Tips For Farmers BY UNCLE JOSE.

It was harvest time and the feast given to the farm hands was about to commence. Giles was the oldest hand, and the hostess motioned him to the seat by her right hand. But Giles remained silently unresponsive.

On Corn Ensilage. Speaking at the Guelph Winter Fair Prof. Day said: Corn ensilage is particularly valuable as a feed for dairy cattle, because of its succulence. It is true that one of the largest condensers in the United States absolutely refuses to allow the feeding of ensilage, but some other condensers encourage the use of it.

Some have used ensilage in the feeding of sheep. In our own experiments I have not been satisfied with the results in the lamb crop when ensilage was fed to sheep. Personally I prefer roots for this purpose but some people have had fine results. For horses only a limited quantity of ensilage should be fed, and with hogs it may be used satisfactorily only for the purpose of giving a variety to the feed where there are no roots available.

Corn ensilage will give twenty-six and a half per cent. of digestible matter and a half per cent. for swells, turnips and a less quantity for mangers. These figures are based on American investigations, and it is probable that our turnips would show less dry matter because they are more succulent as a rule, than those produced in the United States.

Gluten feed contains usually about twenty per cent. of protein. It is, many, a by-product of a breakfast food is lower in protein than whole corn and is lower even in carbohydrates. It is not, therefore, worth as much for feed as whole corn.

Caseln or Cheese? Partly as a result of the reduction in the duty on cream entering the United States from Canada, and partly owing to other causes, a new departure is developing in connection with the dairy industry of Ontario. No less than seventeen factories in the Brockville district have been separating milk supplies them during the past summer and shipping cream and caseln contents to the United States. The cream in some cases goes for American city consumption and in other cases to be made into butter in American factories. The caseln is used in connection with the manufacture of paper and for other purposes. The factories which have done this have obtained for their patrons about $1 per cent. for the milk supplied by the latter, or some 15c. more than would have been obtained from the manufacture of cheese.

In Western Ontario eight or ten factories are engaged in the extraction of caseln for export to the United States, but in these cases the fat from the milk is as a rule made into butter for the supply of the local market.

Live Stock Condition in Canada. A report issued by the census office at Ottawa says that the number of horses in Canada shows an increase of 2.31 per cent. over last year. In milk cows there has been an increase of 1.13 per cent. in swine 2.11 per cent., and in poultry 8.02 per cent. The number of sheep on the other hand has decreased by 1.55 per cent., and the number of cattle other than milk cows by 2.20 per cent.

In Ontario a decrease is reported in the number of all farm animals during the year, with the exception of swine, where there is an increase of 6.20 per cent., and in poultry 2.26 per cent. The decline in horses, and milk cows in Ontario is exceedingly small, but in horned cattle there has been a decline of 12.39, and in sheep 5.02 per cent.

Marketing Eggs. John A. Gunn, vice-president of Gunn, Langlois company, limited, Montreal, dealt with the dealers' difficulties in marketing eggs. He said that it was estimated that in Canada this year the total production of poultry will be 25,000,000 head, and that the value of the poultry and eggs in Canada this year is $48,000,000. He declared the dealers' great difficulties were: First, the shortage of eggs and a lack of uniform supply; second, the cost of collecting eggs; third, the absence of standards and of necessary legislation. The shortage was proven by the fact that last year there was imported into Canada from Russia, China and the United States, over half a million dozen eggs. Mr. Gunn asked if it would not be possible, by hatching out a few early pullets, to continue the egg supply during the late fall and winter. He declared that in spite of the large number of eggs put away in the spring in cold storage, his firm stands prepared to pay forty-five cents a dozen, delivered at Montreal, for every guaranteed new laid egg that can be delivered now. He placed the average preventable loss at seventeen per cent., made up as follows: Spoiled and dirty eggs, 10 per cent.; normally and bad flavor, 5 per cent.; breakage, two; chick development, five; held eggs, five; rotten, two and one-half. And he placed at $1,850,000 the sum which could be saved to Canada's farmers each year on eggs. He told of the loss in the United States to cover the sale of rotten eggs, and
