

Dropsy— Given up by Doctor

"I had dropsy, and was told by my family physician that there was no chance for me. My family also gave me up. My limbs and body were swollen one-third larger than natural, water collected around my heart and I had to be propped up in bed to keep from smothering. I took Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy until I was entirely cured. This was in 1902, and I am now able to do any kind of work on my farm. My cure was certainly marvelous."

L. TURLEY CURD,
Wilmore, Ky.

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy has been wonderfully successful in relieving heart trouble. Its tonic effect upon the heart nerves and muscles is a great factor in assisting nature to overcome heart weakness.

VALUE OF A SIGNATURE.

The people who storm and fuss because the Lampan exposed their inconsistency are not mending matters. The man who petitions the council to reduce the number of liquor licenses in the city need not find any fault because there was a want of discrimination on the part of the license commissioners. He knows, or he ought to know, that the council has nothing to say about the manner in which the commissioners do their work. It may be improved upon—few will dispute that statement—but that is not the question. The demand is for a reduction in the number of licenses, and the man who asks for this, or who petitions for it, is not in a position to protest that the wrong man has been put out of business. Perhaps the experience of the year will have one beneficial effect. It will make some people think twice before they again sign anything. Some men may still sign their own death warrant without knowing it. There is not the signature of a preacher in the city discoursed about yesterday morning.

A GAMBLE IN BONDS.

The aldermen who compose the Toronto works' committee were shocked, it is reported when they learned that it had cost $23,000 to float a loan of about $200,000. The shock passed away when it was explained that the debentures carried interest at 3 1/2 per cent., and that money was worth more than that. The loan had to be effected by a discount sale of the securities. On the three and one-half per cent. debentures between eighty-eight and one-half and eighty-nine were realized. The question is, What does any municipal gain by issuing debentures with interest above or below the market rate? A sale at a discount makes a bad showing, and means that the product may fall far short of the amount desired. A sale at a premium may yield a larger sum than that desired, and the excess may be misapplied. It properly belongs to the fund for which the bonds were sold, and some councils use the premium for general purposes, and succeeding councils have to pay for it in the larger contribution to interest account. The honest way—and the word honest is not used in any cynical sense—is to raise by loan only the amount required, and to put the rate of interest so that the bonds will sell at par. Anything else than this involves a gamble for which there is no justification.

BREAD ACT A FAILURE.

The police magistrate of Toronto (not Col. Denison, but his assistant), convicted a Toronto baker of the offence of making and selling small bread which was not in conformity with the Nicksle act. But in Hamilton and in Brantford there have been cases in which the defence has won. In Hamilton appeal was taken to the county judge, from the decision of the magistrate, and his honor quashed the conviction on the ground that small bread, made separately but connected in the cooking, was not an infraction of the law.

The Brantford case has attracted a wider interest. The defendant, company put the bread in ten ounces moulds, but in laying them in pans for the oven they came together. Two of the loaves were sold for five cents. The weight was twenty ounces. The crown contended that they formed one loaf. Therefore they were not in the class defined as small bread in the act and consequently should weigh twenty-four ounces. In dismissing the cases the magistrate said he differed from the decision of Magistrate Kingsford, of Toronto, and added: "It may be that the company is selling these two small loaves fused together in order to deceive the public, but I doubt very much if they are not within their rights." It was the opinion of the court that a new act should be passed as the present one did not establish a standard loaf.

The McNaught Act was a more workable act than the one that replaced it. With little labour it could have been amended so as to meet the views of those who were disturbed upon the subject. At least that is what the bread makers contend, and they have given the subject a great deal of thought. At all events the Nicksle Act, in its present form, will not do. The legislative tinkers will have to try their hand again.

Thanksgiving day has been fixed. It occurs on October 21st. Let us see. We have some things to be thankful for, and we ought to assemble our families and friends, and give thanks, and pray and fall back to mind.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Montreal is to have a winter carnival without the ice palace. If that concession will placate the great railway corporations they must be easily satisfied.

Mr. Monk is going to make Commander Roper repeat of his speech at the opening of the Ottawa exhibition. The commodore has certainly committed an indiscretion, and it will be well if, in consequence of it, his usefulness will not be gone.

If Dr. Helen MacMurphy was good enough for one of Toronto's school attendants, she was good enough for all the work, and could have done it well. But the doctor is a woman, and the medical men of Toronto don't want her to rise too rapidly.

Mr. Roosevelt insists that he is going to curb the great corporations. How? He must mean as president of the United States, and his announcement must be another way of declaring that he will be a candidate in 1911.

The Manufacturers' Association is doing a tour across the continent on its own account. Its advice to the farmers is to let well enough alone. The advice of the farmers is to give them the benefit of cheaper machinery and then talk of hubbing up on the tariff question.

Bishop Fallon has disapproved of the teaching of the French language in Essex county. His reasons are not given. Probably he believes in children studying the language of the majority and of the county, which is English. Later on they can take up French, and very much to their advantage.

The Orange Sentinel contrasts what the Catholic Register said about the Orange Order and the Knights of Columbus in the same issue. Orders, by the way, are not to be judged by their name or look. The fraternal society, like the church, is to be judged by its work. By their fruits shall ye know them.

The money influence of Wall street and the commercial influence of the Merchants' Exchange are against Roosevelt. They regard his recent speeches as the greatest menace to trade that has been given in recent years. The New Nationalism is the name of the new party which, metaphorically, punctuates its threats with bayonet thrusts.

Lucky to Get Dollar.

Minnesota Journal. A man named Smith won a case in the lower courts, the higher courts and the supreme court. Smith was finally awarded, after seven years of litigation, $500,000.

When Smith heard the glad news he sped to his lawyer. "Hurrah!" he said. "Gimme my $500,000."

"Yes, $500,000 was the award," said the lawyer, and at the same time he handed Smith a dollar bill.

"But—what's this for?" gasped Smith.

"That's all that's left, Mr. Smith," explained the lawyer, "after the deduction of my fee, the cost of the various appeals and other expenses, which will be duly rendered you in an itemized account."

Poor Smith studied the bill in his hand.

"Say, what's the matter with this?" he demanded. "Is it bad?"

Punishing Wife Desertion.

Ottawa Journal.

A movement is on foot in Toronto to have the government frame amendments to the law which will make it easier to punish the wives of deserters. It is to be hoped the movement will succeed. The wife deserter is, if anything, worse than the wife beater. In the latter case the brute at least gives his wife some measure of support. The cowardly wife deserter, on the other hand, runs away and leaves the woman and her children to struggle for a living. The government will do well to make whatever revision of the law seems necessary.

A Hero Passes Away.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 19.—Frank Bertin, who was voted a medal by congress for heroism at the battle of Manila Bay, died here yesterday. He was a member of the crew of Admiral Dewey's flagship Olympia, and when the Spanish flagship was sinking carried a line aboard her, saving nearly 200 lives. Several American officers awarded him medals for bravery.

TIGHTS ARE BARRED IN GERMAN THEATRES.

Emperor's Wife Succeeds in Having Royal Edict Issued—Chorus Girls in Despair—Managers are Also Mourning.

Berlin, Sept. 19.—The kaiser has declared war on the display of dancers' legs at the ballet of the Imperial Opera House. This extreme measure is the result of the importunities of his wife, the ultra-pious empress, who objects to the display of limbs before her young but grown-up sons. So she has influenced Emperor William to ban and prohibit the short skirt with tights underneath.

Emperor William, so the story runs,

DUKE OF OPORTO.

Uncle of King Manuel of Portugal and brother to the assassinated King Carlos. He is the heir apparent to the throne of Portugal, and recently there has been talk of King Manuel abdicating in his favor.

gave the order to a director of the Court theatre, Count Von Huelson, who listened to the edict in despair. Hence the ballet dancers of the Imperial Opera House will be clad in long, flowing garments and there must be no display of dainty lingerie. The court theatres, both the theatres and the opera, are dull and now the kaiser has to pay a heavy annual deficit out of his own pocket. The ballet was the one remaining attraction.

Count Von Huelson foresees its disappearance will make the business more unsatisfactory and augment the kaiser's losses. He warned Emperor William, but the kaiser replied that morality and his wife's wishes must come before mere sordid considerations. The ballet girls are unhappy. They see no chance of attaining fame in unsuitable garments.

REMEMBERED HER.

Model Servant Given House and Lot.

Poughkeepsie, N.Y., Sept. 19.—Because she had been a model servant, Kate Brown has received from her employer, Mrs. Julia De Windt Thompson, wife of Dr. Thompson, of Ferris Lane, a suburb of Poughkeepsie, a gift of a new house, on a lot of ample size, next to the Thompson property.

The deed conveying the property from Mrs. Thompson to Kate Brown was filed in the Dutchess county clerk's office, Saturday.

Mrs. Thompson sent for Benjamin Brovort, a surveyor, some time ago, and had him measure off a generous strip of land from her estate. She built a substantial and attractive house on the lot, and when it was all done she surprised Kate by walking into the kitchen and giving her the deed. The Thompsons have a New York city home.

Sanitary Measures Elsewhere.

Brantford Expositor.

The new socialistic administration of Milwaukee is preparing energetically to carry out in that city the provisions of the law in Wisconsin that went into effect on September 1st, abolishing drinking cups on trains, boats and in public places. The railroads in Wisconsin are installing individual cup-washing machines in accordance with the new law. Railroad officials, as yet, however, as a body are inclined to oppose laws such as those in Kansas, Mississippi, Michigan, Oklahoma, Iowa and Wisconsin, which prohibit the ordinary drinking cup. It is now six years since Kansas enacted its law. Some kinds of paper cups which may be used several times do not cost more than three dollars a thousand and there is no reason why they could not be supplied on through trains at least, if not on all, without a special charge for them.

A Fatal Delay.

Utica Globe.

Sir William Crookes, the eminent scientist, who has been appointed a member of the Order of Merit, was one of the earliest amateur photographers. He experimented with the camera as far back as 1855, and was always saying to his wife, "Sit." She used to reply, "It sounds like a hen."

Sir William is rather fond of telling the following story as illustrating the "instantaneous" knowledge needed in the profession of medicine. The professor of a certain medical college gave a hypothetical case on one occasion, and asked a student how much of a certain medicine should be administered to the sufferer. "A tablespoonful," answered the young man. In about a minute, however, he raised his hand and said, "Professor, I would like to change my answer to that question." The doctor took out his watch. "My young friend," he remarked, "your patient has been dead forty seconds."
