FRONTENACS WON AT OSHAWA BY 11 TO 7.

The Kingston Supporters Took Oshawa by Storm—Marched to Bank Headed by Band—The Game Never in Danger.

In the hardest fought battle which the junior Frontenacs have fought here at two o'clock on a special G. T.H. train, for Oshawa. The train was scheduled to leave at one o'clock, but owing to the fact that an accident happened to the coupling bar, the train got away from the city an hour late. In the meantime, ten pieces of the 14th band, who accompanied the team, played some of the choruses which were prepared for the Rooters' Club and a lively hour was passed.

Two hundred wildly enthusiastic hockey fans with colors flying and spirits tuned to the highest pitch left here at two o'clock on a special G. T.H. train, for Oshawa. The train was scheduled to leave at one o'clock, but owing to the fact that an accident happened to the coupling bar, the train got away from the city an hour late. In the meantime, ten pieces of the 14th band, who accompanied the team, played some of the choruses which were prepared for the Rooters' Club and a lively hour was passed.

The First Half.

Promptly on time the whistle blew, and in two minutes from the time the puck had been faced off Millan had found the nets. He carried it down the side, but lost it near the goal. He went in behind the goal after it and brought it out worming it through the feet of the defence right into the nets.

How the Teams Played.

It was work for both teams from the time Referee Wittlauffer blew his whistle, at the facing of the puck, right through to the end of the game. Each team realized that it had a gruelling battle before it and never granted its opponents a chance to get away with the puck. The Kingston boys were handicapped by the fact that, although the rink is a good length, it is very narrow, not being over sixty feet wide. The boys were not used to playing on such a narrow ice surface and got up too much speed with the result that they were crashing into the boards all the time.

Weller, on a nice rush, got the puck close to the Frontenacs goal, but overkicked it and as he was going by the rubber kicked it in. It was thought that the referee had not observed this, but he did, and refused to allow it to count. This would have given Oshawa a lead over the local boys, who wanted to prevent this if possible. The puck was carried down the ice on the right side and got in a mix-up down by the goal. Boyer passed it out to Hunt, and "Bogarty" drove it through to the bar. The Frontenacs supporters cheered themselves hoarse again when a few minutes later Davidson started with the puck at the other end and went the entire length of the ice and scored.

The next goal was scored by Oshawa Graine went down the ice and shot from the side. The puck struck Williams' skate and rolled in. This made seven to six with the fans all yelling like mad. Millan made an individual rush the length of the ice and cheered on by the frantic shouts of his home boys to "get another goal," found the nets in a startling manner. Brouse, in another rush the length of the ice, showed the Oshawa sports that even if they could not play combination work they could score individually and touched them for another goal. A pass from Boyer to Brouse secured the next goal for Frontenacs, making it 10 to 6, and in a few minutes later, in a mix-up in front of Oshawa's goal, the goalkeeper went up in the air and came down on the ice, and while he was exercising this little stunt on the side the Frontenacs put another one in. Graine secured the last goal of the evening and the score ended 11 to 7.

The rink there is a new one and is somewhat incomplete as yet. There are no boxes for the goal judges and they were forced to stand behind the nets and dodge the puck when it went over, as well as keep their eye on the nets. W. W. Gibson, who was goal judge for the Frontenacs, had a busy time of it keeping clear of the shots, but then they have got to travel "some" to get him.

A minute and a half later this speedy wing again had the puck and started down the ice from the end of the rink. The rush was a pretty one and it took all the strength he had to keep ahead of the Oshawa man who was after him, but he kept the puck ahead of him and on one of his wicked shots from the side scored. A mighty cheer went up from the Frontenacs at this stage of affairs.

A little delay ensued when Graine was hurt and after play had been resumed the puck was carried off in the right hand corner beside the Oshawa goal. Brouse went after it and passed out to Boyer, who scored. Boyer was put off a few minutes later and Freeman was sentenced to keep him company. When Freeman came back the puck slid past him just as he stepped out of the penalty box. He got after it and with almost a clean sheet before him started out. McAmmon checked him before he got near the goal and he lost his chance to score. Freeman notched the first goal for his team. The puck went up the side until it was even with Frontenacs goal. Freeman got it and went out to centre. He never even tried to get through the defence but shot from centre and found the nets.

Hunt checked an Oshawa man a few minutes later near the centre and bored through the entire team in a thrilling manner and obtained a goal for his labors.

The next few minutes quite a number of penalties were handed out on both sides, which included the goalkeeper, Smith. Davidson was the next man to come into the limelight, and by a brilliant rush scored a goal unaided, making it 5 to 2. Frontenacs supporters yelled themselves hoarse over this brilliant piece of work. Lansfield, of Oshawa, made a rush down the ice but carried it too far and went down into the corner with it. There was a mix-up and he got it again and poked it into the nets. This ended the scoring for the first half, the tally standing 5 to 3 for Frontenacs.

The Second Half.

Weller, of Oshawa, the speedy left wing man, got a goal to his credit on a mix-up on the left side of the rink. In a mix-up in front of Frontenacs goal on a face-off Oshawa poked one in which escaped the observation of Williams. This tied the score,

UNABLE TO DECIDE

ON NEW ARC LAMP FOR THE CITY STREETS.

Light, Heat and Power Committee Decides Upon the Power of the Lamps, But is Unable to Choose Between Two Tenders.

The light, heat and power committee decided yesterday afternoon, that the new arc lamp to be installed on Kingston's streets would be a 6.6 ampere lamp, which will be far more brilliant than that now used here. This lamp will use up more current, but it was felt that even so, nothing could be too good for Kingston.

The committee, however, was unable to come to a decision as to what make of lamp to install. There were two tenders, one from the Canadian Westinghouse company, of Hamilton, and the other from the Canadian General Electric company, of Toronto. One was over a couple of thousand dollars in excess of the other. The committee considered the matter, for over two hours, and heard the representative of each company discourse upon the merits of his lamp. The question at issue with the committee was as to the cost of maintenance of each lamp. Before a contract will be given, more information will have to be secured.

The committee was unanimous as to the size of lamp to buy. Most of the members had seen the tests made last week, and knew the work each lamp could do. Between a 4.4 ampere lamp and one of 6.6, there is a difference of sixty per cent. in current and 200 candle-power more luminosity.

Ald. Toye claimed that Kingston, which was now paying $60 a lamp for power was getting the best street lighting in Canada for the money. St. Thomas paid $90 a lamp and was not getting as good light.

Ald. Rigney pointed out that the present lamps on the streets were not giving good light. Why not pay more and get the light? Ald. Toye explained why the lamps were not giving good light. The plant was overloaded. Some years ago, there were only 126 lamps. Now there are 155, and there have been no additions to the arc system.

Ald. Elliott asked Manager Folger to compare the present arc lamps on the streets with the 4.4 and 6.6 ampere lamps.

The manager said the present lamps consumed 400 watts. The 4.4 lamp would use 320 watts and the 6.6 lamp 500 watts. To install the 6.6 lamp would mean an extra cost of $600 a year in production, and an increase of 200 candle power in luminosity.

With water power at its door, Manager Folger said that Winnipeg intended installing a 6.6 lamp, at a cost per light of $80. Without water however, Kingston was now paying only $60 a lamp.

Ald. Toye advocated getting the best lamp and lighting the streets well. The people, he said, expected a good deal better light.
