FOR CONSTIPATION.

A Medicine That Does Not Cost Anything Unless It Cures.

The active medicinal ingredients of Rexall's Oriental, which is odorless, tasteless and colorless, is an entirely new discovery. Combined with other extremely valuable ingredients, it forms a perfect bowel regulator, intestinal laxative, cathartic, and stomachic. Rexall's Oriental is eaten like candy and is not only pleasant to the taste, but also gentle to the stomach. It does not cause griping or any disagreeable effect or inconvenience.

Unlike other preparations for a like purpose, they do not create a habit, but instead they overcome the cause of habit acquired through the use of ordinary laxatives, cathartics, and harsh pills, and permanently remove the cause of constipation or irregular bowels.

We will refund your money without argument if they do not do as we say they will. Two sizes, 25c. and 10c. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store, G. W. Mahood.

SOME DISTURBING TALK.

The premier of Ontario appears to have been somewhat annoyed when spoken to with regard to the charges, made in the Grand Orange Lodge for Ontario, that the education of the Protestant children in Eastern Ontario was being interfered with. He said he had read what was printed in the papers, but he had nothing to say. No? The men who made the statements publicly are generally the political friends and allies of Sir James Whitney, and they may conclude that he and his minister of education should know quite as much as they do with regard to the schools and should preserve the harmonious relations between the classes which are so desirable. The premier should realize that the talk at certain public places has aroused an interest which can only be satisfied when the education department, or the government, which is Sir James, is in a position to say something upon the subject.

STANDING ON PRINCIPLE.

Some time ago a man of wealth in Toronto announced that he would give, freely and cheerfully, a quarter of a million dollars towards the endowment fund of Trinity and Wycliffe Colleges. When? As soon as their union could be consummated. The proposition has been seriously considered, and it is announced that there is no hope of its acceptance. Nor should this occasion any great surprise. The colleges represent two strikingly different types of thought, and those who have had frequent conferences, in which to discuss the basis of union, intimate that it means a waste of time to further discuss the question.

Agreement there may be on some points, men may sink their opinions on some things, the differences that divide classes may in some degree be removed, but when great principles are at stake, or issues that affect the religions or the lives of the individuals, the attempt at reconciliation fails. It is this that has made the question of church union so difficult.

On certain matters the religionists are supposed to be firm. How can they wobble, or warp, or weaken? In the interest of peace, of harmony, of economy in the use of means with which temporal ends are advanced. Ah, yes, the money influence is expected to become conspicuous and to dominate all others. But does it?

Apparently the representatives of Trinity and Wycliffe colleges regard the quarter of a million dollars as of small consequence compared with the success of a cause to which they are sacredly devoted. It is a side of human affairs which is not always so much emphasized, and it is not without its moral value.

AMBITION FOR BIGNESS.

Mr. Flavelle, in his open letter to the minister of agriculture, reproaches that gentleman for his inactivity and incapacity. He calls Mr. Duff's attention to the lesson which is conveyed by the reports issued by his own department, namely that development in Ontario has ceased, and he argues that this is the result of a want of direction from the head of the agricultural department.

It is pointed out that the success of Denmark is due to the intelligent co-operation of the government with the farmer. Denmark is a small country, yet in 1909, after satisfying home consumption, it exported butter worth $29,000,000, eggs worth $8,000,000, and bacon worth $28,000,000. Education did much for the Danish farmer. It may do much for the Ontario farmer, but not until he has changed his mind in many things.

The old homestead has no longer any attraction for the average young man. He has been made discontented by the reports of big enterprises in the west. His friend has gone to one of the newer provinces and become rich. He has at least acquired a big farm, and the future has in store big results. So he is not willing to remain at home and improve the land and make it capable of more profitable results.

Prof. Gillman, in the Queen's College Quarterly, gives "a glimpse into the Canadian West," in which a great transformation has occurred in recent years. He sees the country filling up with many people whose chief object is to realize as rapidly as possible upon thousands of years of stored fertility. In a generation from now the expansion of civilization may be as great as it will be in a hundred years. Already there are signs that larger swarms are being operated, and "nothing is being done but summer fallow and sunshine to renew the land which is eroded."

Some of those who are leaving Onario may live to regret it. Were they to put into the soil of the old homestead the energy and labour they put into the new they would be handsomely rewarded. What the average farmer wants is not more land, but a better care of the land he possesses, small plots than the Canadian or American can from his big farm, because the Dane can take more of it of his be works scientifically and successfully. The minister of agriculture may change the current of events by timely advice, but not until the western lever has passed away.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

On the eve of the Manitoba elections it was announced that the government had the funds and the workers to get out the votes. The combination appears to have had the usual success.

The bottom has fallen out of the stock market. Things have been going from bad to worse. The New York Herald demands that the leading financiers come out of their tents and tell what is the matter.

No returning officer should be able to prevent the people from expressing a preference between candidates, and the hiring in Beautiful Plains who denied the people the exercise of the franchise should be attended to.

Legislation was had for the purpose of restricting the use of cigarettes, and to the consumption last year was increased in Canada by a million. Which means that the perversity of the people asserts itself under restrictions.

In the Sunday sermons the clergymen all over Canada are said to have incidentally referred to the prize fight. They seemed to know all about it. They must have read the papers very carefully, though denouncing the press because it gave the reports publicly.

Montreal will have a filtration plant at a cost of $1,500,000. The city is going ahead under its new government. It has money to spend on necessary improvements, not money to waste or burn as formerly. Shows what can be done when the electors become real busy.

Guzler has a habit of looking upon the wine when it is red, frequently to the extent that he can see two bottles where only one exists. Now, Guzler is married, and recently the stock paid a visit to his abode. Several days after the event two of his friends met, and the following conversation ensued:

"Hello, old man! Hear about the doings over at Guzler's?"

"Yes, in a way. Guzler's wife has presented him with twins."

"How do you know?"

"How do I know? Well, I ought to know. Guzler told me himself."

"Well, I wouldn't place too much dependence on it. You know Guzler generally sees double."

Paying the Doctor.

New York Press.

Some American doctors are in favor of the contract system for medical service, but they are still a long way from the Chinese scheme of stopping the doctor's salary when the patient falls ill. The writer knows a New Yorker who says that if ever he is threatened with an operation he will ask the surgeon what it is going to cost. The surgeon will hand him the amount at once with the assurance that the fee goes whether the operation comes off or doesn't. He reasons that the doctor will then have no possible temptation if it comes to a toss up whether to operate or take a chance.

The speaker, "a prominent churchman, and had occasion to visit New York, where he remained for a few days. In writing of his experience to his wife in the west he had this to say:

"New York is a great city, but I do wish I had come here before I was converted."

Four thousand people are homeless at Campbellton, N.B., and the government is sending military troops and blankets to shelter them. The fire loss placed at two and a half million dollars. Four deaths as a result of the fire are reported.

Telegraphed by a work train, a special Detroit United car, loaded with Otago-bound for Windsor, Ont., was wrecked near Oxford, Mich. Forty-three passengers are hurt, six of whom, it is believed, will die.

LIVE IN ONE HOUSE

THREE BROTHERS MARRY SISTERS IN NEW ENGLAND.

Weddings on the Wholesale Order Between Bustin and Hamilton Families—To Have Big Reception.

Meredith, N.H., July 13.—Scores of people of the Deering district are planning a reception to Thomas, Benjamin and Fred Bustin and Catharine, Ayres and Melvina Hamilton, three brothers and three sisters whose triple marriage was just looked out. All six came here recently from the provinces of Quebec and Ontario. The idea of three sisters and three brothers marrying is so novel that their friends are never done talking about the surprise that two of the couples spring here when they announced that they had been wedded in Portsmouth.

Six years ago Fred Bustin married Melvina Hamilton. They had been brought up on adjoining farms in Nova Scotia, so when they brought their two brothers and sisters to the big Deering farm house to live with them, little was thought of it. The other day Thomas and Benjamin Bustin disappeared. So did the sisters. When they returned they were married.

Now the three married couples are living in the same house.

Bedouins and Water.

It is not unusual to hear a Bedouin upon reaching a camp where water is offered him, take it with the remark, "I drank only yesterday." On the Bedouins' long marches across dry countries the size of the water skins is nicely calculated to "just outlast" the journey, and they rarely allow themselves to break the habit of abstemiousness. This would be sure to make their next water fast all the harder. They are accustomed from infancy to regard water as a most precious commodity and use it with religious economy. They know every hollow, every creek, every spring, every well, and every hole may be found. Their camels and goats, which they take with them on their marches to supply them with milk and meat, live principally on the scanty herbage and foliage of the thorny mimosa. Neither men nor animals drink more than once in forty-eight hours. No wonder they can subsist where invaders quickly perish.

NELSON WILL BE OUTLET.

New Location and Saving of Cost of Line.

Ottawa, July 13.—The later surveys of engineers on the Hudson's Bay railway have resulted in the location of a line where the maximum grade will be four-tenths. This is considerably better than what was at first proposed. The new line is to the south of Nelson river and will obviate the crossing of it. This, it is stated, will cost a saving of three-quarters of a million dollars.

While certain interests are strongly booming Fort Churchill as the terminus of the line, there is little doubt here that Nelson will be the outlet chosen. It is understood that it is strongly favored in the reports of the engineers.
