A Scepter's Bay Wedding.

Scepter's Bay, Jan. 21.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Simpson, near Scepter's Bay, was the scene of a happy event on the evening of January 21st, when their only daughter, Ruth Mae, became the bride of Ernest Rosentre, a prosperous young tradesman of Morton. The bride was a vision of loveliness, dressed in blue shot chignon tulle, tastefully trimmed with all-over lace and pearl ornaments. Her long white veil was caught up with a wreath of lilies of the valley, and she carried a shower bouquet of carnations. Her only ornament was a gold locket and chain, worn by her mother a quarter of a century ago, when she was a bride. The bride was escorted by her father to a beautiful green arch, beautifully trimmed with wedding bells and gilt stars. Mrs. Frederick Jackson presided at the wedding bell March in sweet tones. The bride was attended by Miss Mildred Molten, of Berrytown, who was becomingly attired in tawn silk with trimmings of silk net and applique. Burns Simpson, brother of the bride, was best man. Rev. J. A. McDonald, of Ramseyville, former pastor of that circuit, performed the ceremony. Afterwards the many guests sat down to a sumptuous repast. The tables were decorated with pink and white carnations. The evening was pleasantly spent in games and music. The many costly presents testify to the popularity of the young couple. Among them was a fur-trimmed coat from the bride's father and mother. The bride and groom left for Kingston and Watertown and other places and on their return will reside in Morton. The bride travelled in a suit of Hamilt broadcloth, with silk plush hat to match.

A SCHEME EXPOSED

HOW AMERICAN PAPERS GET SOCIETY "NEWS."

The London Times Reproduces a Letter of an American Woman to an English Butler Offering Money for Gossip.

London, Jan. 23.—The Times of Saturday, published a remarkable exposure of the manner in which some American newspapers get society gossip and "news." The Times unfortunately does not give the offender's full name or address. It is content to describe her as Harriet Blank. It seems she wrote a letter to a butler who advertised for a situation, wherein she said:

"I shall be pleased to hear from you if you have half an hour to spare once or twice a week and would care to turn it into cash by writing me a long, gossip letter about well-known people in English society who stay in houses where you are employed. I pay liberally and settle each month. I write for some American papers which insist on having current gossip, amusing stories, etc., about well-known people over here and I buy large quantities of such letters regularly.

"If you think you would care to double or treble your salary in this way, write me a good specimen letter. I will then write you more fully as to terms. To give you an idea of what I buy I may say that just now anything about— Here follow the names of a dozen persons well known on both sides of the Atlantic. It may readily be imagined that nothing could so stir the British ire as this to violate privacy. The Times heads a scorching leader on the letter. 'A New Past of Society.'

FARMERS' BANK AFFAIRS.

Winding-up Order—Wishart Tells of His Connection.

Toronto, Jan. 23.—Justice Riddell, this morning granted the final winding-up order in connection with the Farmers' Bank, appointing Geoffrey T. Clarkson, as liquidator. This disposes of several other applications from various creditors who desired to take up final closing affairs of the bank.

What Wishart Tells.

New York, Jan. 23.—George Wishart, broker, wanted in the Farmers' Bank case has told the whole story of his dealings. He said Nesbitt and Travers were both down to see him more than once, trying to induce him to take stock in the Kesley mine. He finally agreed to take a large block, placing ten thousand dollars cash toward the working expenses, then giving a note for a large balance, which was discounted by the bank. He said he was engaged to sell stock in England, but the bank repudiated the deal and left him in the lurch. He is prepared to give evidence against Dr. Beattie Nesbitt.

ASKS FOR $940,000.

For Lumber Land Taken for Adirondack Park.

Watertown, Jan. 23.—Mrs. Mary Fisher, of this city, has filed a claim against the state in an endeavor to collect $940,000, which she contends the state owes her on a lumber deal. The woman seems to have sold to the St. Regis Paper company of this city, growing timber on her land in the town of Webb, the paper company to cut at least 20,000 cords each year at $2.50 a cord. The St. Regis company did so until 1909, when the state appropriated the land for an Adirondack park. The woman claims that at that time there remained uncut 90,921 cords, which, with other damages, she thinks figures close to a million dollars.

HALLS OF QUEEN'S SERVICES FOR MEN

REV. EBER CRUMMY IS TO BE INVITED

To Look After the Spiritual Welfare of the Students—Varsity Declined to Postpone Debate With Queen's.

By Our Queen's Correspondent.
It was announced in the Whig over a week ago that a substantial movement was on foot at Queen's University for the appointment of a college chaplain. It is further to be stated that this evening a deputation of students will meet the faculty of Queen's to go thoroughly into the question. The scheme that the students are promoting is intensely practical, and it is altogether likely that with the commencement of next fall's session the present proposition will be put into practice. The students already are at one as to who should first fill the honored office. It is understood Rev. Eber Crummy, of Winnipeg, who was for several years pastor of Brock Street Methodist church, in this city, will be invited to return to his Alma Mater to direct the spiritual welfare of all students at the Presbyterian College.

The graduating class in theology at Queen's this session is unusually small, only four students will go up for final examinations.

Several weeks ago Varsity approached Queen's for a postponement of the Intercollegiate debate, from Friday, January 20th, until Tuesday, January 24th. The local students acceded to the request. Last Friday, W. C. Clark, Queen's senior debater, contracted mumps. Varsity was asked for a postponement, but very curtly replied that such a reprieve would be absolutely impossible. Queen's men cannot understand Varsity's action, and at present are obliged to consider it as being of infinitely small proportions. However, the hope of the Presbyterians has in no way been abandoned. Dow Corbett, M.A., was asked by the committee to take the place vacated by Mr. Clark. With only three days for preparation, Mr. Corbett has accepted, and the hope of every Queen's student is that in spite of adverse circumstances and the unbending action of the sister institution, a more brilliant victory may be brought home. The question for debate is, "Resolved, that the evils arising from party government are greater than the benefits." Queen's will present the negative side of the argument.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SERVICE

In Sydenham Street Church Last Evening.

The young people's service at Sydenham street Methodist church, last evening, was inspiring. The congregational singing, led by the orchestra, was excellent. A quartette sang with fine effect "One Sweetly Solemn Thought." The sermon, by Rev. T. W. Neal, on "A Young Man's Religion and His Father's Faith," was listened to with rapt attention.

After speaking of the religious condition of the present age, and the deficiency of what is real and essential in Christian life and service, the preacher spoke of three fundamentals, the fundamental need, the fundamental problem and the fundamental solution. The text was "Nevertheless the foundation of God standeth sure." The service closed with a strong appeal to young men to turn to Jesus Christ as the sure foundation of life. A number responded and gave the pastor their names.

The after-service, which overflowed the church lecture-room and parlors, was conducted by the students of Queen's university. Rev. J. W. Neal, on behalf of Sydenham street church, and Mr. Stewart, president of Queen's Y.M.C.A., on behalf of the students, both expressed their pleasure at the co-operation between the religious forces of the city and the students of the university. Last night's service was a practical demonstration of the possibilities of such co-operation.

At the afternoon session of the Bible school, young people were received into church membership and others are to be received next Sunday morning.

AGED MAN'S PLIGHT.

Given Shelter at Police Station Two Nights.

"Joe" Park, an Indian, a well-known character in this vicinity, is in a sad plight. He has no home, and for the past couple of nights he has been given shelter at the police station. It is claimed that he is about one hundred years old. It will be remembered that some few weeks ago, he was given shelter at the police station a couple of nights, and at that time it was reported that steps would be taken to have him placed in a home. However, it appears that no action has as yet been taken. This morning he left the police station, after spending the night there, but at noon he was back at the station again, and asked to be given shelter, stating that it was too cold for a tramp out into the country, where he intended to go to stay with friends.

LAYMEN'S MOVEMENT.
Its Purposes Presented by the General Assembly.

On Sunday evening, Herbert Caskey, Toronto, general secretary of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, gave a clear-cut address in Chalmers church. He presented the purpose of the Laymen's Movements and vividly showed that the aggressive church was the one that looked beyond itself. The church giving largest to missions found workers and helpers in evangelism at home. Christ came to save the world; His representatives should be imbued with the same purpose. Rev. Dr. Macgillivray warmly commended the address; it was God-inspired as was also the plan developed. He called on his people for larger service and larger liberality. Miss Hazel Massie sang, "The Ninety and Nine," in fine voice.

Mr. Caskey, who was the speaker at the morning service in Sydenham street Methodist church and with a business-like style and an American twang, gave forth the claims of the world to be evangelized and the demand that Christians do their part in carrying forward the message. The movement was simply an aid to the church organizations; its aim was to stimulate the Christian world to spread broadcast the redeeming love of Christ.

LOCAL POLICE ON LOOK-OUT
For Man Wanted for Shooting at Montreal.

All day Sunday the local police were on the lookout for a man named Frederick Brown, wanted at Montreal, for shooting Robert Ford, late Saturday night. Brown made his escape, and it was believed that he had made for Kingston, so as to get across the border. However, he did not show himself to the local police.

The shooting occurred on the sidewalk, at the corner of St. Antoine and Bisson streets. Both men are colored, and the shooting followed a quarrel over a woman and a money debt. The row started in a billiard-room, and was continued out on the street.

It is believed that Brown got away on a train which pulled out just after the shooting, and before the police arrived on the scene.

To-day it was learned that a man answering Brown's description, had been taken in charge at Peterboro.

An Amherst Island Wedding.

Amherst, Jan. 16.—A very quiet wedding took place on January 11th, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Arwed Burleigh, when their eldest daughter, Miss Ellen J., was united in marriage to James Strain, both of Amherst Island. The ceremony was performed by Rev. James Cumberland, M.A. The bride, who was given away by her father, entered the parlor leaving on his arm, at seven o'clock. Very pretty she looked in a princess gown of amethyst panama, elaborately trimmed with braiding around the silk yoke and skirt, and also down the front panel. Miss Nancy Burleigh, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and wore a princess dress of blue panama trimmed with braiding. David Strain, brother of the groom, was best man. Only the intimate friends of the bride and groom were present. After the ceremony the wedding party partook of a sumptuous repast. The health of the bride and groom was drunk and pieces of wedding cake distributed. The happy pair departed, next morning, to visit Buffalo and Niagara Falls. When they return they are to reside on Amherst Island. The bride received a large number of beautiful and costly presents.

The reduction works at Deloro, running on Cobalt ore, are turning out three tons of silver weekly, and a quantity of arsenic and cobalt.
