MAY WAX DEFEATED

BY SYKA DIRECT IN THREE STRAIGHT HEATS.

Wolfe Island Mare Proved to be Stronger—Second Heat Was Very Close—Fast Time Was Made—May Wax Had Not Staying Powers.

Syka Direct, the speedy pacer, owned by M. Hawkins, of Wolfe Island, proved too much for W. H. Carson's May Wax, at the fair grounds course on Wednesday afternoon, and in the matched race, the Wolfe Island mare scored three straight heats over her Kingston rival. The track was in fine condition, and the weather could not have been better for the contest.

There were 800 people present, and if the affair had been properly advertised, double that number would have found their way to the grounds, for who is there who does not like to see a good horse race, especially when he knows that it is to be conducted on the square, as Wednesday's event was, for there has been the keener of rivalry between the owners and the drivers. Wolfe Island was strongly represented, and the islanders were jubilant over the well-earned victory of their fine little pacer.

The Wolfe Island mare won because she had the staying powers. She had a mark of 2:18 1/2, while May Wax's record is 2:16 1/2. Syka Direct, however, is at present in better condition than the Kingston pacer, and it was strength that won. In the last heat, May Wax was completely outdone, and looked "all in."

There was never a finer contest on the race track in Kingston than this. The heats were all fast. In the first, May Wax broke at the first quarter, and Syka Direct kept the lead throughout, winning by several lengths, in 2:10.

The second heat was a pretty one, and at the finish, the Wolfe Island mare led by scarcely half a length. It was this heat that really decided the race. Before an eighth of a mile had been covered, Driver Hart, who was guiding May Wax, had taken the pole from Driver Burnham. Syka Direct, however, came up on the grade. At the half, May Wax was a little in the lead. Again at the grade, Syka Direct came up even with the Kingston mare. On the home stretch, the race was a pretty one, and the Wolfe Island mare managed to beat out May Wax by a few feet. The time for the heat was announced as 2:18 1/2, although it was covered in probably two seconds less time.

Syka Direct had now won two heats, and the backers of May Wax knew that they had lost, as it was scarcely possible that their favorite could win the next three heats, although they thought that she might get one. Mr. Carson changed his driver, placing Fleming behind May Wax. The latter, however, was never in the lead, Syka Direct making almost a runaway race of it. The Hawkins mare had the speed, the weight and the staying power, and finished fifty yards in the lead. May Wax's driver not pressing her when he saw that the heat was gone. The time given for this heat was 2:18 1/2. It is estimated that nearly $3,000 changed hands as a result of the race.

The judges were L. Boyes (Napanea), and George Darragh and F. McCue (Kingston). May Wax made quite as good time as was expected of her on the fair grounds track. Syka Direct showed that she had more speed than the majority of the local trackmen imagined she had.

First Baptist Won. The senior game, in the Sunday School League, on Wednesday night, was given to the First Baptist. The score stood 16 to 15, in favor of Chalmers, but they refused to play account the umpire, Roy Ward, decided the game in favor of the First Baptists. Some took objection to this, but he did right, as it is a rule that five innings must be played. It was getting dark, but not too dark to finish out the innings.

Junior Game Tonight. There is a game scheduled for tonight, in the junior series of the Sunday School League, between St. James and Cook's.

In the case of the King vs. Charles Smith, of Railton, who was tried at the court of general sessions on Wednesday, before Judge Madden, on the charge of attempting to criminally assault Amelia Craig, a twenty-year-old English girl, whom he was driving to his home to see her sister, the jury brought in a verdict in the afternoon of common assault. Wrong in the Heart. At the county council session, on Wednesday morning, one of the councillors in discussing the sending of the Kennebec boy to industrial school at the expense of the county, declared that Kingston had many bad boys, but they were not sent away at the expense of the county. Another councillor said that his township had to pay for a girl who had been sent to an asylum in Peterboro, and if the county paid for the Kennebec case, he thought it should also pay for the case charged to his township. "Oh," responded a councillor, "your township case is different. It is a case of being wrong in the head, while the Kennebec one is a case of being wrong in the heart. There's a difference."

Verdict of $100. The first civil case with jury taken up at Belleville county court, was that of Frank Plue against John Smith, an action for slander. Both parties reside in Tyendinaga. The case arose over a disagreement as to the ownership of various articles, and Plue contended that Smith insinuated a letter written at Deseronto and Shannonville that Plue was a thief, hence the action. The jury brought in a verdict for the plaintiff for $100.

Here to Recuperate. John Meredith, night clerk of the Windsor hotel, Montreal, Canada's greatest hotel, is in Kingston on a visit to his brother, and to recuperate, as he has been ill. Mr. Meredith three years ago, was on the staff of the British-American hotel of this city. He is highly thought of by the Montreal Windsor management.

Feed Children. An excellently prepared pamphlet, containing a history of the 41st Regiment, is on at Uglow's book store, Best's drug store, McAuley's book store, and the Whig office. Price, 25c. The pamphlet has received much praise from outside newspapers.

Had a Lively Mix-up. There was a lively mix-up on Princess street, on Wednesday afternoon. A horse attached to a fruit wagon, got frightened, and ran away, and this started another delivery horse, and the two were going at the same time. The rigs were damaged, but no one was hurt. Another horse got excited at the runaways, and fell on the roadway, and had to be assisted to its feet.

STIPENDS OF CLERGY

SHOULD BE GIVEN AN INCREASE BY THE CHURCH.

Advocated in an Address Given by R. W. Allin, of Laymen's Missionary Movement—Addresses at Missionary Meeting in St. George's Hall.

"Unless we, as a church, remember the clergy better than we have in the past we will not succeed the way we should. It is a mere pittance that some of the men are receiving, and they are asked to do a big work for us, and I am very glad to see that the matter has been taken up at all the other synods, and I hope that it will be taken up here in Kingston. We have not been treating our leaders right."

The speaker as a representative of the Laymen's Missionary Movement. R. W. Allin, travelling secretary, made the above statement in addressing the missionary meeting of the Ontario synod, in St. George's Hall, on Wednesday evening. Bishop Mills presided, and addresses were also given by Dean Bidwell and Rev. A. P. Shatford. There was a very good attendance and much enthusiasm over the mission cause was manifested.

Mr. Allin had the encouraging announcement to make that progress had been made in the missionary work. His report was very optimistic one. He had travelled from coast to coast, and was able to say so. This was the fifth synod he had visited and everywhere there was a tone of optimism with the church advancing. All the synods had been endorsing the work of the Laymen's Missionary Movement and there had been a tremendous increase in the offerings for the cause. The speaker cited many cases where there had been an increase in the offerings for all purposes of the church. And it was stated that only the New York, New Jersey, and New England churches, had been touched. Only the threshold of the work had been entered upon. It was only now that the members were realizing what really could be accomplished.

The speaker referred to the great need for missionary work in the west. If the work in the west was neglected, we, in the east, would suffer; if we should forget other nations we in Canada would suffer. "I do wish that some of our men from the east, would go to the west to work for Christ, instead of to make dollars and cents," added the speaker. Some have gone to make money. Reference was made to the great tide of immigration to the west. Men who had money were welcomed as citizens, just as if money would make a great nation. There was only one thing which would make the country great, and that was the character of the people.

Mr. Allin referred to the death of E. J. B. Pense, whose death, he said, was a tremendous loss to the Laymen's Missionary Movement. Mr. Pense had been one of the foremost workers for this cause, and the other members, engaged in the work, would feel his death keenly. Mr. Pense was a man of broad sympathies, he was characterized by a deep sympathy of all classes of humanity, and was a man of untiring zeal and energy.

Dean Bidwell said that we should not lose sight of the missionary work accomplished at home. He believed that just as heroic and noble work was carried on at home, as in Central Africa. The side of the work, he said, should not be lost sight of. The world could be evangelized for Christ, and all that was necessary to carry this out, was that there should be enthusiasm. The idea that every Christian could be a missionary was being revived. We could see the hand of God in the work. This present generation could carry out the work. In mission work, distance was not to be considered. The ground to be covered was considered in no way to be a barrier. The work was steadily spreading. All the supposed difficulties in the work were fast disappearing, people had their eyes fixed on the object, and were going towards it.

Rev. A. P. Shatford, in his opening remarks, referred to a very interesting way, to some of his experiences in, missionary work, in the Ontario diocese. As regards the collection of funds for missionary work he said that it was a mistake to divide the money into different funds. One place was just as important as another. The whole work should be looked upon as a "centerpiece of the Catholic church." We should ever keep in mind the fact that the nature of the gospel—that it was universal, the character of the church, and the needs of men.

The Hot Days Have Come. It would seem that the cool weather had at last got clear away. On Wednesday afternoon, the thermometer at Dr. Knight's observatory registered seventy degrees in the shade. This morning, at eight o'clock, the mercury registration was 69.6 degrees, so it looked as if this 16th day of June would be the hottest of the season.

Beautiful Stock to Choose From. Provost, Brock street, has a fine assortment of tweeds, serges and chevies. Anyone in need of clothing will do well to call on him. Ready-made clothing and gent's furnishings never better assorted.

Lowe, formerly of Kingston, to Dr. Ralph Newbury Prentiss, of New York, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Prentiss, of Boston, Mass., took place, Wednesday morning, at the residence of the bride's mother in Sherbourne street, Toronto. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. Wilkinson, rector of St. Peter's Anglican church, in the presence of only the immediate relatives.

The bride, unattended, was given away by her brother, George S. Lowe. She was wearing a gown of white embroidered net over silk, and carried a bridal bouquet of roses. Later in the day Dr. and Mrs. Prentiss left to spend their honeymoon in Kingston, and the Thousand Islands, N.Y. The bride travelled in mustard diagonal cloth and hat to match with blue wings.

Dr. A. E.lett, one of the best known physicians of Watertown, N.Y., and a graduate of Queen's, was quietly married on Wednesday morning. The bride was Miss Mabel M. Coulter, W. H. A FINE PICNIC. Was Held at Kingston Mills on Wednesday. On Wednesday, the annual picnic of the Church of the Holy Name, Cushendall was held at Kingston Mills and as usual was a grand success. This picnic is always the big one of the year in that vicinity and every year seems to be better. This year was no latter than any other, everything passing off in fine style. The weather was ideal for such outing and hundreds of people from near and far attended. From the city, the pleasure seekers went in a steady stream, in autos, vans, livery rigs and bicycles.

There were all kinds of amusements, and booths were erected on the grounds, where many dainty and useful articles were offered for sale. In the evening, after the fine supper served on the grounds, dancing was held in the pavilion. It was the early morning hours before the people thought of going home and all will remember it as about the best ever. Father Kingsley and his corps of assistants drew every credit for the success of the adventure.

Women Stockholders. The female stockholders of the Pennsylvania Railroad number 27,767, or 46 per cent. of the total. These figures show indirectly how our financiers are dying early and leaving their widows in need of their money. Men are paying the penalty of overaction and women are coming into possession of the world through the law of the survival of the fittest. With the shears of fate the widow turns from dress patterns to coupons.

Trinity church, Brockville, was the scene of a wedding, on Wednesday, when Miss Lillie May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Foxton, was united to J. Corbett Suddaby, an engineer in the employ of the C.P.R., at Souris, Man. "Camphor ice," put up in neat metal boxes, at Gibson's Red Cross drug store. F. H.
