SERMON FROM SHAKESPEARE

All things that are, are with more spirit chased than enjoyed. Merchant of Venice, Act II, Sc. 2. Enjoyed, as used in this passage, has reference to the pleasures of possession. Each man thinks if he had this position or that object he would be satisfied.

He saw it. He strove to paint the whole of Africa red. He fortunately failed. Even in his death hour he was still seeking satisfaction. The Rhodes scholarship scheme bringing young men from all parts of the Anglo-Saxon world to a common center in Great Britain no doubt gives his restless spirit more satisfaction than his wealth ever did.

MAKE BOY FARMERS

CLERGYMAN OFFERS LAND TO A CHURCH. Rev. Dr. Oscar Haywood of New York has New Plan to Educate City Youngsters and Others in Agricultural Trades on a Farm in North Carolina.

A gift of several hundred acres in North Carolina for the establishment and equipment of a settlement and a school of farming and allied trades for boys was offered to his parish the other night by the Rev. Dr. Oscar Haywood, pastor of the Baptist Church of the Covenant, in West Thirty-third street, New York city.

"I offer to the people of New York city and my lifelong neighbors in North Carolina several hundred acres of land now cultivated as a cotton farm as the ground and a foundation on which to establish and equip a settlement and a school of farming and allied trades for boys, city born and from families of the landless class in the south. The farm is on the lower border of the middle Piedmont section of North Carolina. About one-fourth of it is open to cultivation, the rest being carefully protected forest of all varieties of native trees.

"The plan which I am carefully working out and details of which will be printed when ready, is to incorporate the best features of the schools in which useful kinds of knowledge are taught, with systematic farming chiefly emphasized, the idea being to restore the free and independent life of the one time plantation boy. There will be a settlement of negro boys on the farm under the supervision of negroes. One of the reasons which led him to suggest the enterprise, Dr. Haywood said, was the depletion of the farming population in North Carolina and other southern states. "The sweetest country in the world, originally rich in every proportion element of climate and soil, once thickly settled with well-to-do and thrifty farmers, has been deserted by the landowners and abandoned or turned over to negroes, who occupy the farms under lease or mortgage," the preacher added. "When statements of the acreage used by negroes are published as an evidence of their wonderful progress, tablets of statistics as to the mortgagee area should be printed also. At the best not more than 20 per cent of the land owned by negroes is free from mortgage. A misplaced emphasis in current methods of education is misdirecting the energies of the world. The educated man is lost in the country for all useful purposes. Boys do not return to the farms when taken from them and put through college for the reason that the things they have learned cannot be utilized in that environment. Dr. Haywood gave as another reason for his enterprise the impractical methods of agricultural schools. Most irrigation, soil making, forestry and improved implements and its hand-mill, art, with architecture and landscape gardening. The south will be the greater center of agricultural development for the next quarter of a century. The pastor said he had received assurance that the enterprise would receive support both in New York city and in North Carolina.

A POLISH WEDDING. Fun and Profits Strangely Mingled in Festivities.

Detroit Free Press. A wedding among the Poles may certainly be said to hold its own among the more entertaining of marriage customs. There is fun and profit are strangely mingled in the marriage festivities, for the bride depends upon the wedding festival for her dowry and rarely fails to get enough to enable her to begin housekeeping with comfort. After the wedding feast a dance is in order, and at that dance every man who would distinguish himself must once in the evening at least claim the bride for a partner. The honor of dancing with her, however, is not to be obtained lightly. The aspirant must win the privilege and pay for it.

In one corner of the room, the mother of the bride has taken up her position with a plate in her lap. The wise woman has chosen that plate carefully. It is made after the plan of an eating house coffee cup and could not justly be described as fresh. The gallant who wishes to dance with the bride-and, as has been said, all are in honor bound to do so-must pull out a piece of silver and throw it into the plate. Not until he has succeeded in breaking or chipping that almost invincible piece of crockery has he won the honor he seeks. Few succeed in making an impression upon the plate for less than a sum equal to fifty cents of our money. The money thus accumulated goes to the bride and not unusually amounts to seventy-five or one hundred dollars, even where the crowd is apparently as poor as it can well be. This sum in a rural district of Poland is enough to start the young couple fairly in housekeeping.

HOUSES OF WILD CREATURES. Polar Bear House-Cottontail's Simple Abode.

When the long Arctic night approaches the polar bear retires to some sheltered spot, such as the cleft of a rock or the foot of some precipitous bank. In a very short time he is effectually concealed by the heavy snow-drifts. Sometimes the bear waits until after a heavy fall of snow, says St. Nicholas, and then digs a white cavern of the requisite form and size. Such is his home for six long months. The common little cottontail, or so-called rabbit, does not live in a burrow, as does the English rabbit, but makes a slight depression in the ground in which she lies so flatly pressed to the earth as to be scarcely distinguishable from the soil and the dried herbage in which her abode is situated. The rabbit is strongly attached to its home, wherever it may be placed, and even if driven to a great distance from it contrives to regain its little domicile at the earliest opportunity.

One of the most gruesome among animal homes is the wolf's den. This is simply a hole dug in the side of a bank or a small cavern generally situated on the sunny side of a ridge and almost hidden by bushes and boulders. Here the wolf lies snug; and about his doorway lie the remains of past feasts, which, coupled with his own odor, make the wolf's den a not very inviting place. New York restaurant managers in their salaries rank close to the railway executives. Several receive $25,000 a year, and two or three receive $30,000. France supplies many of the flower bulbs that formerly came from Holland. A more recent competitor is the Puget Sound region, in this country. A woman has less faith in her ideals after marrying one of them.

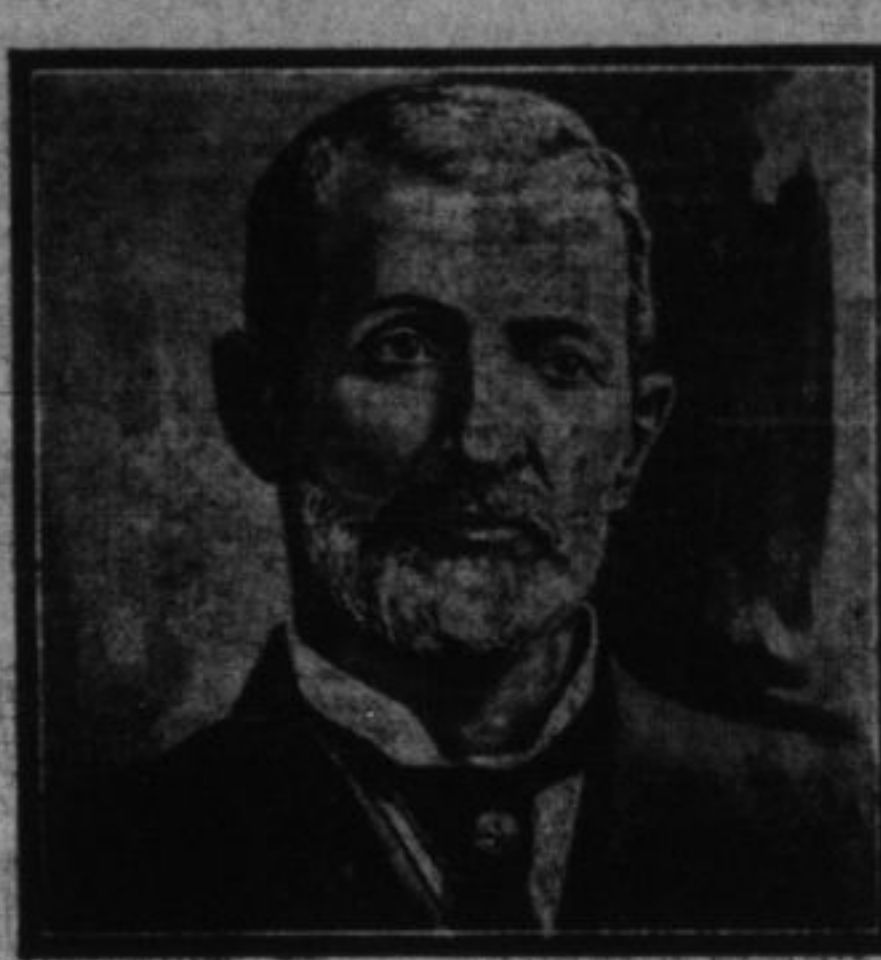

of them, he said, are found in or near cities. "A student graduated from a college of agriculture and put to work on a farm where nature is ice and mud in winter and rye and in summer is a disillusioned idealist," Dr. Haywood added. "On that suburban garden plot called an experiment station, equipped with nickel plated implements, he plays a gentleman's game of farming. With a shining steel share he turns up a cataract of pulverized soil without a problem of clod, clay or sand for solution, with just the proper chemical constituency to make pumpkins and potatoes for the state fair and a reservoir hard by to which he may resort when the heavens are brass. "The congested population of this city would find happy relief on the abandoned farms of the south, where the cost of living will turn to the profit of living. The mature life native to the city will not leave it, hence begin with the boys, taking them from six years to twelve, and let them grow up on the farm. They will never get over it. "There is a growing demand everywhere for trained, practical, skilled farm laborers and superintendents. Never did the farm call so loudly as now. Thither science is turning with

THE HAT FEATHER BEHIND IN CHANTECLER TYLE. With roosters and other barnyard fowl at the pinnacle of fashionable favor, many hats have their feather trimmings arranged at the back in tail-feather effect. This is a particularly chic French model of supple black hen's straw, and there is no trimming save the towering white marshmallow feather at the back and the smart ornament of jet which holds back the brim in front. The hat is a "bleu"---that is, turned up in two places. The waist is a new marquise model, with point de venise insertions.

"I WILLINGLY GIVE THIS TESTIMONIAL

In Favor of "FRUIT-A-TIVES" FOR THE BENEFIT OF OTHER SUFFERERS"

Spoken like a man! Mr. Paul Jones of Sarnia is proud to acknowledge the great debt he owes to this wonderful fruit medicine. He wants every sufferer in Canada to know what "Fruit-a-tives" did for him. His reward comes in the gratitude of those who take his advice, use "Fruit-a-tives", and cure themselves. SARNIA, ONT., Feb. 5th, 1910. "I have been a sufferer for the past 25 years with Constipation, Indigestion and Catarrh of the Stomach. I tried many remedies and many doctors, but derived no benefit whatever. Finally, I read an advertisement of "Fruit-a-tives" in which Hon. John Costigan stated that he had been cured by "Fruit-a-tives". I decided to give "Fruit-a-tives" a trial and found they did exactly what was claimed for them. I have now taken them for some time and find they are the only remedy that does me good. I have recommended "Fruit-a-tives" to a great many of my friends and I cannot praise these fruit tablets too highly, as they have done me good. I claim "Fruit-a-tives" are invaluable in every respect, and I willingly give this testimonial for the benefit of other sufferers." PAUL J. JONES.

The financial and social standing of those who have written letters in favor of "Fruit-a-tives" is the best guarantee that this famous fruit medicine is all that is claimed for it. "Fruit-a-tives" is the only true liver stimulant in the world because it is the only medicine made of fruit juices. By its use, the amount of bile is increased while the muscles are made stronger and more capable of emptying the bowels naturally. Salts of every kind, senna and cheap purgative pills have no action on the liver. They do not increase the secretion of bile by the liver, but their action is entirely due to irritating the delicate lining of the bowels. "Fruit-a-tives" and "Fruit-a-tives" alone can and will positively cure Constipation, Biliousness and Torpid Liver. In the case of Mr. Jones, the long standing Constipation had affected his digestion, causing catarrh of the stomach. As his bowels became more regular, the digestion improved. When the Constipation was cured the Indigestion, which was caused by the Constipation, was cured also. "Fruit-a-tives" has proved its value and has made its way solely on merit. "Fruit-a-tives" is probably the best known, and most highly appreciated medicine in Canada. The sales of "Fruit-a-tives" are enormous and are increasing every day. The people realize that at last they have one remedy that will positively do all that is claimed for it---and they show their appreciation of this honest, reliable fruit medicine by using it themselves and recommending it to their friends. "Fruit-a-tives" is one of the few medicines that may be taken day after day with only benefit to the health. If necessary, "Fruit-a-tives" could be taken for twenty years, because it contains only fruit juices and tonics---nature's natural remedies for all Stomach, Liver, Bowel, Kidney and Skin Troubles. "Fruit-a-tives" is especially suited to women and children because of the pleasant taste and mild, gentle action of the fruit tablets. If you are suffering as Mr. Jones did, take his advice and try "Fruit-a-tives". 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50. or trial box, 5c. At all dealers or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Madam, You Can't Be Too Particular

Some women say: I'm satisfied --- flour's good enough. But, you see, some people are so very easily satisfied. To the fastidious folks who demand more than commonplace results, who are eager for the satisfaction of good work well done, whose families appreciate good things to eat---it's to those particularly particular housewives that FIVE ROSES flour makes its strongest appeal. The woman who's merely satisfied with anything less good than FIVE ROSES can never know what a wonderful breadmaker she might be, how she might shine in plain and cunning cookery. For the sake of the kiddies who dearly love the goodies mother's hands have fashioned---you should try FIVE ROSES. Then, you know, a good wife and good breadmaker is a rare combination to be treated with every consideration and appreciation. If FIVE ROSES can possibly bring YOU this appreciation, this satisfaction, isn't it worth much more than the trouble of asking your grocer to "send up" a small bag? We are satisfied to let FIVE ROSES make its own friends---if you will only try it once, Madam.
