committee in charge of the wor securing the names of twenty-fiv on a petition, asking the town council that a vote be taken on the local option by-law, on January 2nd, 1911, were completed on Wednesday evening. There were on the 1909 voters' list, 1,137 names qualified to vote at the municipal elections, and 285 names were, therefore, necessary. On Thursday morning, J. A. Jackson, harrister, day morning, J. A. Jackson, harrister, day morning, J. A. Jackson, barrister, with the committee, fyled their petition, containing 317 names, which will be submitted to the town council at its regular session, next Tuesday evening. The committee feels encourage non-signers to support the measure at the polls. Contrary to general expectation, a fair percentage of the business men attached their signatures. As soon as the requisite by-law has been submitted by the council, a vigorous campaign will be opened up through press and pulpit, and otherwise, to secure the carrying of the by-law when the vote is taken.

Wernon Parke, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Parke, to Miss Florence Partnership Notice

Notice is hereby given, that the partnership heretofore existing between Samuel J. Kilpatrick and William G. Bruce in the business of Granite and Marble Cutting has been this day dissolved, and that the business will be carried on by a new partnership or firm, consisting of William G Bruce and James E. Mullen, under the name and style of Bruce & Mullen. The members of the old firm remain exclusively responsible for its liabilities, and all accounts due to that firm are to be paid in to its credit at the Standard Bank, Kingston.

"We have been lucky enough to see it is summer among our workers a trained kindergarten teacher—a new phenomenon on our coast. The children, have not heretofore betrayed any absorbing interest in their mental evolution; now judging by the way they flock to school one might suppose an epidemic of some mental disease had descended on the village. Inspection showed a transformation of ter only a week's work, which almost justified the idea that some radical ange was occuring, and we learned list we must have been previously

'These Furriners' Tunes."

Manchester Guardian.

We sat in the square in a Flemish town listening to a stray hurdy-gurdy. Its melodies were strange to the ears of my neighbor, a Yorkshire wool comber, and repesting a criticism he had made before, and with some truth, about the "bock," he remarked that "these furriners' tanes" didn't seem "to ha' mich in him." But soon the organ struck up some Organ Solo, Sonata D Minor, Guilmant, Largo Massioso-Allegro, But soon the organ struck up some stirring strains which he recognized "That's a bit o' English, anyhow, we reckon," he exclaimed presently, and called for another "bock" on the strength of it. It was "La Marsei Solo—(a) Nocturne Nevii (b) Berceuse Renand
