CALL TO CANADIANS

Timely Addresses Delivered by Prof. Robertson.

Before Members of Kingston Canadian Club Friday Afternoon--Each One Should Do Share In Building Up Country.

In his able address, before the members of the Kingston Canadian Club, at the Randolph hotel, on Friday afternoon, Prof. James W. Robertson, C.M.G., LL.D., chairman of the commission on Industrial Training and Technical Education, spoke on a very important subject, that of "The Call of Canada to Her Sons." In a forceful manner, he sounded the call to every man to do his share in the building of the nation. The address was a very interesting one. The president of the club, H. W. Richardson, presided, and introduced the speaker. In his opening remarks, Prof. Robertson said that the call was one which every man, who had an ear, could listen to, and have a chance to answer. He paid a warm tribute to the work of the late Principal Grant and Sir John A. Macdonald, and referred to the service they had filled, for their country.

True patriotism was needed. This was not a general heritage, but a study of things. Our vast inheritance should be considered. We should ever be thinking of our vast estate, wealth in land, mines, fisheries, etc. Some people had an idea that with the publication of the Bible, creation was over, and whereas we were but at the dawn, and still only engaged in the making, Canada was but a young nation, but was impressing the entire world. It was the duty of Canadians to help lift up people, and give them the best possible chance in life. We should see that they received the best kind of education.

The great secret was in doing things. For one thing, there should be no slums. Comfortable homes were needed, and each one should help the other to secure them. People should work together, and not be hostile towards each other. We should be content to learn from each other and to appreciate each other.

We should keep our doors wide open, and give everyone a chance. Had the boy in Ontario a good chance to

WAITED FOR END.

Pentecostals Finally Give Up and Leave Ark.

Springfield, Oct. 1.—After awaiting the end of the world for twelve long weeks in the home of M. M. Goodell, at 144 Buckingham street, which is commonly known as the "Ark," the dozen or so of Pentecostals, including the Goodell family, have departed to attend the convention of Pentecostals at Duxbury, apparently in the belief that they will be given sufficient time to indulge in the meetings and return to their sanctuary before the world reaches its termination.

The first signs of their intended departure occurred some days ago, when the chosen few went to the worldly task of house cleaning. Carpets were vigorously beaten in the yard and the dust from sweeping in the interior of the "Ark" was construed by the worldly living nearby that the saintly ones were about to go to other parts. Just when the Duxbury convention will end is not known, as it is said the followers of the faith adjourn their gatherings only at the bidding of the Lord, but some of the neighbors, who boast that they have succeeded in gaining the confidence of the local set, assert that the Goodell home will never be again used as an "Ark."

Aviator Wynnalen, in a biplane, rose to a height of 7,956 feet, Chavez's record was 5,400 feet.

HORNED MEN.

Have Been Discovered by California Scientists.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 1.—The "horned men of Topanga" have been discovered—that is, they are almost horned, and of a physiognomy so strange that the scientists who unearthed them are almost persuaded that the existence in the long ago of a hitherto undreamed of race of aborigines has been demonstrated.

Prof. J. B. Pendleton, of the geological department of Stanford University, with a party of Stanford students, has just returned from the mountains near Santa Monica, in Southern California.

In the Topanga canyon in the heart of a district long known to have been the home of Indian tribes now extinct, the excavators found one mound containing the bones of thirty-four aborigines. From flint arrow heads imbedded in the skulls and from the crushed skull bones, that bore every evidence of having been beaten in by war clubs, Prof. Pendleton says it is plain that the ancients died in battle. But of more scientific interest is the amazing conformation of the skulls by the scientists. The brow is almost totally lacking, rising from the line of the eyebrows only three-quarters of an inch, and the top of the head being almost flat. The nose projects horizontally, horn-like, and with no resemblance to the human nose.

ASSESSOR'S FIGURES

Assessment Three-Quarters of a Million Higher.

Than a Year Ago--Part of Increase Exempted, But About Half a Million Assessable.

Assessor Gordon, on Saturday morning, announced the results of his summer's work. The assessment of Kingston has increased during the past year by over three-quarters of a million dollars; the largest increase in its history. The assessment is $9,687,427 as compared with $8,930,348 a year ago. Another year will bring it to the ten million dollar mark. Of the assessment increases this year $300,000 is exempted, the dry-dock property being included. The actual assessable increase is $470,000. The following are some of the assessor's figures:

IS LATEST DEVELOPMENT.

A Wealthy Kansas Girl Is Made Mail Order Bride.

Salina, Kan., Oct. 1.—A mail order bride and bridegroom is the latest development in society circles in Hoxie, Kan. Miss Effie Newland, one of the wealthy young women of Hoxie, was married to a Mr. Lopez, a sailor of Key West, Fla., who is said to be wealthy. Lopez plighted his troth by mail more than a year ago. He advertised for a bride and Miss Newland jokingly took up the correspondence with him, not dreaming that she would ever sever her connections with the musical folk and church work at home to marry a sailor. But Lopez was a splendid writer and the girl soon became infatuated with the love making, and when he wrote and asked her to marry him she decided to do so. Lopez and his sister then left Key West and arrived at Hoxie, a total stranger to the town, the girl and her family. It has been said that Mr. Newland ran him away from the house, but the daughter admired her sailor lover and the father and mother did not know that they were to be married until the hour of the ceremony. They drove to the home of Judge Hill in an automobile and were married while her parents protested. The bridal pair took the first train for Key West.

SCHOOLS LIKE SAUSAGE MILLS.

Major Finds Too Much Sameness in Gratuities.

Waterloo, N.Y., Oct. 1.—A special meeting of the board of education and the finance and school committee of the common council, to consider broadening the industrial education of the children of Waterloo, afforded Mayor Hugo an opportunity to express interesting views concerning the school system of to-day.

BORN IN NEWFOUNDLAND.

Dr. and Mrs. Wilfrid T. Grenfell Are Parents of Son.

Boston, Oct. 1.—The birth of a son to Mrs. Wilfrid T. Grenfell, wife of the famous medical missionary of the Labrador coast, was announced in a cablegram received in Boston from Dr. Grenfell at St. Anthony's, Northern Newfoundland. The boy who has been named Wilfrid T. Grenfell, Jr., was born at St. Anthony's on September 25th, Mrs. Grenfell, previous to her marriage, was Miss Anna MacGillivray, of Chicago.

Home Rule in Five Years.

Hamilton, Oct. 1.—T. P. O'Connor was a visitor in Hamilton for five minutes, yesterday. Interviewed by newspaper men, he said he expected home rule would be granted Ireland inside of five years. He expressed himself as very much pleased with the interest the American people had shown in the great question. The whole continent, Mr. O'Connor said, was enthusiastic over the possibility of home rule.

THE MILLIONAIRE'S VIEWS

Advices Young Men To Go On The Farm-- Gobbling Up Small Concerns.

Pittsburg, Sept. 30.—In an interview cabled from Paris, Charles T. Schoen, a millionaire and former owner of the Schoen Steel and Iron Company and the Schoen Steel Wheel company, in Pittsburg, says, in part: "As far as my experience goes, I'd advise young men to go into farming rather than spend their time creating new industries for trusts to gobble up. Of course, its natural for Pittsburg's business men to endeavor to attract what might be termed small manufacturing enterprise to Pittsburg, but, as I view the situation in the industrial world, it seems to me that small enterprises are not so numerous as they were in years gone by, and under the present system of doing business they will surely grow less and less.

"The moment a man of ability and energy, fired by a laudable ambition to work out a position in life for himself, begins to show signs of success, the great corporations take over the business or crush it. Pittsburg is the centre of the steel industry and should attract manufacturers of all articles made from steel, but I have been informed that it is the ultimate policy of the great United States Steel Corporation to fabricate and finish all their product from the ore in the ground to the finished article.

RICH MINERAL FINDS.

Explorers Back from Chibogamou District.

Quebec, Oct. 1.—A large number of valuable mineral specimens have been brought back to civilization by the government explorers who have just returned from a three-months' trip to Chibogamou, and these will be at once assayed and subjected to both microscopic observation and chemical analysis. This work will be directed by Prof. Guillim, of Queen's University, and Prof. A. E. Barlow, of McGill, both of whom took part in the expedition. The trip of the explorers through the country traversed by them was in many respects a thrilling and sensational one. Enormous rivers were ascended in many instances where it was only possible to do so by poling up violent rapids. Many canyons were encountered, across which it was, of course, necessary to portage canoes, baggage and supplies. Along the whole of the route (traversed by the expedition good timber lands were found, and where the trees grew stunted towards the north, there is abundance of pulp wood, while the various falls and rapids abounding throughout the entire territory are capable of producing almost unlimited electric power.
