year 1908 that a nasty itch came through my skin, and I scratched it until I tore the flesh. I tried several cintments to no effect. I went to a skin hospital. They advised me to go to the —— Hospital, but I refused. I could not sleep with the constant itch. I was that way until on or about the month of January. One day I chanced to see in the papers a case like mine, but I gave it no credence. At last I said, 'I will try the Cuticura Remodies.' With the first wash and Cuticura Ointment I used, I found their effects. I got one box of the Ointment more, and in less than one week the skin was all right, and left no traces after it. I have not had a return of the same since, and I shall always praise the Cuticura Remedies as being the means of my cure."

PARENTS OF THE BOY

Toronto, Nov. 5 .- A startling condition of affairs has been revealed in the family relations of George Clancy, the ten-year-old boy, found, a few days ago, lying on the street in an intoxicated condition. Investigation by the police, led to the laying against John and Barbara Clancy, the boy's parents, of a charge of neglecting their children. When the case was found that the father was serving a thirty-day term in jail. The mother could no be located, but later was found t have been sentenced to a fine of and costs or thirty days, only yes-terday, for being drunk. It is thought that she was unable to pay the line and had to go down. The case was ad-

Places Where Al. the People Take a

Vacation at the Same Time. Persons unacquainted with the north of England and Scotland are often surprised during their visits to those countries to find whole towns deserted. Here in Canada only a few of us take our annual vacation at the same time, so that business is still carried on, but over their various weeks or fortnights are set aside for rest, when business practically stops. In Lancashire these holidays are known as wakes, and beginning from about the middle of June one town after another takes its holiday, until early September sees the end. Liverpool and Manchester are about the only towns of importance that do not follow the custom, as they are too large to shut down in this manner. Every town has its holiday fund; which in each case amounts to many thousands. Oldham saving be tween $750,000 and $1,000,000 for its outing, while Blackburn operatives have more than once saved some $750,-000 for the same purpose. At one time these thousands of workers on holiday seldom traveled farther afield than the Isle of Man, Blackpool of the Yorkshire wast, but now many of them go to Switzerland or Franceon one occasion 700 men from Burns

King Edward's Card-Indexes.

Several persons of importance when first presented to King Edward expressed their amazement at the marvellous knowledge His Majesty possessed concerning their affairs, their achievements, and the members of their family. As people never obtained access to His Majesty without a previous appointment or invitation. the sovereign had plenty of time to order those under him to look up particulars of the "caller" and place the same before him. Best Known Portrait. In a discussion as to what is the most common and familiar portrain in the world, writes Arthur Loring Bruce, one man was sure Raphael's portrait in the world. Another was all for Leonardo's Mona Lisa. Still another contended that no likeness was so universally known as that of King Edward on the coins of Great Britain. The sphinx was mentioned and the Venus of Milo. The discussion was growing warmer when a mild and callow youth chirped up

"You are al! wrong! All of you! The best known portrait in the world is the queen of spades."

He then proceeded to prove what, it seems, is common knowledge among the cognoscenti, namely, that the queen of spades is a bona fide likeness of the late Queen Anne of Britain. It seems that somewhere about 1710 the English and European stationers fixed on the image of the then Queen of England as a suitable one to inscribe on their playing cards. For 200 years or more her face has looked out at us, not altogether un-pleasantly-particularly in bezique-from the depths of the pack. How much longer, we wonder, will her physiognomy be shuffled down the corridors of time?

A Carlyle Snub.

Carlyle had an inveterate hatred for Darwinism, which he described as the gorilla damnification of humanity Leonard Huxley in his life of his father recalls an incident that happened shortly before Carlyle's death. "My father," he writes, "saw him walking slowly and alone down the opposite side of the street and, touched by his solitary appearance, crossed over and spoke to him. The old man looked at him and merely remarking 'You're him and merely remarking, 'You're Huxley, aren't you, the man that say we are all descended from the monkey?' and went on his way."

Before I knew or found out anything about this medicine, I doctored away hundreds of dollars, and when I thought I was dying with inflammation of the womb, a box of ORANGE LILY was sent me through the mail from a friend. The first suppository I used I was greatly relieved, and in a few months completely cured. That was nine years ago this winter, so you can imagine with what esteem I hold the ORANGE LILY. the same before him. In this way the King became quite intimate with the affairs of the majority of the people who entered his palace.

It is not generally known that King Edward for many years ran a series of card-indexes, of the kind common in all large commercial houses. These were kept at Buckingham Palace, and when a person not attached to a royal family caked upon the King, his name, together with a short account of what passed at the interview, particulars of his career and his achievements, and a short history of his family, were placed on a card and filed in the usual way. If the "caller" again visited the King, the card-index was consulted. In this card-index was consulted with others.

Two Minute Talks About BANDORA RANGE

for Goal or Wood F course the Pandora Range is a few dollars more than an ordinary range. But it will soon pay for itself in the fuel it will save for you. The Pandora Flue System and Wide Fire Box, designed by our brainy stove experts, save about half a ton of coal per year, because they supply more air than the flue systems and fire boxes of ordinary ranges, causing better combustion of fuel.

The Steel Oven saves some more fuel, because it heats up more rapidly than a cast iron oven. The heavy Fire Clay Coating on the main bottom of range prevents any heat wasting towards the floor. It drives the heat back into the oven, and thus saves still more fuel.

But the big economizing feature is this: The draft for cooking on top of the range is also the draft for baking in the oven. The heat does double duty and your fuel bill is largely reduced.

Get the Pandora --- the range that pays for itself. No other range is high-class enough for you.
