

AIM OF THE CHURCH

TO GIVE CLEARER VISION OF SOCIAL JUSTICE.

As Well as to Save Men, Says Rev. T. E. Bourke—Anniversary Services in Princess Street Methodist Church on Sunday.

The anniversary services in connection with Princess Street Methodist church Sunday were regarded as the most successful ever held. The music at the morning service was of a very inspiring nature and reflected credit on the choir-leader and organist, Miss Lottie Wilder. The choir sang that powerful anthem "King of Kings" in a very able manner. Miss Grace Mitchell sang "O Happy Day" in a spirited manner. Miss Mitchell and William Mack in that beautiful duet entitled "Rock of Ages," brought out all the harmony which it was possible to convey in two voices.

The morning speaker was Rev. T. E. Bourke, B.D., of Brock Street Methodist church, and his text was chosen from Amos. Briefly the subject might be summed up as "Social Sins and National Doom." Some people say that it does not matter what we think so long as we are honest about it. It does matter said the preacher, for what we think is what we are most likely to act upon. The sin of false thinking was another of Israel's thorns in the flesh. As a result of false thinking, she had a vain philosophy. This false thinking led them to have an empty religion. It also induced shallow thinking, and the speaker wondered if the prophet were to come to earth now, how much of the so-called religion would be accepted.

This sin, Mr. Bourke described as the crime of all crimes. Some people had said that they did not care what became of things so long as they held together as long as they were there. He had known Methodist ministers to say this. He told in burning words of the total indifference of the wealthy classes of the old land to the wants and misery of the poorer classes.

What is to be the outcome of this thing? Something would have to happen. The empire will find out soon that there is no stability to it. The well-oiled political machinery will be of no avail to keep the country from the downfall which must surely come. The millions which have been acquired by financiers through the crushing of their victims would be of no benefit. Churches, nations or communities cannot disregard the moral order without getting the punishment which always follows. It was the aim of the church to save man and to give them a clearer vision of social justice. If the church would not accomplish this it might just as well close its doors, for when it comes to making a show, the speaker said the moving picture houses could give better music and put on a better show than the church could.

In the evening the church was taxed to its capacity, necessitating the placing of chairs in the aisles to accommodate those present. The choir of twenty-five voices rendered "My Faith Looks Up to Thee." Solos were taken in the anthem by Miss Mitchell and Mr. McEachern. Messrs. Trimble and Mack excelled themselves in their rendition of "O, What a Change." Mr. Trimble sang "A Clean Heart." The mixed quartette, composed of Messrs. Mitchell and Sherbino and Messrs.

THE MASS MEETING

FOR MEN IN THE ORPHEUM ON SUNDAY.

Dominion Alliance Speakers Dealt With the Evils of the Liquor Traffic—Some Interesting Figures.

The mass meeting for men, held in the Orpheum theatre Sunday afternoon was not so well attended as the representatives of the Dominion Alliance could have wished, yet the meeting was very interesting and the addresses were listened to very closely. Dean Biddell occupied the chair, and in his opening remarks said those present were united in one thing, the suppression of the liquor traffic. All agreed that Canada must be a sober nation, and the best means which are available at the present time for being taken to make it so. He said the clergy in making their calls come in contact with the result of the liquor traffic a great deal, and they are strong for the suppression of it. He then introduced the first speaker H. E. Irwin, K.C., of Toronto.

DEATH OF MRS. WILMOT.

Old Resident of Pittsburgh Passed Away.

An old resident of Pittsburgh, one who had lived in the township all her life, died on Saturday morning, about 11:30 o'clock, in the person of Mrs. Annie Wilmot, widow of the late John Wilmot. She passed away at the family homestead, after an illness extending over several months. She was seventy-six years of age. The late Mrs. Wilmot was born in Pittsburgh township, and as already stated had lived there all her life. Thus she was one of the oldest residents. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. John Gillespie, Pittsburgh township; Mrs. C. W. Langwith, Sturbridge, two sons, John J., on the homestead, and Albert B., of Pittsburgh township; one sister, Mrs. A. McAdoo, of Pittsburgh township, and one brother, Capt. Andrew Dunlop, of Kingston. Deceased was a member of the Anglican church at Barriefield.

Made a Presentation.

After being nine years in charge of the frame-making department of the Wormwith Piano company, Frank J. Salebury has resigned, to accept another position. On Saturday afternoon his fellow-employees met to express their regret at his departure, and as a little remembrance, presented him with a fine gold watch-chain and locket, engraved with the triple links and his initials, and wishing him continued success in his new position.

Scared at Street Car

A young horse belonging to the livery stable of Andrew McElquhan, Princess street, became frightened at the new work car which the street railway have built for repairing trolley lines, and ran into a telegraph pole at the corner of Princess and Division streets, Saturday, about six o'clock. The only damage which was done was a broken shaft.

To Attend Brother's Funeral.

Dr. I. G. Bogart left last night for Berwick to attend the funeral of his brother, W. Bogart, who died on Saturday evening following an operation for appendicitis a week ago.

Rodney Roblin, of Green Point, is preparing to build a new house on his place.

THE EMPIRE'S INTEREST

In the Coming of the Sheffield Choir.

Following upon the heels of the great banquet tendered the Sheffield choir by the Master Cutlers and Business Merchants of Sheffield in Cutlers Hall, on March 11th, these famous singers are in for a round of functions directly they land on Canadian Territory. At St. John, N.B., where the choir disembark, on March 25th, the band of the 2nd Regt., of Artillery will, by permission of Major S. B. Smith, meet them on the arrival of the S.M. Victorian. His Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor of the Province will attend the opening concerts there, and an official welcome will be given them by the Mayor of St. John and City officials, the Canadian Club will hold a reception and banquet. At Winnipeg, Brandon, Regina, Moose-jaw, Calgary and Edmonton, the Boards of Trade and city authorities are entertaining the Sheffielders. Saskatoon is providing two hundred motor cars to show them around. At Vancouver, President Buchanan, of the Board of Trade and the Mayor will both extend the honours. The city will charter a steamer to give the visitors a good look around the Island, and a civic luncheon will take place in Vancouver. Victoria has formed a citizens' committee to provide a civic welcome and hospitality to speed the chorus on their way to Australia. Similar receptions have been arranged throughout Australia, New Zealand and South Africa.

FAVORS RECIPROCIITY.

Joseph Cramer, of Glenvale, Gives His Views.

Joseph Cramer, of Glenvale, dairyman and cheese manufacturer, and president of the Frontenac cheese board, has announced that he is in favor of reciprocity. He stated so, when asked for an opinion by the Whig, on Saturday afternoon. Speaking from the standpoint of a dairyman, he said that it would be just as well for the people of Frontenac to send their cheese where they could get fifteen cents a pound for it. He pointed out that at present, cheese is sent to Montreal for shipment to the old country. The buyers received twelve cents, and the milk producers received about ten and one-half cents. "Let us send this cheese to Water- town, for instance," said Mr. Cramer, "there is no combine, and get fifteen cents. This is one of the reasons why I am in favor of reciprocity. Our manufacturers say that reciprocity will hurt business. Reciprocity will be in the farmers' interests. Every farmer should uphold Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in his agreement, because it is the best thing ever offered to Canada. Hon. Mr. Fielding is the only man who ever came back from Washington with anything for this country."

"The Melting Pot."

When Israel Zangwill wrote "The Melting Pot," which Walker Whiteside will present at the Grand, on Wednesday, March 22nd, he prepared not only a brief in the case of Judaism versus prejudice and racial distinction, but he established also a pulsing human sentiment, the warm red blood of which races through the body of his drama to every extremity, making it a real, living, enduring thing. For a play that not only presents a problem but champions a tremendous cause "The Melting Pot" has accumulated, during its existence, a truly sensational history. It holds the record run of a dramatic play in Chicago and has to its credit a many months' engagement in New York. Encomiums of praise have been showered upon it by leading literary lights of the world. The play quivers with optimism.

At the Grand, Saturday.

The production of "The Man of the Hour," which theatregoers witnessed Saturday afternoon and evening, was played by an inferior company. The original company, which presented it here before, outshined the one here Saturday. The play is a strong one, and is of a political nature, dealing with party bosses and the ins and outs of a political campaign which may be adapted to any large city. Felix Haney as "Alderman Phelan," was the most outstanding figure in the company.

Dr. Stirling, Picton, is preparing to leave next week for his ranch near Kerr Robert, Sask. He intends putting up a couple of cottages this summer.

HOTELS NECESSARY

BUT BAR ROOMS ARE NOT REQUIRED.

Rev. Prof. Cotton, Wycliffe College, Points Out Duty of Christian People—Stirring Appeal Given at St. James' Church.

The pulpits of nearly all the King-ston churches were occupied on Sunday by representatives of the Dominion Alliance, who spoke in the interests of temperance. Rev. Prof. T. H. Cotton, registrar of Wycliffe College, Toronto, spoke in St. James' church, on Sunday morning, and it was a stirring appeal which he made for Christian people to take steps to abolish the liquor traffic. His text was chosen from Romans xiv. 7: "For none of us liveth to himself, and no man dieth to himself," also Romans xiv. 13: "Let us not, therefore, judge one another any more, but judge one another any more, but judge this rather, that no man put a stumbling block or occasion to fall in his brother's way."

At St. Luke's Church.

Rev. Prof. Hallam, B.D., occupied the pulpit in the morning and preached from the text Romans xiv. 21: "It is good neither to eat flesh nor to drink wine, nor anything whereby thy brother stumbleth or is offended or is made weak." Here, said the preacher, is a word for our time and condition. St. Paul had a temperance problem to solve as we have and in solving his problem he taught us how to solve ours. And how did he solve it? By bringing brotherly love to bear upon it. Destroy not thy brother, he said, for whom Christ died. If your brother is stumbled or entrapped or weakened by seeing you indulge in certain things, then the law of Christian love requires you to abstain from them. Christ died for your brother. Can you not abstain for his sake? The lesson was well worked out by the preacher and enforced with earnestness.

At Cooke's Church.

Fifteen years ago a Roman Catholic archbishop and an Anglican bishop were conversing on a train running into Cincinnati. The subject of temperance was introduced, and these two good men expressed the hope that a league might be formed in which all classes of temperance reformers might join. As a result of that conversation a convention was held and an anti-saloon league of America was organized. It is now one of the strongest organizations in the world. This spoke Rev. William Kettlewell, field secretary of the Dominion Alliance, in Cooke's church, Sunday evening. The speaker went on to say that about the same time as the anti-saloon league of America was formed the temperance men of Canada turned their attention to provincial prohibition, but in as much as they were disappointed in procuring it they next took up the subject of local option. To-day more than sixty per cent. of the municipalities of Ontario are under local option and the law is generally exceedingly well administered. Probably during the present year contests will be held in 147 more municipalities and the prospects for success are good.

At Chalmers' Church.

Rev. R. M. Hamilton, of Toronto, preached such a forcible sermon on the evils of the liquor traffic, in Chalmers church, on Sunday morning, that the congregation contributed $117 on the spot, in aid of the Dominion Alliance work, and there is still more to come. "Did you ever try to save a drunkard?" asked the speaker. "You will find that they are a very hard class of people to rescue. And why is it? Is it because the gospel of Jesus Christ has lost its power? Or is it because Jesus Christ is not the same yesterday, to-day and to-morrow? I say no, it is not because of that. In regard to my work, I will say that while I was trying to save a man with one hand I was dragging him down with the other—while I was helping him to walk with one hand I was placing a stumbling block before him with the other. These men were trying to save had to pass liquor shops on their way to work every day, and they were tempted. I do not wish to make an attack on the bar rooms, or the men who have them. They are just as respectable as some of the men who sit in the churches. A man is given a license to sell this liquor. And what is a license? It means that he has just as much right to sell liquor as another man has to sell tea or sugar. He has been given the right to carry on that sort of business. "And who are the people who are doing the treating? They are the people who call themselves Christians. The bar room is not necessary for the liquor trade. If liquor is necessary it can be dispensed at the drug stores. It is not necessary that there should be a bar room. Hotels are necessary, but bar rooms are not. And it is not necessary for a man to sell liquor to make his hotel

At Cooke's Church.

Rev. Prof. Hallam, B.D., occupied the pulpit in the morning and preached from the text Romans xiv. 21: "It is good neither to eat flesh nor to drink wine, nor anything whereby thy brother stumbleth or is offended or is made weak." Here, said the preacher, is a word for our time and condition. St. Paul had a temperance problem to solve as we have and in solving his problem he taught us how to solve ours. And how did he solve it? By bringing brotherly love to bear upon it. Destroy not thy brother, he said, for whom Christ died. If your brother is stumbled or entrapped or weakened by seeing you indulge in certain things, then the law of Christian love requires you to abstain from them. Christ died for your brother. Can you not abstain for his sake? The lesson was well worked out by the preacher and enforced with earnestness.

At Cooke's Church.

Fifteen years ago a Roman Catholic archbishop and an Anglican bishop were conversing on a train running into Cincinnati. The subject of temperance was introduced, and these two good men expressed the hope that a league might be formed in which all classes of temperance reformers might join. As a result of that conversation a convention was held and an anti-saloon league of America was organized. It is now one of the strongest organizations in the world. This spoke Rev. William Kettlewell, field secretary of the Dominion Alliance, in Cooke's church, Sunday evening. The speaker went on to say that about the same time as the anti-saloon league of America was formed the temperance men of Canada turned their attention to provincial prohibition, but in as much as they were disappointed in procuring it they next took up the subject of local option. To-day more than sixty per cent. of the municipalities of Ontario are under local option and the law is generally exceedingly well administered. Probably during the present year contests will be held in 147 more municipalities and the prospects for success are good.

At Chalmers' Church.

Rev. R. M. Hamilton, of Toronto, preached such a forcible sermon on the evils of the liquor traffic, in Chalmers church, on Sunday morning, that the congregation contributed $117 on the spot, in aid of the Dominion Alliance work, and there is still more to come. "Did you ever try to save a drunkard?" asked the speaker. "You will find that they are a very hard class of people to rescue. And why is it? Is it because the gospel of Jesus Christ has lost its power? Or is it because Jesus Christ is not the same yesterday, to-day and to-morrow? I say no, it is not because of that. In regard to my work, I will say that while I was trying to save a man with one hand I was dragging him down with the other—while I was helping him to walk with one hand I was placing a stumbling block before him with the other. These men were trying to save had to pass liquor shops on their way to work every day, and they were tempted. I do not wish to make an attack on the bar rooms, or the men who have them. They are just as respectable as some of the men who sit in the churches. A man is given a license to sell this liquor. And what is a license? It means that he has just as much right to sell liquor as another man has to sell tea or sugar. He has been given the right to carry on that sort of business. "And who are the people who are doing the treating? They are the people who call themselves Christians. The bar room is not necessary for the liquor trade. If liquor is necessary it can be dispensed at the drug stores. It is not necessary that there should be a bar room. Hotels are necessary, but bar rooms are not. And it is not necessary for a man to sell liquor to make his hotel

At Cooke's Church.

Rev. R. M. Hamilton, of Toronto, preached such a forcible sermon on the evils of the liquor traffic, in Chalmers church, on Sunday morning, that the congregation contributed $117 on the spot, in aid of the Dominion Alliance work, and there is still more to come. "Did you ever try to save a drunkard?" asked the speaker. "You will find that they are a very hard class of people to rescue. And why is it? Is it because the gospel of Jesus Christ has lost its power? Or is it because Jesus Christ is not the same yesterday, to-day and to-morrow? I say no, it is not because of that. In regard to my work, I will say that while I was trying to save a man with one hand I was dragging him down with the other—while I was helping him to walk with one hand I was placing a stumbling block before him with the other. These men were trying to save had to pass liquor shops on their way to work every day, and they were tempted. I do not wish to make an attack on the bar rooms, or the men who have them. They are just as respectable as some of the men who sit in the churches. A man is given a license to sell this liquor. And what is a license? It means that he has just as much right to sell liquor as another man has to sell tea or sugar. He has been given the right to carry on that sort of business. "And who are the people who are doing the treating? They are the people who call themselves Christians. The bar room is not necessary for the liquor trade. If liquor is necessary it can be dispensed at the drug stores. It is not necessary that there should be a bar room. Hotels are necessary, but bar rooms are not. And it is not necessary for a man to sell liquor to make his hotel

$3 Shoes for Men

It's hard to get Real Good Shoes for less money than $3.00.

Every man should see our wonderful $3.00 Solid Leather Working Boots.

We also have a nice range of $3.00 FINE SHOES.

ABERNETHY'S

HOTELS NECESSARY

BUT BAR ROOMS ARE NOT REQUIRED.

Rev. Prof. Cotton, Wycliffe College, Points Out Duty of Christian People—Stirring Appeal Given at St. James' Church.

The pulpits of nearly all the King-ston churches were occupied on Sunday by representatives of the Dominion Alliance, who spoke in the interests of temperance. Rev. Prof. T. H. Cotton, registrar of Wycliffe College, Toronto, spoke in St. James' church, on Sunday morning, and it was a stirring appeal which he made for Christian people to take steps to abolish the liquor traffic. His text was chosen from Romans xiv. 7: "For none of us liveth to himself, and no man dieth to himself," also Romans xiv. 13: "Let us not, therefore, judge one another any more, but judge one another any more, but judge this rather, that no man put a stumbling block or occasion to fall in his brother's way."

At St. Luke's Church.

Rev. Prof. Hallam, B.D., occupied the pulpit in the morning and preached from the text Romans xiv. 21: "It is good neither to eat flesh nor to drink wine, nor anything whereby thy brother stumbleth or is offended or is made weak." Here, said the preacher, is a word for our time and condition. St. Paul had a temperance problem to solve as we have and in solving his problem he taught us how to solve ours. And how did he solve it? By bringing brotherly love to bear upon it. Destroy not thy brother, he said, for whom Christ died. If your brother is stumbled or entrapped or weakened by seeing you indulge in certain things, then the law of Christian love requires you to abstain from them. Christ died for your brother. Can you not abstain for his sake? The lesson was well worked out by the preacher and enforced with earnestness.

At Cooke's Church.

Fifteen years ago a Roman Catholic archbishop and an Anglican bishop were conversing on a train running into Cincinnati. The subject of temperance was introduced, and these two good men expressed the hope that a league might be formed in which all classes of temperance reformers might join. As a result of that conversation a convention was held and an anti-saloon league of America was organized. It is now one of the strongest organizations in the world. This spoke Rev. William Kettlewell, field secretary of the Dominion Alliance, in Cooke's church, Sunday evening. The speaker went on to say that about the same time as the anti-saloon league of America was formed the temperance men of Canada turned their attention to provincial prohibition, but in as much as they were disappointed in procuring it they next took up the subject of local option. To-day more than sixty per cent. of the municipalities of Ontario are under local option and the law is generally exceedingly well administered. Probably during the present year contests will be held in 147 more municipalities and the prospects for success are good.

At Chalmers' Church.

Rev. R. M. Hamilton, of Toronto, preached such a forcible sermon on the evils of the liquor traffic, in Chalmers church, on Sunday morning, that the congregation contributed $117 on the spot, in aid of the Dominion Alliance work, and there is still more to come. "Did you ever try to save a drunkard?" asked the speaker. "You will find that they are a very hard class of people to rescue. And why is it? Is it because the gospel of Jesus Christ has lost its power? Or is it because Jesus Christ is not the same yesterday, to-day and to-morrow? I say no, it is not because of that. In regard to my work, I will say that while I was trying to save a man with one hand I was dragging him down with the other—while I was helping him to walk with one hand I was placing a stumbling block before him with the other. These men were trying to save had to pass liquor shops on their way to work every day, and they were tempted. I do not wish to make an attack on the bar rooms, or the men who have them. They are just as respectable as some of the men who sit in the churches. A man is given a license to sell this liquor. And what is a license? It means that he has just as much right to sell liquor as another man has to sell tea or sugar. He has been given the right to carry on that sort of business. "And who are the people who are doing the treating? They are the people who call themselves Christians. The bar room is not necessary for the liquor trade. If liquor is necessary it can be dispensed at the drug stores. It is not necessary that there should be a bar room. Hotels are necessary, but bar rooms are not. And it is not necessary for a man to sell liquor to make his hotel

At Cooke's Church.

Rev. R. M. Hamilton, of Toronto, preached such a forcible sermon on the evils of the liquor traffic, in Chalmers church, on Sunday morning, that the congregation contributed $117 on the spot, in aid of the Dominion Alliance work, and there is still more to come. "Did you ever try to save a drunkard?" asked the speaker. "You will find that they are a very hard class of people to rescue. And why is it? Is it because the gospel of Jesus Christ has lost its power? Or is it because Jesus Christ is not the same yesterday, to-day and to-morrow? I say no, it is not because of that. In regard to my work, I will say that while I was trying to save a man with one hand I was dragging him down with the other—while I was helping him to walk with one hand I was placing a stumbling block before him with the other. These men were trying to save had to pass liquor shops on their way to work every day, and they were tempted. I do not wish to make an attack on the bar rooms, or the men who have them. They are just as respectable as some of the men who sit in the churches. A man is given a license to sell this liquor. And what is a license? It means that he has just as much right to sell liquor as another man has to sell tea or sugar. He has been given the right to carry on that sort of business. "And who are the people who are doing the treating? They are the people who call themselves Christians. The bar room is not necessary for the liquor trade. If liquor is necessary it can be dispensed at the drug stores. It is not necessary that there should be a bar room. Hotels are necessary, but bar rooms are not. And it is not necessary for a man to sell liquor to make his hotel

At Cooke's Church.

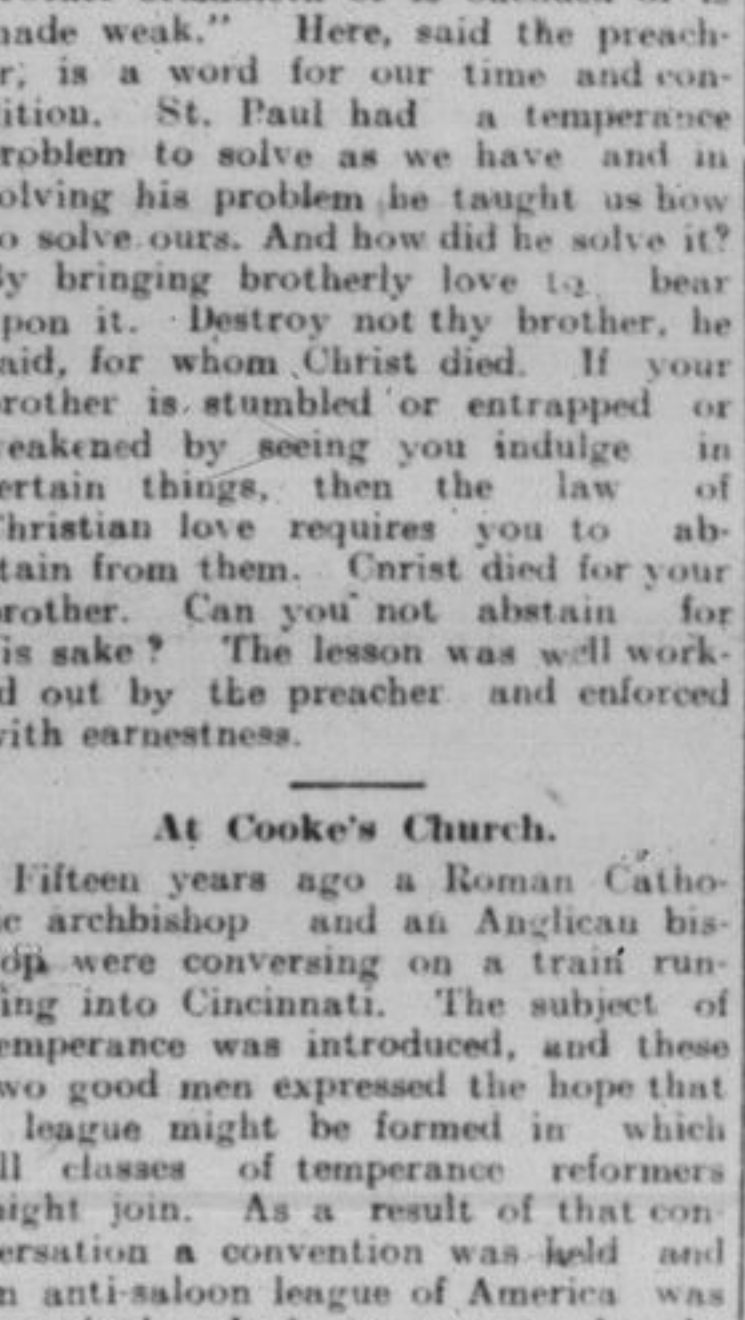

Rev. R. M. Hamilton, of Toronto, preached such a forcible sermon on the evils of the liquor traffic, in Chalmers church, on Sunday morning, that the congregation contributed $117 on the spot, in aid of the Dominion Alliance work, and there is still more to come. "Did you ever try to save a drunkard?" asked the speaker. "You will find that they are a very hard class of people to rescue. And why is it? Is it because the gospel of Jesus Christ has lost its power? Or is it because Jesus Christ is not the same yesterday, to-day and to-morrow? I say no, it is not because of that. In regard to my work, I will say that while I was trying to save a man with one hand I was dragging him down with the other—while I was helping him to walk with one hand I was placing a stumbling block before him with the other. These men were trying to save had to pass liquor shops on their way to work every day, and they were tempted. I do not wish to make an attack on the bar rooms, or the men who have them. They are just as respectable as some of the men who sit in the churches. A man is given a license to sell this liquor. And what is a license? It means that he has just as much right to sell liquor as another man has to sell tea or sugar. He has been given the right to carry on that sort of business. "And who are the people who are doing the treating? They are the people who call themselves Christians. The bar room is not necessary for the liquor trade. If liquor is necessary it can be dispensed at the drug stores. It is not necessary that there should be a bar room. Hotels are necessary, but bar rooms are not. And it is not necessary for a man to sell liquor to make his hotel

FOR ROUGH RED SKIN, CHAPPED FACE AND HANDS

Nyal's Face Cream. Balm of Violets. Witch Hazel Cream. Santol Cold Cream. Hind's Honey and Almond Cream. Ideal Orchid Cream. Stearn's Edelweiss Cream. Sold at Prouse's Drug Store Opposite St. Andrew's Church. Phone 82

The Latest And Best

Large Easy Rattan Arm Chairs, with Bungalow Cloth Cushion, in Imperial Green or natural finish.

Send in your Repairing and Upholstering and have our prompt attention.

James Reid.

Phone 147.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Disfranchised Graduates Must Take to the Woods. Kingston, March 17.—(To the Editor.) Reference has been made to the fact that the graduates of Queen's have been asked to vote for one of two plans: (1) Separation from the church, or (2) a modified connection. Those graduates who want to vote for the retention of the present connection are given no chance to express themselves. The university trustees' reference of the question to the graduates is like the negro preacher who told his flock: "Brethren, dere am just two roads for you to take. Dere am de broad road dat leads down to damnation, and de narrow way dat takes you to perdition." "Is dat so, brudder?" said a venerable darkey in the audience. "Is dat so, brudder? Den dis nigger mus' take to de woods."—GRADUATE.

Organized Bible Class.

The young men's class of Princess Street Methodist church met, Sunday afternoon and organized into a Bible class. A Lawrence Acton was elected president; William J. Timmerman, vice-president; F. H. Williams, secretary, and Frederick Rutherford, treasurer. Miss Maude Playfair, the present teacher, was unanimously re-elected for the coming term. A great deal of enthusiasm was manifested at the first meeting and it is expected to increase the attendance of the class considerably.

Will Tender Banquet.

The Roosters' Club, of the Frontenac Hockey Club, will tender a complimentary banquet to the Junior Frontenacians in King's Cafe, Friday evening, March 24th. This will be a most fitting close to a victorious season for the junior champions of Canada. The citizens' souvenirs will be presented at the gathering.

Melville Helmer, late of Greenbush, has moved to Cherry Valley. Might makes right only with the selfish and unfair man.

HUNT'S is Where To Go for a NATTY HAT The Shirt, Collar and Tie Store of the city. P. J. HUNT, 53 Brock Street

Announcement. All the latest in Easter Millinery will be shown TUESDAY, MARCH 21st AT MISS E. V. GREAZA'S MILLINERY PARLORS, Wellington Street. A WELCOME TO ALL

Misses Hannay & Ramsay 179 Wellington St. On and after Tuesday, March 21st, 1911, will display all the Latest Styles in Spring Millinery

Add wholesomeness to the food. Creeland's Baking Powder The most economical of all leavening agents, and makes the finest food.