A WRIT IS ISSUED

AGAINST WIDOW OF THE LATE JOSEPH GEORGE.

Albert Cottenden Claims to be the Rightful Heir—He Asks for Production of Will, and Makes Charges Against the Widow.

A writ has been issued by W. H. Sullivan, solicitor, against Mrs. Alice George, widow of the late Joseph George, Wellington street, on behalf of Albert Cottenden, who proclaims himself the rightful heir to the estate of the deceased. Last week, William Mundell, solicitor for Mrs. George, was granted letters of administration to the estate, which has been in dispute since the death of Mr. George last May.

The plaintiff, Cottenden, in his statement of claim, asks for the delivery up and establishing of the will of the late Mr. George, in which it is alleged he bequeathed his property, real and personal, to the plaintiff, and which, the plaintiff declares, has been concealed or destroyed by the defendant or with her connivance. He also asks for the cancellation of the letters of administration granted to the widow of the deceased.

The issuing of this writ will not stop the distribution of the estate, with which Mr. Mundell is proceeding as rapidly as possible. If the case comes to trial, it may be heard at the non-jury sittings of the High court, early in December. Mr. Mundell does not see that the plaintiff has any chance of making anything out of his case, as the defence will prove that the will was destroyed by the deceased some time before his death.

"He Seen His Duty and Done 'It Noble!"

From a grammatical standpoint this is something terrific isn't it?

No worse—in a sense than the man who puts up a house, store or factory, and who, to save a few dollars, contents himself by installing cheap but poor plumbing.

Far fetched comparison? Not a bit of it! Both have made inevitable errors.

Speakers Turned Out on Inspector's Complaint.

On the complaint of the local license inspector Clark W. Wright, a large number of speakers, who had gathered at the Y.M.C.A. Wednesday morning, to hear the liquor case, in which the proprietor of the Revere hotel was accused of selling liquor on Sunday, were given their walking orders. They were ordered out of the room when the case was about half finished.

It happened in this way. Evidence was being taken when Mr. Wright arose and stated that he wished to object to a remark which had been passed upon him by one of the speakers, calling the man by name. The proceedings came to a very sudden stop.

The man accused of doing the talking said that he was not to blame. The remark had been made by a man sitting next to him. The magistrate did not stop to make an investigation but immediately ordered the constables to clear the court, the crowd filed out and the case proceeded as if nothing had occurred.

COMPLAINED TO POLICE.

Youth Says Soldiers Ill-Treated Him.

Last night, a lad, about seventeen years of age, complained to the police that he had been roughly handled, by two or three battymen. He stated that they caught hold of him, and knocked him down on the sidewalk, and that in the fall, his wrist was out. He also said that some of the soldiers chased him, and tried to strike him with whips.

The lad says that he gave no offence to the battymen. He is employed in a store as a clerk. He could not identify the men, so no action could be taken by the police.

It's easier for a man to deceive himself than it is to fool his neighbors.

Willetsholme News.

Willetsholme, Nov. 8.—A large number attended the concert at Zion church Friday evening. TOLD A FAKE STORY

COUPLE ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF VAGRANCY.

Claimed They Were Married in Syracuse, But Police Can Find no Record of It—No Minister of Name Given—Further Remanded for a Week.

According to the report, which was sent to the local police by the chief of police, at Syracuse, N.Y., the story told in police court, a week ago, by the couple arrested for vagrancy, is not true.

They gave the names of Frank and Cora Bennett, and claimed they were married by the magistrate, and after the court was over, a letter was sent to the chief of police, at Syracuse, asking that the matter be looked up, to the effect that no such marriage had been solemnized in the city across the line. Further, that there was no minister of the name given, and still further, that there was no street in Syracuse, of the name given.

Frank Bennett was the first brought before the magistrate.

The magistrate again started to cross-examine him.

"Are you married?" he asked.

"Yes," replied the accused, and he then went on to tell when he was married, by whom, etc., the same story as he had told a week ago.

But he was soon stopped by the magistrate, who then stroked the news to him, about his story being a falsehood.

"And what do you think about that?" asked the magistrate.

"I don't know what to think about it," replied the accused.

"Well, I will remain you for another week," said the magistrate.

As he was being led away, the prisoner asked the magistrate for a private audience, claiming he had something of great interest to tell him.

The magistrate said that he would grant the request.

Corra Bennett was then arraigned, and told that she would be remanded for another week.

Immigration agent, Capt. Goetzman, is interesting himself in the case, and as the couple are natives of the United States, made application to Ottawa, for papers for their deportation, and is now awaiting them. It is altogether likely that they will arrive in the course of a few days, and then the couple will be sent across the border.
