You have all heard the story about the Government official who lost his job because his eyes went wrong. The trouble was this way: Everything he looked at he saw double. Some of his friends were sympathizing with him over his misfortune when he informed them that he was only out of work for a single day; in fact, had a better job with more money—"the Gas Company had employed him to read their meters." That's a good one allright, but Consumers of Gas should near in mind that it is the duty of every householder to learn to read his meter. The matter is a very simple one, and there is no secrecy whatever about it. We aim to conduct our business along the lines of equitable treatment to all our patrons and to give them full value for what they pay and at the same time maintain a record for unfailing service and prompt attention to your wants.

For any information, call at the office of the works, Queen Street.
