GARBAGE GATHERING NO HUE AND CRY

WILLIAM McCAMMON TO ACT AS INSPECTOR. AT RECEIVING PEOPLE WITH TUBERCULOSIS

Garbage Committee Asks That He be Appointed at Salary $600 Per Year—He Will Also Fill Other Duties Required of Him—The Regulations.

At a meeting of the garbage committee, held on Friday afternoon, the members decided to recommend to the council, the appointment of William McCammon, the present sanitary inspector as an inspector for the collection of garbage, at a salary of $600 per year, an increase of $100 over his present salary.

In addition to acting as inspector for garbage, he will also be harbor master, clerk of the market, and sanitary inspector, as before. It has been his duty to assist the city treasurer's department, but the committee will ask that Mr. McCammon be relieved of this duty, it being felt that the other duties will be sufficient to keep him busy.

The chairman, Ald. Toye, presided at the meeting, and the other members present were Alds. Hoag, Bailey and Shaw. When the meeting opened, there was a brief discussion, relative to the carts which are being made for the collection of garbage. It was felt that they should be labelled with the word "garbage" and each one numbered. This matter was left with the chairman and the engineer.

The chairman notified the members that rules and regulations had been drafted to govern the inspector and his work, and these were submitted for approval.

It is the intention to make the police station a central place for the registering of all complaints about the collection of garbage. The police will make a note of all the complaints sent to them, and these will be handed over to the inspector, who will call at the police station twice daily, and then go out and investigate the complaints. It has been arranged that the inspector shall call at the station in the morning, between 9.30 o'clock and 11 o'clock, and in the afternoon, between 2.30 and 3 o'clock. The chairman pointed out to the committee, how necessary it was to have the best possible system for the inspection, stating that the whole undertaking is a most important one, and that the city is looking for information regarding inspection. This was the most important part, and if not looked after, the system was sure to be a failure.

On motion of Ald. Bailey, the regulations regarding the inspection, will be submitted to the council. When the question of the appointment of an inspector was taken up, Ald. Hoag said he had endeavored to have the finance committee give a larger sum for the garbage collection, but had been unsuccessful. The committee was unanimous in the selection of Mr. McCammon for the work, and were also unanimous as regards the increasing of his salary. It was felt that he should be relieved of the duties he has to carry out for the city treasurer's department, and the committee will ask that the by-laws be amended towards this end.

At the close of the meeting, Ald. Toye thanked the members of the committee for their attendance at the meetings, and for the able manner in which they had disposed of all the business given into their hands. The bulk of the committee's work has now been completed, but they may have to be called again, and so it was decided to keep the committee "in harness" although the responsibility for the carrying on of the work now goes to the board of health.

AT THE POLICE COURT.

Two Vagrants Were Sent Down by the Magistrate.

The story John O'Dell told when he was before Magistrate Farrell, a week ago, when he was arraigned on a charge of vagrancy, was a "fake." He said that he had been working for a man in Toronto, giving the name of the man and his address. He was remanded until his story could be investigated, and this morning the magistrate said there was no truth in it.

"There is no such man in Toronto," said the magistrate. "Well, he must have moved away," said O'Dell. "He owed me a week's wages." The magistrate sent him down for twenty days.

John Brown, gathered in for vagrancy, at the same time as O'Dell fell by the wayside, was given a month.

Into Our Houses—Why Then Should it be Dangerous to Erect a Hospital Here to Take Care of Them?

Kingston, March 31.—(To the Editor) Shall the new tuberculosis hospital be built on the General Hospital grounds? is a question upon which many of our correspondents have written, and one has to admit shown a laudable interest in the public safety. But their zeal is not according to knowledge, as the most expert testimony in this country and statistics from other countries abundantly prove. We are face to face with the fact that upwards of 200 tuberculosis patients are in our midst. They are not criminals, if they have been sinned against. They are our husbands and wives, our children and loved ones. We meet them freely in all places of public gathering, receive them into our homes and at our tables, and yet there is no hue and cry at the tremendous danger to which our citizens are exposed? But now when it is proposed to erect a new and modern building as a memorial to Sir Oliver Mowat, one of Kingston's greatest sons, and of Canada's most trusted statesmen, such building to be equipped and appointed for the accommodation of some twenty patients, in a situation where its maintenance can be financed without adding to the already heavy burden that our hospital governors have to bear, what calamities are predicted?

Why, Sir, every household who shakes the floor mats in the back yard or from the bedroom window is a greater menace to the public health, than twenty or more of these unfortunates gathered together in a modern sanitarium would be, there to be treated, and what is perhaps of more importance from the viewpoint of our over-solicitous correspondents, taught how to care for themselves and protect their neighbors from the danger which they unwittingly and unintentionally through ignorance, expose their nearest and dearest friends.

In view of the evidence that is overwhelming, the least that the petitioners might now do would be to drop the matter and allow the chariot wheels of social betterment and progress to roll onward unretarded, or in other words quit knocking and join in a great big boost for Kingston's forward move. The doctors gave no reason why they signed the petition, but the people have no need to be told. They know, and have already ruled the doctors' evidence out of court. It was unwise and unfair to the doctors themselves to be asked to sign the petition. All honor to the faithful few who had the courage of their convictions. Great stress is laid on the fact that many, if not all, of the petitioners are prominent citizens, but this weakens rather than strengthens their position, because if we need require these prominent citizens have the means to send their afflicted ones to sanitariums where their rights are given all the special privileges that wealth in this sordid scene can buy.

But this is a poor man's sanitarium. Here generosity and philanthropy have joined or would join hands to build a city of refuge for those who, so far as this life is concerned, are without hope because without means. Who will assume the responsibility of refusing to the poor and middle classes of this city such an urgent necessity? And besides much of the funds that have been collected have been from the laboring man, the mechanic and artisan. Unions and union men are all represented on the subscription list and endorse the scheme, not only because they know that their money will all come back to them for the labor they give, but also because they see in a tuberculosis hospital, built on the hospital grounds a door of hope opening for many of their loved ones. Those who need this sanitarium most may not be prominent or influential as regards position or means; but in this city their name is legion, and if necessary a counter-petition will be brought forth that will overwhelmingly prove that the people want it built and built on the General Hospital grounds. I am sure that this community will join the writer in a vote of thanks to Drs. McCullough and Bruce Smith for their carefully written letters that answered every objection fully and to the point; and because they remove from the subscription list and endorse every objection and give the governors and other promoters of the tuberculosis hospital scheme the endorsement that will enable them to reply in the affirmative to the question with which our letter began.—W. J. DRISCOLL.

THE LATE JOHN SHANAHAN.

The death of an aged citizen of Kingston.

The death occurred on Friday of one of Kingston's well-known citizens in the person of John Shanahan, at his residence, 39 Clergy street west, after a short illness. A general break-up was the cause of his demise. The late Mr. Shanahan was born in Donegal, Ireland, seventy-five years ago, and had resided in Kingston for the past fifty-three years. For nineteen years he was elevator foreman for the Kingston-Montreal Forwarding company. For the past ten years he had lived retired. Mr. Shanahan was a good citizen. He was a Roman Catholic in religion, and a member of the Sacred Heart League. He was one of the old members of Kingston St. Patrick's society. In politics, he was a liberal. He is survived by his widow, five sons and three daughters, all of whom reside in the city, but Jeremiah, of Toronto, and John, of Chicago. The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon to St. Mary's cathedral and cemetery.

Will Go to Toronto.

Leo Williams, goal-keeper of the Junior Frontenacs, will go up to Toronto, Monday, with his brother "Ken" for a short time. It will not be for long, however, as he has been signed up to play with the "White Sox" baseball team for this season. Some are afraid that if he goes to the Queen City, they will not allow him to come back again, but nothing can keep him from playing with the Frontenacs next season.

To Handle Lumber.

A rumor has been going the rounds, to the effect that James Swift & Co. had been asked to represent an outside lumber concern. A Whig representative interviewed the company on Saturday morning in regard to the matter, and he was informed by a member of the firm that there was something in it, but that as yet, nothing definite had been done.

ABERNETHY'S

FRONTENACS' NIGHT

ATTENDED THE PRODUCTION OF "THE ROSARY."

Presentation Made of the Citizens' Souvenirs by W. F. Nickle, M.P.P.—James T. Sutherland Made a Speech.

"The Rosary," as presented at the Grand, last evening, before a good house, was decidedly novel and interesting. It is a sort of play that seldom comes here, in fact as deeply a religious play has not been seen in years. The vein of earnestness which ran through it was true to life and pleased the audience highly. A vein of humor touched up the dull spots. As would be suggested for the title the play has to do with a priest who acts as a mediator between the higher Power and a young married couple whom he loves, in bringing them together after they had been parted through jealousy. The company was small, but was well balanced.

The leading lady was presented with a bouquet and the leading man with a box of cigars by the Frontenac hockey team, who occupied the lower left hand boxes. Their boxes were draped with the colors of the team. Mayor Graham and the aldermen occupied the two lower right hand boxes. Between the second and third acts the presentations were made to the team and management. Dr. Robert Hanley introduced the chairman, Mayor Graham, who said he had been told to keep quiet, so he called on W. F. Nickle, M.P.P., to make the presentation. Mr. Nickle paid a very high tribute to the players. Some teams, he said, went into the game with the object of winning no matter at what cost. The Frontenacs had always borne in mind the fact that it is better to lose fairly than win dishonestly. They were made of the right material to represent a city like this, Kingston and the sport of this city are known by the kind of a team representing it. This city has and now occupies a high position on account of the cleanness of the sport which it has turned out. Mr. Nickle then called the boys forward one at a time, six of them getting diamond rings made in signet style. Trainers McCullough and Powell also received tokens as well as James T. Sutherland, Jr.

Mr. Nickle said it was a recognized fact that a manager could not win a championship without a team, neither could a team win without a manager. He believed James T. Sutherland had been a big factor in the success of the team. He had brought honor to the city and he was glad that the city had recognized it. He presented "Father Jim" with a fitting reply thanking the presentation committee and those who supported them for the tokens. He dwelt on the fact that the team was born and brought up in the city and was a home team while other teams had to draft players from outside places. He assured them of his constant interest in their behalf.

R.C.L. Gymnastics.

The exhibition of gymnastics given by the pupils of the collegiate Institute, at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium, on Friday evening, drew a crowd so large that over a hundred persons had to be refused admittance, with the promise that the performance would be repeated on Monday evening. Every foot of standing and sitting room was taken long before eight o'clock. The exhibition, under the direction of G. A. Palmer, was very interesting indeed, and well-executed, each event bringing special credit to the performers. The following were some of the events:—Elementary clubs, first year boys; figure marching, second year girls; maypole drill, third year girls; breathing and bar-bells, second year girls; advanced marching and dumb-bells, special boys; pyramids, third year boys; potato race, senior boys; advanced clubs, fourth year girls; single stick fight, special boys; folk dance, third year girls.

Still Talks Hockey.

The first thing "Jim" Sutherland conversed about when he arrived in town yesterday was hockey. He entered the store of a well-known sporting man and just as he entered the door he exclaimed: "Gee, if this weather continues, we could have one or two games of hockey." In his travels over the country, Mr. Sutherland hears many things said about the Frontenac team and the way they played last winter, which if put together would form the substance for a few hours interesting reading.

Cup Not Here Yet.

The J. Ross Robertson cup, which the Frontenacs, as champions, won this year, has not arrived from Toronto yet. The cup is in charge of Secretary Hewitt, and he is in Georgia, with the Toronto baseball team. The Frontenacs will have a group photo taken as soon as it arrives. A bond has to be given to insure the safe-keeping of the cup and it must not be shown in any public place without special permission. The junior and intermediate cups are valued together at about $500.

FIXING BREAD STANDARD.

English Physicians Ask That Standard be Fixed.

We are making wonderful progress along the line of safeguarding the public health through the regulation of foods and conditions under which men and women work. Eight English physicians and surgeons, including Dr. Sir Alfred Fripp, surgeon-in-ordinary to the King, have issued a jointly signed statement expressing the opinion that there is a national necessity that a standard be fixed for nutritive value of what is sold as bread, the same as is already done for milk. We quote one sentence from this statement, as follows:

In view of the interior nourishing qualities of the white bread commonly sold, we urge legislation making it compulsory that all bread sold as such should be made of unadulterated whole wheat flour, containing at least 80 per cent of whole wheat, including the germ and semolina (bran coat).

There is no doubt about the drift of public intelligence toward bread that contains a larger percentage of the whole wheat than is ordinarily found in fine white flour. There is, however, much controversy regarding the digestibility of much of our whole wheat flour when made into bread. Much of the whole wheat flour found upon the market in this country is improperly made and not wholly digestible. In the case of shredded wheat biscuit, however, there is no question about its nutritive value or its digestibility, for the reason that the whole wheat is steam-cooked before it is shredded and baked. In making whole wheat flour bread the whole wheat is not steam-cooked and hence a good portion of the nutrients of the whole wheat grain pass through the stomach undigested.

In the case of Shredded Wheat, however, the starch globules in the wheat are broken down and made soluble by the steam-cooking. The shreds also expose a vast surface to the action of the digestive fluids and the baking makes the shreds so crisp and delicious as to encourage thorough chewing, which is a very important process in digestion.

Adulteration in Maple Products.

One of the really natural industries of this country is the manufacture of maple sugar. Few industries, under proper conditions, offer better opportunities for the making of a fair profit. No product, when properly made, is more acceptable when placed on the table of the consumer.

There is, perhaps, no Canadian industry which has been placed under greater disabilities through adulteration. Every season the market is flooded with stuff, bought in the belief that it is maple syrup, but which has never been near a sugar bush. The frauds perpetrated on producer and consumer alike should be prevented and the way to prevent is to prohibit the use of the word "maple" either as the whole or part of the name used in the sale of articles professing to be the product of the maple tree.

A Situation Not Without Honor.

Stratford, Ont.—It is common rumor at Ottawa that Mr. Borden had a speech made in condemnation of Hon. Mr. Fielding's report, because of his anticipated lack of success in getting a treaty such as he really had secured. As the details of the achievement of Messrs. Fielding and Paterson were revealed the opposition repeatedly cheered the free list, and Mr. Borden carefully folded his little speech and stowed it away in his desk. At the conclusion of the finance minister's speech, Mr. Borden asked for an adjournment to consider its details and Sir Wilfrid Laurier generously granted a week's truce. Meanwhile the opposition went into caucus on the subject and advanced on two occasions without deciding on a policy. Then the Anti-Borderist League of Montreal and Toronto, with financial resources, with a large bank account, and with such a large question. The opposition could not resist the bank account, and out it came against the agreement.
