Miss Mary Hora, King street, was a very charming hostess at a bridge on Friday evening, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Hansford Hora. Miss Hora received her guests in a black satin gown with over-dress of black-headed net edged with sable. Cards were played at four tables and the guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Halloway Waddell, Mrs. Richard Cartwright, Nanapanoe, Mrs. A. Flower March, Mrs. A. de Mowbray Bell, Miss Mabel Brownfield, Miss Nora Gordon, Miss Bessie Smythe, Miss Eleanor Macdonell, Mr. W. C. Kent, Mr. E. Van Lennic, Mr. Bartlett Dalton, Mr. J. T. M. Burnside and Mr. W. Haggarty. After bridge a recherche supper was served. The table was very effectively decorated. Mrs. D. A. Cays, Barrie street, was hostess on Friday afternoon, at a most enjoyable tea. Miss Lulu Cays received her mother, who was becomingly gowned in aeroplane blue satin, veiled in black marquisette, the bodice trimmed with bugle fringe and handsome laces. Quantities of pink tulips were used in the drawing-rooms for decorations. A large bowl full of graceful Killarney roses centred the polished tea table, which was softly lighted by candles, shaded with green. Mrs. Clara Wright poured coffee, Mrs. Frederick Chown poured tea, and Mrs. Robert Crawford cut the ices. The gold and white Limoges china harmonized with the color scheme. Mrs. Costello received wearing a gown of pale pink duchesse satin, trimmed with real lace and with flowers, hand embroidered in heavy floss, and outlined with gold sequins.

THE LATE B. B. CARSCALEN.

Passed Away at His Home on Frontenac Street.

On Friday evening, at ten o'clock, Benjamin Briscoe Carscalen, who for the past eight years has been a resident of Kingston, passed away at his residence, Frontenac street. Death was due to paralysis. He was stricken on New Year's day, and gradually sank until the end. Mr. Carscalen was born in the township of Camden, Ontario, but the largest part of his life was spent in Coeur-d'Alene, Idaho. He had been retired for a number of years. Besides his wife, who was Mrs. T. B. Carscalen, he leaves two sons and two daughters, all in Coeur-d'Alene.

Service will be conducted at his late residence, at nine o'clock Sunday evening, by Rev. F. H. Sproule, of the First Methodist church, of which he was a member, and the remains will be taken to Coeur-d'Alene for burial. Deceased was a very patient sufferer, his sunny disposition keeping him up at all times. He had many friends, both young and old, who will miss him for his genial smile and kind words.

WILL BE STOPPED AT BORDER IF SHE LEAVES HERE TO JOIN MARRIED MAN.

Some days ago the Whig referred to a woman making a search for her husband, who, she believed, had eloped. Hubby went over to Watertown, N.Y., in search of employment, it developed, but wife found that he was to be joined later by another woman residing here. On Friday she appealed to the United States consul to have her husband sent back, and the consul will endeavor to have him deported, if it is found he has made arrangements to have his other ladylove join him at Cape Vincent or Watertown. Deportation may follow such a case. The other "lady" is expected to "hit the trail" for Cape Vincent this afternoon, and if she does, the immigration inspector at that port has instructions to hold her up and prevent her from joining the other woman's husband, who is very much wanted home again.

TWO WEDDING CEREMONIES PERFORMED BY REV. DR. MACTAVISH AT HIS RESIDENCE.

On Wednesday a quiet wedding was solemnized at the residence of Rev. Dr. MacTavish, Queen street, when Miss Jessie Reid, daughter of Dr. Reid, of Emerald, Amherst Island, became the wife of Henry C. Corke, one of the progressive young men of Stella, Amherst Island. The couple were unattended. They will make their home at Stella.

On Friday afternoon Frederick H. Clement, Belleville, one of the G.T.R. engineers, and Miss Elizabeth R. Ellerbeck, daughter of Joseph D. Ellerbeck, of Glenvale, were quietly married at the residence of Rev. Dr. MacTavish. The bride, who is a sister of Mrs. W. J. A. A. Meade, Rideau street, has often been a welcome visitor to this city. The happy couple will reside in Belleville.

GAVE HIM A SURPRISE.

On Friday evening, a jolly crowd of friends met at the home of Robert Stevenson, Barrie street, to give him a little surprise, as it was his birthday. They were given a warm welcome, and several hours were very pleasantly spent in cards and dancing. During the evening, Mr. Stevenson was made the recipient of a fine brass smoking set. The gift was accompanied by an address, read by Frederick Milo, which referred to the high esteem in which Mr. Stevenson is held by his host of friends, and also conveyed to him their congratulations on his having passed another milestone in life, and wishing him many more years of good health and prosperity. The presentation was made by William Hazlett, Sr. The affair was brought to a close at a seasonable hour, all having spent a most enjoyable time.

MUST ATTEND SCHOOL.

Parents who do not send their children to school will have to pay a penalty, and the penalty is a fine, in police court. At a session of the juvenile court, Saturday morning, two fathers were accused of neglecting to send their children to school. One was fined $3 and costs, as he was in similar trouble before, and the case against the other was dismissed, after he had been given a warning.

HALLS OF QUEEN'S GLEE CLUB'S FINE CONCERT IN GRANT HALL.

Was an Enjoyable Event Friday Evening—The Report of the Athletic Committee.

By Our Queen's Correspondent. In Grant hall, Friday evening, before an appreciative audience, the Glee Club of Queen's University, gave the second of the series of this season's concerts. The event was much enjoyed. The ladies' glee club, the men's glee club and the Choral Society, jointly and severally, are deserving of the highest praise for their admirable and able efforts of last evening. Under the direction of Arthur Craig, the chorists at Queen's have attained to an efficiency heretofore quite unknown. They sing with a style and finish that is indeed pleasing. The work of the ladies' glee club is deserving of special mention; the voices are delightfully fresh and in no way wanting in color; the parts balance well, but perhaps not as evenly as do the male voices. The singing of "On The Campus" by the men's club, was splendidly spirited, and evoked much applause. The best number of the combined clubs was Sullivan's "Hush Thee My Baby." The interpretation was artistic, the pianissimo parts being exceptionally good.

Miss Christine Cochrane, who assisted the club, quite won the hearts of her hearers not only by her marked ability as a violinist, but through the charms of a delightfully pleasing personality. Miss Cochrane was recalled on each appearance. Sinclair Hamilton, reader, of Montreal, also assisted the club. Mr. Hamilton is surely a tragedian of no mean ability, but his tragedy of last evening savored slightly of the melodramatic. Miss Shaw, organist of St. Andrew's church, again presided at the piano and contributed largely to the success of the club.

Athletic Committee Report.

The annual report of the Athletic Association at Queen's University, now under course of construction by the general secretary, John Dawson, promises to be one of the most acceptable in the history of athletics at old Queen's. Athletics at the university this season have taken tremendous strides; much money has been expended in the way of improvements. The territory of the tennis club has increased two-fold by no small expenditure; an open-air rink has been constructed; the salary of the athletic instructor has been augmented to the extent of $150; additional apparatus has been secured for the gymnasium, involving an outlay of at least $100; the association football team was given dates alternating with excursions, which resolved itself into a further expenditure of $200. In spite of these and other extensive liabilities, the association will commence the season with quite as much money as was on hand last session.

ARRIESTED AS A VAGRANT.

May Also be Charged With Theft of a Coat. Although vagrancy was the charge against him, when he appeared in the police court, Saturday morning, a man, giving the name of Albert Rogers, middle-aged, may have a more serious charge to answer to—that of theft.

It appears that for some weeks, Rogers has been employed at different work around the Hotel Dieu. The other day, it is alleged, that when he left his work, he purloined a fur overcoat. Constable Craig recovered the coat at a second-hand shop, where, it is alleged, Rogers disposed of it for the sum of one dollar. The police were not ready to go on with the case, so an adjournment was made until Monday.

Rogers, who is a stranger in the city, appeared very much surprised when accused of being a vagrant, and said that could not be as he has been working at the Hotel Dieu. However, the magistrate intimated that he would remand the accused until Monday, stating that it was possible that something else would be charged against him.

FRANK BENNETT DEPORTED.

Was Sentenced to One Year in Central Prison. Frank Bennett, who was last fall sentenced by Magistrate Farrell to one year in the Central prison, on a charge of vagrancy, was deported on Saturday afternoon, the authorities sending him back to Syracuse, where he came from.

Bennett, it will be remembered, was arrested with a woman, who gave the name of Cora Bennett, and who claimed to be his wife but it was afterwards found out that they were not married. They stayed in the city for a couple of weeks and as many complaints were made about their conduct they were rounded up by the police.

A Fine Lecture. A delightful lecture, the first of a series on "The History of the Church of England in the Nineteenth Century" was given by Dean Bidwell, on Friday night, before a large gathering, with men in the majority. The dean has the rare gift of combining absolute accuracy with a charming manner of presenting his facts, and touches all his work with a gentle humor which ensures him absorbed listeners. He spoke of the church as shown in 1800, and up to the time of the Oxford movement, which was really a protest against the encroachments of the state; of the parish high church (the Tories); of low church (the Whigs); and the evangelicals; of the rise of the great missionary society and gave a graphic description of all points in the lecture.

Removed to the Hospital.

John Ballantyne, caretaker at the city hall, was removed to the general hospital Friday night, suffering from lumbago. He was taken ill the forepart of the week. His many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

Taken to General Hospital.

The many friends of Mrs. R. K. Ovens, Johnson street, will be sorry to hear of her being removed to the general hospital, suffering from typhoid fever.
