TROUBLES IN JAPAN.

Troubles of Those Ignorant of the Language and Native Ways.

All Japanese imps, of course, charge a great deal more to the globe-trotting European tourist who does not speak the language, since he or she is not content to travel strictly a la Japonaise and worries the entire household with a variety of strange demands—extra quilts to sleep on because they find the floor hard, an improvised pillow, special food (the ordinary guest takes what is given him and at the hour that his host pleases and is thankful), knives, forks, and spoons because he has neglected to practice eating his food with chopsticks, a bath with fresh water in it because he will not follow the custom of entering the bath as soon as he arrives, thus getting the opportunity of first bath and the water while it is fresh, and half a dozen other requirements. He reserves his chagrin also until he leaves, and often the host misunderstands this action and, fearing he will get no recompense for his extra trouble, augments the bill accordingly.

These visitors not unusually treat the waitresses like so many novel playthings, especially travellers of the sterner sex, who sometimes fail hopelessly to distinguish between professional grins and ordinary mawkishness.—Vera Collum in Wide World Magazine.

STOMACH TROUBLE ENDED.

Indigestion, Gas, Sourness, Heartburn, and Dyspepsia go in Five Minutes.

If you have some Diapiesin handy and would take a little now your stomach distress or indigestion would vanish in five minutes and you would feel fine.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat, and overcome a sour, out-of-order stomach before you realize it.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a 50c. case of Pape's Diapiesin and take a little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, illness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no undigested food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapiesin is certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is at any drug store waiting for you.

These large 50c. cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of Dyspepsia, indigestion or any other stomach disturbance.

Told in Twilight

A very enjoyable and interesting bridge was given by Mrs. Robert Fraser, West street, on Thursday afternoon. The hostess, in a dainty gown of heliotrope voile, received her guests in the drawing room. Cards were played at five tables, and the prizes were won by Mrs. A. W. Winnett, Mrs. H. Dyde, Mrs. H. Moore and Mrs. J. S. Smith. The bridge players were Mrs. Richard Waldron, Mrs. James Rigney, Mrs. R. Uglow, Mrs. J. L. Gurd, Montreal; Mrs. J. Massie, Mrs. H. N. Robertson, Mrs. J. S. Smith, Miss Gertrude Rankin, Stratford; Mrs. David Laidlaw, Mrs. John Mackay, Mrs. David Murray, Mrs. George Mahood, Mrs. W. A. Mitchell, Mrs. J. S. Smith, Mrs. H. Moore, Mrs. H. Dyde, Mrs. J. G. Elliott, Mrs. Noel Gill, Miss E. Wilmot. At five o'clock tea was served and dainty refreshments were passed by Miss Isabel Polson, Miss Dora Oldrieve, Miss Bessie Robertson, Miss Florence Williamson and Miss Edith Fraser. Mrs. David Laidlaw poured tea, and Mrs. Richard Waldron poured coffee at the polished mahogany table, which was centred by a square of ebony lac, on which rested a large bowl of pale pink tulips, and lilies of the valley. The few guests who dropped in for tea were: Mrs. C. Connell, Mrs. Gordon Myles, Mrs. W. S. Ellis, Mrs. W. G. Craig, Mrs. George Mackay, Mrs. T. McK. Robertson, Mrs. J. S. Mearns, of Toronto; Mrs. James Third, Mrs. M. Macgillivray, Mrs. N. C. Polson, Mrs. Charles Livingstone, Mrs. F. O. Willhoff, and Mrs. T. G. Smith.

Mrs. Walter Macnee, Union street, will entertain the members of the Ladies' Kingston Curling Club, at tea, on Wednesday afternoon, when the prizes for the year will be presented to the following ladies: The Shaw medal for the singles, to Miss Mabel Dalton, the president's prizes for the doubles, to Miss Beatrice Birch, and Miss Mabel Richardson; special prizes for drawing played in January to Miss Beatrice Birch; special prize for drawing in March to Miss Ada Birch; the prize for the highest score in points for the year to Miss Beatrice Birch; the prize for the highest points scored in one day to Miss Mabel Dalton; prize for points played in January to Miss Beatrice Birch; prize for points in February, to Miss Maud Betts; prize for points in March to Miss Mabel Dalton.

Mrs. George McKay, Stuart street, was hostess, on Friday afternoon, at a most enjoyable tea, when the guests of honor were Mrs. J. L. Gurd, of Montreal, Miss G. Rankin, of Stratford, and Miss M. Tett, of Newboro. The tea table looked very pretty, with a basket full of pink carnations, and similar arranged on a handsome lace centrepiece. Mrs. A. W. Winnett poured tea, Mrs. John McKay poured coffee, and Mrs. George Mahood out the ice. They were assisted by Miss Edith Young, Miss Edith Fraser, Miss Dora Oldrieve, Miss Florence Williamson, Miss Tett and Miss Hazel Massie. During the afternoon the guests were delighted with vocal solos from Miss Tett and Miss Massie.

A very jolly luncheon was given at the Country Club, on Friday, in honor of Miss Audrey Durnon and Miss Juliet Barnes, New York. Covers were laid for fourteen and the table was daintily arranged with pretty daffodils. The guests were: Miss Lassic Kirkpatrick, Miss Dorothy Hill, Miss Charlie Shortt, Miss Dorothy Carruthers, Miss Hilda Keat, Miss Doris Kent, Miss Nora Macnee, Miss Margery Brownfield, Miss Madge Dawson, Miss Vera Carson, Miss Selvia Colchane and Miss Helen Gordon.

Mrs. J. Jenkin and Miss A. Jenkin, Princess street, were the hostesses of a pretty tea at their home aglow with lights and flowers. The tea table, in charge of Mrs. J. Hughes and Mrs. C. De Carteret, was attractively arranged with ebony lac, a large vase of carnations, with smilax draping the table. The assistants were Miss L. Walsh, Miss Bionette and Miss May Mills. The out-of-town guests were Mrs. J. L. Gurd, Montreal and Miss G. Rankin, Stratford.

Mrs. Lindsay Malcolm, Earl street, entertained informally at a five hundred party, on Friday evening, in honor of Miss Gertrude Rankin, of Stratford. The guests included Miss Edith Young, Miss Isabel Polson, Miss Bessie Robertson, Miss Dora Oldrieve, Miss Edith Fraser, Miss Florence Williamson, Messrs. Bruce, Amers, Bertram, Sterling, N. Polson and Douglas Ellis.

Mrs. N. S. Leslie, Bagot street, entertained at dinner, on Thursday evening.

The Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Gibson and a large family party from Toronto, will come to Kingston, in a private car, on Wednesday, to attend the assault-at-arms at the Royal Military College. They will return to Toronto on Thursday.

The commandant, staff and gentlemen cadets, Royal Military College, of Canada, have issued invitations for their annual assault-at-arms for Wednesday afternoon and evening, March 29th.

Miss Bessie Weese entertained at tea for the Queen's girls of her year, at 113, on Thursday afternoon. Miss May Nash, vice-president of the year, received with Miss Weese.

Mrs. P. C. Stevenson and Miss Helen Crowe won the President's Prize in the ladies doubles at the armourees last Saturday afternoon.

The Bridge Club will meet for the last time this season at Mrs. W. A. Mitchell's, William street.

Mrs. A. W. Cooke, "Hazeldell," will not receive again till after Easter.

Mrs. W. Hughes and her two sons, Earl street, arrived home from Montreal on Tuesday.

Mr. George Richardson left, on Saturday, to spend some time in Quebec.

BIRTHRIGHT ROBBED

FROM THE FARMERS BY PARTY TIES.

Reeve W. J. Donaldson Comes Out for Reciprocity—It is Time, He Says, That the Manufacturers Ceased to Bleed the Farmers.

Donaldson, March 24.—(To the Editor): I have read with interest the articles in your paper and the arguments set forth on the floor of parliament at Ottawa regarding the proposed reciprocity agreement, and I am at a loss to understand why there should be such a difference of opinion among the people of Canada on this great question.

I had the honor to be a delegate and attend a monster convention held in Ottawa by the liberals of the Dominion in June, 1893. The object of that convention was to consider the people to carry out the proposed platform for the party to go to the country on at the approaching general elections. One of the principal planks in the platform adopted at that time was tariff for revenue only. In 1896, at the next general elections, the people of Canada endorsed that platform by returning the liberal party to power with an overwhelming majority. And yet we are told that the government has a mandate from the people to carry out the proposed reciprocity agreement.

It has been shown that the surplus of assets over expenditure in the last fiscal year has reached over $60,000,000, which shows that the tariff exceeds the amount required for revenue. It may be said that circumstances have changed since 1896. We are free to admit that such is the case, but this makes the necessity for greater expansion of our trade all the more urgent. Our country has undergone a wonderful change in the way of development. Many have accumulated great wealth. Millionaires are now counted by scores, but how many of those can attribute their wealth to the tilling of the soil? How many farmers are there in Canada to-day who can sport an automobile and enjoy life in the same way that manufacturers can?

A farmer may take $15,000 and invest it in a farm. By the time he pays for his farm, stocks and equipment, he will have invested the above amount. What, then, has he to face? He has to take off his coat and work hard from twelve to sixteen hours a day for a bare living. This state of affairs has driven many of our farmers off the farm and forced them into the city, where they can make an easier living. Then, if we take the succession duties, we will find that the estates of farmers figure very small in the revenue drawn by the government from that source. And why does this state of affairs exist? Simply because the farmers have been fleeced by their more fortunate countrymen. Under the existing protective tariff they are made to pay tribute to the manufacturer, to railway monopoly and combines of every conceivable form. We have spoon-fed those great infants for over thirty years and I should think it is high time for them to paddle their own canoe.

Give us legislation that will foster the tillers of the soil. They are the great wealth producers of our country. Make them prosperous by giving them good markets, and all other industries will prosper without the sucking bottle. Break the combine by throwing the doors of trade open. I believe that the time has come when the agriculturalists of this Dominion will insist on having the yoke of bondage removed, and will be heard from at the next general election irrespective of party ties, which have hitherto robbed them of their birthright.—W. J. DONALDSON.

Lethbridge to Have Building. Lethbridge, Alta., March 24.—The city council has decided to award the contract for the erection of the main building for an exhibition at once. The tender of Smith Bros. & Wilson will be accepted. The cost will be about $35,000, and the building will be the finest west of Winnipeg.

Expect Great Benefits. Washington, March 25.—Representative Campbell, of Kansas, who has been travelling in Canada recently gathering the Canadian view of reciprocity, said President Taft for a few moments yesterday. Mr. Campbell said that the Canadian farmers are expecting great benefits from the removal of American duties on their products and are enthusiastic over the treaty.

The Finishing Touches. The famous epitaph placed on the monument over her husband's grave by a woman up in Maine, "Rest in peace until I join you," has almost a duplicate in a sign on the door of a doctor's office in a downtown office building," says George A. Schneider. "This sign reads, 'Do not absolutely abandon hope until you have seen me.'—Cleveland Leader.

Suitable. "That young painter's wife is not pretty nor clever, but she is as good as she can be." "Then I suppose he married her for economy's sake." "What do you mean?" "Why, isn't it economy for an artist to marry a model?"—Baltimore American.

WANTS SEPARATION.

Mrs. Doxtator Has Appealed to the Courts.

Watertown, N.Y., March 25.—Charges of cruelty and threats to kill and counter charges of desertion are contained in the complaint and the answer to the action just commenced in supreme court by Stella B. Doxtator, at present residing in Belleville, Ont., against William F. Doxtator, of Brownville, N.Y., an employee of the Harmon Paper company.

The Doxtators were married at Belleville, Ont., September 1st, 1904, and came to this country in June, 1905. They lived together until March 2nd, when the wife returned home. They have one child, Reginald, born in September, 1905.

The wife's complaint sets up numerous allegations of cruel and inhuman treatment, coupled with abusive language and threats to kill. In September, 1910, the complaint alleges, Doxtator struck her in her face and choked her at their home in Brownville. Again in November it is claimed that he became abusive, exhibiting a revolver and threatening to kill her, which threat, the complaint says, he was prevented from carrying out by the fact that the cartridges he had would not fit the gun. On another occasion he became abusive while they were walking on the streets at Brownville, threatening to beat her, but was prevented by a man who was with them. Later after Mrs. Doxtator had retired he came to her room threatening to kill her, and told her that whatever she had to say to say it quick, because she did not have a great while to live.

The complaint names other instances of alleged cruelty, one being that he beat her head against the wall, and also charges that Doxtator imposed ridiculous requirements upon the plaintiff, such as making her pull down window curtains when a lamp was lighted and not to speak to men acquaintances on the street. She demands a decree of separation on the ground of cruelty, with the custody of the child.

In his answer Doxtator denies the allegations of cruelty and abuse and charges that his wife deserted him on March 2nd, leaving his home in Brownville with her child. He asks a decree of separation on the ground of desertion and the custody of the child.

Too Harsh With Him.

Along a country road walked a man and woman. The latter, a gaunt, stern-faced female, was bullying the meek little fellow who trudged just in front of her with downcast head.

Suddenly the woman, turning, saw a bull racing down the road behind them. She quickly took refuge in the hedge, but her companion, unconscious of aught but his woes, kept on his way.

The bull caught up to him and sent him spinning into a muddy ditch, then continued on its mad career. As the woebegone figure crawled out of the mire he saw his better half coming toward him. Plucking up a little spirit, he whispered:

"M-Maria, if you hit me like that a-g-g-gain you'll really get my temper up, so I warn ye."—Ideas.

Real Capacity.

It was at a recent Friars' dinner that Augustus Thomas told the story of a newspaper man's capacity. There had arisen a controversy over the ability of a man to eat two quails a day for thirty consecutive days. A Park Row reporter was asked if he would undertake the task. "Say, Bill," he replied, "make it turkey."

An Exceptional Case.

"Killed by Whiskey"

But the Doctor, Through Respect to His Family, Said it Was "Heart Failure."

IF THE NEWSPAPERS of this country would for ONLY ONE MONTH report the actual number of deaths directly traceable to liquor drinking, giving FULL PARTICULARS in each case, and at the end of THAT month should the "WET OR DRY" proposition be submitted to a vote of the whole people, NEVER AGAIN would there be a drop of liquor lawfully sold in Canada.

Every liquor drinker excuses himself from being a SLAVE—for being the victim of a DEBASING POISON—by declaring that he is but a MODERATE DRINKER—that he was never drunk in his life.

Moderate drinking, steady drinking, periodic drinking—it's all the same and has the same END. Alcohol is a cumulative poison. You can poison yourself with it just as effectually SLOWLY AS QUICKLY.

Come to the Gatlin Institute TO-DAY—it will be the BEST MOVE that you have EVER MADE in your life. In THREE DAYS the Gatlin treatment will remove every trace of alcoholic poison from your system. At the end of the THIRD DAY you will go home with no craving or desire for any kind of alcoholic liquor. Your NERVES will be steady and strong—your appetite better than in years—the vital organs of your body working properly without the stimulus of alcohol.

After you have taken the Gatlin treatment and are ready to leave the institute, if you are not SATISFIED ask for the fee paid for treatment and it will be immediately returned to you. That is embodied in a legally executed contract.

GOOD FOR NERVES.

Women Stand Little Show of Curing Themselves.

Women stand little show of curing themselves of nerves and temper, according to Dr. Enrico Serafini, of Italy, who says silence is the only cure for neurasthenia and all nervous disorders.

"Nervous depression and neurasthenia are due—it results after diligent research"—said Dr. Serafini, to-day, "to a tendency to talk too much. Now, to talk does not mean to sound letters, but a mental effort which excites the entire nervous system. The effort of thinking, of making up phrases, of listening to and forming arguments with hearers, of being attentive to them, of co-ordinating the thread of conversation. All these things intensify a general awakening of the person, which finally results in a nervous breakdown."

"Persons who are not loquacious, medical records show, have always been remarked for their good health, and this silence is directly related with the first order a doctor gives his patient—that of absolute quiet."—New York World.

A Contortionist.

The solemnity of the meeting was somewhat disturbed when the eloquent young theologian pictured in glowing words the selfishness of men who spent their evenings at the club, leaving their wives in loneliness at home.

"Think, my hearers," said he, "of a poor, neglected wife, all alone in the great dreary house, rocking the cradle of her sleeping babe with one foot and wiping away her tears with the other."—London Tit-Bits.

William Faversham in "The Faun."

William Faversham will present his new play, "The Faun," at the Grand on Thursday, April 6th. "The Faun" was written for Mr. Faversham by Edward Knoblauch, and the nature of the story promises an entertainment of great novelty and dramatic interest. In this play Mr. Faversham impersonates a faun, being the son of Pan, the god of the shepherd. While this might indicate that the play was one of pure fantasy, this is not entirely the case. The faun in Mr. Knoblauch's comedy leaves his natural element, that of the woods and fields, and one night wanders into London, where he is discovered one night bathing in a fountain. He is taken into the house, clothed as a human being, and then the story begins. As the faun knows nothing whatever about the conventions of life, it may easily be imagined that the dramatist has utilized the theme to the end that some surprising results are secured.

Mr. Knoblauch, the author of "The Faun," has the greatest success now current on the London stage, the same being "Prisicilla Runs Away," at the Haymarket Theatre. Mr. Faversham is supported by a fine company. His leading lady is the beautiful Julie Opp.
