The Lord Mayor's Parade in London.

SIR THOS. V. STRONG

WAS FORMALLY INSTALLED INTO OFFICE.

Characters of Shakespeare's Plays

Were the Feature of the Pageant—Sir Vesey is Fortunate to be in Office During King's Coronation.

London, Nov. 9.—The time-honored lord mayor's show took place today, and the new lord mayor of London, Sir Thomas Vesey Strong, was formally installed in office, succeeding Sir John C. Knill. The old-established custom showed little sign of becoming obsolete, and owing to some unusual and attractive features in the procession the occasion was the most interesting of recent years.

The principal feature of the parade was a pageant of kings, princes, nobles and other characters of Shakespeare's plays, arranged under the direction of P. Carr, one of the secretaries of the Shakespeare Memorial National theatre. The characters were presented in five groups, each containing about fifty performers in gorgeous costume. Another interesting feature of the procession was the military display, in which were represented for the first time the Territorial Force and the Boy Scouts. Other divisions of the procession were made up of the city-freemen, the foresters, life-boatsmen, keepers of Epping forest, several detachments of the London volunteers, the court of aldermen, the members of the civic societies, together with a large number of representative citizens.

The new lord mayor and his predecessor in office rode in the customary gorgeous carriage of gold and enamel, drawn by eight white horses with outriders in scarlet livery. The route of the pageant extended from Guildhall to the law courts, through Princess street, Queen Victoria street, St. Paul's churchyard, Ludgate Hill, Fleet street and other prominent thoroughfares. Along the route the usual hunting and decorations were displayed.

Among his fellow aldermen, Sir Vesey is regarded as particularly fortunate from the fact that he is to hold office at the time of the king's coronation next June and is certain to receive a baronetcy as a memento of the occasion.

He will have no active part in the great ceremonies attending the coronation, nor for that matter will any of the duties of his office be of an arduous nature. The city of London, over which he is elected to rule, is not great metropolitan London, the largest city in the world, but a very insignificant part of it so far as territory and population are concerned. It lies between the town of London and Westminster Abbey, and contains only 965 acres and a population of about 90,000 people. It is divided into 27 wards, some of which cover but a few acres of ground, the largest of them having but very few voters. Each ward elects an alderman, who serves for life, and who, in due time, becomes lord mayor with a salary of $50,000 and an immense amount of patronage.

MADE HIS ESCAPE.

"Get Away From There or I'll Shoot."

Tonawanda, N.Y., Nov. 9.—Fred Kops, who keeps a drug store at Kohler and Adams streets, and lives in rooms connected with the store, was lying on his bed reading, at one o'clock, when someone opened the window from the outside. Then the arm of a man was extended in through the window and the hand, attached to the arm, sought to raise the shade which had been drawn down.

"What do you want?" asked Kops. "The would-be burglar paid no attention to the question, but kept on fumbling with the curtain.

"Get away from there or I'll shoot you," cried Kops. But the man, who was a burglar and who seemed determined to get inside, indicated no fear of being shot. He kept on trying to raise the shade. Kops jumped out of bed, took a revolver from a bureau drawer and fired. The bullet tore a hole through the shade, but failed to hit the man outside, who took to his heels and disappeared. Kops phoned police headquarters. Officer Pohl responded. The officer tracked the burglar for several blocks, by means of the fugitive's footprints in the snow, but the trail finally became indistinct and could be followed no longer.

CHANGE MADE

The Democrats Will Be in Majority

IN NEXT CONGRESS

FIRST VICTORY SINCE GROVER CLEVELAND DAYS.

In New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Ohio the Governors are Democrats—Republicans Lost Wherever Rooseveltism Prevailed.

New York, Nov. 9.—The democratic party in the country at large, yesterday, won its first victory since the election of Grover Cleveland to the presidency in 1892.

The indications are that the national house of representatives has been carried by the democrats, reversing the present republican majority of 45.

The United States senate, probably, will have a reduced republican majority as a result of legislative elections held in many states.

In New York State John A. Dix, democratic candidate for governor, is elected over Henry L. Stimson, republican, by a plurality of about 55,000, reversing the republican plurality of 70,000 in 1908 for Governor Hughes.

In New Jersey Woodrow Wilson, democratic candidate for governor, is elected over Vivian M. Lewis, republican, by about 15,000 plurality, reversing the previous republican plurality of 5,000 for Governor Fort.

In Massachusetts Eugene M. Foss, democratic candidate, has defeated Governor Eben S. Draper, republican candidate for re-election, by about 20,000 plurality.

In Connecticut Judge Simon E. Baldwin, democratic candidate, is elected governor over Charles A. Goodwin, republican, by about 40,000 plurality, reversing the previous republican plurality of 16,000.

In Ohio Governor Judson Harmon, democratic candidate for re-election, is elected over Warren G. Harding, republican candidate, by about 15,000 plurality.

In New Hampshire, Robert P. Bas, republican candidate for governor, is leading Charles E. Carr, democratic candidate by about 6,000 plurality.

In Pennsylvania, the election of John K. Tener, republican candidate for governor, is claimed by a large plurality.

In Rhode Island, Governor Vothner, republican candidate for re-election, is slightly in the lead over Lewis A. Waterman, democrat, with a plurality much reduced from that of 1906.

In Tennessee, the fusion candidate, B. W. Hopper, is apparently elected by 15,000 plurality.

In Iowa the democrats claim the election of Claude S. Porter for governor, but this is not yet conceded.

In Wisconsin, the election of the republican candidate for governor, Francis C. McFadden, is claimed by a reduced majority, and the return of La Follette to the United States senate is assured.

In Michigan, Charles D. Osborn, the republican candidate for governor, appears to have a safe lead over L. T. Hennans, democrat.

Summed up the returns indicate that the republicans were defeated in every state, except Iowa, in which Roosevelt made a fight for the republicans.

Refused to Go for Doctor to Save Child.

Buchanan, Sask., Nov. 9.—The circumstances surrounding the death from suffocation of three children of A. Todd, farmer, living a few miles from here, place the neighbors in a very bad light. A baby of six months was dead, although it had been carried to the bed-room by the eldest child, aged four. A second child died four hours later, and when the mother rushed to the neighbors to ask them to go to town for a doctor, they all refused. Word reached here next day, and the doctor went, but was unable to save the life of the eldest child.

Cohen told them that he had been in the water for over an hour, endeavoring to climb out. He was purple with cold and half blind with frost. With a pole which was thrust to him he raised himself half out of the water, but he was so benumbed that the effort exhausted him, and he sank back again, and disappeared. The water at this point is sixteen feet deep.

Cohen is the second man to be drowned within a week.

Brock, director of the geological survey, received a letter, written on April 26th last, at Cape Lyons, on the western Arctic coast of Canada, by Dr. Steffansson, who is engaged in a two-year's exploration trip in the far north in the interests of the American Museum of Natural History and the Canadian Geological Survey. Dr. Steffansson, who is accompanied by Lieut. Anderson of the American army and five Eskimos, states that during last winter the party encountered extreme privations. At times they were practically without food, except for skins and snowshoe tomogs.

For three weeks steadily they lived on the geological specimens collected by the scientists of the party. Throughout however, they were able to retain their records and instruments.

Dr. Anderson and two of the aborigines had pneumonia, and ten dogs died from the rigorous conditions.

At the time Dr. Steffansson wrote the party was about to start for Coronation Gulf, about 200 miles east of Cape Lyons. There was, he reported, no further fear of a shortage in the food supply, as game was plentiful.

Mr. Steffansson, who is mapping out the roof of Canada, sent down some of his geographical notes. After three and a half years spent in ice-bound regions with the auroras and the midnight sun, he expects to return in the fall of next year. The coming winter will be spent in the vicinity of Coronation Gulf.
