R. WALDRON

TO CHANGE HER NAME

SHE GOT SIX CENTS FOR HEART BALM.

Ontario Girl, a Cook in Detroit, Got Scent Consideration at the Hands of a Jury.

Detroit, Oct. 8.—Just because Alexander Melane, a Scotch-Irishman, asked Margaret McNeil if she would like to change her name, he is obliged to pay six cents for breach of promise. That was what the jury declared after a day of vaudeville in Judge Hosmer's court.

Mary is a cook and Melane is a tanner.

Long ago they used to run barefoot together in Parkhill, Ont. They became separated, many years elapsed, and at last they met at a card party. From that time on Alexander made many visits to the kitchen where Margaret worked. One night he told her he owned a house.

When next he called, January 3rd, 1908, there was much joking on the part of Alexander but much seriousness on the part of Margaret. He asked her if she would like to change her name. She said she would, resigned her position and prepared a tressouner. When the wedding day came Melane could not be found.

Over a year later Margaret took up a newspaper, glanced at it, and there it was, black and white, the marriage license notice of Alexander Melane and Kate Mahoney. She would be avenged, and she started suit for $20,000 damages for breach of promise.

She was awarded six cents by the jury.

Praised the G.T.P.

The roadbed and general conditions both in operating and service on the Grand Trunk Pacific railway between Winnipeg and Edmonton are coming in for great praise from patrons who have gone over the road.

At the general offices in Montreal a letter was received from a professor of one of the prominent collegiate institutions in the west, which reads as follows:

"On my recent trip in the west I travelled over the Grand Trunk Pacific between Saskatoon and Winnipeg. It was my first trip over this road, and most say I was surprised to find the roadbed in such excellent condition. It seemed like travelling on one of the old main lines in the east. The dining and sleeping car service were first class in every particular, and I found the train officials courteous and efficient. Passengers whom I met were unqualified in their praise of the road and its appointments."

A Ten and Sale.

The tea and sale at the home of Mrs. H. W. Richardson, on Thursday, in connection with the Women's Association of St. John's street church was quite a success. The beautiful home was nicely decorated with flowers and the hostess was most painstaking in her efforts to aid the association. Those in charge of the various tables were: Candy table, Mrs. W. Mitchell and Ida Kald; Turk table, Mrs. W. S. Skinner and Mrs. T. F. Harrison; tea table, Mrs. W. Mitchell; home-made table, Mrs. Joseph Hirsch; Mrs. D. A. Cays; Mrs. A. F. Chown; Mrs. T. X. Rogers was the very efficient doorkeeper. There were many efficient helpers. The proceeds were excellent in view of the very unpropitious day.

Denison Somewhat Fresh

Col. Geo. T. Denison, of Toronto, has been talking about reciprocity, and some toy organs seem disposed to make much of his orator utterances. We do not regard Denison as an infallible authority on the subject. His remarks, of course, have no more effect on the public than would the opinion of plain John Doe or Tom Smith. Moreover, Denison's suggestion that the Canadians, who wish for reciprocity have been "arrested, is just worthy of the man, and makes anything he has to say of very little moment.

Asking a Hard Question.

According to the returns of the assessors, the population of Kingston falls a little below 19,000, while Brandon, which once ran neck-and-neck with the Laramie, is able to show a population of 22,000. And yet, in some respects, Kingston has many advantages which this city does not possess. Is it possible she is overweighed with militarism and officialdom?

Dr. Ryan Won Case.

The adjourned division court case of Elijah B. Purdy, against Dr. Edward Ryan was heard by Judge Price, Saturday morning. Mr. Purdy sued Dr. Ryan for commission on the sale of a house at the corner of Princess and Albert streets, which the doctor effected himself. The plaintiff, however, could not establish an agency, and the judge decided against him.

Examined D. M. McIntyre.

James McKenzie, barrister, of Toronto, acting for Daniel Graves, of Hazelton, who is suing D. M. McIntyre, of this city, for false arrest in connection with his conviction of selling liquor without a license, conducted an examination of Mr. McIntyre before the clerk of the high court, at the court house, on Saturday morning.

Not Bidding for Spendtrifflers.

Getting around to the time when there will be quiet little sidewalk talks as to who will be mayor next year, whoever he is, no chatter-paring individual need apply. This city wants a clean, energetic citizen who will help to make Belleville grow.

THE LATE MRS. PETER LAWLESS.

Her Remains Laid to Rest on Saturday Morning.

Surrounded by flowers, the tributes of love from many friends, all that was earthly of Mrs. Peter Lawless lay in the last long sleep, around her the symbolic lights, behind, and above all, the crucifix, symbolic of the Christian's hope of salvation. From Friday morning until the hour of the funeral there was a constant stream of callers, and every heart was sorrowful.

The floral offerings were many and beautiful, and included a pillow from the children, cross from deceased's son, Michael, and wife; sprays from grandchildren, Helen and Richard Spratt; wreath from cabinet No. 490, pillow from four nephews, James, William, Edward and Henry Fitzpatrick, of Syracuse, N.Y.; spray from Miss Agnes Reid; spray from Mr. and Mrs. A. Savage; spray from Mrs. Eccles; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Eves; spray, Miss Annie Switzer; spray, Mrs. Joseph Ripson; spray, Miss Scott; spray, Mr. and Mrs. G. Allen; star, Dr. James Gullivan, nephew; Peterboro, Spiritual offerings received from Mrs. O'Reilly, Mrs. C. J. McSorley, the ladies' auxiliary of P'Hotel Dieu, Mrs. James Martin, (Cushendall), John Lawless, Edward Lawless, Pierre Lawless, Miss Sadie White, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Coyne, James McFadden, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. McQuaid, Mr. and Mrs. Edward McFadden, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Murray, Mrs. John Lemon, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spratt, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Rowland, Miss E. Frazier, Mr. Brannan and daughters, Miss Lena Martin, Miss Lizzie Martin, Mrs. W. G. Bailey, Miss Ruth Coyne, Daniel Eves, Edward Eves, Joseph Eves, Mrs. Frank McCue and Frank McCue.

As the hour of the funeral drew near the neighboring street became crowded with sympathizing friends. The bearers were her six sons. The funeral was one of the largest seen in the city for some time. At St. Mary's cathedral, Rev. Father Hanley sang a solemn requiem mass for a happy repose of her soul. At the conclusion of the service the procession reformed and proceeded to St. Mary's cemetery, where the burial service was read by Rev. Father Hanley. The remains were placed in the vault.

So ends the last chapter of a good woman's life, a true wife, a loving mother, true as steel to her friends, generous and forgiving. She is dead, but her memory shall not die. Her happy disposition, her kindly words and deeds, are embalmed in the memory of those who knew her best, and there is no word, "May she rest in peace." She was a devout member of St. Mary's cathedral, of the league of the Sacred Heart and of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Hotel Dieu hospital. At the request of the latter a requiem mass will be said on October 15th, at 7:30 a.m., in St. Mary's cathedral.

She is survived by her sorrowful husband, one daughter, Mrs. Robert Spratt, of Lindsay; six sons, Michael, Pierre and Leo, of Kingston; Edward, of New York; James, of Buffalo; John of Syracuse; one sister, Mrs. King, of Syracuse; one brother, James Jordan, of Lynn, Mass.; also by five grandchildren.

Mrs. King, of Syracuse; Edward Lawless, of New York, and James Lawless, of Buffalo, were in the city to attend the funeral.
