THINGS THEATRICAL

NOTES ON PLAYS, PLAYERS, AND PLAYHOUSES.

May Irwin to Appear in "The Merry Wives of Windsor"—Shakespearean Festival at Stratford, England.

Lawrence Irving is to produce "The Lily" in London this month. The farce in which Della Fox will star, "Madame Fiske" is the latest designation for the former Minnie Maddern. Mary Shaw, of Ibsen heroine fame, has succeeded to the title role in "Mother."

Louis Mann will shortly revive Jules Eckert Goodman's comedy, "The Man Who Stood Still."

A new production of Henry B. Harris is to be "Dolly Madison," with Elsie Ferguson as star.

Kyrle Bellew is to be the leading man for an all-star summer stock company in Worcester, Mass.

May Irwin is to appear as "Sir John Falstaff," in "The Merry Wives of Windsor," in Washington in May.

Robert Stuart Pigott is engaged in rehearsing "The Red Cross Princess," which plays at the Princess with a Toronto company shortly.

In Robert Edson's new version of "Where the Trail Divides," a "happy ending" is secured by allowing the noble Indian to retain his bride.

Ethel Barrymore is to revive "Alice-by-The-Fire," using Barrie's "Twelve Pound Look," as a curtain raiser after her present run in "Trelawney of the Wells."

"Le Vieil Homme," a play written more than ten years ago by Georges de Porto-Riche, is the success of the hour at the Renaissance Theatre, Paris.

Grace Van Studdiford and her play, "The Bridal Trip," now called "The Paradise of Mahomet," which was tried out in Kingston has made good in New York.

Anna Held, who has just concluded a London music hall engagement at an enormous salary, announces her return to America next fall in a new musical farce.

Henry Miller is out after abusive critics. "I ask not for less criticism," says he, "but less abuse, and that does not seem to exceed the bounds of reason."

In spite of all predictions and precedent "The Passing of the Third Floor Back" has not passed. Forbes Robertson is still filling his coffers with its profit.

Edgar Atchison-Ely is to be starred next season by the Shuberts in "Cousin Bobby," an operetta by the late Karl Millecke, who wrote "The Beggars Student."

Grace Elliston (a sister of Vance O'Neil) and Olive Wyndham will have the leading roles in "Nobody's Laugh," when produced at the New theatre on February 13th.

New York actors' Church Alliance, decided to establish a hotel at which any stranded member of the profession may find accommodation while waiting for an engagement.

Discouraged by the success of Philadelphia's clergy in banning her performance there of "La Samaritaine," Madame Bernhardt has announced that she will never again play it in America.

Marie Tempest will return in the fall from England, to Maxine Elliott's New York theatre in "The Belltoppers," Paul Kester's dramatization of Andre Castaigne's novel of vaudeville life.

Stanford University last week presented "The Salvation" and "The Nativity," two English miracle plays, which it is said, have not been given since suppressed at the time of the Reformation.

They say Nat Goodwin causes some slight disturbance in his audiences when as Mr. Goughly in "Lend Me Five Shillings" he is asked if he is married and has to reply "I have not that pleasure."

"I think," says Ellen Terry, "that at the present time the greatest attention to the stage is given in Russia. They have the most wonderful, equipped theatres in the world and their actors are splendid."

Frances Starr in "The Easiest Way" had her engagement in Richmond, Va. cancelled by Belasco as the city officials gave warning of a possible order to stop the performance there. The house had been entirely sold out.

The Shakespearean festival at Stratford under the direction of F. R. Benson will be held from April 17th to May 6th, with a second festival from July 22nd to August 19th, especially for students and teachers.

The latest victim of dramatic censorship is the Belgian poet Emile Verhaeren, whose fourth act scene in the tragedy "The Monastery" had to be changed from a monastery chapel to a spot outside the consecrated walls.

Sir Charles Wyndham, who has bought the English rights of H. S. Sheldon's comedy "The Havoc," now being played in New York by Henry Miller, expects to produce it at the Criterion, London, during the coronation season.

Ethel Irving was leading lady for George Alexander in A. E. W. Mason's "The Witness for the Defence," which he produced last week. Rather unsatisfactory as a whole, but with some scenes of vibrant power, say London critics.

"In selecting a play for the present day," says Henry Miller, "I have a tremor of delight when I find that the author can spell correctly. The next consideration, if the author has an idea, is whether, in my judgment, he has put it down in dramatic form."

Rarely have more inspiring beautiful pictures been flashed across the footlights, is the report from "The Piper," which had its premiere at the New Theatre last week, with Edith Wynne Matthison in the title role. A poetic fantasy somewhat academic is one verdict.

Alleged Humor.

GOOD SCHEME. "How do you manage to get customers to pay their bills so promptly?" "I send out the bills by mail with announcement that if they are not paid in ten days the collector will call in a megaphone."

THEIR QUARREL. Mrs. Newwed—I haven't any ear for music, but I must enjoy a brass band. Mr. Newwed—Why, so? Mrs. Newwed—This wedding ring is leaving a black mark on my finger.

HER SCHEME. Mr. Holme—Annie, here's a hole in my shirt. Mrs. Holme—That's all right, your coat will cover it. Mr. Holme—Yes; but there's a hole in the coat, too. Mrs. Holme—Well, you've got an overcoat, haven't you?

SLOW CHAP. "Fred is the biggest goose I ever saw in my life." "What now, dear?" "Why, my chapman lost her glasses last night when we were making love, and he actually helped to find them for her."

THE HONEYMOON SPECIAL. Mrs. Justwed—Yes, there were six bridal parties on our train. Mrs. Oldtime—Well, well! And tell me about that long, narrow tunnel through the mountains. Did you get through safely? Mrs. Justwed—Oh, yes; we just squeezed through.

Warning Off Mr. Sifton. Toronto Telegram. "Just as we expected, The Telegram is going to play it alone. Even the anticipated adhesion of Clifford Sifton to the anti-reciprocity party angers it, and Mr. Sifton is warned off with the statement (the capitals being, of course, The Telegram's) that 'Canadian Nationality is a Principle that can either defeat continentalism in its own strength or go down to defeat without the help of Hon. Clifford Sifton.' If this nation is to be saved The Telegram is going to save it."

Post a Real Good Thing. Woodstock Sentinel. A despatch from Portland, Oregon, says that the whipping post for wife-beaters is to be abolished because it has served its purpose by totally abolishing the practice of wife-beating. The whipping post is not a pleasant spectacle in a civilized country, but neither is the wife-beater, and if the former serves its purpose as well as the Portland despatch seems to indicate, there may be justification for it. The whipping post is a terror to cowards, and the wife-beater is always a coward.

Couldn't Stand the Test. "Porter!" Thus the passenger for London hailed a railway servant at a small Scottish station. "Yes, sir?" The man instinctively held out his hand. "Do you think this parcel well enough tied to trust going in the van?" "Well, I'll see," answered the porter, dropping the parcel with a bang. "She'll get that here, an' she'll get that at the junction"—giving it another drop—"and she'll get that at Perth!"—banging it so lustily that all the contents scattered over the pavement. "Wee, sir, if she be goin' farther than Perth, she'll see do what-ever!"—The Housekeeper.

THE important ingredient in Sanitol Liquid Shampoo is Olive Oil, the best of hair cleansers. Produces a copious lather. Cleans the scalp of dandruff. The result is strong, healthy hair. Use weekly (with Sanitol Hair Tonic, daily) will avert baldness through its cleansing, stimulating properties.

Some Ifs on Prospect. Woodstock Sentinel-Review. It will cost the United States over twelve million dollars to fortify the Panama canal. The expenditure of that amount of money will mean at least a few good contracts.

OPTIMISM. "How did you make out on the request for a raise?" "All right, I was assured I'd get it." "Fine! What did the boss say?" "Well, he practically told me not to worry about it. He said, 'Forget it!'"

Scoring the Reckless Politicians. Montreal Witness. What will politicians not do for party? If they can only injure the government, thereby they seem ready to regard the wishes of their constituents as a minor matter. Perhaps with their ear to the ground, as politicians are usually supposed to be, they hear nothing but the din of the protection band playing "Rule Britannia" for the mere purpose of din. It might be possible for their constituents to make them hear something else if our people were to adopt the usage of the United States electorate and poster with wearing telegrams representatives who seem inclined to go astray. It is said that congress is just now suffering from showers of these. Sir Wilfrid, on the other hand, is not up against any schism, yet visible, in his own party, and, so long as that holds together, the agreement is safe.

Britain Leads in Tonnage. Hamilton Times. The United States bureau of statistics points with pride to the fact that in 1910 the exports of our iron and steel manufacturers reached the unexampled sum of $200,000,000. But Great Britain exported manufactures of iron and steel to the value of $410,000,000. Iron and steel manufactures make up a quarter of the total of United States exports of manufactured goods; they count for only one-fifth with Great Britain. The contest is even greater when it comes to textiles. For 1910 the British export of cotton manufactures was $514,000,000, of which $65,000,000 was in cotton yarn. The United States export of cotton goods was less than $36,000,000 and considerably over half a million of that was in yarn.

Is the Empire in Danger. London Advertiser. How can the British tariff reformers save the empire if its unity is threatened by the free admission of Canadian wheat, butter, cheese, eggs, etc., into the United States market? The matter is in the hands of Washington, not of Westminster, or even Ottawa. The London Telegraph, the London Morning Post, and equally sapient Canadian journals and politicians, tell congress that it has the fate of the British empire in its hands. It has only to let down the tariff barriers against Canadian farm products to see the imperial fabric dissolve. Congress intended to do this, whether Canada gave return favors or not, according to the anti-reciprocity wisemen in this country. What an outlook for the empire!
