A Household Necessity

Father Morriscy's Liniment Should be in Every Home

How seldom a week passes without some member of the family suffering from a sore throat, chest or back, a burn or a cut, a sprain, strain or ache!

Such troubles will come, but there is no need of suffering much from them. Keep a bottle of Father Morriscy's Liniment in the house, use it freely, and the pain has little chance.

During his lifetime Father Morriscy prescribed this Liniment regularly, and it proved very effective in relieving all sorts of pains and aches. In Rheumatism it is valuable as a "rub", when "Father Morriscy's No. 7" Tablets are taken internally. Similarly, applied freely to throat and chest it helps "Father Morriscy's No. 10" (Lung Tonic) to quickly break up and drive away a sore throat, cold in the chest, or cough.

Taken all around it is one of the best family liniments in existence. Price 25c per bottle. At your dealer's, or from Father Morriscy Medicine Co., Ltd., Montreal, Quebec.

Sold and guaranteed in Kingston by J. B. McLeod.

A TIME TO HALT—Inspector Wetherill has warned the St. Thomas school board that if it does not enlarge the institute so as to provide for more and smaller classes the government grant will be withheld. "At present," says the St. Thomas Times, "the collegiate staff numbers eleven, with accommodation, it is claimed, for only ten classes. The inspector insists on twelve classes, and while the board has provided in its estimates for engaging twelve teachers after September 1st, it is at a loss to know how to get the accommodation."

This man Wetherill is at the bottom of all the trouble in Kingston. He insisted upon the erection of a gymnasium, he did not care at what cost, and the board met his views. Then he insisted upon more classes and teachers. An extra teacher was put on, but the addition to the building has not been ordered, and why should it? The attendance since 1903 has run as follows:

	Average Enrolled.
1903, October	374 406
1904	421 455
1905	407 439
1906	374 401
1907	388 415
1908	381 412
1909	397 429
1910	357 398
1910	357 398
1911 January	348 394

The fact, then, is that not in nine years has the average of enrolled attendance been so low, and yet these high school inspectors are talking and acting as if the situation were such that greater accommodation and a larger staff should be immediately provided. Indeed there is as much room for the county pupils as there has ever been, more of it this year, but the inspectors have a plan for "approval" and according to it the institute must take on new and unnecessary expense in order to comply with it.

Secondary education is becoming altogether too expensive and the education department is making it appear that the high schools are the sacred object of its attention. When the Whitney party was in opposition it had a lot to say about the public schools which gave ninety-five per cent of the children all the tuition they received. At present the anxiety is to build up the high schools, practically at the expense of the public schools, and it is pretty nearly time a halt was called.

THE MANITOBA BOUNDARY.

The negotiations between the government of Manitoba and of the dominion, in regard to increase of provincial subsidy as a condition of assuming administration of the proposed enlarged area of the province, has resulted in a definite offer by the Dominion government which has been tabled in the Manitoba house. As the matter is one of serious importance a brief review of the facts is in order.

A request for the extension of the boundaries of Manitoba, made by the province, was acceded to by the dominion and the boundaries practically agreed upon. Following upon the proposal to add new territory to the province arose the question of the proper share of the dominion in contributing financially to the provincial administration of that territory. The provincial government asked for the readjustment of financial arrangements that would place the enlarged province of Manitoba on a financial equality with the adjoining province of Saskatchewan so far as dominion subsidy was concerned.

The Dominion government holds that the arrangements with the existing province of Manitoba were fixed by the recent provincial conference, and that these terms cannot, in pursuance of sound public policy, be altered except with the consent of a future provincial conference. At the same time, the Dominion government is willing to make such an addition to the present gross subsidy of the province, in respect of the added territory, as will put the province of Manitoba, either actually or approximately, on the same footing as Saskatchewan in regard to dominion subsidy.

An important difference between the basis of subsidy for Manitoba and Saskatchewan is the consideration allowed for land in each case. Saskatchewan receives a lump sum on account of land, which sum is increased with the increase of population until a fixed maximum is reached. The claim made by Saskatchewan and Alberta for consideration of this nature, on account of lands, was based upon the fact that Manitoba had received, for purposes of provincial revenue the swamp lands within the province, one hundred and fifty thousand acres of selected lands, in aid of the university, and $100,000 a year in cash. Therefore, in any calculation of comparison between the subsidies of Saskatchewan and Manitoba, it is necessary that the swamp and university lands of Manitoba be taken into account in lieu of cash allowance in lieu of lands received by Saskatchewan.

Saskatchewan at present receives $375,000 a year in lieu of lands. Manitoba receives $100,000 a year in cash and such revenue as she is able to derive from the university and swamp lands, transferred to her by the dominion. These lands are an important part of the revenue of the province of Manitoba, and in the public accounts the sales of such lands appear as revenue. It would not, however, be fair to consider the purchase price of the swamp or university lands as revenue. It is only fair that the income from such lands, whether by rental or interest on sales, should be considered in the revenue calculation. There has been transferred to the province to date, 2,000,000 acres of swamp lands and 150,000 acres of university lands. From the public accounts of Manitoba and the statements of the provincial treasurer, it is gathered that the annual revenue from swamp lands' account is about $150,000, and on the same account from university lands, $24,000. Manitoba, therefore, receives at the present time annually on land account:

Cash	$100,000.00
Swamp lands	150,000.00
University lands	24,000.00
Total	$274,000.00

This is against Saskatchewan's $375,000.

In respect of the added territory it is proposed to pay a bulk sum of $200,000 a year on land account until the population reaches 100,000, then $250,000 until the population reaches 150,000, and afterwards $300,000. Besides there will be paid on account of population, of the added territory, 50c per head as fixed by each succeeding census, and the population of the added territory will help to increase from census to census the allowance for civil government.

The maximum payment in respect of the added territory is one-fourth of the maximum amount which the province of Saskatchewan can receive on account of lands, and the province of Manitoba has besides the revenue to be derived from the absolute ownership of the university and swamp lands. What the ultimate revenue from these will amount to can only be estimated, as it will depend upon the area, location, and character of the lands, the advancement of the country and the wisdom with which they are administered.

The university lands are selected lands, and are a fixed area of one hundred and fifty thousand acres. The swamp lands are as yet of unknown area, but 2,000,000 acres have been transferred to the provincial government, 2,000,000 more will be transferred shortly, and it is estimated that not less than 4,500,000 acres more will ultimately come to the province under the swamp lands arrangement, so that in all the province of Manitoba 150,000 acres of choice selected university lands and eight million acres of swamp lands, the present cash grant of $100,000, in lieu of lands and a possible maximum of $300,000 in respect of the added territory to balance against Saskatchewan's present allowance of $375,000, in cash and her possible maximum allowance of $1,125,000. At the present time Manitoba's revenue is:

Grant in lieu of lands	$100,000.00
Land account	150,000.00
University lands	24,000.00
Per head allowance in respect of present population in the added territory	$28,000.00
Total	$1,102,000.00

It would appear from the newspaper reports that the government of Manitoba is not inclined to accept the offer of the dominion as being sufficient consideration to the province for the cost of administration of the added territory. The position of the Dominion government is that, (1), the arrangement as to provincial subsidies, made at the provincial conference of 1905 should not be disturbed except by a subsequent conference, and (2), that the allowance to Manitoba, with its added territory, cannot be made more favorable than those to the adjoining province of Saskatchewan, having due regard to the much larger area of land suitable to agricultural occupation and, therefore, entailing very much higher expenses of provincial government, in the province of Saskatchewan than in Manitoba.

The Dominion government is anxious to have the question of the extension of the boundaries of Manitoba settled in such manner as shall be satisfactory to the people of the province, but can only agree to such terms as will not cause adverse criticism from other provinces. The history recited here fairly presents the dominion government's case, and it is not a bad one.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

If Mr. Sifton represents a sound trade policy, one he defends anywhere, he should not abandon Brandon. To do so would be to betray a political weakness that has not hitherto been his character.

The political eruption in Ottawa, so far as Mr. Borden is concerned, is over for the present. But the discontent of rebellion is not over. Like the mouldering volcano there is apt to be a new outbreak any day.

The question is where the tuberculosis hospital should be placed cannot be disposed of by the hospital governors alone. The masses are against the use of any city site for the institution, and the hospital governors will see the advisability of getting into harmony with public opinion.

The Montreal Star is not pleased with Mr. Borden because Mr. Sifton cut them out of certain public favors by his attitude on reciprocity. The Star evidently thinks that Mr. Borden should be more aggressive and successful. But Mr. Borden is not Mr. Sifton.

The Manitoba boundary question was practically settled, and will not be re-opened. That much has been made clear. The subsidy is another question, and may be revived, with the consent of the other provinces. The conference of provincial premiers some time ago appears to have labored in vain, so far as British Columbia and Manitoba are concerned.

Faversham in "The Faun."

Edward Knoblauch's comedy, "The Faun," which William Faversham will present at the Grand on Thursday, April 6th, is said to offer a banquet of amusement that does not produce mental indigestion. The novelty of Mr. Knoblauch's idea, that of introducing into society a creature of the woods and fields, makes for fun and at the same time serves to point out the many absurdities of modern life. The motif of the "little green grape," which grows ripe when exposed to the sun of love, has an application that is clear to the most obtuse. The Faun points the way to a rational existence that appeals not only to silken sons and daughters nursed in pleasures drossy lap, but to the grimy toilers of this work-a-day world. It is little wonder that the Faun, having mingled with society and observed with what avidity the social moth makes for the gas jet, jumps over the garden wall and hastens back to the woods and fields. It would have been a matter for wonder if this natural creature had failed to remark that the good hard common sense out of the mouth of the Faun is some surprise, yet it is not wondered at when we discover people, claiming to be civilized, and bragging about it, who are living absurdly unnatural lives.

LICENSES ASSURED

FOR TWO SHOPS IN TOWN OF GANANQUE.

A Number From That Place Will be Here This Evening for the Concert by the Sheffield Choir.

Gananque, April 1.—Further developments along the line of renewing shop licenses in Gananque, have arisen during the past week, when it was found that the Corigan Dry Goods company had been notified to vacate their store, on King street by May 1st, as the landlord, James McParland, desired the use of it for himself. This, with Mr. Hale's petition, will, doubtless mean that both shop licenses cut off a few years ago will be granted this year.

Quite a large sized contingent left at six o'clock last evening for Kingston, to attend "The Kosary," at the Grand, and witness the presentation of souvenirs to the Frontenac hockey team by the citizens of Kingston.

Another of Gananque's well-known young men, who is "Indian-listed," has got into trouble by becoming intoxicated. When brought before the police magistrate he refused to disclose where he got the liquor, but on pressure being brought to bear on him, added to the prospective minimum of twenty-one days, the names of several parties were given, and it is expected more will follow, and a round-up of the bunch be made shortly.

The Y.P.S. of Grace church held an old-fashioned spelling bee, last evening. Miss Black and Mrs. C. H. Hurd captured the two sides. Clifford Sine gave out the words. After a hard fight, all went down on the same word, "aniline."

Gordon E. Hurd, ill for the past week, has so far recovered as to be about again. Miss Mabel M. Carpenter, of the staff of King street public school, went up to Kingston, last evening, to spend the week-end with friends. George Hensby spent a few days, this week, in Lyn.

Among those from our town who will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing the Sheffield choir, in Grand hall, Kingston, this evening, are: Mrs. Clifford Sine, Miss Essie De Long, Miss M. M. Carpenter, Miss McDermott, Miss A. A. Houson, Miss Winona Pitcher, Miss Eulalie Salter, William Allan, Robert Allan, Stanley Moore, C. C. Skinner and Alexander Allan.
