I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, lack of vigor, weakened memory, falling memory and loss of back, the result of my nervous system, etc. I am a man of 35 years of age, and I have been suffering from these symptoms for many years. I have tried many remedies, but nothing has done me any good. I have now found a remedy that has cured me of all these symptoms. I feel like a new man, and I am able to do all the work I wish to do. I have now found a remedy that has cured me of all these symptoms. I feel like a new man, and I am able to do all the work I wish to do.

Winning a Widow.

Jasper Gregg, farmer and widower, had made up his mind to marry again. He had made up his mind to marry the widow Hopkins, who lived on a farm a mile away.

He had known her for three years. She was amiable, thrifty and friendly. She must be aware that he was forward, good tempered, and that when his good wife had been called to go she had left two good pairs of shoes behind her. There were farmers who were stung about buying shoes for their wives, but he was not one.

After breakfast one morning, the widow walked down the road to the widow's place. He wasn't at all shabby. He found her sweeping the kitchen after having cleared breakfast away, and he was kindly greeted. The widow had only asked him if the "tater-bugs" were doing much damage to his field when he quietly said:

"Sarah, I've come to ask you to marry me." "Good lands!" she replied as she leaned on the broom handle. "Will you do it?" "Mrs. Hopkins stood the broom up in the corner, removed the apron she was wearing and thetuzzed on him.

"Jasper Gregg, who do you think I am?" she demanded. "The widow Hopkins." "Yes, I am, and I've got feelings. I've got feelings and I've got dignity. You are here with your old clothes on, the same as if you wanted to borrow a shovel, and yet askin' me right out to marry you!

"I just thought I'd ask," replied Jasper, a good deal astonished. "Well, you can just think a heap of other thoughts. You want a coat on your back next time you ask me to marry you. This getting married ain't like going out and plowing corn. There's dignity about it.

The matter was given due reflection, and at the end of a fortnight Mr. Gregg donned his best suit and great-ed his boots and paid another visit. He appeared at a bad hour. The widow was down on hands and knees scrubbing the kitchen floor with a gloriously old scrubbing brush and soap. She had an old dress on, and her hair was flying.

"Mercy on me, but you here!" she exclaimed as Jasper appeared in the door. "Yes, it's me." "And got your best clothes on!" "Yes, I have come to ask you over again.

"Hear the man! Look at me! Jasper Gregg, did you ever hear of a man asking a woman to be his wife when she was scrubbin' a dingied old kitchen floor?" "Can't say I ever did."

"And no one but a fool would do it! Can't I pound it into your head that I've got feelings and dignity? You go right back home! Why, I wouldn't say yes now if a king was to offer me his palace!" Mr. Gregg's feelings were a bit hurt. He had lost an hour and a half from farm, and he couldn't understand why a woman scrubbing a floor couldn't set the wedding day as well as one all dressed up and seated in the parlor. He almost made up his mind that the widow was finicky and had better be left in widowhood.

LA GRIPPE RAVAGES

WONDERFUL CAT'S BIG DAILY SWIM

A cat that swims across the Thames River every evening and swims back again next morning is something in the nature of a novelty, but the people of Deptford claim that they possess such an animal. The feline to which such remarkable feats are attributed belongs to the ferryboatman who used to ply between the landings at the wharves of Messrs. Robt. Thompson on the Southwick side and Messrs. Laing on the Deptford side. This man had up to about a fortnight ago ferried a small boat across the river, and on many occasions the cat, which had apparently discovered "pastures new" at Southwick, accompanied him in his boat each evening, and returned by the first ferry the next morning.

LIFE IN CANADA

The Right Kind of Person With the Right Kind of Aims Can Get Along. A large proportion of those who go out to Canada, says the "Evening Standard," do not realize that the conditions of existence are not the same as they are in England. In some respects Canada is like a foreign country. It is more largely influenced by American methods and ideals than the stay-at-home Englishman imagines, and it naturally takes time for one to get out of the familiar track and become habituated to a new outlook on life.

Canada is busy with elemental things, with logs and plough and roads and bridges and railroads, and has no time at present to attend to the graces of civilization. An Englishman makes it say: "My speech is clean and single. I talk of common things. Words of the wharf and the market place. And the ware the merchant brings."

WOMAN ESCAPES OPERATION

Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Elwood, Ind.—"Your remedies have cured me and I have only taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was sick three months and could not walk. I suffered all the time. The doctors said I could not get well without an operation, for I could hardly stand the pains in my sides, especially my right one, and down my right leg. I began to feel better when I had taken only one bottle of Compound, but kept on as I was afraid to stop too soon."

WINDSOR BARRACKS

The barracks which have been recently erected at Windsor at a cost of $280,000 are on a luxurious scale. In addition to a separate sleeping cubicle for each man, there are dining halls, billiard rooms, recreation rooms, libraries, and studies, as well as a theatre. In the lavatories hot and cold water is provided for washing, and there are separate rooms adjoining for shaving purposes. There are also baths, as well as shower and foot baths.
