CURLERS MAKE PRESENTATION TO PROF. DYDE

At Fine Gathering of Members of the Club in Their Quarters—Given a Travelling Bag as a Parting Gift—Several Addresses Delivered.

The members of the Kingston Curling Club, on Thursday evening, held a farewell gathering, for Prof. S. W. Dyde, who has been one of the most active workers in the club, and at the same time, one of the best men on the ice. The club will certainly miss Prof. Dyde, but while they are sorry to see him leave the city, they are glad to see him go out to him, in his new field of labor. This was amply shown in the line addresses, which were delivered by members of the club.

During the evening, Prof. Dyde was made the recipient of a fine travelling bag, as a parting gift from the members.

There was a large turnout of the members, and the affair took the form of a luncheon of "beef and greens." After the king had been toasted, with the singing of the national anthem, George Gillespie favored with a fine recitation.

Mr. Strachan then proposed the toast to the new members of the club, which was responded to by George Dolan, of the Collegiate Institute.

Mr. Dolan extended thanks to the club members, and especially to Prof. Dyde, for the attention paid to the junior curlers, and for the able assistance received in playing the great game.

W. P. Spaulding rendered a curling song, in great style, after which Mr. Sliter called upon J. M. Farrell to propose the toast to "Our Guest."

Mr. Sliter presented the travelling bag to Prof. Dyde, after which addresses were made by several of the club members, including Messrs. S. R. Bailey, H. Angrove, W. M. Baillie, T. M. Asselstine, H. W. Newman, W. R. Sills, E. Lyons and S. S. Corbett.

Prof. Dyde replied in a neat speech, and later on in the evening, he delighted the members with a recitation, "A Winter's Tale," a selection from Shakespeare. He drew many lessons from it for the curlers.

The event was a fine success in every way, and praise is due to the committee having the arrangements in charge.

DELIVERED ADDRESS AT FIRST OF SERIES OF NOON-DAY LUNCHEONS—SPEAKER GAVE HIS OBJECTIONS TO THE GEORGIAN BAY ROUTE.

The first of a series of noon-day luncheons, to be held by the Canadian Club, of Kingston, took place in the city hall, on Friday, and was a decided success, from every standpoint. The attendance numbered about one hundred and twenty-five. The address was given by H. W. Richardson, who spoke on "Transportation."

The tables were nicely arranged, and a good menu was served by Marshall P. Reid, and his staff. Everyone was delighted with all the arrangements, and a far larger attendance is looked for at the next luncheon.

The members sat down about 12.30 o'clock, and grace was said by Principal Gordon. In the absence of the president of the club, Prof. Skelton, the chair was occupied by W. S. Ellis, who ably filled the duties placed upon him.

Mr. Ellis, in a fitting manner, introduced Mr. Richardson, and in referring to the question of transportation, stated that it was a subject of which Mr. Richardson was master.

Mr. Richardson was received with warm applause, and in his opening remarks, he took occasion to congratulate the club on having such a very large attendance at this, the first of a series of noon-day luncheons, to be held by the club. He said this was evidence that the club was growing, and he was glad of that. He wished the club every success.

Mr. Richardson then took up the question of transportation, and gave some of his reasons for objecting to the Georgian Bay route, and calling for the deepening of the Welland canal. There were the two schemes on foot—the building of an independent canal, or the deepening of the other.

One of the first objections the speaker had, to the Georgian Bay, was that of the very early closing of navigation. There were seasons when navigation closed early in November.

And there were some years, when navigation closed even earlier than this. Even provided there was open water, the facilities would not be as good as the Welland canal.

In the Georgian Bay canal route, there were some 116 curves, thirty-nine of which were about half a mile in length, and it would be a very difficult matter for the steamers, when heavily laden with grain, to make these curves. There would, of necessity, have to be a great many locks, and these would also form a great difficulty to overcome.

Then again, this route to Montreal would secure no return freight. There would be no package freight for this line; it would all go to the other line.

Another great objection the speaker had to the Georgian Bay canal route was that of the long time it would take to build it. Engineers estimated that it would take seventeen years to complete the work.

The speaker then pointed out the great importance of deepening the Welland canal, and doing it at once.

"We should do it now by all means," remarked the speaker, and there was a storm of applause from every one in the hall. It was plain to be seen that every member of the club was ready to hold up both hands for the deepening of the Welland canal.

The keynote of the whole address was the emphasis placed on the one point, that of having the work done at once. The more the west would prosper the more the east would prosper and with the canal deepened it would be sure to add to the prosperity.

The speaker only spoke for fifteen minutes and thus did not have time to deal with the question in detail, but in the short time at his disposal he was able to point out how important it was for transportation that no time should be lost on the Welland canal proposition.

A round of hearty applause was showered upon Mr. Richardson as he resumed his seat.

Before the gathering dispersed Mr. Ellis returned thanks to Mr. Richardson for his address and intimated that the club would be holding several other similar events. He hoped that there would be a good attendance. Some good speakers were promised.

A HOCKEY BANQUET

HELD BY GRANITES IN KING'S CAFE.

This is the Team That Won the City League Championship—A Presentation and a Drawing.

Last evening a very enjoyable banquet was held by the Granite Hockey Club in commemoration of their victory in winning the senior city hockey league trophy. The affair was held in King's cafe, about thirty being present. The menu served by Miss Host Millan was most excellent.

Unfortunately, owing to the death of their father, the president and manager of the team, William H. and Enoch Godwin, were unable to be present. A motion of regret at the bereavement of the above-mentioned gentlemen was passed by the company. The chairman acted as toastmaster in a very capable manner. The first toast was to "The King." The toast to the "Granite Hockey Club" was proposed by Prof. Quinn, of Regiopolis College, and responded to by Albert Stansbury, William McBridge, the well-known entertainer, was present and recited so well that he was recalled twice. "The City Hockey League" was toasted in an able manner by Arthur Casterton, and responded to by Harvey J. Milne, president of the league. In his response, Mr. Milne touched on the athletic suggestion to form an athletic association of the city, and was enthusiastically supported. This was not to be in connection with the Sunday school or Y.M.C.A. and would not interfere with the proposed Sunday School Athletic Association in any way.

The grand drawing for the $5 gold piece was the next thing on the list and Evans Booprey was the lucky winner. A few of the admiring friends of "Bouncer" Brouse presented him with a gold-headed umbrella. The presentation was made by Harold Nicholson, and neatly responded to by "Bouncer" who thanked the boys heartily for their kindness. "Sister Clubs" was toasted by Frederick Muckler and responded to by A. T. Hatch, of the Collegiate staff. A piano solo by Arthur Cook was much appreciated.

The presentation of a mouschaum pipe to Frederick Muckler, the captain of the Junior Granites, was made by Walter Schultz. Mr. Muckler responded in an able manner. "The Press" was toasted by Thomas Hughes and responded to by Paul Beaupre. Edward Davidson toasted "The Ladies," and William McFriedge responded "The Host and Hostess" were toasted by the chairman and in replying Con Millan said he was glad the boys were satisfied with the way things had been done during the evening, and assured them if there was anything he could do to aid in forming the proposed athletic association, he would do it. This brought the toast list to a close and after joining hands and singing "Auld Lang Syne" the company dispersed.
