NO ACCIDENTS IN NATURE.

Every calamity, no matter how great, has a definite beginning. There are no accidents in nature. The avalanche that without a moment's warning rushes headlong down the mountain side is not an accident. For years previous tiny atoms have been crystallizing, and adding their minute weight to the mass which left its base when the accumulation reached a certain point.

Neither is baldness an accident. The infinitesimally small germ, which is the cause of dandruff and baldness, feeds silently and long before the result is seen.

The small germs which thrive on the scalp and which are the cause of baldness and dandruff cannot exist, however, when Newbro's Herpicide is applied.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. $1 bottle guaranteed. Jas. B. McLeod, druggist, special agent, Kingston, Ont.

CONSUMPTION IN CHILDREN.

The public scattering of fly sheets, dealing with tuberculosis, may do some good, but very little. Children are expected to carry home circulars that have been given to them and for the purpose of educating the masses upon the ravages of this disease, and the better way of guarding against its spread. In Toronto there is a more effective manner of dealing with the matter. There nurses have been appointed to visit the schools and the homes of the children, and deal with the cases that call for attention. During the last month twelve children were found in the first stages of consumption. These will be treated properly, will be given the food they need, and also the fresh air, they will be given separate rooms in which to sleep, and such outings and recreations as will be conducive to their health and recovery. This is a sane and practical service. The distribution of literature can be of very little benefit. The one thing needed is a medical examination of the school children, and their isolation when found to be suffering from any infectious or contagious disease. Kingston moves very slowly in this matter, but it must move and the sooner the better.

DECEIVING THE PEOPLE.

A complaint of one speaker, a visitor, at the conservative meeting in this county, on Saturday, and also of the county member in the commons, was that through the reciprocity agreement twelve countries would be allowed to send their products to Canada free, and that they would not lower their duties on goods going in to them from this country. Oh, what a deliberate deception! Last week Mr. Borden, according to Hansard, the official print of the commons, interrogated the government on this subject. He asked if the Argentine Republic, Austria-Hungary, Japan, Norway, Russia, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Bolivia, Columbia and Venezuela could send to Canada goods on the same terms as the United States, and Mr. Fielding answered that they could when acting under the provisions of the favoured-nation treaty.

The leader of the opposition was still unsatisfied, and haggled over the question for some time, but Mr. Fielding insisted upon this statement, which stands as an answer to Mr. Crothers and Dr. Edwards, thus:

(1.) "The favoured-nation countries are, to-day, enjoying to large extent all the concessions which this arrangement give to the United States. These concessions, to a large extent, are the same as were granted to France, and when they were granted to France, they were granted to the favoured-nation countries. (2.) The reciprocity arrangements do not deal with favoured-nation countries. Whatever obligations we have in the matter of trade relations have been on the statute books for ages. It arises out of treaties made by our mother country years ago. We have been subject to these treaties for years. There is nothing new in them. There is nothing in this reciprocity arrangement which in any way creates any new favoured-nation condition."

Just keep that fact in mind, good reader, and judge of the audacity of those who would create the impression that the proposed reciprocity agreement with the United States would open Canada to ruinous trade conditions. The favoured-nation treaty is now on the statute books of Canada, has been for years, and the competition with other countries which the county member fears cannot be a result of the reciprocity agreement.

NEW CLEAVAGE IN PARTIES.

The Toronto Star has sent a commissioner into the rural districts to sample public opinion upon the reciprocity question. At Bowmanville he found a difference of opinion. In the town the manufacturers and some merchants were against reciprocity. In the country the farmers were pronouncedly in favour of it. One of them, F. S. Lovekin, near Newcastle, a John A. Macdonald toty, of forty years' standing, is out strongly for the agreement. "Why," he is reported to have said, "this agreement is the very thing that Sir John Macdonald hoped for and wished for and prayed for. It is nothing but tory doctrine." It was negotiated by liberal ministers, and that is enough to damn it in the eyes of all good conservatives.

At Port Hope the Star's commissioner found, in the town, some who did not favour reciprocity. The town housed an enamel-ware works, and its friends want it to be duly protected. The lumber business of long ago is gone forever. The barley trade may be somewhat revived. In the country again the feeling was found to be coming strongly in favour of the reciprocity agreement. Dr. Leslie, the president of the Durham Conservative Association, is one of its strongest champions. "Awful tory," as he is said to be, he says he "would support the government on a straight reciprocity issue." O. S. Taylor, a member of the Durham Conservative Association, said he had been called down because he supported the trade agreement, but he was convinced that it was a good thing for Canada and would stand by it. "Look here," he said, "I've been a tory all my life, and you know what that means. I'll find it awfully hard to go to the polls and mark my ballot for a tory. But I'll tell you this, I'd find it equally hard to mark my ballot for a man who votes against this measure." And more to the same effect.

The Toronto News says that thousands of liberals will vote against the government on the reciprocity question. It is evident that there is a new cleavage in political parties, and the preponderance of change in public opinion is in favour of the government. The rural vote is strongly in support of the pact, and the rural representative who opposes it takes his political life in his hand.

SKELETON OF A MAN FOUND IN THAMES.

Is Said to be Older Than the Earth Itself—The Wild Guess of a Scientist.

London, Feb. 28.—The skeleton of the man recently found in the Thames behind Galley Hill, near the chalk pits of Northfleet, is declared by Prof. Arthur Keith to be 170,000 years old. In delivering the Hunterian lecture before the Royal College of Surgeons, on "The Antiquity of Man," Prof. Keith said he had arrived at his estimate of age by the action of the Thames since the time when the level of the river was from ninety to one hundred feet higher than it is to-day. A consideration of the parts of this skeleton shows how old the modern type of man is. The Galley Hill man, although differing in several features, is essentially modern in type and is the only representative known of the thousands of generations of Englishmen which span the vast period of human life in this country from the glacial to neolithic times.

For Marine Captains and Engineers This Year.

Watertown, N.Y., Feb. 28.—Marine captains and engineers who have been attending meetings of the employees of the various upper lake transportation companies return with anything but glowing accounts of the prospects attending the opening of navigation in April.

Captains state that several lines have instructed many of their masters and engineers to seek other employment. It is determined not to start the entire fleet of steamers, as the demand for ore is not likely to be very extensive.

The Rutland fleet of this city will comprise only the steel boats, no appointments having been made for the several wooden boats owned by the company. There are, however, expectations of the control of the Rutland railroad by the Boston & Maine interests.

The securing of the Rutland by the New Haven interests, of which the Boston & Maine is a part, is a striking evidence of the tremendous game being played between the New Haven and Grand Trunk systems for supremacy through New England territory.

When Doctors Disagree.

Montreal, Feb. 28.—Medical jurisprudence was distinctly at loggerheads in the trial of the claim for damages in the superior court, and it was evident that the medical men, like all other professions, are influenced by the commercial angle from which they look at a subject. Neurasthenia was the trouble from which the victim was supposed to be suffering, and one side claimed that it was not that disease at all, while the plaintiff's argument was all in that direction. Paul Dignowetz, an injured in the Spanish River wreck on the Canadian Pacific, about a year ago, and the claim he put in totalled about $14,000, while the company was willing to settle for $1,500. There was much leaped evidence on the nature of the alleged disease, and the upshot was that judge and jury were practically at sea as to just what neurasthenia meant and what it was likely to do a man when he was not looking. Ultimately the claimant was awarded $3,500 and costs, and while he got more than the railway offered, there is no doubt it paid the company to fight rather than pay the full amount demanded. Consequently, both sides won.

Looked So Nice.

Sombody once raised the question of the Kingston girl and the Toronto man. They were to be married. Toronto friends of the groom sent nearly a cartload of presents to the Limestone city. After the wedding, they were all toiled back to Toronto. A friend suggested that it would have been less expensive and that there would have been fewer breakages if the gifts had all been sent direct to the couple's future residence in this city. "But, oh," objected the bride, with sweet unreasonableness, "they did look so nice in Kingston."

A Real Good Law.

Montreal Star.

The proposal of Sir Louser Gouin to bar children under fourteen, out of moving picture shows, unless accompanied by their parents, will be approved by all thinking fathers and mothers. Some moving pictures are interesting and instructive and children are excited and degraded. Children under fourteen certainly ought not to be exposed to the risk of seeing the latter sort.

GIVING SIR JAMES A JOLT.

Ottawa Free Press.

In refusing to withdraw his bill to prevent the issue of watered stock, Mr. W. Johnson showed a good example. The government has an enormous majority, and it is growing more and more dictatorial and inclined to abuse its power. A few more conservative would show the same backbones as Mr. Johnson the government would do not exist merely to carry out its orders.

The mouth is the mammoth mischief maker in the community. In family matters it is a good plan to be in a measure tongue tied.

Much gold net and gold lace is being used on the early spring hats, and particularly on the Parisian models. Typically Parisian is this charming creation of pale pink straw braids. It is veiled with sheer gold lace on which is sewed a garland of the little French ribbon roses in shades of pastel rose, mauve, gray and yellow. The brim is faced with white lace over pink chiffon, and the big willow feather which is most artistically arranged on the small high-crowned model, is a fair shade of pink.
