St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 11.-The most enthusiastic baseball fan in Kansas is C. Gish, of Abilene, a piano tuner, who is totally blind. He attends all the ball games at Abilene, and is well equainted with the names of the players and the merits of each on the field. Gish can tell you how many balls or strikes there are on a batter and how any outs on the side at bat. After the game he can recount the features of the game and enjoys talking over the play with his friends.

ow can I enjoy a ball game when cannot see a play ?" repeated Gish Well, I listen to what the people about me are saying. I can tell every play that is made, providing there is not too much noise. When the ball leaves the bat, I generally can tell where it is ky cked and who maker the put-ou. Sometimes I hear people around, me asking how many strikes are on the batter, and if they would ask fue I could tell them, because I alw ya listen to the umpire's decision.
