THE WEEK OF PRAYER MEETINGS ANOTHER WEEK.

The Services This Week Have Been Very Successful—Rev. T. W. Neal Was the Speaker Friday Evening.

Rev. T. W. Neal was the speaker at the week of prayer services in the Salvation Army Citadel on Friday evening. He took for his subject, "After the Revival, What?" He said that after the revival there should be a better church—a church characterized by (1) a stimulating fellowship. The apostles Peter, John and Paul looked upon the church as a brotherhood, and if they do not find it in the church they will seek it where it is to be found. "We cannot live on sermons alone. Out of this need for fellowship has come the class meeting, and the Christian Endeavor.

(2) A vital faith in the great truths of the gospel, and in immediate fruits from the faithful offer of salvation. We should look for definite results from our regular services. (3) After the revival an intelligent cooperation of our church forces, resulting in a greater percentage of church members in active service. The fields are white unto harvest; greater interest in Sunday school work; larger attendance at the mid-week services; better homes. The strength of the church is in the homes of the people. The mightiest church since 1800 is the Church of Scotland, and the secret is to be found in the fact that every house "is a house of prayer." No literature contains a finer picture than the "Cotters' Saturday Night." After the revival personal continuous consecration. The service was largely attended, and was so full of interest that the alliance decided to continue the services next week in Queen Street Methodist church, Rev. T. W. Neal being requested to take charge of the after service each evening. At last night's service three persons declared their purpose to live a Christian life.

FIRST ONE TO CROSS

ON ICE TO CITY WAS THE VETERAN WILLIAM CARD.

Steamer Wolfe Islander in Quarters at Garden Island—Council All Elected by Acclamation for the First Time in Years.

Wolfe Island, Jan. 6.—To the veteran, John Card, belongs the honor of reaching the city with the first horse, on Friday, P. McDermott and James Davis crossed also, with horses, later in the day, Thursday being stormy and the crossing bad. The island did not have any mail, Lewis Larush, who is a great ice yacht enthusiast crossed to the city safely on Thursday with two travellers.

The steamer Wolfe Islander, made her last trip on Wednesday, Jan. 4th. She made her last trip last season, on Jan. 3rd. She was put into winter quarters at Garden Island. From the discussion that was put forth by the ratemakers on nomination day, with regard to enlarging her, with very few exceptions the unanimous opinion was to leave her as she is, and it necessarily requires it, make more trips.

It is the first time in the memory of the writer that the council was all elected by acclamation, which speaks volumes for the old council as the same members will again do business with the exception of John Flynn, who has been a very efficient councillor for the past two years, but retired at the end of the year, much against the wish of the ratemakers. N. G. Woodman takes his seat.

It is to be regretted that the Island Hockey club in its wisdom has not decided to again conduct a skating rink as it did last winter. Its rink last winter was a great source of enjoyment.

Duff Cosgrove, the popular and efficient teacher of the village separate school, has been re-engaged. Some of the schools have not opened, owing it appears to a dearth of qualified teachers.

Miss Irene Coyle, the nevr-married daughter of Mrs. James Coyle, is tented leaving next week for Toronto to attend normal. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Larush are the proud possessors of a young son, Henry Klackay, is leaving material to his village residence in the spring. William Hoine has taken an interest in the Kingston and Cape Vincent stage company. The travelling public can certainly depend on receiving courteous treatment from his hands. He is also an expert in crossing the American channel.

DEATH AT SEELEY'S BAY

Of Mrs. James Donnelly—Orange-men Elect Officers.

Seeley's Bay, Jan. 6.—Mrs. C. Donnelly, widow of the late James Donnelly, died Jan. 1st, aged seventy-one years. Death was caused by a general breaking up of the system and old age. The funeral took place, on Wednesday, 4th inst., at St. Barnaby's church, Brewer's Mills, Rev. Fr. Tynan officiating. After the services the body was placed in the vault. The deceased was an old and highly respected resident. She leaves three sons, Lawrence, of Rochester, N.Y.; Anna, at home, and Allie, who resides near by, and two sisters, Mrs. C. O'Connor, of Long Point; Marie McArdle, in Nebraska, and a brother, John McArdle, of Gapanoque.

The following officers of L.O.L. No. 13, were elected and installed: P.M., McAlonan; W.M., Joseph Gamford; D.M., George Moore; chaplain, A. Neale; R.S., Henry Willis; F.S., J. A. Steacy; treasurer, G. C. Chapman; D. of C., J. McAlonan; lecturers, T. M. Brady, P. Nedlow. The lodge is in a flourishing condition.

J. A. Steacy has erected a new oil warehouse. William Maxwell, has purchased the James Carley farm. J. Adams, of Kingston, spent the holidays here, returning home last Monday. William Moore, of Cass, Michigan, is visiting here, the first time for eight years. Oscar Johnson, of Toronto, after spending his holidays here, returned to Toronto, on Tuesday. H. F. Gilbert has returned home after several months' absence in the North West. H. G. Gilbert is getting his skating rink ready.

Married at Seeley's Bay.

Seeley's Bay, Jan. 6.—A pretty wedding was solemnized, on Wednesday evening, December 28th, at five o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Simpson, Seeley's Bay, when Rev. Mr. Curtis united their second eldest daughter, Miss Leonard, to G. W. Glass, a popular young man of Toronto. The strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Celia McAvoy, the bride entered the drawing room on the arm of her father, and looked charming in a dress of white ecru, trimmed with satin and pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses, her only ornament being a crescent brooch, set with emeralds and pearls, the gift of the groom. The drawing room was tastefully decorated with evergreens, the arch being ornamented with roses, pink and white, under which the happy couple took their bonds of matrimony. After congratulations, all repaired to the well-arranged dining room, where about sixty guests sat down to a bounteous repast. Mr. and Mrs. Glass left, amid showers of rice, to take the train for London, Toronto and other points, after which they will reside in Toronto. The bride's going-away gown was an amethyst suit, with picture hat to match. The many presents, including several cheques, testified to the esteem and popularity of the young couple.

Some Rules for a Wife's Guidance.

If your husband comes home tired at night and wants to change himself on the sofa after dinner and rest, don't let him. Insist on his putting on evening clothes and going somewhere. He needs a change, not rest. Encourage his buying new clothes in every way in your power. This will always furnish you with an excuse to do the same.

If you have an engagement to meet him at a given place at a given hour, remember that promptness is an invaluable asset and never be more than twenty minutes or half an hour late. Do not burst into tears ever, unless you feel that it is absolutely unnecessary.

Have a scrap with him at regular intervals in order not to let the good old home traditions die out.

If you have passed middle age, and have lost the charm of youth, always insist that your husband kiss you when, after a visit away from home, you alight from a railway train.

If he has some little imperfection which annoys him, the wife is to remind him of it six times, in quick succession, then skip three, then six, and so on.

Got Past the Game Warden.

The telephone bell in the county clerk's office rang rather merrily at a quarter of five the other afternoon, while a reporter was seated just beside it hastily scribbling away on a dry court docket.

"Hey, You Courier, answer that 'phone," broke the stillness. Grabbing the 'phone the reporter placed the receiver to his ear and took part in a conversation something like this:

"Is this the court house?"

"Yes, ma'am, it is."

"Well, is this the place to get a license?"

"Most people get them here, unless they go to Chicago or Henderson."

"Well, could I get a license in this night? Will you be open?"

This was a brazer, so the mere reporter had to ask questions, only to learn that nothing definite had been decided on, and he had to tell the girl she had better drop around between 4 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

"Do you want a—er—bunting license or a marriage license, nothing?"

"Bunting license, nothing. I've already captured it. I've got a man here I want to marry."—Evansville Courier.

Not the Same.

On one occasion when "The Mikado" was being rehearsed Gilbert called out from the middle of the stalls, "There is a gentleman in the left group not holding his fan correctly." The stage manager appeared and explained. "There is one gentleman," he said, "who is absent through illness."

"Ah," came the reply from the author in grave, matter-of-fact tones, "that is not the gentleman I am referring to."—Dundee Advertiser.
