MISCELLANEOUS "HAIR TONICS."

Most Hair Preparations Are Merely Scalp Irritants of No Value.

Most hair preparations are merely scalp irritants, mis-called hair tonics. When hair is brittle, lusterless and begins to fall out, the dandruff germ is getting in its deadly work at the root, sapping the vitality. Since science discovered that dandruff is a germ disease there has been only one preparation put on the market that will actually destroy the dandruff germ, and that is Nervo's Herculite. It quickly reduces scalp dandruff, destroys the germ, and the falling hair stops, and hair grows luxuriantly. Ask your druggist for Herculite. It itches instantly, and permits the hair to grow.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herculite Co., Detroit, Mich. One dollar bottles guaranteed. James B. McLeod, special agent, Kingston, Ont.

QUESTION OF BOOKKEEPING.

The Ottawa Journal regrets that Mr. Fielding does not change the bookkeeping at Ottawa so that there may not be any more confusion with regard to capital and consolidated accounts. He cannot change that which is permissible and subject to re-adoption by a successor. When in opposition, Mr. Matheson, of the treasury department of Toronto, argued strenuously against the use of money raised by the sale of crown timber for current purposes. But in the last budget speech he went back on his previous record, and made the best use he could of extraordinary or special revenue in order to avoid a deficit, or announcing or admitting one, for it was there all the same. Mr. Fielding is to be commended for meeting capital expenditure, in the way of public works, so far as possible out of current revenue, but the country is to be congratulated upon the prosperity which makes this possible. A period of government, or misgovernment, with a Foster in the finance department, might make the present system of bookkeeping a necessity.

SOME FURTHER ENQUIRY.

The Seymour offer of cheap power does not look any the worse of still closer comparison with that of the Hydro-Electric commission. In the first place the alleged attack of Hon. Mr. Beck upon the Seymour company at Brockville is noted. One who was present and heard Mr. Beck speak, at both the afternoon and evening meetings, questions the accuracy of the report which referred to the merger which the Hydro-Electric commission could not control. There can be no monopoly where there is competition, and the consumers of power everywhere will rejoice that even the provincial commission cannot coerce any interest which is not in harmony with its plans.

The Seymour company offered to bring power to the city without any cost to it. Kingston is not asked to contribute anything to the outlay in transmission lines. The city is not required to make a contract for a long time. The amount of power guaranteed is very small, 300 horsepower. Anything over that can be paid for on the kilo-watt basis, or when the excess is considerable the basis of compilation can be changed from the kilo-watt to the annual rate, of $25 per horsepower. The Hydro-Electric commission wants $29 per horsepower for 1,200, guaranteed for thirty years, with a continuous charge of 6.08 per cent. on an outlay of $204,000 for transmission lines. The waiving of the first five years is of no advantage when it simply means that the charges will accumulate and be added to the charges in the next twenty-five years. Mr. Beck's peroration was not so catching as it seemed. He pictured the happy position the city would be in at the end of thirty years. Would the plant not be pretty well worn out? Would the leases or easements not have then expired? Would there be any surety of the power contract being renewed at Waddingham? Would the municipality be justified in embarking upon an enterprise so costly and so hazardous, when it has an offer for cheap power without its demands, and without any hazard or risk? Surely the committee will be warranted in having these power offers submitted for an expert opinion.

FARMERS' POINT OF VIEW.

The farmers' point of view is peculiarly his own, and one of them has advised the Whig that it is up to the politicians to understand what this point is. For instance, said he, the farmers were told not to believe the statement that they could sell hay at a greater profit with reciprocity in force. The year may come occasionally when the Americans have a large hay crop, and when it will not pay the Canadian to pay $3.60 per short ton and $4 per long ton to ship his product across the border. As a rule, however, the Canadian has the hay to export, and the American wants it and the duty is a serious item.

It is argued occasionally that the farmer is foolish to sell his fodder, that he should retain it, feed it to his stock, make beef, and realize in it the larger gain. This implies the possession of capital by the farmer, and capital that is invested in buildings, in hives, in stock, and every farmer is not in easy circumstances. Many, for instance, are living on a bare hand. They are not warranted, if able, in putting their spare cash in permanent improvements, and in the fall or winter they want ready cash and the hay must go. Will the man who saved $3.60 or $4 per ton on his sales be lacking in his appreciation of the trade agreement which brought this condition about? We trow not.

The argument with reference to cheese and butter is easily understood. The more of any article the country has to export, of the products of the farm, the greater the boon of freedom from taxation. It would not make any difference what the duty was if there was nothing to export. Of wheat Canada has a large exportation. All of it will not be wanted in the United States. As a matter of fact there is reciprocity in wheat now to a certain extent. The American miller must have our No. 1 hard to mix with his softer wheat, about one bushel to three, and he has to send out of the United States to Canada forty-five pounds of flour for each bushel of wheat. It is an advantageous arrangement as Canada cannot grind and use all her wheat, and the freer the trade in it the better.

There would be a market across the line for Canadian bacon under the reciprocal arrangement. American bacon is the ultimate product of corn, while Canadian bacon represents the use of barley and oats as feed. The result is a finer quality of bacon in Canada, and it would be in large demand in American cities if the trade agreement were in force. The same may be said of fish. The product of the north, from the colder waters, is at a better and would have the preference in any market. Likewise the fruits. Canada may use the American goods, because they are somewhat earlier, but there is no fault like the Canadian, and free markets would see it finding its way to the American centres and selling at any price.

So it goes that the farmer is considering the question as it affects himself. He has before him continually one great object lesson—that he has no protection for anything he grows, and the wider the market the better; that he is at the mercy of the man from whom he buys, and that most of these articles are made more costly by the tariff upon them. He reasons, therefore, that he wants his innings now, and he is going to have it.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Any relief from duty or taxation will be a relief to the farmer. He is the only individual who does not enjoy the advantage of protection.

Will there be a new election? Not until the census has been taken and the west has been given the increased representation it demands. An election will come soon enough, however, for the troubles in the commons.

The Expositor cannot imagine why any one should live in Kingston, even without taxation. There are 22,000 people who think that there is no place like Kingston; and some of them had an opportunity to visit Brantford and see the airs it is putting on.

The opposition at Ottawa is weary of the reciprocity agreement, and the people appear to be weary of the opposition. It's what might be expected when men oppose the thing they formerly desired and could not get. They are talking politics to the disadvantage of the farmer.

The model schools, restored by order of the education department, will give the country the teachers it requires. What a spectacle this education department is making of itself to be sure. What else could be expected from Dr. Pyne, as minister of education?

The Ottawa Journal expects the local government to approve of legislation according to which municipalities may tax land values. Next session the bill will be introduced a third time, and Sir James Whitney is expected to surrender. Will he do it? He had better.

The number of mines in Canada west and the coast who are now out on strike number about 10,000. And they want to fight the question of wages to a finish under a walking delegate. Let us have compulsory arbitration. Parliament should no longer hesitate about making it effective.

The Freeman is right. For many reasons there is no reason to expect that Mr. Sifton will oppose Mr. Graham in the next election. But if he does (and the surprising thing sometimes happens), the liberals will not exhibit any panic. The ex-minister has not been showing any profound regard for the people of Brockville.

A preference is to be given in the American congress to the reciprocity agreement. The idea, telegraphed from Ottawa to the conservative press, and to the effect that the agreement may be shelved in order to let the premier attend the coronation of the king, is pure fiction. Take no stock in it.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
