UNTIL AN AMENDMENT IS MADE TO LAWS.

A Unique Case Before the Police Court—The New Deputy Ministers are at Work—Sittings of Commission.

Ottawa, June 13.—The following sittings are announced by the railway commission: June 23rd, Three Rivers; June 24th, Quebec; June 25th, Montreal; June 27th, Toronto. Chief Engineer Mountain of the Railway commission will be in Toronto tomorrow to report on the avenue road and Yonge street viaduct.

Deputy Minister of Marine, Alexander Johnston, of Sydney, recently appointed, has arrived to take office. His predecessor, G. J. DeBarats, now naval deputy minister, will at once begin the work of organizing the new department.

CASE IN COURT.

The Defence Put Up by Mr. Robinson.

Toronto, June 13.—Representatives of the Globe, Mail and Empire and World came up in the police court, this morning, for trial, on a charge of publishing betting odds. Evidence was taken only in regard to the World. T. C. Robinson announcing he would make it a test case on behalf of the other defendants. Mr. Robinson based his defence on two points, first, that the odds published related to races which had been run, thus constituting news of past occurrences, which it was not unlawful to print, and secondly, that it could not be illegal to abstain from a race meeting which parliament had legalized by statute. A copy of the World, of May 26th, containing the Woodbine form chart, for the previous day, was produced as evidence. The case was adjourned for further hearing till Monday afternoon, June 20th.

SUICIDE IN ASYLUM.

Woman in Brockville Institution Hanged Herself.

Brockville, Ont., June 13.—Mrs. Hawley, a patient fifty-four years of age, sent to the Brockville insane asylum from Quebec, two years ago, committed suicide at an early hour, Sunday morning, at that institution. She was observed by a nurse going to the bathroom between three and four o'clock, and five minutes later was found hanging from a bar running across the side of a strip from her blanket, one end of which she tied to the bar, and with the other made a slipknot, which was securely down around her neck.

NO FRENCH NEED APPLY.

Queen Mary Will Employ in Labor. Culinary London, June 13.—The French chef, who for years has tasted the search of the royal kitchen, is said to have been dismissed. Mr. to employ only British labor wherever possible.

They Are Winners.

Kingston, June 13.—(To the Editor): Have you seen the city's superb collection of rare Canadian foliage plants on Brock street, at the corner of Barrie? They are sure winners. No admission fee! Can you not suggest to the committee of the Retail Merchants' Association that this choice collection be included in their convention next week will see. They might also like the opportunity of securing and taking home a few specimens. Help yourselves, gentlemen, we can spare them; for many of our street walks are ornamented with borders of similar varieties, and we have plenty to spare.—ANTI-WEED.

Nearly every train and every boat to the city, to-day, brought soldiers for the camp. The first contingent arrived about nine o'clock and from then until six they came in a steady stream, regiments from all over Ontario. Manover ratepayers, carried the by-law to spend $13,000 for a new town hall.

THREE OF SEYMOUR FAMILY ATTENDING ALBERT COLLEGE.

Ancestors Led the Way—Their Great Grandfather Had Five Sons Who Were All Preachers.

Belleville, June 13.—This city is accustomed to the rather unusual sight of three brothers studying at the same time for the Methodist ministry. They are Rowe, Howard, and Edgar Seymour, and were all born in this district. Their great-grandfather had five sons preachers in Ireland. Their grandfather was forty-four years a minister in Ireland and Canada. Their father, James Cooke Seymour, came to Canada as a missionary when only eight years of age, and spent forty-five years in the Toronto and Bay of Quinte conferences.

When only seventeen, Howard P. L. went to Alberta and took up land. The desire to preach asserted itself, and he engaged in mission work in the Edmonton and Calgary districts, riding hundreds of miles, and preaching in all kinds of places to people of all nationalities resulting in a filling him with a burning desire to spend his life in the service of his God and country.

Rowe M. also went west when seventeen years of age, and spent two years in a mission work on the G. T. P. He engaged in mission work in the Edmonton district. The first winter on his mission was the severest known for years, but he was able to keep open his appointments. He also worked a mission in Saskatchewan district along the C. P. R. Edgar D. being now only seventeen, has spent most of his time at home attending school. The brothers are all studying at Albert College, Belleville.

MANY KILLS.

(Continued from Page 1.) E. Larose, fifty-one years, of 259 St. Philippe street, head and side hurt. Charles Cross, 843 City Hall avenue, eyes and face injured. John Wallace, fifty years, 27 St. Genevieve street, ribs broken. Alex. Kayser, 83 Cartier street, face and head cut. Albert Bolduc, 259 St. Elizabeth street, arm broken. Joseph Langlois, 466 St. Louis street, arm broken. Joseph Thibart, 172 Iberville street, face and body crushed. Wilfrid Bidon, broken leg. J. F. O'Callaghan, one of the oldest printers in the city, was at his case on the fourth floor when the crash came. He does not know exactly how he got out of the building, but he was picked up on the sidewalk in a dazed condition. He is badly bruised, but otherwise escaped unhurt. He says that he instinctively thought that an earthquake had visited the city. There was a terrific crash and dust he groped cloud of plaster. How he got down the four flights of stairs he does not know but he fell fainting to the street. Mr. O'Callaghan says he fears three men who were working because they are in the ruins. He got out of the dust just before the news-viewer. He was terribly injured by falling into the dust just before the news-viewer. He said that the water tank suddenly collapsed and fell through the rear part of the building. He says it carried everything into the cellar and the building completely in two. He said he did not know the cause of the accident, but supposed some of the supports, which held the water tank, must have given way. He said the linotype operators and the compositors, who were at work in the front of the building escaped with himself, but he thought that many of the bindery girls must have been caught. Chief Tremblay, of the fire department, estimates the dead at two. The bodies cannot be rescued for hours yet. The gross financial loss by fire is now placed at $400,000, with $200,000 insurance on plant and some on building not as yet ascertained. Later—Twenty-one men, dead, many being buried in the ruins, and others badly injured. The fire broke out and destroyed almost the entire building. The collapse was caused by the huge water tower crashing through the five-story building. The gas on the linotype machines exploded and the place was soon ablaze, causing the most spectacular fire seen in Montreal in years, and viewed by 100,000 spectators. All the ambulances were soon out. Two died in the hospitals within a short time, and at 2.30 o'clock it is stated many are still in the burning debris and firemen and others are searching for their bodies.

They are Worth Millions.

Eight hundred Americans having in their possession over a million dollars entered the Canadian west, yesterday, when their families arrive, will add about four thousand people to the population of Canada. No sign of any decline in American immigration in these figures.

Yearned for in Texas.

Howston Post. No girl of good character and good looks who could skillfully manipulate a frying pan or a skillet ever came to Texas and remained single. Texas hungers and thirsts after girls who can yank a symphony out of a cooking stove or a piano with equal facility.

Counterfeiting in Prison.

Hamilton Times. A fully equipped counterfeiting plant has been discovered in a Missouri penitentiary. Governor Hadley proposes to pardon the two men in whose cell the plant was found so that they may be prosecuted for counterfeiting. They do queer things out in Missouri.

Left for Kingston.

Special to the Whig. Ottawa, June 13.—Dr. Law, Ottawa's medical health officer, along with nine members of the Army Medical Corps, left for Kingston to-day to encamp at Barrisfield for two weeks.

Judgment for Plaintiffs.

Chancellor Boyd awarded the Davis Dry Dock company, Kingston, $106.75 against R. E. Cleason, Pittsburg, as balance due on two launches supplied to defendant for use on the Muskoka lakes. Plaintiffs sued for $1,015.22. The award is without costs.

CONSTRUCT NEW CITY IN HEART OF LONDON.

Hastily Improvised Nursery, Bury Dead in Cemetery, and Exhibit Other Human Instincts in Startling Life Anecdotes.

London, June 13.—Brought uncerebrally in a sack from the royal forest at Windsor, the "Zoo's" first colony of twenty thousand wood ants is just starting life afresh in a new glass case in the insect house at Regent's Park. Growing-firs were placed in the ant-house, and on a raised zinc plate in the centre a double handful of dead pine-needles and twigs was heaped by the keepers. The rest was left to the tiny, unswilling emigrants. Their wonderful organization soon stayed the initial panic of the removal. The first thought was for the future generation. Busy architects dashed into the centre of the heap and constructed a hasty hidden pass for the first winged eggs producing "queens." The eggs and cocoons were rescued from the muddle and taken into improvised nurseries. Here was the sheer unselfish communal instinct at work in its highest form.

Then came the turn of the past generation. Each dead ant (and in a population of 20,000 deaths are not uncommon) was lifted bodily by a worker and dragged away for interment in a mossy corner as far as possible from the city. No one came the hospital instinct. Wood-ants harbor in their nests certain rare reddish-colored beetles, but their actual motive for doing so has never been satisfactorily explained. These beetles were taken within the mound to the guest chamber and so the work of the great city thereafter was in full swing. They speedily skeletonized one or in the case, but which were placed in the honey. A stout staff was so placed as to act as an inclined plane, and honey was smeared on top. Swarms of hungry workers crowded up and dipped their mouths in the food for a moment or two, and then there was a rush back two, and then there was a rush back two, and then there was a rush back two.

THE SCHOOL OF MILL.

Goldwin Smith One of the Last Survivors.

London, June 13.—The Saturday Review says: "A long, honorable life has been closed by the death of Goldwin Smith. He was one of the last survivors of the school of philosophy among the radicals to which Lord Goshen belonged, and of which John Stuart Mill was perhaps the most conspicuous figure. Goldwin Smith was a master of an English style of singular charm and lucidity, as the pages of this Review in older days could bear witness."

ARCHBISHOP THREATENED.

Opposition to Race-track Gambling Created Enemies.

New Orleans, La., June 13.—A letter threatening Archbishop Healy of the Roman Catholic diocese of New Orleans, with death on account of the archbishop's opposition to the revival of race-track gambling in Louisiana, was received at the archbishop's palace, last night. The letter is one of several recently making threats or account of his position to racing.

NEW PEN CELL DOOR.

Guard Seized Conscient as He Rushed Out.

Danmore, N.Y., June 13.—A convict in cell No. 13, of the state prison to-day, blew open the door of his cell with dynamite. A jail break was narrowly averted. Three guards seized the convict as he rushed from his cell and overcame him after a struggle. The man was armed with a revolver, but the weapon failed to go off when he pressed the trigger.

Northbrook Notes.

Northbrook, June 11.—Mrs. Anson Fletcher, of the Wabash Mines, and Miss May Peters are attending the camp meeting at Yarker. The stork has made two visits to the village recently, leaving a boy and Henry Lloyd's and a girl, William Atkins, Misses Ada Wain and Emma Clarke, of Kingston, returned to the city, on Tuesday, after spending two weeks with their friend, Miss Lizzie Abbott. Philip Peterson is on the sick list. Rev. T. Wallace, a former pastor at this place, was in the village on Thursday. Mrs. Mier and little son, of Wakefield, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. William Lesley, Miss L. Abbott is spending a few days in Kingston. Messrs. Henr Vanness and John Thomson made a business trip to Tweed, and Newbig this week. M. H. Preslar was in Eden on Tuesday.

Linking Present and Past.

Toronto Mail. In a notable manner Goldwin Smith was a connecting link between the new and the old. When he was a boy the railway was just beginning, much as the aeroplane is beginning now. The old stage coach carried its passengers across the county and the highwayman was not altogether unknown. The lucifer match had not been invented. As a consequence the flint and steel was the best means of making a light. People used candles to brighten the evening hours, and all well regulated families made their own. There was no telephone, no wire, no cable graph. Of course there was no cable and the penny post had not been discovered. Ontario had 200,000 inhabitants at that time, and the province was for the most part a dense forest. Goldwin Smith lived during the period of social and scientific evolution. The changes he witnessed were marvelous. But what of the changes that are yet to be?

Sanctioned the Meet.

Special to the Whig. Ottawa, June 13.—Word reached here this afternoon that the board of governors of the Amateur Athletic Union, of Montreal, has sanctioned the meet of the Eastern Canada Boys' spring championship match to be held at Ottawa on June 28th. There will be entries from Montreal, Kingston, Brockville, Ottawa, etc.

As to the name Smith.

A correspondent of the London Chronicle points out that while there are now about 350,000 members of the great family in England alone, in Old Testament times, according to the first book of Samuel, "there was no Smith throughout the land of Israel."

NEWS OF THE WORLD

OCCURRENCES RECOUNTED IN BRIEF FORM.

Matters That Interest Everybody—Notes From All Over—Little of Everything Easily Read and Remembered.

Clarkson Jones, Toronto, died of apoplexy. SS. Pretorian has reached Quebec, from Glasgow. Word was received of the drowning in New Ontario of another fire ranger. Conductor Murphy, London, Ont., was run over at Tilbury, and fatally injured. Forty-five Jewish families were on Saturday expelled from Kiev. Of this number twenty-nine families were forced to leave the city without preparation. The others had been given three days to arrange for their departure.

While climbing up in his father's barn, the eight-year-old son of B. James, living north of Springfield, Ont., fell twenty-two feet, lighting on a cement floor, breaking both wrists, fracturing his skull and being hurt internally. His injuries are serious. The provisional department of lands, forests and mines, yesterday, received a telegram from Chief Ranger George McDonald, giving notification of the drowning of Harry Manning, a fire ranger, at Indian Chute on the Montreal river. No particulars of the fatality are given.

While attempting to cross the public crossing at Belle River, Ont., Saturday night, Miss Rosa Anfallia was struck by a Wabash train and badly injured. Miss Anfallia had her umbrellas on account of the rain, and evidently did not see or hear the approaching train. Her skull is broken in three places.
