

HAIR GROWTH

Promoted by CUTICURA SOAP

Assisted by Cuticura

Champion Belts

An Unprecedented Offer

For $3.00 we will sell, during a limited period, our $40.00 Electric Belt.

Dr. J. T. Best, M.D.

Dr. J. T. Best, M.D.

Dr. J. T. Best, M.D.

Dr. J. T. Best, M.D.

Dr. J. T. Best, M.D.

Dr. J. T. Best, M.D.

Dr. J. T. Best, M.D.

Dr. J. T. Best, M.D.

Dr. J. T. Best, M.D.

HISTORIC GOLD RUSHES

H. DE WINDT FORETOLD PRESENT ONE IN STEWART, B.C.

Each Big Branch of the Empire Has Been the Scene of a Gold Madness Where a Few Got Rich—Canada Had the Klondike, Australia the Ballarat Rush, and South Africa the Rand Fields.

"Stewart was mad. Waiters dropped their trays, workmen their tools, drivers their reins, and stamped."

Thus a daily paper, in its description of the excitement created in Stewart, British Columbia, when the report came that seventeen miles distant, at a place called Bitter Creek, a great discovery of gold had been made.

It is the old, old story of human avarice and greed. Reason disappears when the gold fever seizes on man.

The story of Klondike is even more amazing. The first find of gold of any importance was made in 1897—by gold miners came away with fisherman—at the junction of the Klondike and Yukon rivers.

Immediately the news of the rich deposits of gold which were to be found got abroad there was a mad rush, not only from Europe. Soon 50,000 people were on their way to the diggings, many destined never to return.

It is a curious fact that when Mr. Harry de Windt, the well-known explorer, returned from Klondike, in 1897, during the course of an interview published in The Strand Magazine, that the Stewart region was richer even than Klondike.

The fact is not generally known, perhaps, that it was the discovery of gold in California in 1847 which led to the discovery in Australia.

Within four years the annual output from the fields of California reached $60,000,000, and it was a Mr. Hargreaves, who went as a miner to California, who first discovered gold in Australia.

Two years ago one of the discoverers of the famous Kalgoolie goldfield in Western Australia passed away in the person of an Irishman, named Daniel Egan. He and a compatriot named Hannan, while prospecting for gold, camped on the site of Kalgoolie when it was a wilderness.

There are, however, no gold mines so rich as those of the Transvaal. Since 1884, the annual output of the Transvaal goldfields has been valued at $100,000,000.

There are, however, no gold mines so rich as those of the Transvaal. Since 1884, the annual output of the Transvaal goldfields has been valued at $100,000,000.

There are, however, no gold mines so rich as those of the Transvaal. Since 1884, the annual output of the Transvaal goldfields has been valued at $100,000,000.

There are, however, no gold mines so rich as those of the Transvaal. Since 1884, the annual output of the Transvaal goldfields has been valued at $100,000,000.

There are, however, no gold mines so rich as those of the Transvaal. Since 1884, the annual output of the Transvaal goldfields has been valued at $100,000,000.

There are, however, no gold mines so rich as those of the Transvaal. Since 1884, the annual output of the Transvaal goldfields has been valued at $100,000,000.

EVIL DAYS CAME.

Famous Star Who Was Reduced to Poverty.

Never were the ups and downs of a musical-hall artist's life more pitifully illustrated than in the case of Mrs. Senia, at one time world-famous as "the Witch of the Air," who has just died in an infirmary in London.

It is the old, old story of human avarice and greed. Reason disappears when the gold fever seizes on man.

The story of Klondike is even more amazing. The first find of gold of any importance was made in 1897—by gold miners came away with fisherman—at the junction of the Klondike and Yukon rivers.

Immediately the news of the rich deposits of gold which were to be found got abroad there was a mad rush, not only from Europe. Soon 50,000 people were on their way to the diggings, many destined never to return.

It is a curious fact that when Mr. Harry de Windt, the well-known explorer, returned from Klondike, in 1897, during the course of an interview published in The Strand Magazine, that the Stewart region was richer even than Klondike.

The fact is not generally known, perhaps, that it was the discovery of gold in California in 1847 which led to the discovery in Australia.

Within four years the annual output from the fields of California reached $60,000,000, and it was a Mr. Hargreaves, who went as a miner to California, who first discovered gold in Australia.

Two years ago one of the discoverers of the famous Kalgoolie goldfield in Western Australia passed away in the person of an Irishman, named Daniel Egan. He and a compatriot named Hannan, while prospecting for gold, camped on the site of Kalgoolie when it was a wilderness.

There are, however, no gold mines so rich as those of the Transvaal. Since 1884, the annual output of the Transvaal goldfields has been valued at $100,000,000.

There are, however, no gold mines so rich as those of the Transvaal. Since 1884, the annual output of the Transvaal goldfields has been valued at $100,000,000.

There are, however, no gold mines so rich as those of the Transvaal. Since 1884, the annual output of the Transvaal goldfields has been valued at $100,000,000.

There are, however, no gold mines so rich as those of the Transvaal. Since 1884, the annual output of the Transvaal goldfields has been valued at $100,000,000.

There are, however, no gold mines so rich as those of the Transvaal. Since 1884, the annual output of the Transvaal goldfields has been valued at $100,000,000.

There are, however, no gold mines so rich as those of the Transvaal. Since 1884, the annual output of the Transvaal goldfields has been valued at $100,000,000.

There are, however, no gold mines so rich as those of the Transvaal. Since 1884, the annual output of the Transvaal goldfields has been valued at $100,000,000.

There are, however, no gold mines so rich as those of the Transvaal. Since 1884, the annual output of the Transvaal goldfields has been valued at $100,000,000.

There are, however, no gold mines so rich as those of the Transvaal. Since 1884, the annual output of the Transvaal goldfields has been valued at $100,000,000.

There are, however, no gold mines so rich as those of the Transvaal. Since 1884, the annual output of the Transvaal goldfields has been valued at $100,000,000.

"MUCH OBLIGED, BUT—"

Positions Which Have Been Declined With Thanks—and Without!

Lord Kitchener's refusal of the post of Commander-in-Chief of the Mediterranean comes as a reminder of other men who have declined to accept great positions. Some of them will never be broken. Lord James of Hereford, for instance, is the only high Chamberlain of England. Mr. Gladstone offered him the Great Seal in 1886; but Sir Henry James, as he then was, was disappointed of the Grand Cross of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, and declined.

Dr. Randall Davidson was offered the Archbishopric of Canterbury by the death of Dr. Benson, and modestly excused himself. It was not until years afterwards that he consented to become head of the Church of England. At least two years in "vacant" times have refused to be Prime Minister of England. In 1874, when Disraeli resigned, Queen Victoria offered the Premiership to the late Earl Granville and the late Duke of Devonshire, then Marquis of Hartington. Both respectfully declined.

It might be supposed that the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland would be a desirable enough office to attract any statesman. But when Lord John Russell offered it to Lord Palmerston, "Palmy" declined with contempt, on the openly expressed ground that it was beneath his dignity.

Even the more splendid prize of Viceroy of India has been refused. In 1883 the Liberal Government offered it to Lord Salisbury—then General Sir Henry Norman. For a few days it was taken for granted that he would go out to Simla; but a great deal of adverse criticism was evoked by the appointment, and finally Sir Henry gave it up.

Cobden refused the office of President of the Board of Trade and a seat in the Cabinet when these were pressed on him by the Prime Minister. He was afraid that, if he accepted, he might be accused of self-seeking. Dr. Lingard, the eminent Catholic historian, was asked the offer of a cardinal's red hat because he was unwilling to sacrifice his independence.

It is not generally known that George Washington could have been king of America had he liked. After the British had been driven out of the States, the American Congress treated the army which had won Yankee independence very badly. Officers and men were so exasperated that they meditated setting up a monarchy, and made preparations for proclaiming "Washington King."

At least one great Englishman has been superior to a dukedom. After the late Marquis of Salisbury laid down office for the last time, Queen Victoria was anxious to make his appreciation of his services by raising him to the highest rank of the peerage. But the strawberry-leaves and the title of "Your Grace" did not fascinate the Conservative statesman. His political rival, Mr. Gladstone, refused to be an earl. Thomas Carlyle shook his head when Lord Beaconsfield pressed him to become a Knight Grand Cross of the Bath. He preferred to remain plain "Tom."

Feminine Raffles. Thieving for fun is rather an unpopular pastime for young women. In Edinburgh two smart young ladies pleaded guilty the other day to fifty-six different charges of theft. The articles were taken from different shops in Edinburgh, and the girls were accused of having visited shops and asked to see goods ostensibly for the purpose of purchasing them, but while the shop assistant's attention was diverted the thefts had been committed.

An Unwilling Passenger. A more amusing than serious mishap befel an Irish pedlar of curious name, Edward Lately, who boarded a White Star liner at Queenstown to sell his wares, but got so weary that he sat down in a chair on the promenade deck and fell asleep. He was awakened by a sailor, who told him he was an hour or more from the harbor of Cork. The captain set Edward to work in the stokehold and being vigorous he did not mind it. He arrived in New York listed as a stowaway, but decided that he did not like the frowning aspect of the town as seen from the Hudson river. He preferred to work his way back to "Ould Ireland."

An Irish Revenge. They have a peculiar way of "getting at" their enemies in Ireland. In the Gorey district Police Inspector O'Neil recently had a favorite favorite cow lying dead in a field with a few bullets in its head. A couple of months ago the inspector buried another cow, which was thought to have died a natural death. The other day he received an anonymous communication suggesting that if the carcass of the former cow was disinterred, the cause of death might be found in her body.

Too Busy to Wait. Prof. Leacock of McGill, to illustrate Goldwin Smith's fund of sherry, which seemed to be absolutely untiring, tells this story: "One day when he was over eighty years of age I met him in one of the new skyscraper buildings of Toronto, about to start upstairs. 'Won't you take the elevator, Dr. Smith?' I asked. 'I haven't time to wait for it,' was his reply."

Learned Late In Life. It is never too late to learn. An octogenarian laborer who was complimented by the judge at the Holt County Court on the neatness with which he had made out an account, stated that the teacher had taught him to read and write when he was ill, a few years ago.

It is more blessed to give up with a struggle than it is to receive it in the sack from a spending.

Why is Canada like courtship? Because it is based on the United States. Where can happiness always be found? In the dictionary.

And occasionally a man strays from the straight and narrow path for the purpose of picking up a few dollars.

Men are always betting that their wives will not find them out.

A woman tells her troubles to a doctor; a man tells his to a lawyer.

BISLEY BOMBSHELLS.

Sensations That Have Startled Spectators at "The Great Shoot."

Nearly every Bisley meeting has its own peculiar, distinguishing feature, though at the moment of writing it is not possible to say what will be the outstanding feature of the 1910 Bisley.

Last year's was not without its sensation; but in the case of the 1907 meeting there were several circumstances which made it the most sensational on record. It was remarkable for the amazingly high standard of the scoring, due, in a large measure, to the introduction of the new bullet.

But it was still more remarkable for the highly sensational finish to the chief event—the King's Prize. Armorer Padgett was proclaimed the winner, and carried off the shoulders of his contractor. But directly afterwards an objection was raised. When Armorer Padgett missed at 1,000 yards he claimed it was owing to a bad cartridge. He was, therefore, allowed another shot in place of the first.

Now, one of the rules of the National Rifle Association reads: "No allowance will be made under any circumstances for a defective rifle or cartridge, except that in case of a misfire, have run out of the trigger, a second cartridge may be allowed."

The council had no alternative but to sustain the objection, and to award the prize to Lieut. W. C. Addison, the lucky Australian, who was the next nearest competitor.

But others experienced exceedingly hard lines at Bisley that year. Take the case of Armorer-Sergeant Lawrence. In the 500 yards trial he had the misfortune to put a string on the wrong target. To people who know nothing about the Bisley competitions this may seem the result of rank carelessness. As a matter of fact, however, misfires of this sort are difficult to avoid. But to Lawrence it meant not only the payment of the value of the shot. But for this one fatal misfortune, he would, undoubtedly, have run out the winner.

The advantage of early training in rifle-shooting was never better illustrated than by the phenomenal achievements of Mr. Martin Boyd at the 1907 Bisley. He won the Wimbledon Cup at 1,000 yards, and at the same time made the highest score on record to that date. In the Match Rifle Aggregate, he also figured second, and was the second highest scorer in the Scottish Eight, while his name appeared in nearly every other prize list the shooting for which was held with the match rifle.

Yet, for thirteen successive years he had been absent from Bisley, and, throughout that time, had not even handled a rifle! But he is a veteran shot, having made his first appearance at the National Rifle Association's meeting just thirty-four years before.

Thirteen years ago there was a very curious, and no less amusing, series of coincidences in the Alexandra competition. There were two competitors squadded together in this competition of almost identical surnames. One, named Dodd, belonged to the 2nd Liverpool, while the other, named Dodds, was a member of the 2nd Dumfries. To carry the coincidence still further, each made a score of twenty-four at the same range, with the same marks, shot for shot.

The climatic conditions under which the King's Prize was shot for at the 1909 meeting caused it to become known as the "hurricane" final, while the year 1904 was one of the worst in the whole history of the National Rifle Association meetings. To one competitor the elements were particularly unkind. Just as he was in the act of pulling the trigger he was hit by a marking-board down upon him. The humor of this unexpected happening appeared more to the spectators than to the unlucky competitor, who was aiming at something more tangible than amusement.

An Irish Revenger. They have a peculiar way of "getting at" their enemies in Ireland. In the Gorey district Police Inspector O'Neil recently had a favorite favorite cow lying dead in a field with a few bullets in its head. A couple of months ago the inspector buried another cow, which was thought to have died a natural death. The other day he received an anonymous communication suggesting that if the carcass of the former cow was disinterred, the cause of death might be found in her body.

Too Busy to Wait. Prof. Leacock of McGill, to illustrate Goldwin Smith's fund of sherry, which seemed to be absolutely untiring, tells this story: "One day when he was over eighty years of age I met him in one of the new skyscraper buildings of Toronto, about to start upstairs. 'Won't you take the elevator, Dr. Smith?' I asked. 'I haven't time to wait for it,' was his reply."

Learned Late In Life. It is never too late to learn. An octogenarian laborer who was complimented by the judge at the Holt County Court on the neatness with which he had made out an account, stated that the teacher had taught him to read and write when he was ill, a few years ago.

It is more blessed to give up with a struggle than it is to receive it in the sack from a spending.

Why is Canada like courtship? Because it is based on the United States. Where can happiness always be found? In the dictionary.

And occasionally a man strays from the straight and narrow path for the purpose of picking up a few dollars.

Men are always betting that their wives will not find them out.

A woman tells her troubles to a doctor; a man tells his to a lawyer.

SAVED FROM THE KIFE

Appendicitis Cured By "Fruit-a-tives"

Newburgh, Ont., Feb. 12th, 1910.

Just about a year ago, our daughter Lilla (fourteen years), was taken with terrible pains in the right side. The pain was so severe that we had to carry her to bed. We at once put her under the care of a first-class doctor, who pronounced it a case of appendicitis and advised an operation.

We took her to a hospital in Kingston where she was again examined by an eminent specialist. He said she had Appendicitis and must be operated on at once if we wanted to save her life. As we had taken her to Kingston to have this done we were ready but our daughter was afraid and cried and begged so pitifully that we postponed it for that day. Luckily for us and for her an uncle came in with some "Fruit-a-tives" and insisted on Lilla taking them. Good results were apparent almost from the first dose, and the continuous treatment cured her.

"Fruit-a-tives" saved our daughter from the surgeon's knife and to-day she is enjoying the best of health."

J. W. FOX, (Father). LILLIAN FOX, (Mother).

Words cannot express the gratitude of Mr. and Mrs. FOX. And Miss Lilla will always remember "Fruit-a-tives"—the discovery of an eminent physician, and the only medicine in the world made of fruit. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or 12 for $5.00. At dealers, or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

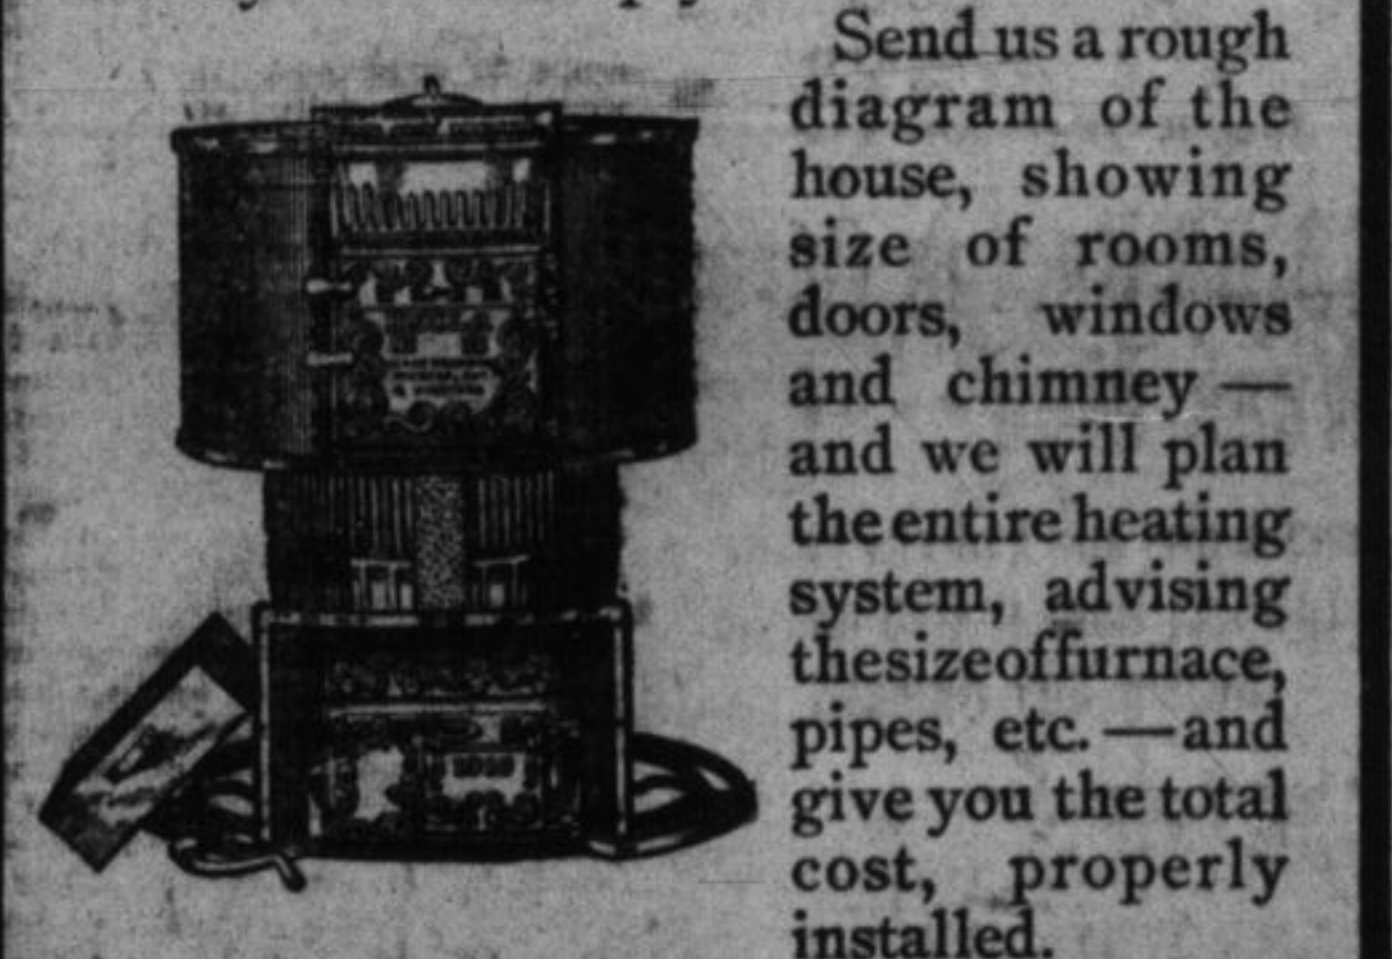

HECLA FURNACE

A Complete Plan of Heating Your Home, Free

Our 30 years experience in building and installing furnaces, is at your service, free of charge.

If you are planning a new home, or if your present heating system is not satisfactory—let us help you.

We make no charge for this. It is but one of the many conveniences that come with "Hecla" Furnace.

Have you our book "Hecla Heated Homes"? It tells a lot of things about the healthful way of heating a house, and the things you should find in the furnace you buy. Write for free copy. 104

CLARE BROS. & CO., LIMITED, PRESTON, Ont. ELLIOTT BROS., Kingston, Ont.—Agents.

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY

CURE DISEASES OF MEN

PATIENTS TREATED THROUGHOUT CANADA FOR 30 YEARS

Dr. K. & E. are favorably known throughout Canada where they have done much good for over 30 years. Their patients have been treated and cured by their great skill and through the virtue of their New Method Treatment. When you treat with them you know you are dealing with responsible physicians as they are and occupy their own office building in Detroit, valued at $100,000. When they decide your case is curable, all your worry is removed for you know they will not deceive you. They guarantee to cure all curable cases. It matters how many doctors have failed to benefit you; no matter how much money you have spent in vain; no matter how the doctors you may be, don't give up in despair until you get a few minutes from our master specialists. If you are at present within the distance of a few hours from which is applying your life by degrees; if you are suffering from the results of past indiscretions; if your blood has been tainted from any private disease and you dare not marry; if you are married and live in dread of offspring breaking out and exposing your past; if you are suffering as the result of a mispent life—Dr. K. & E. can cure you. Lay your case before them confidentially and they will tell you honestly if you are curable.

YOU CAN PAY WHEN CURED

We Treat and Cure VARICOSE VEINS, NERVOUS DEBILITY, BLOOD and URINARY COMPLAINTS, KIDNEY and BLADDER Diseases, and all Diseases of the Male Sex.

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY, Windsor, Ont. All letters from Canada must be addressed to our Canadian Correspondence Department in Windsor, Ont. If you desire to see us personally call at our Medical Institute in Detroit as we see and treat our patients in our Windsor offices which are for Correspondence and Laboratory for Canadian business only. Address all letters as follows: DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY, Windsor, Ont. Write for our private address.