

THE important ingredient in Santol Liquid Shampoo is Olive Oil, the best of hair cleansers. Produces a copious lather. Cleans the scalp of dandruff. The result is strong, healthy hair. Its use weekly (with Santol Hair Tonic, daily) will avert baldness through its cleaning, stimulating properties.

OUR ROOSTER BRAND Of Smoking and Chewing Tobacco at forty-five cents a pound is a good tobacco. Why pay eighty-five? ANDREW MACLEAN, Ontario Street.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound. The greatest Tonic for the scalp and the most effective treatment for itching, dandruff, and all scalp troubles. It is a most pleasant toilet necessity, is delicately perfumed and will not gum nor permanently stain the hair.

PRESERVE YOUR COSTLY PLUMES. The life of your finest feathers and plumes may be easily prolonged and look always new-like if sent here to be cleaned or dyed as may seem best.

R. PARKER & CO., Dry Cleaning, 60 Princess St., Kingston, Ont.

Royal Household Flour AND Rideau Hall Coffee. A fresh supply just in. See our Meat Department Tomorrow, the quality is the best.

C. H. Pickering, Cor. Princess St. and University Ave. Phone 530.

For Your Hair Here Are Facts We Want You to Prove at Our Risk.

When the roots of the hair are entirely dead and the pores of the scalp are glazed over, we do not believe that anything can restore hair growth. Resall '93' Hair Tonic acts scientifically, destroying the germs which are usually responsible for baldness. It penetrates to the roots of the hair, stimulating and nourishing them.

SHOE BARGAINS Men's Pat. Colt Bl., $5.00, reduced to $3.75

Men's Low Winter Calf Bl., heavy double soles to heel, $3.79

Men's Box Calf Bl. Goodyear welt, $3.50, reduced to $2.79

Ladies' Felt Slippers, 25c, 44c, 48 and 58c.

JUST ARRIVED Ladies' Black Velvet Ankle Strap Pumps, high Cuban heel, very neat, $3.00

The Sawyer Shoe Store 212 Princess St. PHONE 159.

HONESTY IN POKER

NO RASCALS OR "TIN-HORNS" WANTED IN GAME

Jack London Tells of How Gambling Was Carried On in the Days When Alaska Was "Good."

A poker game supplies one of the big scenes in Jack London's latest novel, "Burning Daylight." The scene is the Tivoli, an Alaskan saloon.

"In Alaska at that time," writes London, "there were no rascals and no tinhorn gamblers. Games were conducted honestly and men trusted one another."

Under these happy conditions Elan Kearns, called "Burning Daylight," Jack Kearns, the proprietor of the saloon, and two of its patrons, are made to play.

"Daylight leaned back in his chair"—thus draws near the climactic moment and gazes up at the kerosene lamp, while he computed aloud.

"Nary dawg. You-all can win my dust and dirt, but nary one of my dawgs. I just call."

"Macdonald considered for a long time. No one moved or whispered. Not a muscle relaxed on the part of the onlookers."

"If anybody else wins they'll have to take a mortgage on the Tivoli."

"The other two players nodded. 'So I call to."

"Macdonald added his slip for five thousand."

"Not one of them claimed the pot, and not one of them called the size of his hand. Simultaneously and in silence they faced their cards on the table, while a general tip-toeing and craning of necks took place among the onlookers."

"That's what cheered me along, Mac. I knowed it was only kings that could beat me, and he had 'em."

"Kearns attempted to count the pot, but was too excited. Daylight drew it across to him, with firm fingers separating and stacking the markers and the I.O.U.'s, and with clear brain adding the sum."

"One hundred and twenty-seven thousand," he announced.

Improvement in Military Forces. A speech by Major-General Lake.

He had just returned from military service in Canada, and he knew that there was no possible comparison between the Canadian forces of to-day and those of ten years ago.

"There is," he added, "one thing we have not yet got. His majesty's commission should confer the power to command in all the imperial forces throughout the empire."

A Ridiculous Verdict. Woman's National Daily.

That was a humorous jury in Philadelphia, which brought in a verdict against three corporations for rebating, and recommended them to the mercy of the court.

The rebating corporations were fined one hundred and twenty thousand dollars, when they might have been fined fifty times that much.

Smuggled Arms for Rebels. Mexico City, Jan. 27.—El Pais printed the following despatch from Juarez:

"Many persons in this city and in El Paso declare that the night before last a strong party of rebels was observed protecting the smuggling of a shipment of arms across the Rio Grande, six miles west of Guadalupe, a small town east of here."

"More than 200 mules were employed in its transfer to the river. There it was delivered into the hands of the rebels without having been examined by the government agents."

The rebels took a route south, as though heading for Ojinaga, or the Hacienda San Carlos.

The Manitoba Grain Growers and the Trades and Labor Council will confer in an endeavor to unite in the fight for free trade.

Sir William Mackenzie is reported to have been robbed by a car porter of a thousand dollars on his last trip to Ottawa.

The bar will have occupation just so long as we credit his work.

DYSPEPSIA-PROOF

How Any Meal Can Be Thoroughly Enjoyed by Any Stomach.

Costs You Nothing to Try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Men, as a rule, are first discovered by their enemies. Their antagonists turn on the searchlight, and the proof of merit will lie in being able to stand the flash.

It was only in this way that Mr. White ever knew that dyspepsia was one of Mr. Black's worst enemies.

Oyster Cocktail. Stuffed Olives. Boston Clam Chowder. Strained Gumbo.

Boiled Ox Tongue with Sauerkraut. Lobster a la Newburg. Baked Pork and Beans.

Mr. White ordered a "little of each." Mr. Dyspepsia Black ordered crackers and a glass of milk.

"I'm afraid you can't stand the cream, Mr. Black. Why don't you say you have dyspepsia and be done with it?"

"There is a tablet that contains an ingredient, one grain of which digests 3,000 grains of food."

"That really gives relief. The reason is it relieves the stomach of nearly all the work it has to do, digests everything in the stomach and stimulates the gastric juice."

"Send us your name and address to-day and we will at once send you by mail a sample package, free."

SCHOOLS OF ONTARIO. English Must Be Only Language Used in Teaching.

Toronto, Jan. 27.—In the Ontario legislature, notice was given by G. H. Ferguson, of Greenville, that he would, on Friday, move the following resolution:

"That in the opinion of this house, no language other than the English language should be used as a medium of instruction in the schools of this province."

"That in the opinion of this house, no language other than the English language should be used as a medium of instruction in the schools of this province."

President McKinley's Message. When President McKinley was in office, his mother lay dying in Canton, Ohio, several hundred miles away.

"Tell mother I'll be there, in answer to her prayer."

"Tell mother I'll be there, Heaven's joys with her to share, Yes, tell my darling mother I'll be there."

At one sitting he devoured twelve big loaves of bread, three large veal pies, two pounds of butter, two dozen eggs and a number of other dishes.

At Sir William St. Ledger's house, on a wager, he ate as much as would suffice for thirty men and afterwards slept for eight hours.

Another time, challenged to see what he could do to show away edibles at one sitting, he devoured twelve big loaves of bread, three large veal pies, two pounds of butter, two dozen eggs and a number of other dishes.

At one sitting he ate a whole sheep and the scalded three pecks of damson plums.

Two loins of mutton and one loin of veal were an every-day meal for him.

At Sir William St. Ledger's house, on a wager, he ate as much as would suffice for thirty men and afterwards slept for eight hours.

Another time, challenged to see what he could do to show away edibles at one sitting, he devoured twelve big loaves of bread, three large veal pies, two pounds of butter, two dozen eggs and a number of other dishes.

At one sitting he ate a whole sheep and the scalded three pecks of damson plums.

Two loins of mutton and one loin of veal were an every-day meal for him.

At Sir William St. Ledger's house, on a wager, he ate as much as would suffice for thirty men and afterwards slept for eight hours.

Another time, challenged to see what he could do to show away edibles at one sitting, he devoured twelve big loaves of bread, three large veal pies, two pounds of butter, two dozen eggs and a number of other dishes.

ROYAL PERSONAGES

WHO HAVE MARRIED MORGANATIC WIVES.

Marriages Which Have Been Embarrassing to the State—An Institution Which Had Its Origin in Germany.

At the present time there are two queens whose paternal grandmothers were morganatic wives. The one is the Queen of England, the other the Queen of Spain.

The Queen of England's grandmother was a noble Hungarian lady. She was married in 1835 morganatically to Duke Alexander of Wurtemberg, and died six years later, leaving behind her a little boy of four, the late Duke of Teck.

The heir to the throne of the Emperor of Austria, his nephew, the Archduke Franz Ferdinand, who paid a flying visit to London for the funeral of King Edward, had a morganatic wife, who is now known as the Duchess of Hohenberg.

The expected rarely comes to pass. There was once, long ago, a German prince, the Duke of Saxe-Meinungen, who fell so much in love with his beautiful morganatic wife that he vowed to make her his lawful wife, and her son the heir to the dukedom.

There have also been one or two such marriages in the Italian royal family. Victor Emmanuel, gallant in love as in war, had a morganatic wife. Probably the obstacle in the way of the union of a young American lady to the King of Italy's cousin, the Count of Turin, which has filled so much space in the newspapers for months and years past, is because her friends are not willing that she should be a morganatic consort. Quite right, too.

It must be understood, however, that there is nothing dishonorable to either party in a morganatic marriage, but rather the reverse. Most royalties who contract such a union would, no doubt, like to make their wives their full legitimate spouses, with a right of succession to the rank and fortunes to which the private laws (the by-laws one might almost call them) of the royal houses of Europe are too firmly founded for them to overthrow.

An attempt was made in Germany, centuries ago, to run a royal and morganatic wife simultaneously, but the practice did not meet with much approval or imitation. People were scandalized, and a brother of Prince Rupert, and consequently a cousin of Charles II, was the last to try a plurality of wives.

In England the marriages of royalties are regulated by an act of parliament passed early in the reign of George III, because two royal dukes had married outside their order. That act commands that no descendant of George II (except those married to foreigners) can marry without the consent of the sovereign, but if he withholds his consent then the constant one can please himself at last by giving twelve months' notice to the privy council. The last instance of an English royalty marrying beneath his rank was in the case of the late Duke of Cambridge, who married an actress, who took the name of Mrs. Fitz-George. Her children, of course, inherited none of their father's royal title and honors. It is understood that in these marriages the bridegroom gives the bride his left hand, and that the word morganatic is derived from "morgan-gate" or "morgan-gift" which is the custom of the bridegroom to give his left-handed bride the morning after the nuptials.

The institution, as I have said, flourished first of all in Germany, and the idea was probably suggested by that form of marriage which was known as "Cosmoptio" among the ancient Romans. It was found to be a convenient means of defeating the evil effect resulting from the equal division of a prince's lands among his sons, as was the custom in Germany. When the Duke of Brunswick, great-grandfather of George I, died, his seven sons made a voluntary agreement among themselves to take morganatic wives, all except one who was chosen by lot. In this way all the lands came eventually to that one, the sixth son, and as they had agreed at the same time to recognize the principle of primogeniture, the unity of the estates was assured in perpetuity.

While the house laws of royalty remain what they are these morganatic marriages are extremely salutary makeshifts—they introduce fresh blood, which the modern science of eugenics has taught us is absolutely necessary to avoid insanity and the other evils which are the effect of long-continued in-breeding.

Twenty-three Fifty Buys a lady's beautiful fur-lined coat at Campbell Bros.' big clearing sale.

Figures would never lie if they were not governed by a liar.

DIFFERENCE SHOWN.

The Liberals and the Conservatives in Theology.

By J. Tallman Pletcher, in Christian Guardian. Charles Kingsley lived when there was a great conflict over science and religion. The pulpit, the platform, the press, and the college professors all engaged in the war. In writing to a friend, Kingsley said, "Science and religion will yet shake hands if we will only leave them alone," and his prophecy has been fulfilled.

There are many of us who believe the same about the present discussions between what may be termed the liberals and the conservatives in theology. Leave them alone, and in their honest and reverent research they will find a common ground of agreement, and their conclusions may be nearer the truth than at present appears.

In the meantime, we have enough work to do and enough undisputed truth to hold and to teach. "The Word of the Lord liveth and abideth forever." The dispute is mainly over things that are dead and conscience and heart will. It takes the very vitalities of the Christian life and binds them together in an organism of systematic thinking. It is not a substitute for experience. It is experience flowering into adequate speech."

ORGANIST REMEMBERED. Presentation at an Event in Harrowsmith.

Harrowsmith, Jan. 25.—On Monday last, the choir of the Methodist church spent a very pleasant evening at the home of J. S. Gallagher, M.P.P. During the evening, the organist, Miss Pearl McLean, was presented with an address and a set of ebony and sterling silver, on behalf of the choir and friends in the congregation.

Miss McLean leaves shortly for Utica, N. Y., where she will enter St. Luke's hospital, as nurse-in-training. Her many friends regret her departure but wish her every success in her new sphere of labor.

On Jan. 12th, Miss Annie Shibley entertained a number of her friends at a thimble party. Thomas Ducker is recovering slowly from his recent illness. Mrs. Caverly has been seriously ill for some time. The friends of Mrs. Geo. Redmond were shocked to hear of her serious illness. While visiting at Sydenham, Mrs. Redmond was stricken with a stroke of paralysis.

Mrs. Godfrey and family have moved into the house formerly occupied by J. Hughes, Main street.

T. F. Harrison, Kingston, secretary of the Laymen's Missionary Movement will be the speaker at the missionary anniversary services to be held in the Methodist church, on Sunday next. Reeve Stewart is at present in Kingston, attending the meeting of the county council. J. S. Gallagher, M.P.P., left Monday, for Toronto, to be present at the opening session of the legislature. The Harrowsmith hockey team, who routed the Sydenhamites on the local ice last week journeyed to Sydenham for the return match to-day. The carnival held on Saturday night was a decided success.

Miss Myrtle Gallagher left on Tuesday to visit relatives in Smith's Falls. Miss Gill and Miss Henry, Kingston, spent the week-end with Mrs. J. A. Waddell, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hughes, Pleasant Valley, visited Mr. and Mrs. F. Walker, on Wednesday. Mrs. J. A. Waddell, is spending a few days with her parents, in Kingston. Miss Maud Patterson, is visiting her sister, Mrs. L. Gallagher, Wilton. Miss Winter Yeager, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. John Shibley.

An English Glutton. M. A. P. London.

Nicholas Wood, of Kent, Eng., a farmer, was the greatest consumer of food in the seventeenth century.

At one sitting he ate a whole sheep and the scalded three pecks of damson plums.

Two loins of mutton and one loin of veal were an every-day meal for him.

At Sir William St. Ledger's house, on a wager, he ate as much as would suffice for thirty men and afterwards slept for eight hours.

Another time, challenged to see what he could do to show away edibles at one sitting, he devoured twelve big loaves of bread, three large veal pies, two pounds of butter, two dozen eggs and a number of other dishes.

At one sitting he ate a whole sheep and the scalded three pecks of damson plums.

Two loins of mutton and one loin of veal were an every-day meal for him.

At Sir William St. Ledger's house, on a wager, he ate as much as would suffice for thirty men and afterwards slept for eight hours.

Another time, challenged to see what he could do to show away edibles at one sitting, he devoured twelve big loaves of bread, three large veal pies, two pounds of butter, two dozen eggs and a number of other dishes.

At one sitting he ate a whole sheep and the scalded three pecks of damson plums.

Two loins of mutton and one loin of veal were an every-day meal for him.

At Sir William St. Ledger's house, on a wager, he ate as much as would suffice for thirty men and afterwards slept for eight hours.

Another time, challenged to see what he could do to show away edibles at one sitting, he devoured twelve big loaves of bread, three large veal pies, two pounds of butter, two dozen eggs and a number of other dishes.

At one sitting he ate a whole sheep and the scalded three pecks of damson plums.

Two loins of mutton and one loin of veal were an every-day meal for him.

At Sir William St. Ledger's house, on a wager, he ate as much as would suffice for thirty men and afterwards slept for eight hours.

Another time, challenged to see what he could do to show away edibles at one sitting, he devoured twelve big loaves of bread, three large veal pies, two pounds of butter, two dozen eggs and a number of other dishes.

MAKES FOR PEACE

TREMENDOUS EXPENDITURE UPON ARMIES AND NAVIES.

Editor Hurd Says So—Predicts an English-Speaking Consolidation and in Time an American Japanese Entente.

London, Jan. 27.—The forthcoming issue of the Fortnightly Review will contain a notable article on the subject of an Anglo-American entente, by Editor Archibald S. Hurd, whose writings on naval topics have been widely read. After pointing out the enormous increase in the armaments of all nations, the writer says:

"The higher standard of expenditure upon navies and armies by democratic countries is not a presage of war, but a guarantee of peace. The realization of the increasing horror of war by those who control the affairs of these nations, with their complicated commercial and social systems is making for peace, and also for increased armaments. The terror of war on democracies largely unwelcome must force the statesmen of the world to further efforts towards the consolidation of national interests."

Mr. Hurd says that it will not be an easy matter to reconcile a renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance with the movement for the consolidation of the English-speaking races, but he holds that the Concordat is inevitable and may pave the way for an Anglo-Japanese entente which will ally the nervousness and irritability in Australia and Canada. He concludes that the preparedness of Great Britain and the United States for war is the best omen of world tranquillity.

THE LATE ROBERT S. WATSON. Died in Bay City, Mich.—Was Born in Kingston.

Robert S. Watson, for nine years plumb inspector of Bay City, and for many years prior to that time engaged in business here, died Thursday morning, Jan. 20th, at his home, after an illness extending over several years. His home was at 507 North Jefferson street. His illness for a long time kept him from his duties as inspector, but his many years of faithful service caused the city authorities to wait over a year before steps were finally taken to fill his place with a permanent appointment. He is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Harriet Hood, to whom he was wedded in 1870 in this city; two sons, Ben C. and George F., both of this city; two brothers, Benjamin J. Watson, of Chicago and George Watson, of Kingston, Ont., and two sisters, Nellie Watson and Mrs. Robert Davidson, both of Kingston, Ont.

Robert S. Watson was born in 1849 in Kingston, Ont., and came to Bay City in 1870, he thus being forty years a resident here. He first went with the plumbing and tinning firm of Newton, Pierson & Beach, and remained with that firm and its successor for many years until he became associated with his brother and John P. Tossell under the firm name of Watson Bros. & Tossell. When the state plumbing inspection law was passed, he was appointed plumbing inspector, bringing to that office the knowledge of many years experience. He was a member of Bay City Lodge, F. & A. M., and of Blanchard chapter, R. M.

City and county officials and many others attended the funeral, on Sunday. The services were held at the late residence, where Rev. Mr. Brown of the First Congregational church paid a high tribute to the deceased, referring particularly to his long and faithful service as a public servant.

Members of Bay Lodge, F. & A. M., attended the services at the home in a body and later conducted the Masonic burial service in the chapel at Elm Lawn cemetery. City officials who are Masons acted as pallbearers. The floral offerings, especially those of the city officials and Bay Lodge, were exceptionally beautiful.

Levi Walker Dead. Wilton, Jan. 26.—Levi Walker, a life-long resident of Lapum's, died last week at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. W. Love. Deceased had been in failing health the past year, and with his wife removed to the home of their daughter a few weeks previous. The funeral was conducted at the house by Rev. W. S. Boyce, proceeding thence to the Wilton vault. The body of the late Thomas Love, Yarker, was brought to Wilton vault on Monday. Mr. and Mrs. F. Lake, of Morven, spent Tuesday and Wednesday visiting at W. H. Neilson's and Rev. W. S. Boyce's.

For the Unexpected Guest. Always keep on hand a few tins of Clark's Pork and Beans. This will insure having something good to eat when the butcher disappoints you. All grocers sell Clark's. Wm. Clark, Mr. Montreal.

The honor found among thieves is always questionable.

Notes From Bath. Bath, Jan. 26.—The family of Cyrus Barrage has moved to Collins Bay. Rev. Howard Kennedy, from near Boston, is spending a few days with Mrs. M. H. Peterson, G. A. Wartman was in Nanapanee week attending a session of county council. In the collision at Collins Bay, on Sunday night, the conductor of one of the freight trains was Manson Smith, formerly a resident of these parts, and a son-in-law of Robert Mott.

Wonderful Bargains in Fine Furs—At Campbell Bros.' big annual clearing sale.

As an illustration of the extent of frog eating in Canada it is mentioned that one hotel in Toronto uses from 1,600 to 1,500 pounds of frogs' legs every season.

"Why not forbid marriage to any one whose income is less than $500 a year?" asks American Medicine in a discussion of "Restrictions on Marriage."

"Don't be a broken spoke in the wheel of progress."

BIBBY'S CAR STAND

Phone 201 DAY OR NIGHT

OUR BEAVER BRAND Of Flour is unexcelled for bread or pastry. Price is moderate.

Wood, Lumber, Shingles. Honest Measurement. Low Prices.

N. JACKSON, PLACE D'ARMES, Residence, 280 Bait Street, Phone No. 1019.

Makes Hair Grow. Best has an invigorator that will grow hair or money back.

The time to take care of your hair is when you have hair to take care of.

If your hair is getting thin, gradually falling out, it cannot be long before the spot appears.

The greatest remedy to stop the hair from falling is SALLY, the Great American Hair Grower, first discovered in England. SALLY furnishes nourishment to the hair roots and acts so quickly that people are amazed. A large bottle for 50c.

Special Sale SATURDAY MORNING

350 Yds. Fine Blue Shaker Flannel

Nice even quality, full 25 in. wide, considered good value at 9c yard.

SATURDAY MORNING, 5 1/2c. Yard

200 Yards Fine Dress Gingham

In the ever popular Black and White and Blue and White Checks. Good value at 12 1/2c yard.

TO-MORROW MORNING, 9 1/2c. Yard

25 Wings

From the Millinery Department, as sorted colors, ranging from 60c to $1.25 each.

SPECIAL, 25c. Each

SPECIAL SALE SATURDAY NIGHT.

Crumley Bros.

RUBBERS.

Men's Rubbers, 65 Cents Women's Rubbers, 45 Cents Boys' Rubbers, 45 Cents

SPECIAL

Men's $5.00 and $6.00 Boots, - $3.75 Women's $4.50 and $4.00 Boots, $2.98

REID & CHARLES