

Taft Expects

Both Houses to Pass Reciprocity.

WILL EXERCISE VETO

IF ANY TINKERING IS ATTEMPTED.

The President believes that the majority are in favor and that the measure will be passed regardless of party lines.

Atlanta, Ga., March 11.—President Taft does not expect the special session of congress to attempt any tariff tinkering. He made this known in a speech here, yesterday. He believes that the majority of the new congress will favor reciprocity, and he thinks that it will be passed, regardless of party lines.

If the special session attempts to undertake a general revision of the tariff, or if it tries to reverse the schedules of the Payne-Aldrich law, without sufficient scientific data, the president will most likely exercise his power of veto. This much came from friends of President Taft who were here today.

The president had this to say himself: "My opinion is that both houses, regardless of politics, will ratify the agreement before passing on to other measures and before proceeding with other business."

HE REFUSES TO SIT

AT THE FEET OF EASTERN GAMALIELS.

And Study Loyalty—Haultain's Strong Statement in Support of the Reciprocity Agreement.

Regina, March 11.—Among the supporters of the reciprocity resolution in the legislature was the leader of the opposition, F. W. G. Haultain, who declared that it would benefit the west.

If one thing appealed to him more than another it was the fact that eventually the northern part of this continent was going to be the largest producer of food for the whole of the continent, to say nothing with regard to the rest of the world. The United States was rapidly ceasing to be an exporting country. Eventually Canada would have that market; the people of the United States would have to come to Canada for foodstuffs. The inevitable destiny of Saskatchewan was to be a food producer for the world, or the continent, and the sooner it was to be established the better.

He had no fears of annexation nor of the loyalty of the Americans coming over. "We out here are just as able as the magnates in the east to decide what is patriotic and unpatriotic. I am not prepared to sit at the feet of any of these eastern Gamaliels and study loyalty," concluded Mr. Haultain.

"We call the attention of the women of Canada and Great Britain to a practice which, if persisted in, may cause untold misery and suffering to countless numbers. The demand for wives is not so great throughout the west that it is necessary to resort to this degrading method, which tends to commercialize matrimony. THE WELLAND

Is to be Enlarged, Hon. G. P. Graham Says.

DEFINITE PROPOSAL

TO BE LAID BEFORE THE COMMONS

Before the Session Ends—The Hudson's Bay Railway is to be Built Out of the Revenue of the Country.

Special to the Whig.

Ottawa, March 11.—The House of Commons was treated, yesterday, to an elaborate debate over the late colonial railway by Hon. George P. Graham, minister of railways and canals. It was his good fortune to be able to show an increased surplus over the preceding year.

Mr. Graham dwelt at considerable length on the building of the Hudson Bay railway. He declared it was the intention of the government to build the road out of the country's revenue, and the matter of operation, steamships, wharves, etc., was a secondary condition and would be considered later.

Coming to the Welland canal, the minister said that the total cost so far had been $28,338,616, but he did not propose to dilate upon that at present. However, before the session was through he intended to explain as regards a definite proposal to widen and deepen the river.

Mr. Devlin interjected and said that the only route was the Georgian Bay canal.

Mr. Hartly, Kingston, said: "We want them both."

The minister, therefore, expressed his desire to do all he could to aid both projects, which would eventually make the port of Montreal one of the greatest in the world.

Dr. Daniels asked the minister of marine and fisheries if "cooms" were to be allowed admittance to do service on the Canadian navy.

Mr. Brodeur said that a certain "coom" had applied for a position in the navy, but owing to his failure to qualify for the inside service he was naturally rejected.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's speech in the house has been the outstanding feature of interest of the week in connection with the reciprocity debate. There seems to be just as much opposition as ever to the trade pact, but on the other hand the government seems as determined that it shall go through.

The navy debate in time grew monotonous, and there are signs that people are also growing weary of the "mudness of speaking" on the reciprocity measure. With the exception of the afternoons on which Sir Wilfrid and R. L. Borden, leader of the opposition, spoke, the attendance in the galleries of the house has been small.

As for the long-winded speeches and debates, readers have heard so much of them that they are now often skipping them.

From what can be learned, the debate is likely to go on for a considerable time yet, though it must necessarily be shortened before long, as so many members are anxious to get away for the coronation.

NARROW ESCAPE

Slipped Under Car Wheels at Smith's Falls.

Smith's Falls, Ont., March 11.—But for the rare presence of mind of a fellow passenger, a young Scotch immigrant would have met a horrible death here yesterday. The young fellow was on a colonist train westward bound, and he got off at the depot here. During the wait of the train he got intoxicated, and when he attempted to board it again made a lunge for the steps of a coach, but did not make them. He fell between the train and the platform, with one leg across the rails. A car wheel actually shoved his leg off the rail, but in doing so his body was swung farther towards the wheels. At the moment when the horrified spectators expected to see the young man's body crushed to pieces a man who had just got off the train reached down and quickly pulled him to safety.
