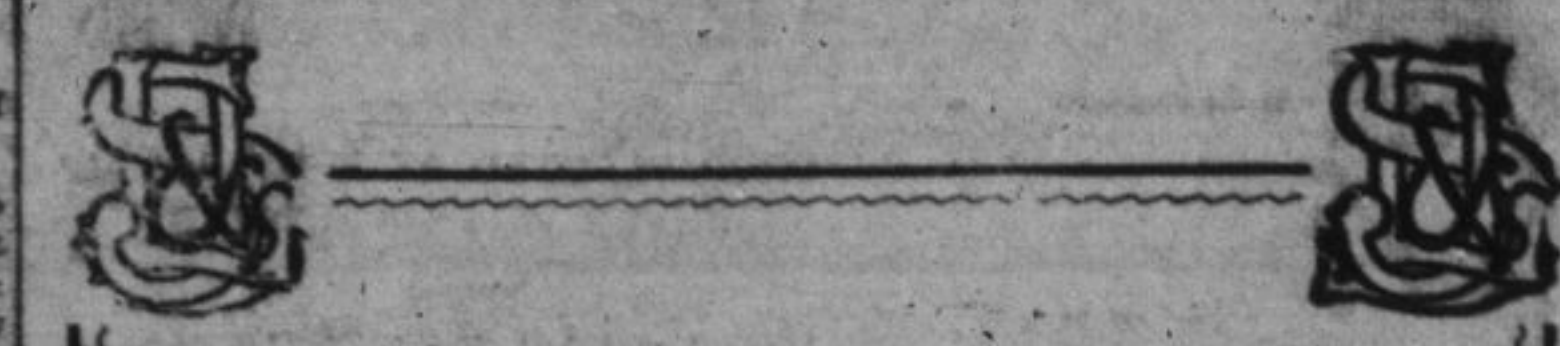

Literary Digest.
Michael McCarthy was suing the Swift Packing company in a Kansas city court.
A negro witness was called. "Did you work at the plant?" he was asked.
"Yassir."
"Do you know the foreman and the other officials?"
"Yassir."
"What were your relations with them?"
"Now, look yere," said the witness, "I'm black and they's white. They ain't no relations of mine."

Sank in Manila Bay.

Manila, June 4.—The U. S. army transport, Indianapolis, sank, on Thursday in twenty fathoms of water, eighteen miles outside the harbor of Corregidor Island. The vessel struck a log and went down rapidly. All on board took to the lifeboats and not a single life was lost the advice say.

R. McAllister, Wolfe Island, left last week for Sudbury to enter the employ of the C.P.R. company. He is a son of ex-Councilor J. McAllister, a graduate of Regiopolis College, and a full course graduate of Kingston Business College. He leaves the city highly recommended.
