A DEAL MADE

With The Ontario Exploration Syndicate

CITY GETS $4,000

FOR MAKING LARGER SPAN IN THE BRIDGE.

Syndicate Will Erect a $40,000 Pier Will Deposit $10,000 Cash as Evidence Good Faith—Kingston Will Benefit.

After a lengthy discussion, the city council, last night, ratified an agreement with the Ontario Exploration Syndicate, which is developing the iron mines at Wilbur, and which desires to construct a pier at the city's smelter site, in order to load the ore into vessels for shipment to United States ports.

Some members of the council were at first adverse to passing the agreement without fuller information concerning the Cataract bridge, in which it is necessary to construct a wider span, so that larger vessels may pass through to the lower harbor. The syndicate offers $4,000 for the alteration, but if this amount was insufficient, the question was raised as to where the balance would come from. It would be necessary to submit a by-law to the people to raise the amount by debentures. Finally it was decided to trust to the people to vote in the city's interests.

The question was also raised as to the purchase of the bridge. Ald. Rigney declared in favor of purchase. Ald. Fair thought that this bridge might be dealt with as certain toll roads had been treated. The Ontario government toll road inspector might order the bridge company to cease collecting tolls until the bridge was put in good condition, in which case the city could buy the bridge at a very cheap figure.

The mayor said that the bridge company was willing that the city should construct a new span in the structure, and an agreement to that effect was being drawn.

Ald. Elliott presented the report of the finance committee recommending the agreement with the Ontario Exploration company. This agreement provided for the conveying to the company by the city of several lots of the city smelter site, the arranging for the dredging of the lower part of the harbor, and of the widening of a span of the bridge so as to allow larger vessels to pass through. In return, the company agrees to expend $40,000 in the construction of a pier and to contribute $4,000 towards the widening of the swing portion of the bridge. It also agrees to deposit $10,000 as a guarantee that it will proceed.

In reply to Ald. Ross, the mayor said that an agreement was being drawn from the bridge company giving the city the option of purchasing the structure between now and May 1st, 1912, at fifty cents on the dollar, or of making any changes in the bridge at the city's expense.

H. W. Richardson, president of the Board of Trade, said that for years he had advocated the deepening of the harbor and the widening of the bridge span, which was built only for small Rideau boats. Kingston needed more wharfage for one thing. This company is developing the iron mines of the back country and wants the privilege of shipping the ore by way of Kingston. To do this shipping, it is necessary to get large boats through the bridge. At present the span was not large enough for these big vessels. It would not pay to load the ore into small boats. All that Kingston was asked to do was to widen the bridge to a width of sixty feet. The company offered $4,000 for this, and Mr. Richardson said he was satisfied this amount would cover the cost. The possibilities from this here were very great, Mr. Richardson said. Kingston should not hesitate, but take the opportunity now given to it.

J. M. Farrell, solicitor for the syndicate, stated that it had decided to accept the proposal to widen the span next year. It wanted the span widened at once. He thought the harbor was to be widened at once, and the span should be completed by July. Ald. Elliott pointed out that the city had everything to gain by the project. Not only would the iron ore shipping be a good thing, but if the bridge span was widened, large boats would be enabled to come here and winter, bringing thousands of dollars to the city. He contended that even if the syndicate failed to establish here, the alteration of the bridge would pay the city ten times over.

The agreement was then passed unanimously, and a by-law was also put through ratifying it. As soon as the syndicate deposits its $10,000 guarantee money, and pays the $4,000 for bridge changes, the city will proceed to put a new span in the center of the bridge. The dredging of the harbor will be started as soon as navigation opens.

ROMANIZING MOVEMENT

Is Feared From the Mirfield Community.

Toronto, February 14.—"It will be hopeless to look for peace or united and harmonious action among the members of the Church of England in this diocese and elsewhere in Canada so long as persistent efforts to undermine our church are actively carried on by its primary leaders unchecked by those in authority."

This remark is contained in a letter addressed to Rural Dean Cayley by one who is active in the ranks of evangelical English Churchmen in Toronto. The letter protests against the advent of certain missionaries to take part in services here during the approaching season of Lent and has special reference to Father Frere, Father Pearce and Father Seyringer of the Community of the Resurrection, Mirfield, Eng., who are to be at the Church of St. Thomas on Huron street, and Father Officer, of the Order of the Holy Cross, New York, who is to be at St. Matthias' church.

The writer alludes to the fact that some of the Anglican clergy of Toronto are members of the Mirfield Community, the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament, the English Church Union, the Cowley Fathers, the Society of the Holy Cross, etc. He sees in the advent of the missionaries an onward Romanizing movement.

CRIPPEN'S WILL VOID.

London, Feb. 14.—Ethel Clare Le Neve, the fair tyrolet, for love of whom Dr. H. H. Crippen slew his wife, Belle Elmore Crippen, yesterday lost her fight for the Crippen estate when the courts awarded it to Mrs. Theresa Hunn, of Brooklyn, a half sister of the slain wife.

Dr. Crippen had willed his estate which was under $1,500, to Miss Le Neve, naming her as the sole executrix. Mrs. Hunn brought suit about six weeks ago and on Monday Judge Evans set the will aside on the ground of public policy.

NEW IRISH GOVERNMENT.

Promises Entire Reconstruction of Administration.

London, Feb. 14.—The entire reconstruction of the Irish administration was Augustus Birrell's description of the government's proposals for home rule, given in the House of Commons, yesterday.

The chief secretary for Ireland was replying to a question regarding the retention of the vice-presidency of the department of agriculture and technical instruction for Ireland by Thomas W. Russell, although he has lost his seat in parliament. The secretary attributed the situation to the "probability, at a not remote date, of a reconstruction of the Irish administration."

Vigorous nationalist cheers greeted the promise, which was taken to indicate the possibility of Irish legislation being enacted earlier than has been anticipated.

PLOT TO KILL KINGS

ANARCHIST CONSPIRACY HAS BEEN DISCOVERED.

The monarchs of Italy and Servia were to have been the victims—A Russian was to throw the bomb.

Rome, Feb. 14.—An anarchist plot that had for its aim the assassination of King Victor Emmanuel, of Italy, and King Peter, of Servia, has been discovered by the Italian and Austrian police. Two men arrested at Trieste are held in close confinement there, while search is being made throughout anarchist dens in Italian cities for other members of the gang.

The police believe that the plot was hatched in London and New York. The first steps were taken in London but the crusade resulting from the battle of Steppay so disturbed the plotters that they fled to America to complete them, according to the Italian police.

The conspiracy was to have been consummated in Rome when King Peter visits here. Lots had been drawn for the work of death, the police declare, and a Russian who is still at large had been chosen to throw the bomb which was to kill the two rulers. He was to be aided in his work by an Italian anarchist named Danielo, who is now being sought.

In July, 1907, I left in Bradley's yacht while Peary was passing the hat. I had been with Peary on two trips without pay. Peary never attacked me until we crossed on our polar paths. When I came back some of the papers, said I was the greatest fakir of the age. Commander Peary and his allies had started a systematic campaign of abuse, every word of which was a lie."

PLOT TO RUIN COTTON

BY INFECTING CROP WITH BOLL WEEVIL.

Alleged Conspiracy Among Speculators to Ruin Cotton Crop in Georgia and Carolina by Buying October Cotton—Reap Huge Profits.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 13.—Aroused by the publication of a letter written to Governor-elect Hoke Smith and by the statement of Mr. Smith that he places credence in the reliability of the writer, farmers and commercial bodies are preparing to act for the preservation of the cotton of the state from the inroads of the deadly boll weevil.

In this letter and during his visit to the governor, a prominent business man of New Orleans exposed a plot of cotton speculators to flood Georgia and the Carolina with the boll weevil, and then buy October cotton, hoping to reap a fortune by the scarcity of the staple on the rise in the price, coupled with their advance knowledge of conditions. The sensational disclosure is the talk of this section of the country, to-day, and is considered that every possible precaution will be taken to prevent the success of the plotters.

Commercial bodies in Georgia will take up the matter during the week, and will adopt plans by which the letter exposing the plot will be scattered broadcast, the decision having been reached that publicity is the only effectual way to block the scheme. An effort will be made to persuade the writer of the letter to give the names of the two plotters. This much is certain, however, the stranger who spends any time loafing near a cotton field will be in danger of rough treatment if he carries any sort of a package with him.

VOTE IN HOUSE

On the Problem of Terminal Elevators

VOTE WAS 96 TO 54

IN FAVOR OF SIR RICHARD CARTWRIGHT'S BILL.

The Eight-hour Bill Passed—Reciprocity Debate Goes on This Afternoon With Mr. Foster as the First Speaker.

Ottawa, Feb. 14.—Once again, this session, the vexed problem of terminal elevators and the need of government intervention to prevent the loss entailed to the farmer by the mixing and manipulation of grain, was raised in the house yesterday.

Yesterday, Dr. Schaffner, of Souris, moved a resolution calling upon the government to operate terminal and transfer elevators. In amendment to this Mr. Nelley moved that the bill introduced by Sir Richard Cartwright in the senate, appointing a commission to deal with the elevator question, fully covered the situation.

The division was taken at 10.30 o'clock last night, Mr. Nelley's amendment carrying on a straight party vote by 96 to 54, a government majority of forty-two.

Mr. Verville's eight-hour-day on public buildings, was finally given third reading, last night, after a brief discussion, members on both sides being apparently glad to get rid of this piece of legislation, which has been Sir Wilfrid Laurier told Mr. Lake that no action had been taken in response to the request of the premier of Saskatchewan that full control of the administration of school lands in that province be given to the provincial authorities, under such restrictions as may be deemed necessary to perpetuate and safeguard the trust established by the dominion lands act.

This afternoon the reciprocity debate goes on, with Mr. Foster leading the van. He will be followed by Mr. Neely, of Humboldt, and Martin Burrell, of Yale-Cariboo, the latter opposing the agreement from the standpoint of the fruit industry.

JUDGMENT FOR COMPANY.

The Miller Anti-Betting Bill is Ineffective.

Toronto, Feb. 14.—The efficacy of the Miller anti-betting bill was questioned seriously this morning, when the court of appeal gave judgment in favor of George Hogarth, of the Great North-Western Telegraph company, on a charge of violating the Miller bill by transmitting reports of racing. In giving the judgment of the court, Chief Justice Meredith said it was absurd to accuse the telegraph company or a newspaper of publishing reports of races with intent to educate readers in betting, when nobody could tell but the effect would be exactly the reverse. The decision is regarded by the anti-Millerites as quite a victory, but the supporters of the bill may carry the question further.
